KILLED BY TRAIN

George Kearns, Returned Soldier, Victim of Awful Fatality at Mono Road Friday Night.

On the morning of the 12th inst., the citizens of Mono Road were tragically shocked when the news spread like wildfire that George Kearns was found killed on the railway track only a few yards south of the switch and within the limits of the station yard. Employed by Mr. Stonehouse, rural mail contractor No. 2, he arrived with the mail as usual on the evening before, was in the post-office, and some time later in the evening was in the station conversing with Mr. McCaughrin, the agent, to whom he gave the information that he intended walking down the track, presumably to visit some acquaintances. That was the last seen of him alive. He left on his journey only a few minutes before the trains were due, and while many of the citizens were watching the headlight of the north-bound train as she slowed down for the switch they little realized what a tragedy was being enacted at that very moment. He was found lying in the middle of the track, face downward, head pointing south and arms outstretched as if sleeping. Body and limbs were intact and even the clothes were not torn. His coat was pulled over his head, and at first sight only one or two gashes on the forehead and the severed toes of one foot were the only injuries visible. Subsequent examination showed that the head was nearly severed from the body. As at least two other trains passed after his being killed, it remains a mystery how the body was so little mangled. As the south passenger train backed into the switch to take a coach left by the north train, its engine could have been only a few yards from the body when switching, yet the crew of neither train saw it, although the strong headlight made the track as plainly to be seen as if it were day.

Dr. Reynar, the coroner, arriving, a jury was empanelled, and after viewing the scene of the accident and an examination of the body an adjournment was hade till 7.30 p.m. of Friday, the 18th, when the inquest will be held in McDevitt's Hall.

Deceased was 26 years of age and was a son of Mr. John Kearns, who farmed some years ago near Sand Hill and is now living in Orangeville. Mrs. Wm. Matthews, Sr., of Caledon East, is an aunt. Deceased enlisted with the 234th Battalion and saw active service overseas. Only a few years ago he had a brother killed by coming in contact with a live wire while working with a telephone company. Mr. Donaldson, undertaker, prepared the body for burial, which took place in Orangeville on the 14th inst. Members of the Sand Hill Orange Lodge, to which he belonged, and several of his acquaintances in this vicinity attended the funeral.—Bolton Enterprise.

The funeral of the unfortunate young man was held from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kearns, to Greenwood Cemetery on Monday afternoon and was largely attended. Members of Sandhill L. O. L. and Orangeville Great War Veterans were present in a body. Capt. T. H. Stewart officiated at the house and grave and Comrades Walter Dahl, Will Henderson, Jack Fellows, A. I. Aiken, Harry Glover and Stuart Porter, of Orangeville G. W. V. A., were the pallbearers. The deceased was a nephew of Mrs. Frank Marshall, West Broadway. Profound sympathy is felt for the stricken parents and the other relatives in their trying bereavement.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JOSEPHINE BAILEY

The body of Mrs. Josephine Bailey, who died in England January 5th, reached Alliston Sunday evening, having been landed at St. John, N. B., last Thursday night. The funeral took place Monday from the home of Mrs. Bailey's brother, Mr. Lewis Gunn. Interment took place in the family plot in the Methodist cemetery at Rosemont. Service was conducted after interment, Rev. C. H. Forth, Rev. H. L. Partridge and Rev. G. W. Lynd taking part. Mrs. Bailey, who was 65 years of age, was a woman held in very high esteem by a wide circle of friends. Her husband, Dr. Bailey, died some years ago and since then Mrs. Bailey had made her home among the members of her family which consisted of ten sons and one daughter. Of these the daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Belfie, of Ottawa, and five sons, Claude Bailey, of Dayton, Ohio, Dr. Lawrence Bailey, of Thessalon, Dr. Truman Bailey, of Orangeville, Dr. Norman Bailey, of Collingwood and Theo. Bailey, of Edmonton, were present at the funeral. The other sons are Frank Bailey, Hammond Bailey and Stanley Bailey, all in the West, Dr. Garfield Bailey, who is on the surgical staff of the Royal Navy and resides in England and Wakefield Bailey, who served in the late war and since his return has been recovering his health which was badly impaired while in the army.—Alliston Herald.

HILLSBURG

The recent communion services in St. Andrew's Church were much enjoyed by the largest attendance of members yet recorded in the church's history. 168 were present and the highest mark before was 162. The seating capacity of the church was taxed to accommodate the members and adherents present. At the pre-communion service on Friday night, Rev. John Lindsay, of Erin, gave an apropriate discourse on "The Daysman," from Job. 9:33. The increasing influence of this historic church in the district is shown by the fact that there are now 106 families attending and supporting the services.

The anniversary of St. Andrew's organization will be observed by fitting services in the month of October, the time of the Harvest-Home.

At the Communion service in Bethel Church, Garafraxa, Rev. F. C. Harper, B. D., welcomed 18 young men and young women into the full responsibilities of church membership by profession of faith. This is the largest number ever received by profession of faith at any sacrament season in that congregation, and it is confidently expected by the members of the congregation that under Mr. Harper's leadership the membership will pass the 200 mark before the close of this year. Over 50 young people have been present at every Sunday service. Rev. W. J. Booth, of Belwood, was the preacher at the regular pre-communion service on Friday afternoon, Feb. 4th, when the 18 new members were earnestly addressed by the minister of the church, and welcomed to the fellowship of the church.

The last week saw some more electric lightpoles added to the pile on the village square. Here's hoping that the spring robin may yet have an electric light wire to roost on when he is house-hunting.

A motor car left Hillsburg at 10.40 a.m. last week and was in the heart of Toronto before 1 p.m. Who needs to go south for winter motoring?

The organization of Erin Township Referendum Committee will be held in St. Andrew's Church on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 17th, at 2.30 o'clock. Sam. Carter, Esq., of Guelph, is to be present to address the gathering. Representatives of all the polling sub-divisions in the township are to be present and full preparations will be made to "count John Barleycorn out" on the polling day, April 18th next.

10 Years of Eczema A Sample Relieved Her

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters, telling stories of suffering from skin diseases and how cure was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. Henry Harvey, Black Lake, Que. Write her if you desire.

"Ten years of eczema on the face. Treated unavailingly by doctors. A sample alone of D. D. D. cured me, etc."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of cure and endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical.

Relief from itching torment is immediate. Just try one bottle of D. D. D. today on our positive guarantee. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Ruby Pearl Jeffers, who departed this life on February 15th, 1920.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When the one I loved was called away;
God took her home, it was His will,
But in my heart she liveth still.

Forget her, no! I never will;
I loved her then and love her still;
She was the best that God could send,
A loving wife, a faithful friend.

Your husband and your parents
Would love to see you there;
For now there's none to occupy
Poor Ruby's vacant chair.

Her memory is as dear to-day
As at the hour she passed away;
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear Ruby, how I long for you.

A bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part from those we love so dear;
Loving husband, true and kind,

But still I miss my Ruby, dear,
For she was loved by all;
I miss her kind and loving voice
For she was good to all.

I think of you in silence,
And your sweet name I oft recall;
But there is nothing left to answer
But your photo on the wall.

Dear is the place where she is laid,
Sweet is the memory that ne'er shall fade;
Flowers will wither, leaves fade and die,
Some have forgotten, never will I.

'Tis hard I know to sorrow not
For grief will have its way;
But then there's hope to meet again,
On the Resurrection Day.

Then let your sorrows cease to flow,
Since God has called her home;
But let your hearts in every woe,
Still say, "Thy will be done."

—Husband.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION

On Thursday evening, February 10th, the members of Raney's Church, Adjala, and the young people of the Sunday School gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Stewart to say farewell to these excellent neighbors and citizens prior to their departure from the community to their new home in Orangeville. Rev. Mr. Tiller acted in the capacity of chairman. After a few remarks regarding the active part Mr. Stewart has taken as a member of Raney's church and Superintendent of the Sunday School during the seven years he has spent in Adjala, the chairman called on Mr. Geo. McCulloch to read the following address and Miss Marjorie McElwain and Miss Iola Watson to make the presentations.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart,

It is with deep regret that we have learned of your decision to sever your connection with your friends in this vicinity.

We feel that we cannot allow you to leave without giving some slight token of the high esteem in which we hold your society and friendship, even though it but inadequately expresses our feelings towards you.

Your departure will leave a vacancy in our church and community which we cannot hope to fill. But we know that our loss is some others gain.

While we regret your departure, yet our sincere good wishes will go with you to whatever sphere of usefulness you may in future be called. We unite in wishing you all possible happiness and prosperity. It is also our wish that you accept this fountain pen and casserole as a token of the kindly sentiments we entertain towards you, and also as a slight memento of your associations with the Methodist Sunday School.

Signed on behalf of the School,
BERYL WATSON.
GEORGE McCULLOCH.

The remainder of the evening was spent in social games and amusements, followed by the serving of a fine supper.

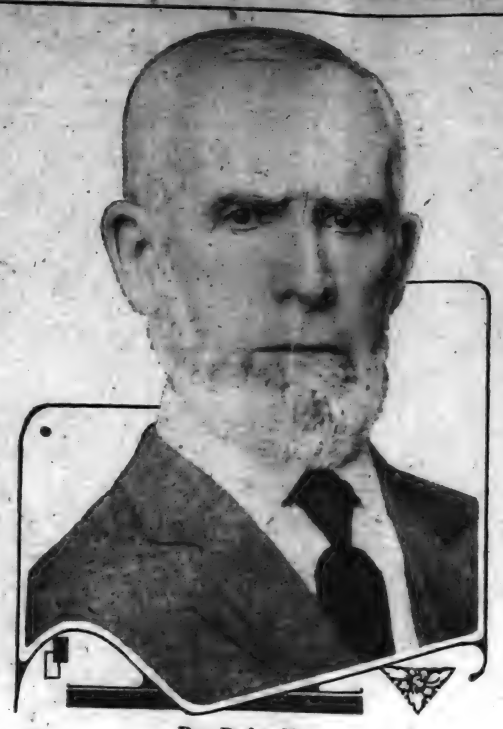
Quaker Minister Is Grateful to Tanlac



Rev. Parker Moon

Nearly everybody in Southwest Missouri either knows or has heard of the Rev. Parker Moon, who for a full half century has devoted his life and talents to Sunday School and organization work for the Society of Friends or Quakers.

"Uncle Parker," as he is more familiarly known, came from fine old rugged Quaker stock, and there is not a better known or more highly respected citizen in that part of the state. In referring to his remarkable restoration to health by Tanlac, he said:

"About five years ago I suffered a general breakdown. My principal trouble was nervous indigestion. My appetite was very poor and my food seldom agreed with me, and I had to live on a very restricted diet. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizzy spells; I had severe pains across the small of my back and was badly constipated most of the time. In fact, I was so weak and rundown I was not able to attend to my duties.

"This condition made me very nervous and I could not sleep at night. Frequently I would lie awake most all night and was in that condition more or less for five years. My physician said he could not do anything for me and suggested a change of climate. I then moved to Texas and went back and forth three times but did not get the relief I had hoped for. Finally, I got so bad off I was not able to get around with any degree of comfort. I was also told I had heart trouble.

"I had read about Tanlac and, as it had been very highly recommended to me, I decided to try it. I got a bottle and had taken only a few doses until I could notice a marked improvement in my condition. I noticed especially that I was not troubled any more with sour stomach after eating, which was a great relief.

"I kept on taking Tanlac until I fully regained my health. My appetite is splendid; I enjoy my meals and I do not find it necessary now to take any laxative medicines of any kind. I can sleep much better and am not nearly so nervous.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Tanlac to anyone who needs a good system builder, or who suffers with stomach trouble. I have recommended Tanlac to a great many of my friends and am pleased to reach others by giving this statement for publication."

Walter Carson, Sam Bell and Richie Scott, of Dundalk, took a week's course in the International Tractor School in Hamilton a short time ago.

Mr. Marvin Watts has sold lot 30, con. 10, Amaranth, 100 acres, to Mr. Nelson Phillips, of Laurel, and has bought the Jos. Firth farm, at the Keldon church corner.

Pains About the Heart

ANY derangement of the heart's action is alarming. Frequently pains about the heart are caused by the formation of gas arising from indigestion.

Relief from this condition is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Chronic indigestion results from sluggish liver action, constipation of the bowels and inactive kidneys.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills arouse these organs to activity they afford lasting relief for indigestion and overcome the many annoying symptoms.

GRAHAM—FINES

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Fines, Townline, Erin, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, February 2nd, when their eldest daughter, Lillian Edna, became the bride of Mr. George Wesley Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Graham, Erin. The bridal party entered the drawing room to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, rendered by Miss Reta Fines, sister of the bride, to an arch of evergreens centred with a white wedding bell, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. J. McCarten, of Priceville, cousin of the groom. The bride was given away by her father, and wore a beautiful gown of white satin, with over-dress of georgette and pearl trimmings, and a bridal veil, caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses. During the signing of the register, Miss Maud Graham, sister of the groom, sang "Because." After the ceremony the bridal couple led the way to the dining-room, where a dainty lunch was served to over a hundred guests. The room was tastefully decorated in white and pink. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial cheque, to the pianiste and soloist, each a pearl ring. The bride was the recipient of many useful and costly gifts, among which was a cheque for fifty dollars, from Mr. Will Graham, of Allandale, brother of the groom. The happy couple left later amidst good wishes and showers of confetti, for points east, the bride travelling in a navy blue tailored suit and black hat. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, 8th line, Erin.—Erin Advocate.

N. P. Horton, who has been Collector of Customs in Owen Sund for 25 years, has resigned.

William Small, a farmer who resides in Puslinch township, had the misfortune to be kicked by one of his horses a week ago Wednesday. His leg was broken in two places.

The safe way to send money by mail is by Dominion Express Money Orders.

The entertainment on Friday night last may be said to have been an unqualified success. $124.00 was the proceeds. The Camilla Dramatic Club put their play, "The Noble Outcast," before the large audience in such a way that everyone went home happy.

STRENGTH OF THE SAINT

The saint is not immune from peril and hardship. He knows the lonely, uphill climb, his nerves are strained like those of other people, many a time the sweat of fear is on his forehead, again and again does it seem as though his case was desperate. He has seen his foes coming at him open-mouthed as a wounded hart sees the pack of hounds tearing toward it. Saintliness lies not in a life spent within a ringed fence. It has its adventures, its perils, its excessive demands on strength and courage, just as any other life. Only, the saint has an Ally whom he knows, and on whom he can count. The Lord is my light, my salvation, my stronghold, my host; This is the secret of assurance and tranquility. A warrior lifts his head in battle when he knows that victory is assured. The man who has learned that God is to be counted on as an active participant in his warfare is possessed of quiet assurance. He who can reckon on God knows his resources to be adequate to every strain.

A LITTLE MISUNDERSTANDING

"Yes, my dear, we've got her, and it's perfectly dreadful! The things she does and says! Sits up in bed with her friends—women and men all around her, with only the firelight and a single candle, and one of them reads aloud and—"

"Oh, but Millie, I wonder you can stand that sort of thing! I wouldn't dream—"

"And then she tells us all about her love affairs with a man called Peter something, who says she is a woman whose fire blasts his soul—"

"But how can you allow—"

"And her bedroom! Ornamented with caricatures and crucifixes and prints of prize-fights, and an altar in it on which she keeps prayer books and a skull! You've no idea the lengths to which the woman goes!"

"But how perfectly horrible. And how long can you bear that sort of thing?"

"Well, you see, in a way it's rather amusing, and, having paid twenty-five shillings down—isn't it an awful price —Henry and I feel that we may as well go through with it. But I must tell you! One day she rode right into the front hall and smashed her head against the chandelier, bringing the whole thing down upon the top of her!"

"And what did Henry think of that, pray?"

"Henry? Oh, I see what you mean! But she didn't know Henry then, you know."

"Edith, dear, I don't think that woman can possibly do you any good. Take my advice and get rid of her."

"Get rid of her? So I will, dear, when I've done with her. I'll tell you what, I'll lend her to you! You know you're just dying to know more about her!"

"No, thank you! We are perfectly satisfied with our dear and respectful Ellen."

"Your old Ellen! Millie, what on earth are you talking about, or rather what do you think I've been talking about?"

"Talking about? Haven't you been telling me all about your dreadful new cook?"

"New cook! Good heavens—no! I've been trying to tell you about Mrs. Asquith's Autobiography.—W. Hodgson Burnet in The Passing Show, London.

WHEN Cold Gets into a Cut

it's smarting painful. Unless you happen to have Zam-Buk handy, the edges harden and get torn open further in the course of work. Then "infection" gets into the broken tissues. Zam-Buk prevents this danger of festering and blood-poison. Applied to any cut, wound, burn or scald, Zam-Buk provides a perfect antiseptic shield for the damaged tissues. It protects your injury against infection—ensures clean speedy healing.

James F. Warren, of Renfrew, Ont., writes:—"Mine was a severe cut with a rusty knife. It happened when I couldn't get my hand properly bound up. Cold and frost got into the injury and the hand went stiff and inflamed.

"When I got home I had the place well bathed, then applied Zam-Buk. It was wonderfully soothing and I used Zam-Buk regularly until all pain and swelling was gone. The cut, though deep and severe, soon thoroughly healed."

Also invaluable for eczema, ulcers, ringworm, abscesses, piles, "chaps," burns, scalds, and obstinate wounds.

MILLIONS KILLED IN ACTION

Wonderful news! Millions and millions of germs killed in action and thousands and thousands of victims relieved of bronchitis, asthma, coughs, and colds. There is great rejoicing in the fact that science has at last invented the world's surest death trap for germs—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. With the first dose this remedy gets right down to business, and never ceases in its destructive work until every trace of the disease is completely removed and the victim restored to normal health. Letters from all parts of Canada praising this wonderful mixture are literally pouring into headquarters. Read this letter.—"Years of suffering from that terrible affliction, bronchial asthma, ordered me by all medical men to close my business in Montreal and go south to a warmer climate, but I noticed your ad. in the "Montreal Standard" for the above mixture and I said I would give one more trial to health before I leave my native town, and thank the good maker I did. My bronchial tubes are clear, the hacking cough has disappeared, the wheezing has ceased as if by magic, and all discomforts have gone since taking your wonderful mixture."—Herbert Corn, 417 McKay Street, Montreal. There is no reason whatever why you cannot be completely and speedily restored to health if you take this remedy. You are satisfied or the money is refunded, according to our guarantee. Don't delay. PUBLIC SCHOOL INSPECTOR'S REPORT, 1920

The following is the text of the important and comprehensive report, which Mr. W. R. Liddy, P. S. I. for Dufferin, presented to the County Council at the recent January session. Every ratepayer and citizen of the County will find the report well worth careful reading and study:—

Dufferin County Council,
Orangeville.

Mr. Warden and Gentlemen:

Since my last report the scarcity of teachers throughout Ontario, although not acute, has been a disturbing factor. This scarcity has been compared to a storm raging over North America. The centre of this storm has been in the United States. According to a report just issued by the Bureau of Education, Washington, there is a scarcity of 60,000 teachers in the United States and from newspaper reports there is a possible scarcity of 2,000 in our Western provinces.

The standard for rural teachers in the United States has been very low and the salary commensurate to the low non-professional and professional standards. The results have ever been the same—poor education, poor salaries, poor resultc.

This report states that for the year 1919-20 the 8581 teachers reported and engaged in rural elementary and high school work received an average salary of $635, which was a large increase over the previous year. Is it any wonder that this report is compelled to state that last February there were 18279 schools closed and without a teacher and that 41900 schools were taught by teachers taken on temporarily in emergency? To quote further from this report, 190 State, County, City and Private Normal Schools reported 11503 fewer students than they had the year previous to the war and hence it is estimated that there were 19,000 fewer Normal students and 7,000 fewer graduates in 1920.

Here is the great lesson the United States has learned—that low standards of education and poor salaries have been a losing investment. They are now spending millions of dollars trying to regain lost ground. Let Canadians print this in large letters in the Book of Our Remembrance.

We often hear from our public platforms and from the daily press many unwarranted statements from individuals, who, if they took the trouble to investigate, would find their so called facts regarding the Ontario Educational System altogether misleading.

So far as our Education System relates to the Three R's, we have possibly the best system and the best methods of teaching in the world. This is certainly true of our non-professional and professional standard for rural schools which of course do not differ from urban schools. It has given us in this hour of "Testing Time" a supply of 1st and 2nd class teachers unequalled anywhere on this Continent. We have in this Province comparatively few closed schools, few Temporary Certificates and few Third Class Certificates. These facts prove the solidarity of our Educational System and the wisdom of our administrative policy.

Everyone admits that from time to time our curriculum must conform to modern requirements, which at the moment, through changed conditions of society, scientific discovery and invention, are most urgent. The subjects to be taught, the small school where the utter loneliness of the child is nothing less than a catastrophe in the pupil's school life, the ever increasing cost of education, poor attendance, adolescent education and problems of administration are some of the great propositions educationists in Ontario are trying to and must solve.

Our greatest educational sin has been the lack of forensic vision to see what a disaster was in store for this Province through paying the teacher an inadequate salary. We owe a debt of gratitude—more than words can express—to the Hon. Dr. Cody and to the present Minister of Education, Hon. R. H. Grant, for guiding our Education Ship and weathering the storm already mentioned.

From the Government Report of 1914 we learn that the average rural salary in this county was $559, and the average urban salary was $551, while the November Report of 1920 gives the average rural salary as $856, and the average urban as $992.

I expect next year the average salary in Dufferin will be $1000. Although our average salary in rural schools is as high as that in some of our surrounding townships, yet the average for eight of the adjoining municipalities is $913. Last November we had 12 sections out of 92 giving a salary of $1000 or more, while 42 of the 115 sections of the 8 adjoining townships gave $1000 or over.

The same report gives in our rural schools the following grades of certificates:—

Dufferin, with 92 rural schools—1st Class Certificates, 3; 2nd Class Certificates, 76; 3rd C. Certificates, 12; Temporary, 1; vacant school, none.

In 8 adjoining townships with 115 rural schools—1st Class Certificates, 3; 2nd Class Certificates, 100; 3rd Class Certificates, 7; Temporary, 3; Vacant Schools, 2.

The teacher with the Temporary Certificate in Dufferin had attended a year at the Normal School.

As already stated Education to-day is costing us money and sometimes we hear it said we are educating our children too much. The question, does Education pay in dollars and cents, has been discussed in a pamphlet entitled "The Money Value of an Education," by Prof. A. Caswell Ellis, Professor of the Philosophy of Education in the University of Texas. In his discussion he cites Warren and Livermore of Cornell University, who made a study of 1303 farmers in four townships of Tompkins County, N. Y. They found that no college graduate had been reduced to the position of a renter and that only 7 per cent. of the renters had more than the District School education. Their report was as follows:—

Of 1007 with District School education, the average labor income, per year, was	$318
Of 280 with High School education	622
Of 16 with a College education	847

Of those with High School education 20 per cent. were making over $1000 per year, while only 5 per cent. of those with a District education were making that much. (Quoted from Education of Farmers, Cornell University Bulletin 295.)

According to the Municipal Statistics of 1911 the cost of education in the rural municipalities of Dufferin, compared with a similar report for 1918, has increased 54.5 per cent., while other municipal expenditures increased during the same period 49.2 per cent. In other words during these seven years the taxes for education have increased 5.3 per cent. more than the taxes for other purposes. The 1918 report is the last issued, but I have every reason to believe that this per cent. will be increased for the years 1919, 1920 and 1921. The difference in cost of education and other expenditures is partially due to increased salaries of the teachers, which were formerly notoriously too low.

During the year there have been held many Educational Meetings in Dufferin under the auspices of the Trustees' Department of the O. E. A. At one of these meetings the question was asked, "Is it not a fact that rural pupils are receiving as good an education as do pupils in towns and villages?" I answered the question by stating that I thought they were not receiving as good an education. This led me to undertake, as time would permit, an investigation, the result of which I submit for your consideration. I have based my inquiries along the lines of the Entrance Examination and our County Uniform Promotion Examinations by comparing rural and urban pupils.

In 1919 there were in our schools in the different grades the following percentages of pupils:—

	PR.	I.	II.	III.	IV.
Rural	24 p.c.	10 p.c.	22 p.c.	24 p.c.	20 p.c.
Urban	25 p.c.	19 p.c.	16 p.c.	19 p.c.	21 p.c.

You will notice the marked falling off in per cent. in rural schools from Third to Fourth Book, while in urban schools the per cent. increases. This is accounted for by the fact that some rural pupils leave school while in the Third Book and pupils are retained in urban schools until they reach the Fourth Book and receive one or two years training in this Form.

For the promotion of pupils the teachers promote from Junior to Senior Grades and County papers are set for Sr. II. to Jr. III. and from Sr. III. to Jr. IV. In all cases the teacher marks the papers. To illustrate the standard of these Promotion results, I have made out the following table from the June Examination, 1920, Orangeville and Grand Valley:—

	Rural	Urban
Passed from Second to Third Book	63 p.c.	69 p.c.
Recommended, Second to Third Book	24 p.c.	6 p.c.
Failed, Second to Third Book	13 p.c.	25 p.c.
Passed, Third to Fourth Book	62 p.c.	77 p.c.
Recommended, Third to Fourth Book	30 p.c.	7 p.c.
Failed, Third to Fourth Book	8 p.c.	16 p.c.

The large per cent. of candidates from rural schools that are recommended and the small per cent. from the urban schools are very noticeable. It is also noticeable that by passing and recommending, 87 per cent. of the rural to 75 per cent. of the urban are promoted from II. to III. Book, and that 92 per cent. of the rural to 84 per cent. of the urban are promoted from the III. to IV. Book. It is evident that the rural schools have a lower standard than the urban schools. The evidence, however, is not complete until we see how many pupils graduate from our Public Schools.

In 1920 there were in the rural schools 450 pupils in the II. Book and 478 pupils in the III. Book. In the same year there were in the urban schools 106 in the II. Book and 125 in the III. Book. Of these pupils the Promotion Examination showed the following percentages:—

	Passed	Recommended	Failed
Rural, II. to III.	25 p.c.	10 p.c.	65 p.c.
Urban, II. to III.	33 p.c.	3 p.c.	64 p.c.
Rural, III. to IV.	21 p.c.	10 p.c.	69 p.c.
Urban, III. to IV.	29 p.c.	10 p.c.	61 p.c.

From this we see that 8 per cent. more of the urban pupils pass from II. to III. and 8 per cent. more from III. to IV. than rural pupils.

In 1920 there were, in rural schools, in the IV. Book 470, and in urban schools 140 pupils. The percentages of these pupils who passed the Entrance Examination are:—

	Passed	Honours
Urban	27 p.c.	4 p.c.
Rural	18 p.c.	2 p.c.

By comparing these percentages we see that of the urban pupils one-half more pass and twice the per cent. take honours when compared with rural pupils.

Following up the 450 pupils in the rural schools in the II. Book and assuming that the percentages and conditions will remain the same during the following years we would have in the future the following percentage passing the Entrance or graduating from our rural schools:—

By multiplying the percentages obtained for rural schools we have 18x31x35 per cent. or 1.95 per cent., and in a similar way we would have for the pupils in the urban schools, 27x39x36 per cent. or 3.79 per cent. From this it appears that about twice the per cent. of the number of pupils attending the urban schools graduate as compared with the rural schools.

From my intimate knowledge of rural pupils I believe that they are just as clever, possibly more so, than their urban cousins, but poor attendance prevents a favorable comparison. Rural pupils who attend regularly, in this county at least, pass the Entrance Examination at as early an age as do those from urban schools.

During the year I made 193 regular visits and 82 special visits to the schools with one of the following dentists of the county, namely, Drs. Campbell, Bowles and Price, Orangeville; Dr. Zinn, Shelburne, and Dr. Bracken, Grand Valley. These gentlemen gave freely of their time in order to prove to the public that Dental Inspection is a very necessary work. Your Inspector made all arrangements and paid travelling and incidental expenses.

To more than half of the schools we invited the parents to be present, to whom short addresses were given and in all schools addresses were given to the pupils.

At first we were at a disadvantage owing to a delay in printed Forms from the Department. Errors and delays were unavoidable, but a beginning has been made. The dentists will not be requested nor can they be expected to again give their valuable time free of charge. Altogether they spent 20 days in the country and there are yet two days' work to be completed. The urban centres have been, or will be, inspected in the near future. The following are the results of the Inspection:—

Among the 1264 pupils examined there were 1755 simple cavities; 594 extensive cavities; 2357 deciduous cavities; 137 abscesses; 1276 teeth to be extracted; 139 urgent cases.

Some of the latter, if neglected, might prove of permanent injury to the pupil.

In this Report it is not my intention to dwell on the need for Dental Inspection, but I will be pleased to outline a plan for the future should your Educational Committee consider it advisable.

The development of Agricultural Classes is advancing each year. At the first we had Annual Meetings and Trustee Boards passing resolutions either condemning or opposing their introduction. Last year some of these sections were the most enthusiastic in their support.

The first class was established in 1912-13 by Miss Edith C. Liddy at Laurel, with one trustee enthusiastic, one just as firmly opposed and the third neutral. Last year there were 25 rural schools in which Agriculture was regularly taught and ten of the teachers had either Part I. or a complete Elementary Certificate in Agriculture.

Last year, 1920, the Boards received in grants $251.48, and the teachers who taught the subjects in accordance with the Regulations received $706.00.

While the best work is not yet being done it is a step in the right direction and I hope before long to see every school with a class in Agriculture. Where the work has been successful under a trained teacher the School Board demands that this subject be taught and if there be a change of teachers then the new one must have a certificate in Agriculture. This should be the aim of every Board in Dufferin.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. R. LIDDY,
Public School Inspector, Dufferin.

CONCUSSION OF BRAIN

Mervin Haddock, the 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Haddock, lot 29, con. 5, east, Mono, sustained severe injuries to his head in a fall on Tuesday of last week. The lad was attending school on 30 sideroad, 4th line, and during intermission was skating on the roadway, when he was run into and upset by a small handsleigh. He alighted on the back of his head, and sustained a slight concussion of the brain. He was carried to the home of Thos. Hogg, where he remained unconscious for some hours. He was removed to his home on Friday last, where his condition is reported to be improving, but he had an exceedingly narrow escape.—Free Press.

Mrs. Wilson was formerly Miss Berniece Rowland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rowland, one-time residents of Orangeville. Her mother will be remembered as Miss Laura Ritchie, of this town, daughter of the late R. W. Ritchie and Mrs. Ritchie, now of Dundalk. Her marriage to Mr. Wilson took place in November 1919. She is survived by her young husband, two sisters, Misses Alleyne and Edith Rowland, and the present Mrs. Rowland, of Francis, Sask. IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of our dear grandfather, George Dawson, who departed this life on February 13th, 1918.

In our home you are fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to your name;
Hearts that loved in truest affection,
Still love you in death just the same.

This day brings forth sad memories
Of a dear one laid to rest.
And those who think of him to-day
Are those who loved him best.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cole.

—Local curlers have been having a busy time of it this last week. Last Thursday rinks from Shelburne and Grand Valley visited town to take part in the annual competition for the John Best trophy. The curlers from the banks of the Grand took the Shelburne players into camp in the morning game, administered a trimming to the locals in the afternoon and went home the happy possessors of the trophy. Tuesday a couple of Erin rinks were here and played morning and afternoon games, the score being close in both cases. A double schedule is also being played for the Bowles-Rutledge special prizes and is creating much interest. Yesterday's fine weather has spoiled the ice and caused a suspension of all games for the time being.

DUFFERINS REORGANIZE

The Dufferin Lacrosse Club was reorganized for the season of 1921 at a well-attended meeting in the Auditorium of the Public Library on Monday night. Dr. E. W. Feeney presided in the unavoidable absence of last year's President, Mr. James Armstrong. It was decided to enter no less than four teams in the O. A. L. A. The Dufferins, who last year won the Intermediate championship of the O. A. L. A. and subsequently the championship of Eastern Canada by their defeat of St. Simons, the senior champions, will this year step higher and play senior. While this will mean faster lacrosse and the necessity of having a very strong team, it will have the advantage of ensuring a compact grouping and shorter trips than last year. Officers were elected as follows:—

Hon. Presidents, Mayor Parkinson, Dr. T. H. Henry, W. G. Kearns, J. W. Aiken, E. C. Clark, T. S. Little, C. R. McKeown, E. G. Bingham; President, James Armstrong; 1st Vice, Dr. Rooney; 2nd Vice, Raspin Scott; 3rd Vice, Will Ewing; Secretary, Bert Booth; Treasurer, Fred Golden; Executive Committee, W. QUEBEC MAN GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Absolom Duchesneau Gives Three Reasons Why He Advises Everyone to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills For Kidney Ills.

St. George, Beauce Co., Que., Feb. 14th. (Special)—Just how much good Dodd's Kidney Pills have done in one family is told by Mr. Absolom Duchesneau, a well-known and highly respected resident here.

"My health is very much better since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. Duchesneau states. "For two years I was in pain, but since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills the pain is gone.

"I also induced my mother to use Dodd's Kidney Pills for sleeplessness and the results were very satisfactory.

"My sister, too, took Dodd's Kidney Pills for backache, and she is better.

"Do you wonder that I advise everyone to use Dodd's Kidney Pills?"

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to occupy such a prominent place in the family medicine chest is that so many of the ordinary every-day ills come from sick kidneys. Rheumatism, urinary troubles, backache, disbetes and heart disease can all be traced directly or indirectly to sick kidneys.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

FLYING SQUIRRELS

Mr. W. H. Thurston, of the Fleshcrton Advance, has a pair of pets somewhat out of the ordinary. These are two flying squirrels. They were captured by Mr. Ed. Best while cuting down trees in the woods and presented to the staff. Mr. Thurston says it is surprising how few people are acquainted with this little animal, although it is quite common in our forests. The explanation is that the little fellow never comes out in the day time. Night is his time for exercise and foraging. The owl, weasel, mink, etc., are his enemies, consequently, although only a night prowler, the flying squirrel population does not become congested. They are very easily tamed and make an ideal pet in the house. The second night after these were captured one of the pair was volplaning across the room from curtain poles, running over furniture and the laps of those in the room. Their antics are very amusing. A box of cotton batting in a large bird cage is their home. They stow themselves in the batting and are not seen from one night until the next.

GET A HOBBY

Get out of your routine once in a while.

You need something different to give you inspiration to go on.

You need greater vision, more appreciation of what surrounds you, a larger experience, a deeper drink from the foundation of knowledge—you must have something to draw from.

You cannot help growing stale if you continue in the same rut day after day and year after year, thinking the same old thoughts in the same old way.

Never in this country has there been greater need for men and women of constructive ideas and the earnestness to work them out.

The oldfashioned man ridiculed the idea of vacations.

The up-to-date employer of to-day wants his employees to take vacations, because he feels they are going to store up a greater quantity of vigor—they are going to learn something which will be beneficial to their line of endeavor, and in the long run to him and the business.

This is not a philanthropic view, but a logical reason for periodic recreation and change.

Get rid of the cobwebs—the idea that life is all treadmill—and look up.

GEORGE HENRY

It is with regret that we chronicle the death of Mr. Geo. Henry, which occurred at his home in Main St. North on Tuesday, February 8th. Deceased was the victim of a form of anaemia that made terribly rapid progress in ending the life of an apparently strong man at the age of 55. The death of his only child, a son of twenty, by accident last year, had a depressing effect on his health and his decline was very noticeable after that. Mr. Henry was the son of the late Hugh Henry, of Cheltenham. He married Miss Emily Wilkinson and for a number of years farmed a hundred and fifty acres, lot 22, on the 4th line, west. About three years ago he sold out and came to Brampton to live. During the past two years he had charge of the cream station here for the Georgetown Butter Factory. Mr. Henry was a successful farmer and a fine neighbor. Mr. Henry was a Conservative and a Presbyterian. He is survived by his wife, also by his mother, who lives on the old homestead at Cheltenham with two daughters. Mr. Henry is survived by two brothers, W. H., at Cheltenham, and John, in Montana. —Peel Banner.

THE THINGS LEFT UNDONE

Alice was crying bitterly, as her mother tried to comfort her she asked her what she had done. "I didn't do anything," sobbed Alice, "it is what I did not do. I forgot to feed Peter, and he is dead!" Then she sobbed again as if her heart would break. Peter was her pet canary whom she loved very much. The mother felt very sorry for her little girl; but at the same time she knew that she needed a lesson like this to cure her of her forgetfulness.

Our greatest heartaches may come from the things we have left undone.

It was the man who hid his talent and made no use of it that received condemnation. Dives did not touch Lazarus, he simply ignored him.

We are more prone to watch against the sin of commission than we are that of omission, but we have great need to guard against both.

'Twas not the thing that you did, dear,
But the thing that you left undone
That gives you a bit of a heartache
At the setting of the sun.

THEN SHE CHANGED HER MIND

A popular rector tells a good story against himself. Going up the steps of his church to conduct the service, he was accosted by a stately old lady in difficulties with her breathing. "Pardon me," she said, "but would you do me the favor of assisting me up the steps?" "Certainly, madam," assented the rector, giving hen his arm. They reached the door, when the old lady, pausing for a moment's rest, said: "Pardon me once more, but do you happen to know who is preaching this morning?" "The rector, madam," replied the clerk. "Oh!" she said. "Then might I beg you to do me another favor?" "Certainly," replied the rector once more. "What else can I do for you?" "Would you," said the old lady, "be so good as to assist me down the steps again?"

STEPHEN McLEAN'S TRIBUTE TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Nova Scotian Who Has Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and Found Them Good Recommends Them to All Who Suffer From Kidney Ills.

Whitney Pier, Sydney, N. S., Feb. 21st (Special)—"Indeed I did find Dodd's Kidney Pills beneficial, so I recommend them as the best on the market."

This whole-hearted tribute comes from the lips of Mr. Stephen McLean, who resides at 1424 Victoria Road, this city. He is just one more of the thousands of Canadians who have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills for their kidney ills and found them good.

"Any sufferers who want to recuperate their original health I would recommend them to use Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. McLean states further.

There is no disease so common in Canada as kidney disease. The kidneys are the scavengers of the body. Their work is to strain all the impurities out of the blood. It is easy to see how neglecting them may be the cause of serious illness. Rheumatism, dropsy, urinary troubles, diabetes and heart disease are some of the penalties that follow neglecting the call of sick kidneys.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy sick kidneys are crying for.

WAR MEMORIAL UNVEILED

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY AND SERVICE IN ORANGEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Impressive and solemn was the ceremony of unveiling the Memorial Tablet to the student soldiers of the High School who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War. The ceremony, alike unique and memorable in the annals of the School, took place in the Gymnasium at 2.30 o'clock on Friday afternoon, February 18th, in the presence of a large and deeply interested assemblage of students, ex-students and friends of the school. Rev. W. M. Morris, Chairman of the High School Board, presided, and with him on the platform were Principal Hackett and Miss Strang, of the High School staff, ministers of the town churches, Capt. Lang, of the local Salvation Army Corps, and Mrs. Steele, wife of the late Principal Steele, who had come from Toronto to unveil the memorial. Prior to the commencement of the service the Chairman asked the parents of the young men who had lost their lives to take seats on the platform.

The service opened with the singing of "O, God, our help in ages Past," one of the favorite hymns of the soldiers in their services at the front. This was followed by a brief prayer by Rev. J. W. Edwards, pastor of the Baptist Church. Then came the reading of those beautiful and comforting words of Scripture, Rev. 7 :9-17, by Rev. H. L. Partridge, of the Methodist Church. A great hush fell over the gathering as the minister read the concluding lines of the inspired message of hope and comfort:—

"They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat.

"For the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters; and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes."

After the assemblage had sung the hymn "Unto the Hills," under the leadership of Miss Ruth Shaw, who presided at the piano throughout the service, the Tablet, which was hidden from view beneath the folds of a large Union Jack, was unveiled by Mrs. Steele, the audience standing during the ceremony. Rev. Capt. Stewart, rector of St. Mark's Church, pronounced the dedicatory prayer, after which brief addresses were given by the Chairman, Miss Strang and Principal Hackett.

Mr. Morris referred to Lieut.-Col. McCrae's immortal lines and their message to the young men of Canada, to whom he appealed to take up the duties and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship handed them by the brave lads who had given their all for Canada. Miss Strang told in interesting manner of the work of the Memorial Committee and voiced deep regret at the fact that the Committee had not learned of the death of two ex-students, Dr. W. T. Hackett and Wesley Bailey, until too late to have their names placed on the tablet. Some suitable means would be found to perpetuate the memory of these two men and give them the meed of honour to which their bravery and sacrifice entitled them. Miss Strang expressed the thanks of the Committee to all students, former students and other friends of the School whose liberality had made the erection of the tablet possible. Principal Hackett referred to the steps taken to initiate the movement and described the unveiling ceremony as an event both unique and memorable in the history of the High School. It was the only memorial of the kind that had been erected in honour of students of the institution and he hoped the occasion would never arise for another. The Principal referred to the awful tragedy of war under any circumstances and expressed the fervent hope that the nations of the world would agree upon some more humane and Christian method of settling their differences.

The service was brought to a close by the singing of "Abide with me," followed by the National Anthem and the benediction. Then, as the large audience stood with bowed heads and in reverent silence, the Last Post was sounded by Mr. Russell Morrow and the service was at an end.

The memorial is a large bronze tablet of striking design, embellished with the Canadian coat of arms, the High School motto, "mens sana in corpore sano," and the dates 1914-1918. It bears the names of seventeen pupils and ex-pupils of the school, who laid down their lives for King and Country. These are arranged in double column under the inscription, "Erected by the pupils, ex-pupils and friends of the Orangeville High School in memory of those who lost their lives in the Great War." Below the names is the further inscription, "Their Name Liveth for Evermore." The names on the Tablet are:—

"VOX SCHOLAE"

The second number of "Vox Scholae," the monthly issued by the students of the Orangeville High School appeared yesterday. The Banner tenders its hearty congratulations to the Editor-in-Chief, A. G. Macpherson, and his staff on the high literary merit and the interesting character of the contents of the monthly. Unfortunately the leading editorial was marred by an unfortunate mistake in "make-up." As it was too late to remedy this when it was noticed, The Banner, which is responsible for the printing of the number, is making what amends it can by reproducing the editorial as the editor intended it should appear.

"We find it a real pleasure to go to press for this, our second time. We put our manuscript into the hands of the printers gladly and gratefully; galdly because we believe we are presenting an improved sheet due principally to the fact that the bulk of the material is original, fresh from the students themselves, (some of it very fresh); gratefully because of those students who made this possible. Special thanks go to Miss Mary Gabriel, ex-student and ex-teacher to whom we are indebted for the splendid article on "The work of the Y. W. C. A." We have hopes of receiving contributions from other ex-students. In fact the Vox Scholae is anxious to do something to link up all the "old boys and girls" it can with the old school.

THE CANADIAN CLUB

An open meeting of the Orangeville Canadian Club will be held in the Library Auditorium on Friday evening, February 25th, at 8.30 o'clock, when M.M. McBride, Labor M. L. A. for Brantford, will speak on "Helping to Build Canada." Mr. McBride is very much in the public eye and our citizens will welcome this opportunity to hear and see the Brantford member.

HOSPITAL NOTES

The Daughters of the Empire propose holding a Sale of Homemade Baking at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 26th. There are many urgent needs for the Hospital and all who are interested in the welfare of this much needed institution cannot do better work than to supply something toward this Sale. The Sale will be held in the Store on First St., recently vacated by Mr. J. H. Kearns.

The names of the following officer and councillors were inadvertently omitted from the list reported last week:—Standard Bearer, Miss Gertrude Irvine; Councillors, Mrs. W. C. Hopkins,, Mrs. Alex. Walker.

—Remit by Dominion Express Money Order. If lost or stolen, you get your money back.

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S.

The Society was very fortunate in having Mr. Ferris, who addressed the young people at their recent banquet, speak to them at the regular meeting on Monday night last. He spoke on the different phases of work the Society takes up throughout the year and how they should be dealt with. After his Talk he exhibited a number of slides on the life in the summer camps of the Tuxis Boys in Algonquin Park. This is the work in which Mr. Ferris is engaged and while here he organized a Tuxis Square among the older boys of the church with the following officers:

Mentor, Mr. R. Fairbairn; Pretor, Arthur Macpherson; Deputy Pretor, Gordon Adamson; Scriptor, Murray McKitrick; Comptor, Harry Guest.

Monday night's Y. P. S. meeting was in the hands of the Citizenship Committee, the convenor, Arthur Macpherson, presiding. Next Monday night's meeting will be in the hands of the Missionary Committee, which is preparing a good program. All are welcome.

CAPT. "TOM" WALLACE

Orangemen all over Canada learned with profound regret of the death on Sunday last of Capt. Tom. Wallace. For a number of years he had been an officer of the Grand Lodge of British North America and was a familiar figure at all Grand Lodge gatherings. M. W. Bro. Wallace succumbed after a week's illness from pneumonia. Deceased was the oldest son of the late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, ex-Controller of Customs and for many years Grand Master of the Orange Order on this continent. He served in the Boer war and was decorated for bravery. He made his first appearance in politics in 1907, when he contested Centre York in a bye-election, being defeated by Dr. P. D. McLean, Liberal, by the narrow margin of 26 votes. He was elected at the general election in the following year and again at the general elections in 1911 and 1917, on the last occasion in West York by the tremendous majority of 7,300 votes.

Capt. Wallace was unmarried and lived with his sisters, Misses Olive and Belinda Wallace in Woodbridge. The other members of the family are C. L. Wallace, Reeve of Woodbridge and Warden of York County; J. H. G., a barrister in Toronto; N. C., of Trinity College, Toronto, and Mrs. O. J. S. Little, of Toronto. The funeral, which was very largely attended, was held from the family residence to Christ Church Cemetery, Woodbridge on Tuesday afternoon.

—Do not miss the Play, "Farm Folks," at the Community Hall, The Maples, in the near future.

of the most thrilling serial story ever screened!
JACK DEMPSEY
The Best Known Man in the World in
"Daredevil Jack"

It is certainly one of the most thrilling and mysterious stories in serial form ever given on the screen, and its production end is splendidly developed as a special feature picture. The choosing of the cast shows great discretion. All the characters are exactly fitted to their parts and the female lead, Josie Sedgwick, is an appealing heroine and adventuress. She is an athletic woman, whose daring and fearlessness will endear her to the hearts of all. Jack Dempsey has the star role. His pugilistic powers are at no time used to force him into the centre of the action. He is merely Jack Dempsey, a motion picture star, not the heavyweight champion of the world.

The story concerns two bracelets, which, when pieced together, form a map giving the loation of a very valuable oil well. One bracelet was placed upon the wrist of the heroine, Josie Sedgwick, when a child, by her father; the other finds its way into the hands of ganes of schemers, who attempt to obtain the bracelet on the girl's wrist. Another force is also against both the girl and the gang in the form of her ambitious father, who is fighting to secure the oil well. Every episode is full of thrills.

CALEDON

The action of the C. P. R. in reducing the section staff from three to one (the "one" being the foreman) on Tuesdays and Thursdays is causing much uncomplimentary criticism of the methods of a great corporation to reduce expenses, especially in view of the fact that the foreman and two men had to work four hours overtime on Monday replacing a defective rail. Economy may be necessary, but surely not the false economy that puts in jeopardy the safety of the travelling public.

The Union Bank has received a quantity of office fittings and fixtures and now looks more than ever like a bank.

Reeve Thos. Quinn will attend a Good Roads Convention in Toronto this week.

Jane says: "The preachers may be poorly paid, but they'll never have to quit for want of work."

The Caledon Volunteer Fire Brigade received a hurry up call on Saturday afternoon from W. J. Warnock whose potato storage house at the station took fire from defective insulation. Although the new force pump is not yet in commission, a truck load of firemen arrived in a few minutes armed with chemical extinguishers, which quickly put out the blaze, the damage being negligible. Two facts were demonstrated the value and necessity of the Fire Brigade and the effectiveness of chemical extinguishers in controlling an incipient blaze.

This week's visitors:—Mrs. Wm. Allen, Brentwood, at her sister's, Mrs. Stuckey; Mrs. Campbell, West Toronto, at her sister's, Miss Jude; Miss Berney, Caledon East, visiting Miss Islay Brown; Mr. Long, Toronto, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stubbs; Miss McCall, visiting her sister, Mrs. A. B. Smith; Mr. Rutledge Wallace, visiting his aunt, Miss L. Rutledge.

Mrs. Wm. J. Limebeer has returned from a two weeks visit with friends at Mono Road.

Councillor W. J. Trathen returned Saturday from a week's visit in Toronto. He brought with him another high priced bird to add to his fine yard of poultry.

A delegation of the Caledon Rest Club went to Toronto Wednesday as part of a sportsmans' organization, to confer with Government officials on the new firearms regulations. The Peel County Officials seemed unable to give a workable interpretation of the Act.

A Box Social and Entertainment will be held in McCartney's Hall on Monday evening, February 28th, under the auspices of Caledon East U. F. O. Proceeds in aid of the China Famine Fund.

HILLSBURG

The sale at the home of John Byrne, Esq., on Saturday last, Feb. 19th, brought out a record crowd, and high substantial prices were paid. But what's the odds. The war is over, and Erin township is the most prosperous municipality anywhere.

Many friends attended the happy gathering at the home of Mr and Mrs. McKinnon on the 6th con. of Erin last Friday night to wish them God-speed on their departure for residence in Guelph in the near future. Their neighbors presented them with easy-chairs and also one for Dan McKinnon, as tokens of their friendship. Then the rest of the evening was given to an enjoyable dance until SOME o'clock. The Banner joins in the wish that Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon will find in Guelph as snug a home as the old homestead, where they have had 52 happy years, and as good friends as the old friends.

At a meeting of representatives held in St. Andrew's Church on Thursday last, February 17th, the Erin Township Referendum Committee was reorganized. The enthusiasm manifested in the businesslike meeting is a good indication that Erin township's vote will be brought out on April 18th to a man (or woman.) Representatives were there from Erin, Hillsburg, Mimosa, Ospringe, Ballinafad, and also from the Erin W. C. T. U. The following Executive was appointed:—Chairman, R. D. Nodwell, Hillsburg; Vice-Chairman, Mrs. (Dr.) Short, Erin; Sec.-Treas., Alex. Parry, Hillsburg; Captains of polling sub-divisions—1 Ospringe, Roy Hindley; 2 Ballinafad, Jos. Allen jr.; 3 Hopyard, Morgan Graham; 4 Coningsby, Rich. Bryan; 5 Mimosa, Leonard Awrey; 6 Hillsburg, the Chairman and Secretary of above Executive ;7 Erin Village, Dr. Short.

These Captains were authorized to appoint their own Committees for getting out the vote in the sub-divisions, and it was agreed that each Committee should have at least five members, of which two should be women. The Polling Sub-division Committees are to have the appointment of all necessary officials to take care of the temperance interests at the polls.

RITCHIE-WHITE

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James White, Mono, on Wednesday afternoon, February 16th, when their daughter, Gladys R., was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. John Ritchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ritchie, of Black's Corners. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Lynd, pastor of the Laurel Circuit, in the drawing room, the bridal couple taking their places under an arch of evergreens and white bells. The bride was daintily dressed in a navy blue tricotine suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and fern. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Morley Veitch, sister of the bride. After the newly wedded couple had received the congratulations of the assembled friends at the close of the ceremony, they led the way to the dining room, where an elaborate wedding repast was served. The young couple were the recipients of many useful and costly gifts. Later in the evening the happy couple took their departure on a short honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, lot 16, con. 1, Amaranth. The Banner joins their many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie every happiness in their journey through life.

WHITTINGTON

The League met as usual last Thursday evening. The President, Harold Cruikshank, led the meeting. The losing side in the attendance contest, which ended a couple of weeks ago, entertained the winners. A splendid program was provided. Harold White gave a humorous reading and Master Edwin Crombie also gave a reading. Mr. Arthur Curtis, who was visiting from Camilla, contributed a number of vocal solos, his sister, Florence, playing the accompaniments. Rev. Mr. Lynd gave a short talk on the scripture lesson. After the meeting everyone was served with ice cream and cake. Next week there will be a debate: "Resolved that Canada has more Natural Resources than the United States."

On Monday, February 14th, friends and acquaintances of Miss Gladys White met in the church here and tendered her a miscellaneous shower prior to her marriage to Mr. John Ritchie. A short program was given, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, Mr.. W. R. Rintoul acting as chairman. Little Miss Irene Trimble, attired as a dainty bride, presented each article to the bride-to-be and read out the name of the donor. The many valuable gifts the bride received showed how highly she is esteemed in the vicinity.

RICH, RED BLOOD MEANS HEALTH

Pale Cheeks and Bloodless Lips Are a Danger Signal.

To be pale is no longer the fashion; to be languid is an affliction. To-day the most winsome girl is the one with the pink tinge of health in her cheeks, lips naturally red, and eyes sparkling with life. Add to this a quick, active step and everyone can tell the girl whose veins are full of the pure, rich blood of health. How different she appears from her ailing sisters, whose aching limbs and weak backs make them pale and dejected. Anaemia is the cause of so much suffering among girls and women that it cannot be too widely known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have transformed thousands of delicate anaemic invalids into happy, healthy women. These pills help to put rich red blood into the veins, and this blood reaches every part of the body, giving strength, rosy cheeks and brightness in place of weakness, prostrating headaches and a wretched state of half-health. Miss Edna E. Weaver, R. R. No. 1, Chippewa, Ont., says: "I was very much run down, weak, nervous and troubled with pains in the side. I tried different medicines but without any benefit until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Under the use of this medicine I gained strength, had better appetite, slept better and the pain in my side disappeared. My health has since remained excellent and I advise any one troubled with anaemia, or weakness, to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia and nervousness. Build up your blood and note how the purer and richer blood fights your battles against disease. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that with the observance of ordinary rules of health will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin the treatment now, or send to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the Pills will be sent you postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

IN MEMORIAM.

LEGATE—In loving memory of our dear boy, Joseph E. Legate, who departed this life Feb. 21st, 1919.

We laid him there, the young and fair,
The guileless, cherished one;
As if part of life itself,
With him we loved were gone.

Like to the flowers he lived and bloomed,
As bright and pure as they;
And like a flower the blight had touched,
He early passed away.
—Father, Mother and Sisters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Maria Reynolds, who passed away on February 20th, 1920.

Days of sadness still come o'er me,
Tears in silence often flow;
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you left us a year ago.
"Gone but not forgotten."
—Daughters

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of the late John A. Rayburn, of Caledon, who departed this life on February 24th, 1918.

SPECIAL MEETING

Railway and Municipal Board Hears Cases of Applicants for Release From Telephone Petitions.

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board held a special sitting in the Court House here on Thursday last for the purpose of hearing and determining applications by a number of petitioners to have their names struck off petitions presented to the Municipal Councils of the townships of Erin and Caledon praying for the establishment of a telephone system in the two municipalities. About 150 Caledon and about 40 Erin petitioners made application to have their names removed from the petitions.

The Board first dealt with the Erin petitions, which it disposed of in short order. The names of non-landowners and of petitioners who had disposed of their farms since they signed the petitions were struck off. With these exceptions the Board held that ratepayers who had signed the petitions were bound by their action.

In Caledon matters were more complicated. In this municipality two sets of petitions were circulated. The first petitions were submitted to the township council on June 23rd, 1919, when the Council passed a resolution declining to take any action on the petitions as submitted and suggested that new petitions be circulated. A second set of petitions were then circulated, signed and presented to the council. For some reason the new petitions were not circulated in Caledon East division, No. 3, and when the petitions were again presented to the council the old petition from the Caledon East division was pinned to the other sheets and handed in with the new petitions from other parts of the township. On account of this irregularity the Board held that the petitioners in the Caledon East ward were not bound and ordered all the names from this division struck off.

In the Caledon division, No. 5, the second petitions were circulated prior to the council meeting of June 23rd, 1919, but were not presented at this meeting. They were however presented at a subsequent meeting. In this case the Board held that the petitioners were bound and declined to allow their names to be removed.

Subsequently the Caledon Council advertised that petitioners who wished to have their names removed would be allowed to make application to the council for that purpose. As a result 54 petitioners had their names struck off by the township council. The Board held that in this action the township council had exceeded its authority and that these names had been improperly removed. The Act requires that the consent of the Board must be secured before names of petitioners can be removed. Names of these petitioners were restored to the petitions and the Board proceeded to deal with the individual cases on their merits. These were not completed when the Board concluded the sitting. Another session will probably be arranged to wind up the matter. Apart from the special cases already noted the Board followed the general principle of striking off the names of non-landowners and owners who had disposed of their properties since signing the petitions and holding that other petitioners were bound. The Board intimated that it would probably rescind the order approving of township by-law No. 770 passed by the Caledon council on August 1st, 1919, for the purpose of establishing the telephone system, thus making it necessary for the present council to pass a new by-law.

The full Board was present, namely, D. M. McIntyre, K. C., Chairman, A. B. Ingram, Vice-Chairman, and J. A. Ellis, A. F. Dagger, the Board's engineer, was also here. Messrs. A. A. Hughson and C. R. McKeown, K. C., who appeared for some of the petitioners, were the only lawyers engaged in the proceedings.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

"The Privileges and Responsibilities of Citizenship," was the subject of a very instructive address delivered by Mr. E. Hackett at the Epworth League meeting last Monday night. In the course of his address the speaker pointed out that the privileges of citizenship are to-day looked upon as liberty. But we should take advantage of the privileges, chief among which is the franchise. The meeting was in charge of the Literary Committee and Mr. Will Porter presided. Miss Dorothy Wright rendered a much appreciated instrumental solo. A set of twelve beautifully colored slides were shown, illustrating the poem, "The Village Blacksmith." A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hackett for his very interesting address.

Next Monday evening the Citizenship Department will have charge of the meeting. A good speaker has been secured for this occasion. All young people are cordially invited to attend.

LAID AT REST

Mrs. Joseph Irving, Sister of Mrs. D. A. Hogg, Passed Away at Edmonton.

Scores of sorrowing friends and members of the Order of the Eastern Star, Maple Leaf Rebekah Lodge and Lady Maccabees, gathered at McDougall church to pay a last loving tribute to Mrs. Joseph Irving, who has been an active worker and member in these organizations since coming to Edmonton nine years ago. Rev. R. Lorne McTavish, in conjunction with the officers of Edmonton Chapter, No. 19, Order of the Eastern Star, conducted the funeral service. After Mr. McTavish had delivered an impressive and helpful message to the bereaved family, Edmonton Chapter No. 19 took charge of the service, nine of whom grouped around the casket and read the beautiful ritual service of their order, Mrs. R. C. McDonald, Past Worthy, led the service, assisted by Mr. Morris, Worthy Patron; Mrs. R .S. McMorine, Chaplain, and the five star points representing "Adah," (Mrs. R. Smith), Ruth (Mrs. Weeks), Esther (Mrs. Bennie), Martha (Mrs. Elliott) and Electra (Mrs. Taylor), while Mrs. Claude McQuistran rendered the choral part of the service, "I am but a Stranger Here," very sympathetically. The ritual closed with "Nearer, My God to Thee," sung by the assembly. Members of her own chapter also acted as ushers. The pallbearers, all close friends of the family, included Mr. Frank Drayton, Mr. A. G. Hamilton, Mr. Wallace Howe, Mr. J. F. Forsythe, Mr. W. Montgomery and Mr. R. Moffatt. Mrs. Hamilton, L. R. A. M., had charge of the music, the hymns sung being "Asleep in Jesus," and "Peace, Perfect Peace." Members of the Marshall-Wells sales staff, with whom Mr. Irving is connected, attended in a body, while many Masons, from Lodge No. 14, A. F. and A. M., expressed their sympathy by their presence.

Quantities of beautiful floral emblems from friends and fraternities filled the platform, while two five pointed stars worked out in the colors of the O. E. S. rested on the casket, one being the token from Chapter No. 19, and the other from four combined O. E. S. chapters in the city, West Edmonton, Norwood, Areme and Allenby, from whose midst Mrs. Irving will be greatly missed by all, as in times of sickness she was the first to comfort and assist, while in times of festivities she was an ardent and enthusiastic worker, and her kindly, helpful personality will be a distinct loss to the community as well as to her personal friends.

Among those who sent floral tributes were sisters and brother at Thamesville, and Orangeville, On., and New York City; Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Irving and family; teachers of McDougall Sunday School; Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees; Maple Leaf Rebekah Lodge No. 2; McDougall Ladies' Aid; Jasper Lodge No. 14, A. F. & A. M.; West Edmonton Masonic Lodge No. 101; Capital City Chapter Royal Arch Masons; Marshall-Wells Alberta Co; Office and Warehouse staff Marshall-Wells; Administrative and Sales Staff, Marshall-Wells; The Sommerville Hardware Co., and Employees; the Girls of Livingston Camp; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Forsythe; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. E. Avenell; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Smith and family; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Drayton; Mr. and Mrs. John Ren; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forbes; Mr. and Mrs. J. Bartlow; Mr. R. Moffatt; Mrs. R. Trawin and Madge Rutley; Mr. and Mrs. and Katharine McKim; Mrs. K. M. Taylor; Miss Annie Hewitt; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hook.

Deceased is a sister of Mrs. D. A. Hogg, of this town, and also of Mrs. Ross V. McGuire, of Thamesville, formerly of Orangeville.

—Edmonton Bulletin.

WILLIAM J. DWIER

Early Saturday morning there passed away at the Exchange Hotel, an old and highly respected resident of Hillsburg in the person of W. J. Dwier, in his 81st year. His father's name was Michael Dwier, and he came from the north of Ireland and settled in the township of Albion, when the country was a wilderness. Eighty years ago last May, W. J. was born on the old homestead. There he grew to manhood and married and settled on the farm across the road and remained until he moved to Hillsburg, forty-five years ago and carried on the Exchange Hotel. He was married twice, the first wife was Sarah M. Vurnan, of Adjala. From this union there were nine of a family, five boys and four girls, of whom three boys and four girls survive. Thirty-three years ago he married Elizabeth Blanchfield, daughter of John Blanchfield, Eramosa. To this union five children were born, four dying in infancy and Herbert Joseph died two years ago, aged 26 years. Mr. Dwier has been in poor health for the past few years, and for some months confined to his bed. The funeral took place on Monday morning and the remains were laid away on the farm where he had resided before coming to Hillsburg. The land for the church and cemetery had been given to the R. C. Church by his father. Another of the pioneers has gone the way of all the earth. Mrs. Dwier has the sympathy of a great circle of friends in her bereavement.—Erin Advocate.

At this time, a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and I did so. After taking two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives', I was greatly relieved; and gradually this marvelous fruit medicine made me completely well.

LATE H. GILBERT

At Mansfield, on Thursday, Feb. 10th, 1921, the public was shocked to learn that there had passed away at the age of sixty years one of the outstanding men of the community in the person of H. Gilbert, of Messrs. Gilbert & Son's Departmental Store. He had a severe illness three years ago, from which he never fully recovered, although he frequently said his health was very good. He attended to his business until a few days before his death. On Sunday he complained of not feeling very well but he was not thought to be at all dangerously ill. On Wednesday night he suffered a stroke, which rendered him unconscious. From this he never rallied and passed away about 7 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Gilbert was born in Grey county on May 31st, 1860, having inherited from his parents those traits of character which have made so many of Canada's sons to be outstanding men in the community and country where their lot was cast. When a youth he left the shelter of the parental roof, having been trained in those principles of sterling integrity and godliness which characterized him throughout his whole life. He began his business career as a clerk in Mr. Hurst's store in Alliston. After six months in this situation he began business for himself in Mansfield in March, 1879. In 1885 he married Miss Minnie Beatty, who predeceased him eighteen years ago. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Harold Dowling, of Mono Mills, and two sons, Garfield Gilbert, of Mansfield, and Dr. Stanley Gilbert, of Newmarket, to mourn the loss of a kind, indulgent and devoted father. The funeral on Saturday was in charge of the Masonic brethren, of Alliston, of which lodge deceased was a prominent member. After the solemn ritual of the Order at the grave, a short service was conducted in the Presbyterian church, Mansfield, by Revs. Milne, Bailey and Reddon, who each bore testimony to his honorable career and life of service for the good of everyone whom he in any way could help. He was an honored elder of the church at Mansfield, superintendent of the Sunday School, and Bible Class teacher for upwards of 30 years. He was choir leader for over a quarter of a century and gave unstintedly of his time and talents to everything that would benefit the community, and build up the Master's Kingdom.—Shelburne Free Press.

JAMES TIMNEY

In the death at his home, 16 Glenlake Ave., Toronto, on Saturday, Feb. 12th, another former well-known resident of Shelburne passed away in the person of Jas. Timney. Mr. Timney had been in failing health for the past six years with heart trouble and hardening of the arteries and his death was not unexpected. He and the family moved to Toronto from Shelburne about ten years ago. Besides his widow, deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. C. Nickle and Gladys, and one son, John, all of Toronto. The remains were brought to Shelburne on the morning train on Monday, the funeral taking place from Knox church, where service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Thornley. The floral offerings are described as being most profuse and beautiful, being donations from friends in Toronto as well as from the West.—Free Press.

R. A. Craise, the present occupant of the Arlington Hotel, Tilsonburg, has purchased the property from R. J. Mathewson, of Detroit.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE ACT

The Adolescent School Attendance Act, by the proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor, made on the 13th day of July, 1920, will come into force and take effect as follows: Section 3 on Sept. 1st, 1921; Section 7 on Sept. 1st, 1923; and section 9 on Sept. 1st, 1922. The purpose of bringing the Act into force by stages is to make it possible to adjust gradually school accommodations, courses of study, and employments in industries to conditions set up by the requirements of the Act. Section 3 of the Act, which comes into operation on September 1st, 1921 ,provides for the attendance at school of adolescents between fourteen and sixteen years of age. The Minister announces that in conformity with this section of the Act pupils are expected to remain in full-time attendance at school until they are sixteen years of age unless employed on the authority of a home permit or an employment certificate as provided for by the Act, but that it is not his intention to instruct Attendance Officers to make the Act retroactive by endeavoring to compel young persons between fourteen and sixteen years of age who have been engaged in regular employment to return to school. School authorities, accordingly will, in the beginning, be charged with providing only for the continued instruction of those who are at present at school and not for numbers who might be forced to return to school by the strictest interpretation of the Act. At the same time, the Minister expects that the Act will be made fully effective to the extent that Attendance Officers be appointed acording to law and their departments organized to ensure, first, that all young persons between fourteen and sixteen years of age shall be either at school or at work; and, second, that all those who are at work either at home or in gainful employments, shall hold the permits or certificates required by law .Section 9, which provides for the establishment and maintenance of part-time courses of instruction for young persons at work, comes into operation on September 1st, 1922. The Minister expects that Boards will be prepared to make this section effective on that date. Whenever it is desired, the Minister, through the officers of the Department of Education, will be ready to lend assistance to Boards in organizing attendance departments and in forming or in carrying out plans for part-time instruction.

ALAS! POOR PAT

Pat had died and Mike, while seated with the rest of the mourners, burst into laughter. When he returned home his wife said: "What was the idea of laughing at Pat's funeral?" Well, about two weeks ago Pat told me he didn't believe in heaven or hell and while I looked at him lying there so peacefully it just came to me that he was all dressed up and had no place to go."

ARTIFICIALS.

Two small chaps were boasting about their relatives.

"My father," said one, "has a wooden leg."

"Huh," scoffed the other, "that's nothing at all. My sister has a cedar chest."

POLITICAL COMPLICATIONS

Mistress—"How did you happen to leave your last position?"

New Maid—"The lady fired me."

Mistress—"Ah, she was dissatisfied!"

New Maid—"Naw. She was a sorehead. I run for alderman ag'in her and won."

HE DIDN'T KNOW.

An elderly man was persuaded by one of his sons to go with him to a professional hockey match in the city.

The son,intent on giving his father a good time ,had booked two of the best seats.

"Now," said the son, joyfully, "you'll see more excitement for your $2 than you've ever seen before."

The old man grunted.

"I dont know so much about that," he said, dismally. "Two dollars was all I paid for my marriage license."

THE CONTACT CURE

It was said of a very successful lumber boss in the Eastern Provinces that he could get work out of anybody. Men always wanted to hire in his crew, and he hired almost anyone and paid high wages.

He was good-natured and never was known to speak harshly or chide anyone. But he had many good hands that he knew and he would place the idlers among the good workers. The contagion of good example got the idlers going. They could not stay idle in that crew. And so it was said he cured laziness in his camp.

The contact cure works on anyone. It may take longer in some cases than others. But the man with the grouch cannot stay sore among a lot of cheery comrades. And the idler cannot remain untouched amid a group of decent working comrades.

Committees cure no good where every member is an idler. But any committee can stand an idler. It is good for the committee and it is good for the idler. Moral health goes from one to the other. It is good for the one to give and good for the other to take.

In the make-up of things no one should be left out. Inefficiency is prety often a matter of wrong handling. put the inefficient man among the right mates and he wakes up and becomes a new man.

It is right to give him a chance and not to leave him stranded alone anywhere. He is a brother and deserves to be considered.

Could Not Sleep

Mr. Earnest Clark, Police Officer, 338 King St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For three years I suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness. I believe my condition was brought about by overwork. I had frequent headaches, neuralgic pains and twitching of nerves and muscles. I had indigestion, was short of breath and easily tired. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and seven boxes of this medicine relieved me of all my symptoms. I am now feeling one hundred per cent. better than I was, and have to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the good health I am now enjoying."

STRONG PLEA IN SIMPLE WORDS FOR BETTER SIRES

Lesson From the Case of the Kopas Steer—How a Boy Made Maple Sugar—Garden Chit-Chat

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Do you ever read the market reports? If you do you will see all too frequently comments like the following: "Trade was slow and draggy; choice offerings scarce; large number of inferior cattle hard to move at any price.

Have you ever personally inspected the live stock at the Toronto Stock Yards It may seem almost unreasonable to say, but really the good kind is all hard to find.

The reason for poor live stock is very apparent to everyone who visits the country occasionally, and looks over the average herds of cattle that are being kept.

Small, undersized cows are very common and, of course, there's the light-weight bull of (usually) doubtful parentage. Plainly speaking an absolute cull.

"Nuff sed." We don't have to go much deeper into the subject to understand where all the poor stock comes from.

However, we will grant this, that good feeding and care will do a great deal, but you can't get economical returns from a poorly-bred steer, no matter what feed you put into him.

The Kopas steer which was so admired at the Winter Fair at Guelph recently was from a very ordinary cow. Mr. Kopas would never have won the championship if he had used a grade bull.

Just remember this: The offspring is not going to be any better than the sire. If you use a measly little runt of a grade bull, that's narrow, upstanding, and meat-hearted, don't expect to top the market with his steer calves. Use them for fertilizer or chicken scrap.

On the other hand, if you use a low set, blocky, purebred bull, one with plenty of heart, good spring of rib and width of loin, full in the twist and carrying a good quarter, you can expect calves of a similar type.

It seems to me that a farmer would take a great deal of pleasure out of watching the improvement in his live stock each year. The knowledge that he was being well repaid for his feed and labor would be a great source of satisfaction.

Better bulls will have to be used all over Ontario if the farmer is going to take lower prices and still make a living.

The sooner this is understood the better. Quality counts when you come to sell anything and it sure does count in marketing live stock.

There never was a better time to "scrap" your grade bull and buy a pure bred. The supply is fairly large and prices are not high enough to hinder the average farmer.

We all know that the grade or scrub bull is "sure." He is "sure" to sire calves that will be "sure" to eat more than their worth, "sure to sell for the lowest market price, "sure' to lose the farmer money, and in the end "sure" to bankrupt the man who continues to use them.—C. F. MacKenzie, Field Manager, Live Stock Branch.

OLD-TIME THRESHING GANGS

FEAST DAY ON THE FARM

First Threshing Machine in Mono—Neighbors and Boys Help Work Along—Rivalry Among Wives.

(By Thomas McLaughlin.)

The threshing gang was an institution in every farming community in the earlier days. Until threshing machines came into use in Mono about 1850, the grain was separated from the straw by the use of the flail. The flail was composed of two hardwood sticks about an inch and a half thick, one about four feet long, the other about three, fastened together by a contrivance of leather thongs, allowing the sticks to turn in all directions freely. The operator held the longer stick in both hands and with the shorter one beat a layer of wheat or oats in the straw laid on the barn floor. By long practice he acquired the knack of swinging the flail with a revolving motion above his head, the shorter end coming down with a heavy thump on the heads of the grain. This was kept up until all the grain was beaten out of the head, when the straw was carefully shaken and removed, and the separated grain moved to a box or bin, and a fresh supply of sheaves opened and spread on the floor awaiting the attack of the flail. Sometimes two men faced each other, striking the sheaves alternately and keeping up the steady thump, thump hour after hour. It is easy to conceive that as crops increased in volume as the years passed, threshing the grain by this means became a long drawn-out undertaking so that the first threshing machine in the settlement came as a heaven-sent gift.

Trouble and Repairs

The original threshing machine owners hereabouts were two cousins, whom we shall call St. Louis, Johnny and Sam. The machine was second-hand, and, like nearly all second-hand machinery it gave lots of trouble. There was always something going wrong. Fully half of every day passed in repairs. These men were equal partners in the undertaking, and the unwritten terms of the partnership included the practiced condition that whichever one of them awoke first in the morning and reached the whiskey jug earliest was absolved from all responsibility of management for that day. So it was up to the other partner to get busy when he awoke.

Dusty Work

The threshing plant consisted of three main essential parts. First there was the horse power, a strong wooden framework to which the driving gear was attached, the motive power coming from five two-horse teams of horses hitched to five wooden arms, and travelling in a circle all day long, with the driver standing in the centre, wielding a long whip and keeping up a steady fire of exclamations, addressed to the horses, all having as their purport the reminder that there was no let-up for them until quitting time—or until something went wrong with the threshing machine, which came too often in the case of the St. Louis plant. The straw bands of the sheaves were cut by hand, and the loosened sheaf was fed into the thresher, its centrepiece being a cylinder of iron with steel teeth revolving at high speed and knocking the grain from the straw as it passed through. The grain passed to a box under the machine, while the straw was carried to the rear, dropped into a conveyer called the rakes, and carried out of the barn to the strawstack. Threshing was about the dirtiest work in the life of the farmer. So much dust was messed up that the interior of the barn on threshing day was about as dark as if a newly-fired soft coal burner was pouring its output of smoke into the building.

Threshing Feasts

But there were compensations. About twenty of the neighbors assembled to help the work along. That meant meals for them, and the meals on threshing day meant a feast. A table about twenty feet long was set out with food, fresh and fortifying. Huge roasts of beef, boiled hams, (fresh, sweet hams, not the post-cured variety), unlimited boiled potatoes, stacks of fresh baked bread, and as for pies and cakes, why they covered every available inch of the table. Of course, the faces of the feasters were black enough for the members of a minstrel show, and their hands matched their faces, but little things like that mattered not on threshing day. There was plenty of variety in the food, so that everyone might satisfy his own particular appetite. In one instance a very large, freshly baked cake, several storeys thick, was placed where an old man, whom we shall call Aleck Reynoldson, sat facing it. What few remaining teeth poor Aleck had managed to preserve were not arranged to make mastication easy or effective. One sampling of the cake determined his bill of fare for the occasion and, although attendants made successive efforts to divert his attention to other dishes, his invariable response was, "Thankee, I'll jist ate the saft thing."

Truant Boys Help

It must not be left unsaid that threshing day in the neighborhood of a schoolhouse had a direct influence on the attendance of boys for that particular day. There were always several willing to risk the teacher's disapproval in order to share in the adventures possible at a threshing. Someone or other of the truants was pretty sure to be selected to ride the old grey mare to the village for some needed commodity, a can of oil, a pound of nails, or perhaps a gallon of something in a brown stone jug in the bottom of a grain bag fastened securely to the saddle. The boy thus drafted into the service was the equal of any man on the job for that day. Even the head thresher has been known to recognize him. He took his place among the men at meal time, too. And what happened to the viands within his reach may be left to everyone's imagination to conjecture. It must have been on such an occasion when a lad declined some proffered dish, and being asked if he could not eat some more replied, "Yes, ma'am, I can eat, but can't swaller." For that was about the limit for young and old at meal time on threshing day at the head of the Humber.

A Roast Goose Dinner

And yet, even in the matter of threshing day feasts there were lapses. Some housekeepers were of the easy-going type. Mattie was one of these. She was not what her neighbors would have called "forehanded." About the year 1863 on threshing day, at her farm, the arrangements called for a roast goose dinner. The dinner hour was twelve. At nine o'clock the order was issued to catch the goose. Now, the goose in question was a matron of the species, who had carefully mothered a young flock during the summer, and, fearing for their safety when the uproar of threshing operations arose, had fled the barnyard, taking her family with her. One field after another was searched, and at last the fugitive was found, brought back, decapitated and hastily prepared for the oven. All this took time, however, so that when twelve o'clock came and with it the hungry horde from the barn, the partly-cooked bird was placed on the table. What transpired during the next half hour furnished a theme for the local wits for many a day. But this case was the exception, for, generally speaking, threshing day was feast day on the farm, and often great rivalry existed among neighboring housewives as to who could provide the best meal.

"ROTTEN ROW"

"Rotten Row" is the name given to the most fashionable driveway in old London. Anyone who has taken this drive cannot but wonder why such a beautiful roadway could have such a despicable name.

It seems, however, that this appellation was born of one of the most beautiful phrases in the French language. After the Normans conquered England in 1066 they gave French names to many places and things. To this driveway through London parks they gave the name, "Route du Roi," which in English meant "Route of the King," because it led to the royal palace. The Englishman had difficulty in pronouncing the French phrase, and so, as the years passed ,"Route du Roi" degenerated into "Rotten Row." No doubt it is true to the spirit of conservation which characterizes the English people that this objectionable name has been associated with one of the prettiest places in the largest city in the world.

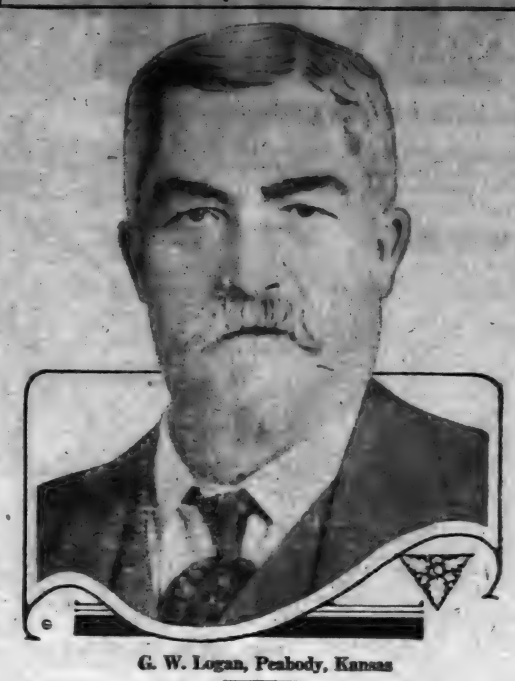
Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac



G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

"Tanlac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than in years," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan, of Peabody, Kansas, one of the most prominent stock-dealers in the Middle West.

"It has not only made a new man of me but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all of my friends about Tanlac but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awfully run-down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and couldn't take any interest in my work or anything else. My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect.

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them to see me."

MONO MILLS.

A number of the friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arlow to spend the evening with them previous to their removal to Orangeville. During the evening Rev. J. A. Matheson was requested to take the chair for a few minutes and announce that those present were availing themselves of the opportunity to present to the two boys, Samuel and Roy, who are going to the West, some token of the esteem and friendly regard of those, whom they are leaving behind in the community in which they have spent their boyhood days. Mr. John A. Vance was called upon to read a short address and Messrs. John J. Betteson and George McCulloch presented each of the boys with a fine gold watch. Mr. Samuel Arlow, in a few well chosen words, expressed their sincere thanks and extended to everyone a hearty welcome and the freedom of the fine home for the evening. Short speeches from Mr. John E. Jackson, Superintendent of the Boys' Club, and others were followed by a pleasant evening spent in music and dancing. In the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Arlow and family the neighborhood is losing splendid citizens and obliging neighbors and the Presbyterian Church and Sunday School and the Boys' Club are losing active and energetic helpers. Mr. and Mrs. Arlow are taking up their residence in Orangeville.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolson Adair entertained quite a large number of their friends to a house warming in their beautiful new home on the fourth line, Caledon, on Friday evening.

DR. C. B. DORLAND

Dr. C. B. Dorland, for many years a dentist in Orangeville, passed away at his home in Oakville on Saturday at the age of 66 years. Deceased was an active worker in the Methodist church and a prominent educationist, having been a member of the Oakville Board of Education for a number of years. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Hannah Jull, a daughter of the late Thos. Jull, of Orangeville, one sister, Mrs. Pettit, in California, and a brother, John, of New Liskeard. The funeral was held to Palermo cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

Henry, Zina St., one of the house's most successful salesman, was presented with a valuable gold watch on behalf of the firm. Engraved on the case of the timepiece was the following inscription. Mr. Henry's Orangeville friends are pleased to learn of this proof of his success in his chosen avecation.

Convenient Collection of Interest

is one of the three outstanding advantages to be derived from purchasing Canadian Government and Municipal Bonds. The other two are security and marketability.

These three features permit the investor to feel that his principal is safe, that his interest is prompt and sure, and that he can, if necessary, find a ready market for his bonds.

At present prices these bonds yield from 6.10% to 7%.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SQ. M'MANUS COURT, 1855

MONO MILLS IDYLL

Village Solon Used Sound Common Sense, and Was Not Much Versed in "Coke Upon Littleton."

(By Thos. McLaughlin)

In the Public Library, College street, among the "Historial Collection of Canadian Prints" presented by the late John Ross Robertson, there hang three small pictures representing Court Day Proceedings at Mono Mills in the autumn of 1855. The sketches were made by Lucius O'Brien, R. C. A., and the scene is laid at the home of George McManus, Justice of the Peace and Clerk of the Court.

The Squire's home at that early date consisted of a one-roomed round-log dwelling. The humble log house of the squire was followed by a very pretentious brick dwelling, one of the best in the district.

Exterior of Court House.

Above we see a number of men listening to one of the group. Robert Keenan, the founder of Keenansville, nine miles east in the township of Adjala, which was for several decades a brisk little village.

Frank McLaughlin has just arrived mounted on a well remembered grey horse named Clyde. One of the men is seated on the beam of a red-handled plough. Close by is a self-satisfied looking pig, facing the group and apparently much interested in the goings on. A log dragged from the bush for fire wood recalls the days when the kitchen yard was the base of wood-cutting operations, and back-logs, kindling wood and chips were all provided for household use. Such a log was generally spoken of as a drag, for obvious reason. The Judge's buggy, in which he made the circuit of the courts, stands in front of the house.

Interior of Court House.

Court is in session in all its glory, the late Senator Ogle R. Gowan being the presiding judge. At his left sits Squire McManus, Clerk of the Court, and on his right, Mr. O'Brien. John Haffey, a much respected resident of the Township of Adjala, is administering the oath to a witness, James Hamilton.

On court days, the floor space allotted to the officers of the court was divided from the remainder of the room by a heavy bar, really a round pole, and on the other side the spectators assembled. Some are leaning over the bar listening to the proceedings. Prominent among these is seen Jas. Darraugh, a well known farmer of the neighborhood.

Al Fresco!

The house having only one room, when the judge had delivered his charge to the jury, to secure privacy they were obliged to go outside, the yard about the house being taken up by the public.

Jury Deliberating

Gentlemen of the jury are shown in deliberation in the orchard, and as the time of year would suggest ripe apples, no doubt the orchard was selected as the jury room for a purpose. The length of time the jury remained "out" might, too, depend upon the degree of flavor the fruit carried. These pictures are interesting, as showing how the business of the court was carried on in those early days.

Refused Court Fees.

Michael McLaughlin, the owner of the mills, had been the local magistrate for a number of years, before Squire McManus came into office. It was remarked of him that he refused to accept the usual court fees, his explanation being that the litigants had trouble enough already and that paying fees would only add to their burden. Hence he "threw off the costs."

Of course "Who owns the mill may grind at will, and have enough to spare," and therefore no need existed for implementing the miller's revenue by the collection of petty court fees.

Serious Affair!

Court day was regarded as a quarterly event of consequence, for on that day the neighborhood grievances were expected to be adjusted. "Taking the law" of a neighbor was considered a serious affair, no matter how trifling the question in dispute. Line fences, assault, sheep-killing—by a blood-thirsty dog, unpaid wages, claims for money loaned on goods sold; these were among the causes of action that went to make up the docket on court day.

Squire McManus in the course of time became an outstanding figure in the community. His progress was slow, but he steadily made way. He had a most retentive memory and a store of sound common sense. Although unable to lay claim to much book learning he did not hesitate to voice his own views in court. It is remembered that his henchman, Charley Carson, the Bailiff, went on record as saying that on one occasion' "George floored the Judge on points of law." He was the sort of man who is generally pretty sure of his facts, and in this instance, perhaps, the Judge was mistaken.

At the time of Confederation, the Squire was the Conservative candidate for the Commons and, as a matter of course in Cardwell, was duly elected. His career in Parliament was marked by his usual carefulness, and there, as indeed all along his life journey, his motto might have been set down as "Safety-first." For many years after his political life came to an end, he continued to act as local magistrate, being universally regarded as fair and reasonable.

"Feast" and "Flow."

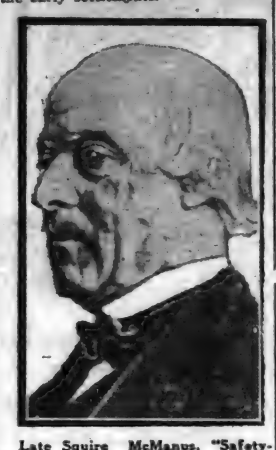
The late Judge Morgan, then practising in Orangeville, was a frequent pleader at McManus' Court. On one occasion, John Foley, founder of the Orangeville Sun, accompanied Lawyer Morgan to court, and a storm arising they were obliged to pass the night at one of the village inns, of which there were four in active operation in Mono Mills.

The night was one long remembered by certain of the villagers whose privilege it was to enjoy the feast of reason and flow of soul with which the visiting twain sought to assuage their disappointment at being cut off from home.

Worthy Exemplar.

The Squire continued to hold office for years after his once faithful memory had failed him. I saw him last in 1884. When preparing an affidavit, and being told the day and month he was compelled to ask —"What year is this" But, here as in all his doings, he made sure before acting.

Altogether Squire McManus was a worthy example of the best among the pioneer local administrators—of the law—in this province, and well worthy of a place in the history of the early settlements.



Late Squire McManus, "Safety-First" Magistrate, who was M. P. for Cardwell at time of Confederation.

THE CHOICE THAT DECIDES DESTINY

During the earlier attempts of Pizarro, the famous Spanish adventurer, there came a time when all his followers were ready to desert him. He drew his sword, and with it he traced a line from east to west. Then, turning to the southward of the line, he said: "Friends and comrades, on that side are toil, hunger, nakedness, the drenching storm, desertion, death; on this side are ease and pleasure. There lies Peru, with all its riches; here Panama, with its poverty. Choose, each man, as becomes a brave Castilian. For my part, I go south." Speaking thus, he stepped across the line. One after another, his men followed him. This was the turning point in the career of Pizarro. It was the beginning of his victory.

Jesus Christ, a greater leader than any earthly general, stands amongst men, bidding each of them choose whether they will follow Him, even though they know not whither he may lead them; or whether they will turn from Him to selfish ease. People received Christ in various ways while He lived on earth. Some made choice of Him and His service; others rejected Him. The choice thus made, in every case, decided destiny.

It is ours to choose whom we will serve, but having chosen, it were as easy to alter the courses of the stars, as to avoid the consequences of the choice.

Inglewood was the scene of an unusual celebration on Monday night, Feb. 14th, when Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Ross reached the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage, which took place in the Old Country. Mrs. Ross, who is 82 years of age, is a Highland woman, cannot read or write English and still reads her Bible each day in the Gaelic, which she writes easily. Mr. Ross is 81 years of age and both are wonderfully preserved. They have lived for almost sixty years in the Inglewood neighborhood and for the last thirty years right in the village.

THE CANADIAN CLUB

Fine Address by M. M. McBride, Labor-M. L. A. For South Brant.

M. M. McBride, Labor M. L. A., for Brant, was the speaker at a well attended meeting of the Orangeville Canadian Club in the Public Library Auditorium on Friday night. Mr. McBride made a most favorable impression on his audience and his address was one of the best given under the auspices of the Canadian Club for a considerable time. He is a fluent and vigorous speaker, who knows the value of a good story and tells his stories well. His subject, "Building Canada," was discussed in an able and a broad-minded manner that appealed to the sympathies and judgment of his audience.

In Mr. McBride's estimation one of the foundation principles on which we should build the Canada of the future is optism. The very best type of citizen, he remarked with a smile, was the "man who can make lemonade out of the lemons handed him by the other fellow." Canadians should have a very definite idea of the kind of optimism that their country needs. It was not the optimism that depended on luck, but the optimism that carried a mandate to do one's duty and to see that every other person did his or her duty in the upbuilding of Canada. Canadians have a country such as no other people ever possessed—a country that is absolutely worthy of us and of the best that is in us. Mr. McBride stated that he was absolutely opposed to the appeals to class that are so frequently heard in these days of unrest and discontent. As a labor man and a representative of labor he hadn't anything to ask for labor that he could not ask for of the banker, the manufacturer or of any other citizen. There was only a small percentage of the people who wanted to upset things and attain their ends by revolutionary methods. Ninety-nine per cent. of the people of Canada were anxious to do the very best they could for the whole of Canada.

Mr. McBride described Canada as a land of unlimited wealth and unlimited opportunities. While disclaiming anything but the kindliest feelings toward Premier Drury, the speaker took issue with the latter's statement that the old political parties had failed in Canada largely because their leaders lacked sincerity. He thought it unfair and unreasonable to question the sincerity of statesmen like Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Discussing what he termed the problem of industry the speaker refer to the dangers and evils of peri of unemployment such as the ge cities and other industrial c es are experiencing at the presen e. It was dangerous to have men of work, particularly men wh ad wives and children depending on them for the means of life. The human element that enters into industry must be made the first charge upon that industry if we are to call ourselves a Christian people. The workman must be paid an adequate wage, provision must be made for sufficient compensation in the event of injury or incapacity from accident and we must have a system of old age pensions sufficiently generous to guard against the possibility of want in the declining years of life. There should be enough food, enough clothing and a sufficient education for all if the intereats of all are to be served in the best way. The very best investment that any Canadian can make is an investment in citizenship, an investment in the boys and girls who will be the Canadian citizens of the future. Commenting on Canada's great natural resources, which he said had been scarcely more than touched, and the wealth of her citizens, Mr. McBride made the significant statement that despite the losses due to the war there was now more than twice as much money on deposit in Canadian banks as in 1914. He emphasized the need for measures to reduce infant mortality, pointing out that while Canada had lost over 60,000 of her young men during the recent war 112,000 children under five years of age had died in Canada from preventable causes during the war period. Mr. McBride pronounced emphatically against class legislation and attempts at class government. The farmer alone could not build Canada. The labor man could not build it alone. The task demanded the united efforts of all classes and if Canada is to become a great nation it will only be through the united efforts of all the best elements in the Canadian people.

The eloquent speaker was greeted with continued applause at the close of his able and convincing address. He was afterwards tendered the hearty thanks of the audience on motion of Mr. A. A. Hughson, seconded by Mr. D. Macpherson. Col. J. A. V. Preston, President of the Canadian Club, occupied the chair.

GROCERS TAKING LESS PROFIT ON MANY LINES

Red Rose Tea People Make a Further Statement.

Some of our friends among the grocers, in speaking of our letter to the press on grocers' profits, have indicated that apparently it has been construed by some readers to mean that Red Rose Tea was the only article on which the grocer takes a smaller profit, in order to give his customers a higher quality.

It was not our intention to convey such an impression, as we know that most grocers sell well known brands of other goods at less profit than they could make on some brands equally well known, and for the same reason that they recommend Red Rose Tea, simply to give their customers the best possible value.

In our letter we mentioned Red Rose Tea because it naturally came first to our mind and because we knew that grocers were selling it at a less profit than they make on other teas.—T. H. Estabrooks Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MRS. GAVIN J. LEMON

The news of the death at Lord Dufferin Hospital on Thursday last, February 24th, of Mrs. Gavin J. Lemon, of Caledon, caused genuine sorrow and a feeling akin to consternation amongst her wide circle of friends and acquaintances, many of whom had not even learned of her illness. Appendicitis was the cause of her sudden demise right in the meridian of a busy and useful life. Deceased, whose name was Julia Mohr before her marriage, was born in Gardiner, Ulster County, New York State, her father being a veteran of the Civil War. After completing her education she trained for a nurse and followed this profession until her marriage, when she came to Caledon to take up the duties of mistress of a farm home. A woman of energy and ability, she soon came to fill a large place in the religious and social life of the community and her untimely removal is a grievous loss not alone to the stricken home, but to the entire neighborhood. She was about forty years of age and is survived by her sorrowing husband and family of three sons and a daughter. One of the sons, Ernest, is a student at the Orangeville High School. The other members of the family, Elmer, Rachel May and Philip Frederick, are at home. The funeral was held from St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Saturday afternoon and was largely attended by friends and neighbors of the stricken family. Rev. J. A. Matheson, the family pastor, and Rev. W. M. Morris conducted an impressive service in the church, the organist, Mr. A. C. Hannahson, and members of the church choir assisting in the singing. A large number of beautiful floral tributes bore silent testimony to the sympathy of friends of the departed wife and mother.

GOOD HEALTH CAN BE YOURS

If Your Blood Supply is Kept Rich and Red.

It is a waste of time and money to fight merely the signs of disease; in the long run you are probably worse off than when you started. What is far more important is that you should intelligently examine the various symptoms and trace the cause. When you remove the cause, health will be yours. For example, anaemic people often endure months of suffering while treating its symptoms, such as indigestion, shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and exhaustion after any small effort.

The apparent stomach and heart troubles are generally nothing more than the result of an insufficient supply of pure blood. This anaemic state many have followed some previous illness, or an attack of influenza; or it may have arisen from overwork, worry or too little fresh air. To obtain good health the simple and proper course is to build up the blood, but to do this you must select a reliable remedy with a reputation such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills enrich the blood which carries nourishment to all the organs of the body and enables them to do the work nature expects of them. Thousands of men and women have proved this for themselves. One of these is Mrs. T. Flynn, R.R. No. 1, Erinsville, Ont., who says: "Last spring I got into a badly run down condition. I had no energy; work left me exhausted, and the least exertion would make my heart palpitate violently. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to give them a trial and got a half dozen boxes. I had not been taking the pills long when I felt a decided improvement in my condition and by the time I had used the six boxes I could do my housework with ease. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak people."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail post-paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LUNDY-BORTHWICK

The marriage took place quietly at Chalmers' Presbyterian Church Toronto, last week, of Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Borthwick, to Harold E. Lundy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lundy, 119 Margueretta St., Toronto, Rev. Scott Fulton officiating. The bride looked charming in navy blue taffeta with hat to match and corsage of ophelia roses.

HIGH SCHOOL WON

Defeated Brampton H. S. Hockey Team by 8 to 5 on Monday Night.

Orangeville hocky fans were given a rare treat on Monday night, when the High School sextette defeated a team from Brampton High School by 8 to 5. The score is a fair indication of the play, the Brampton players having the edge only during the first period, which ended 2-1 in their favor. The second period was all in favor of the High School so far as scoring went. Although play was evenly divided the score stood 4 to 2 for the local students when the bell rang for time. The Brampton sharpshooters got through several times only to have Ralph Rohmer, the small but mighty goalie, turn their shots harmless to the side. McGrath at centre got the most goals for the O. H. S., scoring three. Bill Stewart and "Skin" McKim each tallied twice and Ter McKeown once. Considering the poor winter this has been for hockey on an open air rink, the home team howed remarkable form and condition, and, be it remembered, they did not run away with an easy victory.

In the final period the visitors tried hard to pull out a win and the liveliest twenty minutes of the game was the result. However, while Brampton scored three goals, the green and white not only retained their two goal lead, but increased it by one.

The game was exceptionally clean, the best of feeling existing between the teams before, during and after the match. "Bun" Aiken refereed to everybody's satisfaction. Since he did not have to escort anyone to the penalty box, the hardest part of his job was carrying around the heavy High School bell and giving it an occasional ding-dong for off-sides, which he watched very closely.

If the ice holds the O. H. S. team intend playing a return game in Brampton on Saturday next.

Games such as this serve to show our citizens the good hockey material that the town possesses, material that would soon develope into an excellent O. H. A. brand, if only—we had a good closed-in ink, not only to povide surer ice, but to enable the management to make some money out of the many fans, who can and seem quite content to witness the games fom the street. The line-up was:—

Brampton H. S.—Goal, Harris; defence, Bull and McMurchy; centre, Hunter; wings, McLean, Cook; subs., McLean, Beatty.

Orangeville H. S.—Goal, Rohmer; defence, McCauley, A. Robinson; centre, McGrath; wings, McKeown, Stewart; subs., Crowe, Kearns and McKim.

"The Broken Ball"

Don't miss the second episode of this great serial. Serials that hold audiences for fifteen weeks with ever-increasing audiences from week to week require a full measure of thrilling and possible adventure coupled with mystery. "Daredevil Jack" has an abundance of these qualities. The hero has to be able "to do things" and to clean up a bunch of thugs and intriguers in good style, and in this part Jack Dempsey proves a masterly serial star. Under the able guidance and tutoring of Robert Brunton, who produced this as well as many other of the successful serials released by Pathe, Jack Dempsey has developed great dramatic ability. He is first and foremost a college lad, the leader of his football team and a strong all-round athlete. His escapades with the gang who try to steal the mysterious bracelets from the heroine reveal his athletic ability in a new sphere.

CHEESE MAKING

Means Less Work and Equally Good Returns for Patrons.

The Banner is in receipt of the following communication from our old friend, E. G. Tennant, for many years cheese-maker in the Camilla Cheese Factory:—

Sault Ste Marie, Feb. 21, 1921.

Editor of The Banner,

Orangeville.

Will you kindly insert in your valuable and well read paper the following:—

I saw in the Globe of Feb. 16th there will be no more creamery butter shipments nor purchases in Canada for Great Britain after February. If that is the case the cheese factories will be better patronized. Having been making cheese the most of the time since 1864 and having some experience in butter making, I claim there is more money in cheese than butter, less work for patrons and no separating milk which I claim is quite an item, especially if you have many cows. 1864 was the year of the birth of the cheese industry. Mr. John Adams, of Ingersoll, built the first factory in Canada. He had 98 cows and a few neighbors sent their milk. The business was not very large the first year, but from year to year it increased until one year we made one quarter of a million dollars worth. We commenced with one 500 gallon vat and later we were running six 600 gallon vats. It was there I commenced making cheese and I was there 15 years. I attended the first Cheese Convention held in Ingersoll. In my experience I can vouch that cheese paid the farmers better than butter. Before the separators came in use we could make 3 lb. of cheese to one of butter. Since then they claim a little over 2 1-2 lbs. to one of butter. Now we will give the Montreal quotations from the Globe of Feb. 16th. Creamery butter, the choicest, 53½c to 54c per lb; cheese, large, 23½c to 24c. For the last ten years at Camilla we made twins which are reported 24c to 24½c. Twins always bring ½c more than large. Now we will see the difference in the two. Cheese at 24½c equals 61c; butter at 54c, gives balance in favor of cheese of 7c. per lb. The farmers have their whey returned to them, which is much better than separated milk, besides no trouble separating their milk. I am writing this for the benefit of the farmers, who live in the neighborhood of a cheese factory. We are aware the Camilla Cheese Factory was sold last fall but the purchaser gave the patrons the privilege of making cheese another season if they wish to do so. In my opinion a cheese factory in a farming community is an industry of great value and should be patronized by all farmers in the locality. It would not cost much to repair Camilla factory and put it in good running order.

Yours respectfully,

E. G. TENNANT.

C. H. IRWIN

Customs Examiner at Woodstock Passes Away After Long Illness.

Christopher H. Irwin, a well-known Woodstock resident, died early this morning at his home, 500 Princess Street, following a lingering illness. Ever since he came to this city twenty-six years ago, Mr. Irwin has acted as customs examiner and in the discharge of his duties, he became well and favorably known to the general public. Next to Mr. Van Ingen, Mr. Irwin was the oldest employee at the Customs Office.

He was born in Montreal sixty-seven years ago, and prior to coming to Woodstock he was in the undertaking business in Shelburne. He was an Anglican in religion, and was identified with prominent lodges. He was a member of the Masonic Order, A. F. & A. M., Montreal; a member of L. O. L. No. 93, Woodstock, and a member of the Independnt Order of Foresters, No. 69, Woodstock.

A year ago last October, on the day the Prince of Wales visited Woodstock, Mr. Irwin made his last trip to the office. Last September he was confined to his bed and suffered almost continuously until death came this morning as a gracious relief.

Surviving are his wife and one daughter, Miss Margaret, at home. Also there is one sister, Mrs. Wilson, in Montreal. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence. Interment will be made in the Anglican Cemetery.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Deceased was a brother-in-law of Mr. James Thompson, West Broadway. Mr. Thompson attended the funeral in Woodstock.

CALEDON EAST

A farewell party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCartney by the Caledon East Epworth League on Thursday evening, Feb. 24th, to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lindsay. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay were presented with a fine table lamp and the following address:
Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lindsay.

We are gathered here tonight as fellow members of the Caledon East Epworth League to express our deep regret at your departure from our midst. We cannot allow you to leave us without reminding you of our high appreciation of the valuable servce you have rendered to our League, a service which has extended over many years, and a service which has been an example to us all, of fidelity, heartfelt devotion and loyalty to the cause of Christ. We rejoice with you in the success which has attended your efforts in building up a strong, virile and friendly Young People's Society in our Church. The hearty, generous and cheerful way in which you have responded to every call upon your time, money, energy and talents in the interest of our League, has convinced us that your Christian faith is real and true. You have not only honorably filled every position assigned to you in our League, but you have brought honor and prestige to our local League, in being elected to and so successfully filling the position of President of the Orangeville District Epworth League, exhibiting able executive, and administrative ability, and strengthening the cause of Christ in every part of the district.

We ask you to accept this table lamp as a token of our love and esteem.

We assure you that you will be followed by our prayers for your future success and well being in your new and larger sphere of Christian activity.

Signed on behalf of the League,
Hartley Sanderson, Stanley Gott, James Proctor, President; Margaret Evans, Secretary; Alfred Laycock, Pastor.

CALEDON

Miss Edith Green was stricken with appendicitis at the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. W. Baker and was taken to the hospital on Saturday afternoon where she underwent an operation. We are pleased to add that she is getting along nicely and hope she will soon be home among her friends again.

Sales seem to be the order of the day. Mr. W. Baker's sale on the 22nd ult. was a grand success. The weather was ideal, the large crowd was in good humor and bidding was brisk. A spring colt brought $155, a cow and a calf $105.00, mangolds sold at 22c per bus. and good prices were realized for everything. Pigs, six weeks old, sold for $9.00 apiece.

But the weather man, the next day, put a damper on Mr. Ed. Penfield's sale. Better luck next time is our wish, Ed.

On Saturday Mr. Stuckey's sale was very successful in the midst of the storm. A Town Hall with a good fire seems the right place for a sale when the weather is rough.

On Wednesday evening, March 9th, in connection with the regular meeting of the local U. F. O. Club, a lady speaker will be present and an effort will be made to form a U. F. W. O. Club. There will also be a moving picture show—something real good. A cordian invitation extended to all. Come along and enjoy yourself.

On Friday evening, Feb. 25th, friends and neighbors to the number of two hundred or more gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baker and presented them with a well filled purse and the following address:—

To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baker,

Hearing that you are about to leave our neighborhood, we, your friends and neighbors, take this opportunity of expressing our deep regret at your departure, as we have known you to be kind and generous neighbors, ready at all times to render assistance when needed. We know that we will miss you, but our loss will be others' gain, and we sincerely wish and hope that your future endeavors may be crowned with success. We now ask you to accept this purse, not for its intrinsic value, but as a slight token of our esteem and good will and rest assured that you take with you to your new home the respect and good will of the community.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors,
JOHN McCORMICK.
JOHN SPEERS.

In accepting the token of esteem and good wishes of friends and neighbors Mr. Baker assured those present on behalf of himself and Mrs. Baker, that their kind wishes would ever be remembered as loving remembrances of Caledon friends. Afterwards all enjoyed themselves to the full in games and dancing.

SPRACKLIN IS FREE

Pastor-Inspector Justified in Taking Life of Windsor Hotelkeeper.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 24.—The long strain of the past three days is over. The Border Cities and Canada have heaved a sigh of relief and settled down once more to routine existence. Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, pastor of Sandwich Methodist Church and famous throughout Canada as the man who took the life of Beverley Trumble, proprietor of the Chappelle House, on the morning of November 6th last, is once more a free man.

During the three days during which Spracklin has been on trial on a charge of manslaughter, excitement has been at fever heat and the grey old court house at Sandwich, the building that has held so many historic gatherings, has housed the most avid and eager crowd of spectators ever assembled at a court case in Essex County.

The air in the barely furnished court room seemed electrically charged when at 3.15 this afternoon the case of Frank Vincent Moore was held up and the jurymen in the Spracklin case, who left the room just 50 minutes before, filed slowly back and resumed their places in the jury box. When the verdict of not guilty was announced, the crowd, mindful of the warning of Sir William Mulock, issued yesterday when the spectators broke into applause during the evidence of Jack Bannon, indulged in no demonstration. The only sign of relief from the tension was a subdued sigh.

With the evidence all in last night crowds assembled with the opening of court this morning to hear the arguments of counsel, for there was great curiosity as to how the crown and defence would sum up their cases.

Attacks Mrs. Trumble.

The spectators that packed the benches sat through the long morning listening, while R. L. Brackin, M. L. A., chief defence counsel, delivered his appeal for acquittal.

Probably his most sensational utterance was that regarding Mrs. Trumble's evidence.

"Mrs. Trumble," said the defence counsel, "kissed the sacred book and swore to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth and she stood there and lied and lied and lied. Long before the tragedy hatred of Spracklin had entered into the heart of Trumble and though he is dead, that hatred shone through the evidence of his wife. Declaring that the crown's whole case rested on the evidence of Mrs. Trumble and Edward Smith, he sketched Smith's actions after the shooting, pointing out their significance. How he had left for Detroit immediately after the shooting and had remained there living under an assumed name. The inquest was over and then he had conferred with Aylmer Orton, friend of the slain man."

Taking Mr. Bracklin to task for his statements, A. Munro Grier, crown prosecutor, declared that it was not the province of either counsel to pass on the credibility of evidence submitted, that being the privilege and the duty of the presiding justice. In summing up, Mr. Grier, the crown prosecutor, declared that the chief points for the jury to consider were whether Spracklin had a legal right to enter the Chappelle House on the night of the shooting, whether he had legal right to stay after he had investigated the apparent injustice to Deslippe, which had first drawn him to the police, and whether he could not have escaped from the place without firing the fatal shot.

The Judge's Charge.

In his charge to the jury, Chief Justice Sir William Mulock pointed out that the point for the jury to decide was whether or not the taking of Trumble's life had been justified. He declared that Spracklin was within his rights as an officer of the law in entering the Chappell House and in remainng there until the time the fatal shot was fired.

The jury were to decide whether his actions from that point on were justifiable.

Address and charge being concluded, the jury left the room at 2.20 and 55 minutes later they returned and reported that, after considering all angles of the case, and all evidence submitted, they had come to the decision that Spracklin was justified in doing what he did, even though a human life had been sacrificed in the doing thereof.

ARCH. M'GREGOR

Archibald McGregor, a widely-known and highly respected Peel County farmer, died on Saturday at his home at Claude at the age of 71. His death came unexpectedly. He had been ill only a few days.

Mr. McGregor was a lifelong resident of the Claude district. He was the second son of the late John McGregor, of Caledon township. In politics he was a Liberal and in religion a Baptist.

He is survived by three sons, Charles, on the homestead; Dr. John, of Regina, and Gregor, a medical student at the University of Toronto; two daughters, Mrs. A. McCannell, Guelph, and Mrs. J. Dolson, Alloa, and by two sisters, Mrs. Donald Smith, of Toronto, and Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, of McCreary, Man.; and also two brothers, Alpine and Roderick, both of Toronto.

The funeral took place at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, to Boston Mills cemetery.

IF I WERE A MILLIONAIRE

The following composition on the subject, "If I were a Millionaire," was produced in class by Marion Therault, a 12 year old entrance pupil in the Alexandra School, Brantford, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Therault, formerly of Orangeville:—

If I were a millionaire,
I'd fly away through the air,
I'd travel the world afar,
Nothing my happiness mar.

I'd stay at the sea-shore in summer,
In winter I'd skate all the time,
I'd be so delightfully happy
I'd never have time to pine.

Of course Iwould have to study.
And not be a millionaire dunce;
But I'd hurry to get it over
So that I could play at once.

But I wouldn't keep all my money,
If I were a millionaire;
But I'd fill the stockings at Christmas
For a poor little Shelter pair.

I'd help the sick and the lonely,
Cheer them up the whole day through;
And then when I'd made them happy,
I'd come over and play with you.

But if I were a millionaird,
Id never care to be blue—
But there's no good wasting time wishing,
Such a thing's too good to be true.

IN MEMORIAM.

COULTER—In loving memory of my dear husband, Albert E. Coulter, who passed away in the General Hospital, Ottawa, March 3rd, 1920.

We mourn the loss of one so dear,
Our hearts are sad to-day,
To think the one we loved so well
Was so quickly called away.

'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again,
Where partings are no more;
And that the one so dear to us,
Has only gone before.
—Wife and two little children.

One year is gone and still we miss him,
Friends may think the sore has healed;
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within our hearts concealed.

Had we but seen him still in life,
Or soothed his drooping head,
Or caught the last sigh of his heart,
Or watched by his dying bed.

Our hearts, we think would not have felt
Such bitterness of grief;
But God had ordered otherwise,
And now he rests in peace.

No loved ones stood around him,
To bid a fond farewell;
No word of comfort could he leave
To those he loved so well.

But since it was ordained on high,
He should be called so soon;
God grant us strength to humbly say,
"O Lord, Thy will be done!"

There is no death in Heaven,
For they who gain that shore
Have won their immortality,
And they can die no more.

God who heals the broken hearted,
Still shall be our help and stay;
Tho' in sorrow we have parted,
Joy shall crown the meeting day.

Oh, fold him Father, in Thy arms,
And let him ever be,
A messenger of love betwen
Our humble hearts and Thee.

A TESTING TIME

Orangeism to Emerge From Present Situation a Stronger and More Active Order.

The following is the full text of the excellent address delivered by retiring County Master J. A. Hughes, of Laurel, at the recent annual meeting of Dufferin County Orange Lodge:—

To the Officers and Members of The Loyal County Lodge of Dufferin.

Brethren:

Once more in the Providence of God we are again permitted to meet in County Lodge and under most favorable circumstances.

Another year has passed since we last met in annual session, and it has been a year fraught with anxiety and fear owing to the very unsettled conditions which exist in almost every part of the world. This universal unrest after the great war has been manifest in this Dominion. Problems, more difficult of solution than ever have confronted the world, are facing the people of every nation. While Canada has not been immune from these disturbances, it is gratifying to know that conditions in this country are not so acute as they are in other countries.

While revolution, or near revolution, has been the experience of some nations, there has been in our Dominion an almost universal desire to work out our problems in an orderly and constitutional manner and the Loyal Orange Order has played no small part in this direction.

I am confident that we will maintain our record as upholders of law and order all through this difficult period of reconstruction.

The past year has been an anxious period for our brethren in Ireland, with whom we sympathize deeply in their desire to maintain unimpaired their connection with the Empire. The Sinn Feiners have thrown aside the mask with which they covered the Home Rule agitation and have come out openly for complete separation from Great Britain and the loyal Protestants of Ireland are placed in a difficult and dangerous position and require all the support we can give them.

Another feature that is causing a feeling of depression in some of our local Lodges is the new Grand Lodge capitation tax, for which a great many of our Primary Lodges were hardly prepared. It is surely proving a testing time to our brethren, but we feel sure we will emerge a stronger and more active Order. Even though our numbers may be lessened, our working strength will not be impaired. The money which will be raised by Grand Lodge will no doubt be wisely spent and great good and lasting benefit will be the result.

As an Order we have not in the past carried out any sustained or systematic plan for increasing our influence, making known to the general public our principles or building up our Institution numerically.

Grand Lodge has recognized this weakness and has adopted measures which will go into effect as soon as possible.

Your Worshipful Master attended the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge held in the Town of Orillia where a very enthusiastic meeting was held.

Although pledged to oppose the Grand Lodge capitation tax, I was almost alone, as almost without exception the delegates were in favor of it.

Again this fall your Worshipful Master was called to attend a meeting of the County Masters of Ontario West to meet the Grand Lodge Executive for the purpose of advising as to the best means of organizing the Province for a Forward Movement. The Executive were empowered to secure the services of a good man, but as he would not be able to cover the ground, the co-operation of the County Masters was asked. Wherever they will volunteer for this important work they will be paid for their services. Your County Master did not feel equal to the task but hopes his successor in office may be in a position to take up this very necessary work of organization in our County in co-operation with the Worshipful Masters of Primary Lodges.

Our County Lodge regrets deeply the passing of two Past County Masters in the persons of Bros. J. B. Reid and Robert Curry, who, during the past year, have been called to the Grand Lodge above. Our sympathy goes out to the relatives of these and all other departed brethren.

The attention of the Worshipful Masters of the Primary Lodges is called to the changes and amendments to the Constitution and Ritual, which were made at the meeting of Supreme Grand Lodge at Calgary, of which due notice will no doubt soon be received from the Grand Secretary.

In conclusion I desire to express my thanks to the Brethren of this County Lodge for the pleasant year just past and for the honor conferred on me as your County Master. During the past year I have received nothing but courtesy from all the brethren, and the year has been a most pleasant one. I bespeak for my successor in office the same kindly consideration and co-operation.

Yours fraternally,
J. A. HUGHES,
County Master.

LAUREL.

Mr. Geo. Pascoe, representative of the Canadian Brotherhood Federation, will speak in the Presbyterian churches at Laurel and Black's Corners next Sabbath. Services will be held at the usual hours.

Roger's Girl

By LILY WANDEL

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Little Mrs. Linwood sat down on one of the parlor plush chairs at the window that commanded the best view of the railroad tracks, folded her hands on her alpaca lap and waited, a thin, gentle smile of expectancy on her anxious face.

The train which would be in shortly would bring Roger's fiancee. Everything was ready for her—the house cleaned and polished from top to bottom, both spare-rooms in the pink of condition.

She hoped that this Mary would not be exactly as Roger had glowingly described her in his letter, yet she promised herself that no matter what Mary turned out to be she was going to love her and cherish her for Roger's sake. She recalled the passage in his letter:

"Mary is the most capable and efficient girl I have ever met, so thoroughly able to manage herself and everybody. A wonderful girl, you will admire her from the bottom of your heart, mother dear. She's so energetic and so efficient, there's no one like her. I'll be down on Saturday and by that time I hope you two will have become acquainted and good friends!"

It frightened little Mrs. Linwood just a bit. She had always longed for a daughter, she wanted to mother her and cuddle her and give her all sorts of advice, but the girl Roger described in his letter—she was awed by all her capability and subconsciously she wished that Roger's girl would be a dear little thing who needed a mother's love and comforting. For years she had planned how it would be when Roger would bring home the girl of his choice, how she would make her feel at home and at ease, relieve her of that strained atmosphere that so often comes when a young woman first meets her future mother-in-law. But now it would be just the other way.

A shriek from an approaching locomotive made little Mrs. Linwood close her eyes, seeking, perhaps, inward strength to meet Mary in a few minutes—the little depot was only a few hundred feet from the house.

"Heavens on earth!" Gabriela from the kitchen came screaming in the room. "Look, look, Mis' Linwood, what's happened!"

Mrs. Linwood jumped from her chair and then looked where Gabriela pointed. In the distance where the train made the curve lay the last coach of the train overturned, torn from its coupling, a swarm of people collecting.

The little woman turned pale, her first thought of Mary. "My shawl," she whispered, hoarsely, and when Gabriela had laid it around her shaking shoulders she flew out across the yard, through the meadow. A trainman, bearing the limp figure, met her halfway.

"You Mrs. Linwood?" he asked breathlessly. "I picked up her handbag and this card fell out with your address—guess that's where she wanted to go!"

Mrs. Linwood nodded and quickly led the way back to the house. "Put her here, please," she said, indicating the parlor sofa, and watched the man lay a slip of a girl down.

Roger's mother bent over her eagerly, lovingly. What a sweet, white, baby face, what lovely little brown curls escaping from a demure little hat! Oh, she loved her at first sight, adored her, wanted her! She kissed the white cheek and then turned to the man. "Are many hurt?"

"Quite a few men and another woman. Going to take them right on to the hospital in Chitaw—none here in this little burg."

"Oh," gasped Mrs. Linwood, tears springing to her eyes, "how dreadful—that long ride to Chitaw—and a woman, too, poor thing! Oh, bring her here, please! We can care for her; the two bedrooms ready and Gabriela will telephone for Doctor Fern."

"All right," agreed the trainman readily. "I'll bring her here in a minute," and hurried out.

Mrs. Linwood turned to Gabriela. "Carry Miss Mary up to the south spare room and when the man brings the woman have him take her up to the north room."

Mrs. Linwood undressed Mary herself and, putting on her one of her own lavender-scented nightdresses, tucked her in the big four-poster.

Doctor Fern arrived and after a thorough examination declared a sprained ankle was all that was wrong.

"Thank God," whispered Mrs. Linwood fervently. "She's very precious to me and to my son. And oh, I almost forgot—there's some one in the north room. I haven't had time to look in—Gabriela's there—I can't leave Mary."

After a while Doctor Fern looked in again. "Well, I fixed up the other patient, too. She's not a bit frightened nor faint. A cut on her head and a few bruises; that's all."

Pretty soon the young girl opened a pair of puzzled violet eyes.

Mrs. Linwood hastened to explain and soothe. "There's been an accident, Mary, dear. Nothing much; you're just a wee bit hurt, and you're safe here with me, Mrs. Linwood, dear, Roger's mother."

"An accident?" repeated the girl slowly, still dazed. "Oh, I remember now. I was sitting on the same seat with another girl and—" she clung to Mrs. Linwood frightened, and the latter held her close, dropping soft kisses on the pretty brown curls.

"You must not talk; you're to keep real quiet. Now curl up and go to sleep!"

She looked up into the loving, anxious face of the older woman, smiled contentedly, curled up obediently and fell asleep like a little kitten.

Mrs. Linwood tiptoed out and sent her message to Roger. She heard voices from the north spare room, the tones of the strange woman and Gabriela's; not the latter's cheerful voice, but sulky, almost impudent.

Hastily she opened the north room door. A large, well-built young woman with a bandaged head sat up in bed gesticulating. "I never saw such a clumsy person! That is not the way. Oh!" spying Mrs. Linwood in the doorway. "So you finally really do me the honor of coming in," very sarcastically.

Mrs. Linwood looked at her open-mouthed. Gabriela took advantage of the moment to slip from the room.

"What do you mean, to allow that clumsy, ignorant person tend to my needs? If you could not get a trained nurse, why did you not come yourself? The very least you could do for me, you know, was to attend to me yourself. I will tell you this, Mrs. Linwood, you have not very good manners; you have still a lot to learn. Here I've been nearly four hours—and only now you find it worth while—"

Here Mrs. Linwood, whose face had dyed a deep, angry red, burst out. "You ungrateful person! I wish I had let them take you on to Chitaw to the hospital! If you want to stay under my roof you'll act different, young woman, mind that!" and she marched out, closing the door.

Down in the kitchen Gabriela greeted her with a flood of angry tears. She poured out her grievances against the young woman in the north room. Mrs. Linwood comforted her. "Don't mind her. In a day or two she will be well enough to leave and it teaches me a lesson—not to take strangers again in the house."

The first train in the morning brought Roger, tensely anxious. His mother met him on the porch.

"Don't worry, darling, she is not badly hurt at all. And, Roger, I love her so! She's everything I've longed for!"

Roger promptly gave his mother an extra hug and kiss. "I knew it! Isn't she wonderful?"

Arm in arm they went up stairs. At the top they halted for an instant, the mother turning south, when without the slightest warning the north bedroom door shot open and its occupant, fully dressed, stepped out. Mrs. Linwood, annoyed, attempted to guide her son swiftly past but he broke away from her and ran quickly to the tall young woman crying, "Dear Mary!" and kissed her mouth and cheeks.

"Roger!" the new Mary's voice came shrilly. "Your mother has treated me outrageously! Pretending not to know me, allowing herself to be tricked by—by that thing!" Mechanically their eyes followed her pointing finger. In the doorway of the south bedroom stood the other Mary, dressed, whitefaced, so tiny and so frightened.

Mrs. Linwood saw Roger's face grow dark and forbidding, his lips tightening into an unforgiving line.

The little Mary, limping, came closer; she held out a bag to Roger's fiancee. "Here's your handbag — in the excitement I must have picked it up!" The real Mary took it from her without a word. Mrs. Linwood did not hear any more; the banister seemed to rise high above her.

When she came to, she found herself on her own bed, Gabriela's anxious face bending over her. "Where is she?" was her first thought.

"They're all gone, Mis' Linwood," answered the woman wearily. "That nice little girl jumped off to the station, and you should have heard that nasty big thing bawl out Mr. Roger! My land! she was still at it when they left the house! Oh, and here's a card the little girl left for you, ma'am."

Mrs. Linwood read, "Miss Mary Barker," and on the other side, in pencil, "With heartfelt thanks and much love." There was an address, too.

The next day toward evening Mrs. Linwood answered the doorbell herself. It was Roger. The moment she saw his face she knew what had happened. Not a word did he say, simply buried his head on her shoulder; and she felt a hot tear on her neck.

"Never mind, my son," she comforted; "there are other Marys."

Life as a Trade.

Man has forgotten how to live. Life should be an art, but has become a trade. Men place emphasis not upon labor, but upon that which labor produces. And the trick is to acquire, by hook and crook, the greatest compensation for the least expenditure. And instead of yielding the joy of creative energy and the privilege of uninterrupted toil, life becomes a ceaseless hubbub. For the meaning of life and peace of soul can neither be bought nor acquired by trickery, and all one's gains become inadequate. And in place of happiness, men must content themselves with diversion. — Mabel Johnson Leland's Translation of Arne Garborg's "The Lost Father."

Undying Songs.

"There are songs," said the musician, "that have never, never died. They go ringing down the ages."

"That is true, sir," Brown replied. "For the past six months and upward I have heard my daughter try to kill two or three each evening, but they seem, upon the..."—London Tit-Bits.

WRIGHT—TOWRISS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Towriss, 16th of Peel, was the scene of a very happy event on Feb. 14th, 1921, when their daughter, Frances Beatrice, was united in marriage to Mr. Wesley Wright, of Kenilworth. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Lizzie Wright, sister of the groom, the bridal party took their place under a beautiful arch of evergreens, tinsel, lattice work and wedding bells. The bride, who was gowned in white satin trimmed with seed pearls, wore a beautiful embroidered Brussels net veil in cap effect caught with orange blossoms and carried a sheaf of white roses and carnations. She also wore the gift of the members of the "Order of the Eastern Star," Arthur, the emblem of their order in the form of a gold pendant, the bride being a valued member of that order. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Prudham, of Drayton and Zion, in the presence of guests from Arthur, Drayton, Kenilworth, Orangeville, Grimsby, Hamilton, Toronto and Zion, numbering one hundred. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Arlene, who wore a canary colored gown of silk with chiffon overdress and carried a sheaf of tulips and daffodils. The groom was supported by his brother, Norman. While the register was being signed Miss Jennie Wright, sister of the groom and Principal of Grimsby Public School, sang "Until." The groom's gifts were, to the bride, a handsome string of pearls, to the bridesmaid, a pearl crescent, to the best man, gold luff links, to the pianist a pearl crescent and to the soloist a string of pearls. The guests then repaired to the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers caught from the chandelier to the corners of the bride's table which was centred with a handsome bridal cake. After the elaborate wedding breakfast had been partaken of and the toast to the bride eloquently proposed by Mr. Hugh McNab, of Zion, and responded to by one of the guests. The bride then donned her going away suit of tricolette with ribbon hat and handsome fur to match. The happy pair, amid showers of confetti, left by motor to Drayton, from thence by train to Hamilton and other points. After their return they will reside at the groom's beautiful home in Arthur township and will be at home to their friends after March 15th. The wedding presents were many, useful and handsome, cheques to the amount of $250.00 were also received. These gifts show the esteem in which the young couple are held. Previous to their marriage a shower was given by Mrs. Wm. Tindals, of Arthur, also one by Mrs. Fred Wilson, of Zion, at which numerous and useful gifts were bestowed upon the bride-to-be. — Arthur News-Enterprise.

Mr. Thos. Wright, Orangeville, was one of the guests.

At the February meeting of the quarterly board, Port Rowan Methodist Circuit, the Rev. J. Melvin Smith formerly of Erin, was, by a unanimous vote of the circuit, invited to remain for the fourth year and his salary increased by $400.

Wholesale Arrests Canadians With Coughs

Halt! Who goes there? Someone with a cough. Pass friend! Stop cough! you are under arrest. Thousands of such arrests are being made every day in all parts of Canada. Too long have coughs and colds evaded police and caused untold suffering to humanity, but at last they have been arrested and overpowered by Canada's famous cough detective—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. Did you ever hear of this wonderful remedy? Why, everybody is talking and writing about the great work it is doing in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, etc.

The following is one of thousands of letters received:—"Kindly accept my sincere thanks for the benefit my wife derived by the use of one of your bottles of Bronchitis Mixture. For over thirteen years she has suffered acutely. After spending dollar after dollar upon various remedies, no relief was obtained. Hearing of your most marvelous remedy she decided to give it a trial and I am glad to say one bottle has made her well. FAREWELL PRESENTATION

(Dundalk Herald

On Friday, Feb. 11th, a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hanley's, Shrigley, when their friends and neighbors assembled to spend a social evening with them before their departure to Orangeville where they will in future reside.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing progressive games, contests, etc., all of which were thoroughly enjoyed. After this Mr. and Mrs. Hanley and family were presented with a bronze electric reading lamp. An address was read by Mr. George E. Bailey and the presentation was made by Mr. Eugene Crosby.

Mr. Hanley made a suitable reply and extended a hearty invitation to all their friends to visit them in their new home.

A dainty lunch was then served after which all enjoyed a number of selections on the piano and violin, and after singing some old-time songs the friends repaired to their homes feeling that the evening had been indeed a pleasant one. The following is the address:—

Shrigley, Feb. 11th, 1921.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanley and Family:

We, your friends and neighbors, having heard of your intended departure from this neighborhood, felt that we could not let you go from amongst us without some expression of regret at your removal and of our appreciation of your sterling qualities as neighbors.

We shall not soon forget your kindly hospitality during the years you have lived in our midst. In the varied walks of neighborly and social intercourse you have contributed abundantly toward making life pleasant in the circle in which we have moved.

We realize that you will readily make new friends and our loss will indeed be their gain but we trust that you will long remember our happy associations here and, as your new home is not very far distant we still hope to enjoy some pleasant times together.

This evening we wish to tender you this token of our love asking you to associate it forever with the names and faces of the donors. We feel sure you will; and as you continue life's journey may the blessings of our Heavenly Father rest upon and go with you, is the wish of your many friends.

Signed on behalf of the community, Mrs. Robert Bailey,
Mrs Walter Crosby,
Mr. Hugh Bailey.

A CHILD'S LAUGHTER

All the bells of heaven may ring,
All the birds of heaven may sing,
All the wells on earth may spring;
All sweet sounds together;
Sweeter far than all things heard,
Hand of harper, tone of bird,
Sounds of woods at sundown stirred,
Welling water's winsome word,
Wind in warm wan weather.

One thing yet there is, that none
Hearing ere its chime be done,
Knows not well the sweetest one
Heard of man beneath the sun,
Hoped in heaven hereafter;
Safe and strong and loud and light,
Very sound of very light
Heard from morning's rosiest height,
When the soul of all delight
Fills a child's clear laughter.

Golden bells of welcome rolled
Never forth such notes nor told
Hours so blithe in tones so bold
As the radiant mouth of gold
Here that rings forth heaven.
If the golden-crested wren
Were a nightingale—why then
Something seen and heard of men
Might be half as sweet as when Laughs a child of seven.

PANAMA HATS.

How Familiar Summer Pieces Are Made in Tropics.

"Virtually every inhabitant of San Pablo, Colombia, is from childhood an expert weaver of hats. We were told that in all the history of the town," says Mr. Harry A. Franck in the Wide World Magazine, "only one boy had been too stupid to learn to weave.

"The Government telegraph operator of San Pablo had a record of six hats a week the year round. That was probably at least double the average output, for very few worked with such marked industry. The overwhelming majority are amateur weavers. The boy in need of spending money, the village sport who plans a celebration, the Indian whose iron-lined stomach craves a draught of fiery cana, the pious old woman fearful of losing the good will of her cura, all fall to and weave a hat in time for the Saturday market.

"The 'straw' is furnished by the toquilla plant, a reed somewhat resembling the sugar cane in appearance. If left to itself, the plant at length blossoms out in the form of a fan-shaped fern. Once it has reached this stage, however, it is no longer useful to the weaver of hats. For his purpose it is imperatively necessary that the leaves be gathered while still in the stalk. The green layers that would have expanded later into leaves are spread out and cut into narrow strips with a comb-shaped knife. The finer the cutting, the more expensive the hat.

"Between the material of a two-dollar and a fifty-dollar panama there is no difference whatever, except in the width of the strips. Boiled and laid out in the sun and wind, these curl tightly together. They are then bleached white in a sulphur oven, and are sold to the weaver in the form of tufts not unlike broom straw or a bunch of prairie grass.

"The weaving of the panama begins at the crown, and the edge of the brim is still unfinished when the hats are turned over to the wholesale dealer. Packed one inside the other in bales a yard long, they are carried on mule back to Pasto. There more skilled workmen bind in and trim the edges.

"They are then placed in large mud ovens of beehive shape in which quantities of sulphur are burned. Next they are laid out in the back yard of the establishment to bleach in the sun; they are rubbed with starch to give them a false whiteness; and finally men and boys pound and pound them on blocks with heavy wooden mallets, as if bent on their utter destruction. They toss them aside at last, folded and beaten flat, in the form in which they appear eventually in the show windows of our own cities."

Thos. Hall has sold his farm on the 9th concession of Luther, to Jno. Allen, of Melancthon, for $9,200. There is 125 acres of first-class land, under-drained with 8000 tile, fine brick house, splendid bank barn, drilled well and outbuildings.

Postmaster Plewes and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Mercer, of Markdale, were summoned to Sudbury by the death of Thompson Plewes, who passed away a week ago Sunday. The deceased was a former Markdale boy.

The municipal authorities in Preston have decided upon taking steps to change the assessment system in that town and in that connection have asked A. G. Ludlow, assessment commissioner, of Brantford, to confer with them.

TIT-BITS

The denial of self is the very first rung on the ladder of Christian character.

You call God; he often descends and knocks at your door—to be told you are not at home.

If you ask the way to the crown—'tis by the cross! To the mountain—'tis by the valley! To exaltation—'tis he that humbleth himself."

There is always danger to those who have to talk much about religion that their religion may become that of the head, rather than the true religion of the heart.

REASON ENOUGH

Johnny—"What makes the new baby at your house cry so much, Tommy?"

Tommy—"It don't cry so very much—and, anyway, if all your teeth were out, your hair off, and your legs so weak you couldn't stand on them, I guess you'd feel like crying yourself."

LOGIC AT WORK

Teacher—"Thomas, will you tell me what a conjunction is, and compose a sentence containing one?"

Thomas (after reflection—"A conjunction is a word connecting anything, such as 'The horse is hitched to the fence by his halter.' 'Halter' is a conjunction, because it connects the horse and the fence."

CRUELTY TO SCOTCHMEN

The origin of the bagpipe was being discussed, the representatives of different nations eagerly disclaiming responsibility for the atrocity. Finally an Irishman said: "Well, I'll tell you the truth about it. The Irish invented it and sold it to the Scotch as a joke; and the Scotch ain't seen the joke yet!"

The C. P. R. has improved the passenger service on the Teeswater line by placing heavier 6 wheel engines on the trains. This will perhaps result in a little faster schedule but will certainly lessen the possibility of lateness of trains.

The Work of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Mary Gabriel Writes From Sault Ste Marie of the Work in Which She is Engaged as Secretary.

Y. W. C. A. work has been aptly defined as "An investment at highest dividend for God among the girls who bid fair to pay that dividend." There are few lines of work where the absence of red tape is so marked and where the power of initiative is so great. Besides the work is simply endless—there is no such thing as definitely outlining just what it embraces.

To begin with, the purposes of the Association is to "lead young women to a personal knowledge of Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour," and the work is really a practical form of Christianity.

Let us deal with a few of the branches of the work. Possibly the most interesting to a live, wide awake person, is the Canadian Girl in Training side of the Association activities. This is a programme designed to develop our Canadan girlhood, physically, mentally, religiously and socially. It is worked out with an organized Sunday School class but, if there are sufficient numbers who do not attend Sunday School, the Y. W. C. A. will take charge of them in the Association building. You may think this work simple but just try to fascinate about 30 listless little factory girls who are too tired for gymnastics and have little appreciation for music and form your own opinion. You can't blame them for being fidgety for you would be tired too, if you had sat in a gum factory for 10 hours feeding a machine that puts wrappers on five cent packages of gum.

Then there is the Industrial work, where the Secretary explores huge factories in which a tragically small percentage of young women ever go to Sunday School or Church and a still smaller percentage find their way to the Y. W. C. A. unless particularly attracted by some thing the "Y" has to offer. The Secretary must hold noon meetings at the factories—put on a programme while the girls eat lunch—have community sings—get in touch with the leading girls and interest them and, above all, hold out to them those particular advantages which the "Y" has to offer, which you are sure will interest them.

Perhaps the most adventurous phase of "Y" work is Port Work or Immigrant Work. The Port Secretary must welcome the new comer and start her on the right way in a new land. She must see that young girls landing here for the first time do not fall into wrong hands. Young women going to a strange city are sure of some one to meet and welcome them if they consult the Port's Secretary. Imagine the difference between being thrust off a train in the middle of the night, friendless and alone, into the station of some big city, and the feeling of safety when greeted by some one who knows your name and is on the look-out for you.

A Secretary who loves gymnasium work and games will feel at home in a Blue Triangle Recreation Hall. In these halls an effort is being made to make good wholesome recreation so attractive that girls will bring their men friends there to spend the evening, rather than go to the movies or to some cheap dance hall. I believe that this branch of the work is most enthusiastically endorsed by managers and superintendents of factories. They realize the value of a "mens sana in sano corpore."

In the General Secretaryship of a local association one finds great opportunities. Especially is this so in cities which have real "honest to goodness" boarding homes. Some years ago it was the custom to place in charge of these a nice, kind, motherly old lady, who never could just see how any girl could want to play basket ball all day and dance all night. To-day, the cry is for younger secretaries—young women in whom girls will naturally confide and thus can be guided. Twentieth century girls will not be driven, but a tactful secretary can lead them into the right way. As General Secretary of a local Association one is busy for at least twelve hours a day—usually from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. One must supervise the buying of all food for the table and, above all, keep within the allotted amount of money to be spent thus. One must be a "big" sister" to all the girls who are in residence and those who come in merely for gymnasium purposes. One must see that the rules of the house are all adhered to—must look after strangers who come for advice and assistance—must keep a list of approved rooming houses in every part of the city—must find employment for the unemployed and vice versa—must keep up the membership—form clubs at nights—hold vesper services and promote Bible Study—arrange for parties and supervise such (if the Board do not). Here let me say, the big problem of mixed parties is the dance question. In most Associations mixed dancing is allowed. In Sault Ste Marie, we go one step farther and allow card-playing too, but not in the form of parties. In all the mixed dances we have had here this winter, one couple only, has come in for criticism. The Y. W. C. A. will not tolerate such cheap dance hall stuff as "cheek dancing" and the "shimmy." The very atmosphere of the "Y" rooms is against such and persons with the slightest trace of "gray" matter understand the situation and act accordingly.

Still more adventurous work is the missionary side of the Association. College graduates are familiar with Student work in Colleges and missionary work of the "Y" is of a similar nature, except that it is carried on abroad. In India, China and Japan the "Y" maintains Religious work secretaries who carry on actual missionary work.

After all the Y. W. C. A. is nothing more or less than the hand-maid of the church. Each church cannot afford to have a hostel for girls away from home so this had become the particular feature by which the "Y" is best known. There are few who realize just how much else is being done, and fewer still who realize the difficulties in some instances the "C" is almost disregarded in the letters Y. W. C. A., and such Associations fail in their work. A Secretary is on duty 12 hours a day but she can never get really away from her work except for sleep. It drives her almost to distraction to listen to conversations dealing with such topics as "how much I won or lost on the last hockey match;" "how some third rate actor is keeping his abominable little pest house full of the gullible public," and "how many beauty spots a certain young woman, of none too good character, wore at the last dance," when these same people deliberately shrug their shoulders at the mention of a literary evening and absolutely refuse to attend spiritual teaching.

The problems actually resolve themselves into this. Should the Association devote its attention to a comparatively small circle and make a lasting impression upon these or should it attempt to reach everybody by offering such legitimate attractions as will bring the matter, compromise with the world, as it were? In all our problems we have to remember that the path of least resistance is not always the right path. Christ addressed large multitudes but He kept about Him only a small circle who were content to follow Him wherever He went, and that in the hour of temptation He even refused to win the world by compromise.

BLACKBERRY LANE.

A Popular Name In the English Country Districts.

"In country places Blackberry Lane and Lovers' Lane are as well-known as Church Street and Chapel Street, but not to the Post Office," writes Mr. Percy W. D. Izzard in the "King's Highway."

"They are spoken names, not written, and were given by lovers and little children long ago. No creature lives in them but the small furred and feathered things of the hedge and the bank. The grandfather remembers how he walked there with his lass; the grandmother sends the little ones there to get big blackberries for the jam-making. And while I have mentioned them as two separate lanes they really are one; for what is good for blackberries is good also for lovers.

"Summer lingers longest in that lane and spring comes soonest, and the hardships of winter are rarely severe. It is narrow and winding, set deeply between thickets of briar and bramble, gorse and thorn. It is bird-haunted all the year—a-thrill with the songs of hedgerow minstrels in the spring, a-flutter with feathered families in the summer, a-flush with finches and buntings on any winter's day.

"It is a green causeway from which the fields rise gently to uplands whereon the chill wind may blow never so searchingly, but in the folds of Blackberry Lane you will not feel it. But the soft south wind lags whispering through it, and the kindly sun fills it with warmth, which it retains. And it holds the magic of the sunshine in wonder-working might. If you find the first shy primrose there in January you are not surprised. Beneath the arches of the branches, where the fussy blackbird can search when the fields without are frozen, flowers strive early to the light.

"But Blackberry Lane never fails you with surprise. It gives you the last blackberries as well as the first. Nigh to November you may find the brambles rich with color—of grey-green flower bud and pink and white of moth-wing bloom, of fruits of green, bronze, ruby, purple, and jet-black, of green leaves and leaves of patterned crimson and old gold. Great, then, is the beauty of the bramble to all who love color."

MARSVILLE

On Tuesday evening of last week a large number of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Turner assembled at their home to spend a social evening ere they take their departure for Hillsburg. Mr. Turner was presented with a gold watch and Mrs. Turner with a set of dishes. After the presentation the remainder of the evening was spent in the usual way.

On Friday evening a similar event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Black, who are retiring from farming and purpose moving to Guelph. Each was presented with a chair. The evening was pleasantly spent in various amusements.

Mr. Black's sale on Thursday came off very successfully. An unusually large crowd was present and all the stock and implements were disposed of at satisfactory prices. Mr. R. J. Kerr wielded the hammer in his usual efficient manner.

Mr. Jas. Cooper, of Detroit, a former resident of this vicinity, spent a few weeks visiting friends here.

MELVILLE CROSS

The neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Corbett and family extend their sincerest sympathy in the bereavement they have sustained through the death on Saturday last of the baby of the family, Elwood Ross, aged 2 years and 2 months. The funeral was held from the home of the parents to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

Convenient Collection of Interest

is one of the three outstanding advantages to be derived from purchasing Canadian Government and Municipal Bonds. The other two are security and marketability.

These three features permit the investor to feel that his principal is safe, that his interest is prompt and sure, and that he can, if necessary, find a ready market for his bonds.

At present prices these bonds yield from 6.10% to 7%.

CAMILLA

Messrs. Clifford Marshall and Andrew Henry, who attended the two weeks short course in Toronto University, have returned home.

Messrs. Harris Buchanan, Frank Turner and Jackson Woods were in Toronto last week.

The demand for a change in the hours of service at St. Andrew's Church, Camilla, has met with popular approval, judging by the increased attendance at the evening service. The services are now held at 7 p.m. instead of 3 p.m.

Next Saturday evening Mr. J. J. Still will give a lecture on his trip to Jerusalem, in the auditorium of the church.

Seldom, if ever, has our community been so profoundly shocked and saddened as it was when the passing away of Mrs. William Gemmill became known. The late Mrs. Gemmill had been in poor health for several months. The beginning of the New Year she went to Carleton Place to spend some time with her parents, hoping the change would be beneficial. The hoped for improvement did not come and she passed away the 16th ult., in the presence of her heart-broken husband and sons, who had gone to be with her. The moral value to a community of such a life as Mrs. Gemmill's was, is beyond all computation. She showed in her life how a Christian should live. She was cautious, calm and gifted in a supreme degree with the most surely victorious of all virtues—infinite patience. Her's was a beautiful example of private and public life. Warm in friendships, a loving wife and mother, malice toward none and charity towards all. A leader in all church work; she had a passion for service to her fellowmen and delighted when she could yield most of her time in doing something for others. Her golden heart and generous mind inspired friendship and trust. When our time shall come to join the innumerable caravan that journeys on to the eternal city may we be worthy to have as many friends add a leaf to the garland of loving words of esteem and affection. We believe that what we poor mortals lament as death but the dawning of the eternal morning in the realm where "Nearer my God to Thee" is no longer a song but an everlasting reality. Her memory shall live with her family and friends a benediction and a blessing. We shall too rarely look on her like again.

Two precious ones from us are gone,
Two voices we loved are still;
A place is vacant in that home
Which never can be filled.

God, in His wisdom hath recalled,
The boon His love had given;
And though the bodies moulder here,
Their souls are safe in heaven.
"Gone but not forgotten."

—Grandchildren, Ina and Margaret Adair.

MUSICAL SERVICE

An overflowing congregation attended the special musical service in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday night. The choir, which was about thirty strong, was assisted for the evening by Messrs. Percival Harding and J. H. Sloan, Mrs. R.E. Jackson, a former choir leader, and Miss Clara Hulse, violinist. The service commenced at 6.40 p.m. with an organ prelude and the well-known overture "Poet and Peasant," by the organist, Mr. A. C. Hannahson. The service proper included the singing of several hymns beginning with Newman's "Lead Kindly Light," the full choir anthems "A Dream of Paradise," "Hark, Hark, My Soul," and Turner's "At Even Ere the Sun Was Set," a male quartette by Messrs. Harding, Connop, Sloan and McLean, a solo, "O Loving Father," by Mr. Harding with violin obligato by Miss Hulse and an offertory number on the organ. The service was followed by a recital, the leading features being a superb rendering of Lemmens' fantasia "The Storm" by the organist and a solo "A New Heaven and a New Earth," by Mr. J.H. Sloan, with organ accompaniment and chorus by the full choir. During the service solos were rendered by Mrs. J. B. Adamson, Mrs. Jackson, Miss Gardiner, and Mr. Connop. The choir and Mr. Hannahson, who holds the dual position of organist and choir leader, are to be congratulated on the high order of the service. The pastor, Rev. W. M. Morris, presided during the service and spoke in interesting manner of Newman, the author of "Lead, Kindly Light" and the circumstances under which this famous hymn was written. Mr. Morris also gave some interesting information relative to the early history of St. Andrew's Church.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are changeable—one bright, the next one so cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S TROPHY

Orangeville curlers extend hearty congratulations to the Owen Sound curlers on the winning of the Governor-General's Trophy at the big bonspiel in Toronto last week. The Owen Sounders defeated the Queen City rink quite decisively in the final game. The victorious rinks were skipped by Harold Moffatt and E.A. Batcheller, both of whom are frequent visitors to Orangeville's annual bowling tournaments.

CURLING IN WEST

In a letter renewing his subscription to The Banner Mr. James Robinson, of Durban, Man., says:—"I wouldn't like to do without The Banner now. This is bonspiel week out here and I tell you there is some excitement with competitions for the Sims Cup, an Eaton Cup and a Citizens' Cup, The Citizens' Cup has been held by the Durban boys for two years and if they hold it this year it's their's. I see by The Banner there has been some curling down there. We will have to send some of the Durban fellows down there. One of my neighbors who didn't curl any all winter went out into the street, picked up three young fellows, formed a rink and defeated what was supposed to be the crack rink of the town by eleven points. I wish The Banner every success."

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

Rev. Capt. T. H. Stewart gave an address on "The Life and Works of Dr. Drummond," at the regular weekly meeting of the Epworth League held last Monday evening in the Methodist Church. The address was quite interesting and contained much valuable information which was given in an entertaining manner. Dr. Drummond was born n Ireland and lived there while a boy and the environment of that quaint old land did a great deal towards making him the great poet he afterwards turned out to be. He was an Irishman of the better class, one who was a credit to Ireland. Later he came to Canada and became a medical doctor. Soon he began to gain fame as a poet because of the sympathetic way in which he wrote about the French-Canadian people and their life in the habitant dialect. At intervals in his discourse Capt. Stewart recited two of the author's poems which added greatly to the evening's entertainment. Dr. Drummond's poems did a great deal to establish a better understanding between the French and their Canadian neighbors He was a true patriot and his patriotism is exemplified in all his poems. Being a staunch Christian he always wrote for the betterment of mankind.

Mr. Harding rendered a trombone solo which was a real treat to all present. Mr. Hannahson, organist of St. Andrew's Church, presided at the piano and his playing was a very pleasing feature of the meeting. The program also included a well-rendered piano duet by Misses Kearns and Ewing. The meeting was in charge of the Citizenship Committee and Mr. Clarence McConnell presided.

Next Monday evening the Prayer-Meeting Committee will conduct the monthly Consecration meeting. There will be a Roll Call and collection. Everybody welcome.

THE MAPLES

The opening of the new Community Hall at The Maples took place on Friday night and proved a very pleasant affair. Mr. Malcolm McCormick presided and a delightful program of music, recitations and dialogues was provided. An excellent supper was also served by the ladies. The proceeds amounted to over $37.00.

In Time of Need It's always Zam-Buk

"We Find It Indispensable, whenever the children get cut, bruised or burned," writes Mrs. T. Fothergill, Ridge Farm, Bousman River, Man. "Once when my wrist was badly cut and the doctor tried stitching it, it would not heal. Zam-Buk soon put it right. I have also found Zam-Buk a soothing remedy for skin rash and irritation, also for piles.

"Our eldest boy was recently badly cut about the face by one of the cattle. At first I was afraid he might lose his eye. But we kept the injury clean, regularly dressed it with Zam-Buk, and it healed perfectly.

"My husband always carries Zam-Buk about with him on the farm, prepared for any accident. It one time rid him of a nasty outbreak of boils."

Zam-Buk with its wide range of usefulness saves worry and doctor's bills. It conquers eczema, ulcers, piles and ringworm as surely as it grows new skin over a cut, burn or scald, or place chapped with cold. Splendid also for sprains, rheumatism and muscular pains. Zam-Buk derives its wonderful properties from certain rare herbal extracts. It's the most wonderful healer ever discovered. 50c. all druggists, 3 boxes $1.25c. Sample for 1c. stamp, Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

GIVE US MEN

God give us men. The time demands strong minds, great hearts, true faith and willing hands; men whom the lust of office does not kill; men whom the spoils of office cannot buy; men who possess opinions and a will; men who have honor; men who will not lie; men who can stand before a demagogue and damn his treacherous flatteries without winking; tall men, sun crowned, who live above the fog in public duty and private thinking! For while the rabble with their thumb-worn creeds, mingle in selfish strife, lo, Freedom weeps; Wrong rules the land and waiting justice sleeps!

—J. G. HOLLAND.

CALEDON.

Caledon Methodist Church held their congregational meeting on Monday evening last. A very sumptuous repast was provided by the ladies of the church and after justice had been done by everyone to the good things for the inner man, Rev. Capt. J. F. G. Morris took the chair and an excellent program was put on consisting of songs, readings and addresses. Mr. Moffatt, the treasurer of the church, presented a detailed report of the church finances for the past year and everyone was very gratified to know that the finances were in such a good shape. Mr. Freebury reported for the Sunday School, Mr. Jas. Hillyard for the Young People's Society, Miss Arkell for the Ladies' Aid and Homer Hillyard for the Trustees. Mr. John Stubbs gave a short but very interesting history of the church. Solos were rendered by Miss L. Coleman, Miss Ruby Speers and Mr. Bert Clarke. Miss Stella Limebeer acted as organist.

Mr. William Baker held a very successful sale of his stock, implements and household furniture on Tuesday. It kept two auctioneers busy till night to dispose of everything.

Mr. Gilbert Vanwyck has leased Mr. Harry Laughlin's farm on the 1st line, west, and will get possession soon.

Mr. Geo. Glassford dropped a wallet containing over $70.00 at Baker's sale, but fortunately Mr. William Holmes picked it up and it was promptly returned to the owner.

There are still some honest people in the world.

INDEFINITE

"Is this the hosiery department?" said the voice over the phone.

"Yes," replied the weary saleslady.

"Have you any flesh-colored stockings in stock?" asked the voice.

"Yes," replied the weary saleslady. "Whaddy ya want—pink, yellow or black?"

HORSE RADISH

Young lady (on first visit to Western ranch)—"For what purpose do you use that coil of line on your saddle?"

Cowpuncher—"That line you call it, lady, we use for catching cattle and horses."

Young lady—"Oh, indeed. Now may I ask, what do you use for bait?"

A CALEDON FARMER'S ESTATE

Joseph Ferguson, formerly of Caledon township, Peel, who died Nov. 12th, left $10,374. His will was probated in Toronto last week. One hundred and fifty acres of land in Caledon are valued at $7,400, and an equity in 29 Annette street, $2,500. Cash, rents due, and personal effects complete the estate. Fifty acres of land is conveyed to two daughters, Sarah McKenzie and Susan Duke, by a will made August 22, 1919. A life interest in the equity in the house of 92 Annette street is given to a daughter, Hannah E. Wilson, and after her death to her son, Joseph H. Wilson. Joseph Duke Ferguson, a grandson, 29 Annette St., receives one hundred acres of the farm land, subject to a charge of $2,000 which is to be used, $500 to secure the house on Annette street outright, and $1,500 to be divided between Sarah McKenzie and Susan Duke. The daughters share the furniture; Jos. D. Ferguson, a watch and chain, and the three daughters Sarah McKenzie, Susan Duke and Hannah E. Wilson, share the residue.

PUT HIM BACK ON JOB, SAYS TOLCHER

Toronto Man Was so Run Down Before He Got Tanlac He Had to Quit Work.

"Just give me Tanlac and you may have all the other medicines," said E. Tolcher, of 17 Salem Ave., Toronto, Ont., a popular motorman on the Toronto Street Railway.

"I haven't felt right since I returned from overseas, sixteen months ago. My stomach was so out of order that nothing I ate agreed with me. My appetite went back on me and I suffered tortures from indigestion. My food seemed like lead in the pit of my stomach and caused such pain at times I could hardly bend over. I was terribly constipated, had fearful headaches and got so dizzy at times I would topple over. I was so miserably tired out all the time that I felt unfit for anything, and finally had to give up my work entirely.

After the land-lady, where I board, told me how much good Tanlac did her family I began taking it myself, and what it has done for me is nothing less than wonderful. Soon after I got Tanlac my appetite was so big I could hardly get enough to eat. I wouldn't have been much surprised if my land-lady had sued me to pay more board. That old tired feeling is gone now and I'm just brimful of new life and energy. I'm able to work every day and my troubles are all in the past. In fact, I'm feeling great all the time. Tanlac is certainly grand."

"Tanlac is sold in Orangeville by C. V. Jeffers, in Grand Valley by G. E. Morrow and W. T. Edmonson, and in Shelburne by J. E. A. White."

A PICKER BY TRADE

Whenever the hop-picking season comes round we are reminded of the convict that Capt. Spencer, senior prison missionary of the Church Army, once visited in his cell. "Well, my man," said the captain, "and what do you do when you are out of prison?" "Well," said the convict, in a philosophic manner, "in spring I pilks peas, in summer I picks fruit, in autumn I picks hops, in winter I picks pockets.' "And what happens then?" asked the missionary. "Then," continued the convict, "I comes in 'ere and picks oakum."

DELAYED FAME

"Well, professor," inquired the young musician, "how do my compositions please you?"

"Why, I think," responded the old man, "that they may perhaps be played when Mozart, Haydon, Mendelssohn and Meyerbeer have been forgotten."

"Really?" exclaimed the young musician in ecstacy.

"Certainly, but not till then," remarked the other.

"Father, are goats intelligent?"

"I don't know, my child. What makes you ask that?"

"Well, you told me that people that use their heads are intelligent, and goats use their heads an awful lot."

BIRTHDAY OF CANADA'S OLDEST PRINTER

Robert A. Constable, of Woodstock, who, up to a year or so ago, was known as perhaps the oldest working printer in Canada, last week celebrated his 89th birthday. Mr. Constable has worked in many towns and cities in Canada and the United States. He was born in England in 1832, and early in life chopped wood in Canada at 25c. a cord to earn money to secure his education. After breaking into the printing line, he found himself in 1863 working in Cleveland on the Leader alongside of Artemus Ward and Mark Twain. Mr. Constable established the Ingersoll News in 1864, leaving Ingersoll, he established the Ridgetown Plain Dealer in 1875. His other ventures in the newspaper line were the establishing of the Niagara Falls Record, and Glengarry Advertiser, and the Ayr News, and at the time of his retirement was conducting a job office at Woodstock.

"BILLY" PATTERSON'S DINNER

Col. George H. Ham, among the wittiest and most genial of Canadians, is reminiscing in MacLean's Magaine, and in the last issue of that publication gets off a good story at the expense of the late Hon. William Patterson, of Brantford. Col. Ham says:

"Billy," after being a Minister for some years, decided to give a dinner to his parliamentary friends of both Houses. The list was so lengthy that instead of one function there had to be two. By the "old-timers" they rere acknowledged to have been the liveliest gatherings ever held in the parliamentary restaurant presided over by Sam. Barnett. Mr. Paterson stipulated to "Jim" Sutherland, who was making the arrangements for him, that the dinner should be conducted on strictly temperance principles, but someone must have given Sam. Barnett the wink. Scotch and rye were supplied in ginger ale bottles and within an hour there was more hilarity than one finds at ten ordinary banquets. Mr. Paterson was greatly pleased with the success of the function and remarked to Sir Richard Cartwright, who was sitting next to him at the table: "Cartwright, I have always said you could get as much, or more fun out of a temperance dinner than one where liquor is served; you have a demonstration of it tonight." Sir Richard, who was wise to what was going on, smilingly acquiesced in the remark, but refained from enlighening his host. To the day of his death Mr. Paterson never knew of the arrangements that Jim Sutherland and Bill Galliher had made to make the banquet a howling success.

DROWNED IN RIVER CREDIT

Body of Port Credit Youth Found—Missing Since Thursday Last.

The fears entertained that Edwin Gibson, twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gibson, of Port Credit, had fallen through the ice on the Credit River and been drowned, proved only too well founded. The lad had been missing since early Thursday, Feb. 17th, and so far as a vigorous search conducted by the Peel County police and numbers of Port Credit residents He was last seen on the street near his home, but the only explanation of his continued absence which cohld be thought of is that he went skating and broke through the ice in which there are many weak spots owing to ice cutting operations which have been in progress. The body of Edwin Gibson was found in the Credit River on Saturday. Mrs. Gibson was in the hopital until Wednesday last week and Mr. Gibson has broken a leg.—Peel Banner.

MARY'S POINTED PRAYERS

There had been a difference of opinion in the preacher's family, in which six-year-old Mary thought she got the worst of it.

So at prayer-time she was unhappy and resentful toward the world in general, and her own ministerial family in particular.

But she knelt at her mother's knee as usual, and went through her ordinary evening petitions. Finally she added:

"O Lord, make all the bad people good!"

She paused for a moment, then, as an afterthought, concluded:

"And, if you can, please make all the good people nice!"

READY TO SERVE

Everybody knows the story about Tom Sharkey, who electrified the loungers in his saloon one day by saying heartily: "Well, boys, what are we going to have?" And then, as the loungers gathered round the bar, he added, "Rain or shine?"

Apropo of this they tell about another mean man. Some friends visited him on a hot evening, and after they had sweltered a while in the sitting room he said:

"Well, friends, could you stand some refreshment?"

"We certainly could!" the visitors replied, and they moistened their dry lips in pleasant anticipation:

"Then," said the mean man, rising, "we'll open the window. There's promise of a breeze.

"How unworthy I am of you dear," he murmured as he held her close. "Oh, Fred," she sighed, "if you and father only agreed on everything the way you do on that, how happy we would be."

The coming Referendum

Vote and Vote "Yes!" on April 18

THE Ontario Temperance Act as a war-time measure was an unqualified success.

On October 25, 1919, the people of Ontario voted by an overwhelming majority in favor of the permanent continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act, prohibiting the sale of intoxicating beverages.

The "Bootlegger" Must Go

On December 31, 1920, came the repeal of the Federal Order-in-Council—which was also a war-time measure—prohibiting importation, manufacture and export of intoxicating beverages.

Thus it became possible for individuals in prohibition provinces to import liquors for consumption in the home; thus the "bootlegger" is able to offer the same for sale contrary to law, and thus the expressed will of the people in this province is being defeated.

Importation Must Cease

Everything that applied in the last vote against the sale of intoxicating beverages within this province applies equally to the Use of them, and their Importation for beverage purposes should also be prohibited.

Hence arose necessity for further legislation and another Referendum.

Shall the Importation and the bringing of intoxicating Liquors into the Province be Prohibited? YES!

LONDON WOMAN IS MUCH GRATIFIED

Mrs. Pugsley Obtains Wonderful Results From Taking Tanlac.

"I will always feel grateful to the lady in Toronto who advised me to take Tanlac," said Mrs. Gertrude Pugsley, of 74 Colborne St., London, Ont.

"For three years I suffered from a general run-down condition, following a severe operation. I was in the hospital for a month and, after coming home, it was fully ten weeks before I could get around very much and then with great difficulty. I could neither eat nor sleep with any satisfaction and had very little strength. I was not satisfield with the way I was mending and decided to get something to build me up.

"I read a statement from a lady in Toronto about Tanlac and I wrote to her and she advised me to try it by all means. It certainly has been a godsend to me and I am glad I followed her advice, for I am a well woman today. I began to pick up from the very start and my strength gradually came back. I have a fine appetite, sleep soundly all night long and my work is a pleasure. I am grateful for what Tanlac did for me and I believe it will do the same for others."

HE SUFFERED FOR A YEAR WITH HIS BACK

NOW JOHN BOWERS SINGS THE PRAISES OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Severn Bridge Man Looks on the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills, as a Blessing Sent From Above.

Severn Bridge, Ont., March 7th, (Special)—Sincere indeed is the tribute Mr. John J. W. Bowers, a well-known resident here, pays to the benefit he has received from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I had been suffering for a year with a bad back," Mr. Bowers states. "Sometimes I could not work with the pain. Six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills took the pain all out and I feel like a new man.

"I highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everyone suffering with pain in the back and I say that the pills are a blessing from God sent into the world."

One of the earliest symptoms of Kidney trouble is pain in the back. It in itself is the cause of a great deal of suffering. But kidney trouble, unless giving prompt attention, frequently develops into much more serious from such as urinary troubles rheumatism, dropsy, lumbago, diabetes and heart disease.

To be assured of good health the kidneys must be kept in good working order all the time. At the first sign of trouble use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

Next Monday evening the meeting will be in charge of the Missionary Department. Rev. J. W. Edwards, of the Baptist Church has consented to speak to the Leaguers on that occasion. A good program will be provided. Everybody in any way interested in the work of the Missionary Department is given a hearty invitation to be present. Watch for announcement of Special Meeting on Monday night, March 21st, next week.

A GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR THE CHILDREN

Mothers—the surest way of keeping your little ones well and happy; whether it is the new-born babe or the growing child, is to keep their bowels regular and their stomachs sweet. Nine-tenths of all childhood ailments are the result of clogged bowels and sour stomach. The most necessary and the best medicine for little ones is a gentle laxative—something that will relieve constipation; sweeten the stomach and promote rest and natural sleep. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a gentle but efficient laxative; are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates or other injurious drugs and may be given to the youngest infant with perfect safety. They banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and give the baby that health and happiness which all children should have. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MRS. G. J. LEMON

Death Cuts Off Busy and Useful Life in its Midst.

Mrs. Gavin J. Lemon, of Caledon, whose death in Lord Dufferin Hospital here on Thursday, February 24th, was reported in last week's issue of The Banner, was born in Gardiner, Ulster County, New York State, on July 22nd, 1879. Her maiden name was Julia Mohr and she was the youngest member of a family of seven sons and daughters. Her father was a veteran of the Civil War, having answered President Lincoln's call for men to fight in defence of the Union and for the suppression of the nefarious slave traffic. For the remainder of his life he carried a memento of the great struggle for justice and right in the form of a bullet, which was still in his body, when he died in Florida seven years ago and was buried with Grand Army honours.

When Mrs. Lemon was a little girl she moved with her parents to Claremont near Jamestown, Virginia, a place renowned in the history of the republic to our south. Here she resided until she was about twenty years of age, when she went to the American Medical Missionary College at Battle Creek, Mich., to take up the work of training for a nurse and missionary. Under the skilled superintendency of Dr. J. H. Kellogg, she became deeply interested in her work and particularly in its religious side. Dr. Kellogg frequently spoke of her at meetings of the helpers as a splendid example of a conscientious, devoted nurse. The subject of our sketch met with noteworthy success at the Training School Branch in Chicago, from which nurses were sent throughout the city to nurse and care for the poor in their homes. While engaged in this work she devoted her spare time to Mission and Bible teaching, duties for which her early training as a Sabbath School teacher fitted her admirably.

While training at Battle Creek Miss Mohr first met her future husband, Gavin Joseph Lemon, who was also attending the College at the time. On New Year's Day, 1902, the happy couple were married and came to live at the husband's home in Caledon, where Mrs. Lemon soon became well-known and highly regarded for the active interest she manifested in all forms of church and social service work. She had been reluctant to leave the work of a medical missionary for which she had fitted herself, but upon coming to Canada devoted herself wholeheartedly to the task of assisting her husband in all his enterprises and in the building up of the beautiful farm home of which she was the mistress. She considered the country the proper place to rear a family and for that reason preferred to remain on the farm, placing the welfare of the children before her own inclinations and desires. She came to Canada with little or no knowledge of country life and customs, but soon made herself an expert farm and business woman. She was a zealous church worker, sang in Mono Mills Presbyterian Church choir and was intensely interested in helping with the work of the Sunday School. In a letter written to the bereaved family since her death, Rev. A. C. McCollum, a former rector of St. John's Anglican Church, Mono Mills, states:—

"Mrs. Lemon was a real friend of mine and one who helped greatly to weld together the people of the various denominations in Mono Mills. She was particularly good in assisting the Union Sunday School."

The Rev. J. A. Black, of Hornings Mills a former pastor, wrote:—

"We feel that we have lost one of the truest friends we had at Mono Mills. There was no bigger hearted woman than Mrs. Lemon. She always wanted to be doing more. I feel that we knew her better than others knew her. We understood her point of view as few others did. May it be ours to have the same kind of faith that enabled her to triumph."

The late Mrs. Lemon was a life member of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church and was also a member of the Women's Auxiliary. She took a very active interest in the work of both societies. She was also an active member of the Women's Institute, being President for some time of the Branch at Mono Mills. In all her activities, whether in or outside the home, she exerted her influence for truth, honesty, justice and righteousness. For the members of her family she cherished high ambitions and bestowed upon them an affection and care than can never be repaid. She was a staunch believer in co-operation amongst neighbors and the farming community as a whole, holding that by such co-operation large economies could be effected in the cost of marketing wool, potatoes and other farm products. Largely as a result of her vision and inspiration her husband and son were induced to embark in the wool and potato business and in time developed a turnover of about $100,000 a year in these two products of the farm. Two years ago Mrs. Lemon's health began to fail, her indisposition eventually culminating in the malady which caused her demise.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother her husband and a family of four children, Ernest A., a student at the Orangeville High School, Elmer G., Rachel May Regina and Philip Frederick, all at home, the last named a child of only three years. She is also survived by five sisters and one brother, namely, Mrs. J. B. Wyankoop, of Kingston, N. Y., who was visiting here at the time of her sister's death; Mrs. Ed. L. Dalton, of Beacon, N. Y.; Mrs. Oscar Lyons, of New Paltz, N.Y.; Miss T. Marie Mohr, of Madison, Tenn.; Mrs. C. W. Jones, of Panama City, Fla., and Ex-Congressman Paul K. Mohr, of Seattle, Wash.

The funeral, which was largely attended by neighbors and friends of the stricken family, was held from St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Saturday afternoon, February 26th. Rev. J. A. Matheson, the family pastor, and Rev. W. M. Morris conducted an impressive service in the church, the organist, Mr. A. C. Hannahson, and members of the choir assisting with the singing. A large number of beautiful floral tributes bore silent testimony to the sympathy of friends of the departed wife and mother.

The flowers included:—Broken wheel, husband and family; pillow, Mrs. Gavin Lemon, Sr., and Mr. Albin Lemon; spray, Union Sunday School, Mono Mills; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wyankoop, Kingston, N.Y.; anchor Women's Auxiliary, Mono Mills Presbyterian Church; spray, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lamon; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rawn; wreath, Third Form Pupils Orangeville High School; spray, Mrs. Hillyard and sons; wreaths, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lyons, New Paltz, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Perry Minard, New Paltz, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. L. Dalton and family, Beacon, N Y.

The pallbearers were Messrs. D. N. Potter, J. A. Vance, T. E. Holmes, W. A. Dowling, W. G. Duke and T. C. Glassford, most of whom were near neighbors, who had previously assisted to carry the departed woman from her bedroom down the stairway to the auto, which was waiting to convey her to Lord Dufferin Hospital. The last request she made of her husband before her death was that he thank the neighbors for their assistance and the care with which they carried her on what proved to be the last journey from her home.

The Height of Musical Joy

YOU get the height of musical joy when you hear a great living artist. But you get equal joy when you hear the same artist on the New Edison.

The proof of this is convincing, conclusive and concrete.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Convincing—for Mr. Edison himself said in a recent interview: "The emotional effects and consequent benefits of music are well known. Through the agency of my new phonograph, I can produce the same effects as would result from the original music."

Conclusive—for you can score, on a Mood Change Chart, the effects of the New Edison's realism on you. Come in and listen to this test of realism.

Concrete—for we will show a big book of proof, that there is no difference between RE-CREATED music and the original music. This proof would be good in any court of law.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 22nd, a very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Turner, Fairview Farm, Orton, when their many friends and neighbors assembled to spend a social evening with them before their departure to Hillsburg, where they will in future reside.

After a few selections of music a very suitable address was read by Mr. James H. Hall, followed by the presentation to Mr. Turner of a gold Waltham watch, to Mrs. Turner a handsome set of dinner dishes, to Rema a hand painted French china salad bowl and to little Flossie Jean McCormick a child's silver set.

Mr. Turner made a brief but suitable reply, thanking them very heartily and wishing them all to come to see them in their new home.

The young people then enjoyed themselves to the utmost. The friends repaired to their respective homes at a late hour feeling that the evening had been indeed a pleasant one. The following is the address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Jos. A. Turner, and Miss Rema Turner,

Your many friends in Auld Garry are here with us in heart and spirit as we gather to bid you God speed as you are about to leave our neighborhood.

We have learned with satisfaction that it is your intention to take up your residence not far away, as we shall hope to meet often, but we are conscious that the present hour marks a definite change in your life. Mr. Turner is leaving the home of his birth and the farm that has been a labor of love to him. Mrs. Turner also is leaving the place of many years of happiness where she has ever found time to extend the helping hand to others even in the thronging duties of the home and family ties.

We have the deep feeling in our hearts that you will be missed by the neighbors with whom you have shared many happy hours. The circle of the followship of Bethel Presbyterian Church, East Garafraxa, will have three vacant chairs by your departure.

Mr. Turner's cheery way and wise counsel will be missed in the Court of Session, where for 15 years he was a faithful Elder.

To both Mrs. Turner and Miss Rema we would make happy reference to the many friendships you have here amongst us. Since you are to be residents of Hillsburg we shall have just as happy expectations of seeing you often return to the homes and hearts where your place will ever be kept for you.

We give you our sincere good wishes that you three may have every happiness in your new home. May warm, true friendship gladden your way where ever it leads, but we would ask your acceptance of these accompanying gifts from your old friends, true and trusty, in Auld Garafraxa.

Old friends are best friends in sunshine or rain;
So good-bye! good-bye! good-bye! till we meet again.

Signed on behalf of your many friends in Garry,
James Henry Hall, J. E. D. McGowan, Geo. Hawes, W. B. McGowan.

Mrs. Turner was also presented with a gold pin from the W. M. S. of Bethel Church, where she has been for many years a faithful member.

ORANGEVILLE PRESBYTERY

At the regular meeting of the Presbytery of Orangeville on March 1st the following were appointed delegates to the General Assembly, which meets in Toronto in June:—Rev. G. W. Rose, Corbetton; Rev. Dr. Spence, Inglewood; Rev. W. M. Morris, Orangeville, and Rev. John Lindsay, Erin. The congregations of Alton, Laurel, Camilla and Mono Mills are also entitled to send delegates. Appointments to the Assembly are made by rotation.

The sum of $1275 is asked for 1921 from the Home Mission Board to help weak congregations within the bounds of the Presbytery. This is $50.00 less than the amount required last year.

A questionaire re increase of minimum stipend to $1800 was considered. On motion of Mr. Waddell it was unanimously resolved as follows: "That this Presbytery does not approve of the raising at the present time of the minimum stipend of ministers to $1800 and manse, but would recommend this to individual congregations as an ideal that they should aim to reach wherever possible."

The Presbytery placed itself upon record as being heartily in favour of the coming Referendum on April 18th, and expressed the hope that all our congregations will do their utmost to secure its passage.

Dr. W. J. Clark was nominated to the Moderatorship of the next General Assembly, which meets in Toronto in June.

The congregations of Maxwell and McIntyre have contributed the largest amounts in their history toward the Budget.

SMITH–ENGLERT

In McDougal Methodist Church, Edmonton, on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 23rd, at 4.30 o'clock, the marriage of Clara Mildred, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. Englert, of Edmonton, and Ellison I. Smith, formerly of Alton, Ont., was quietly solemnized. The Rev. Lorne McTavish officiated in the presence of the immediate relatives. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a short honeymoon trip, the bride travelling in a blue suit and picture hat to match. The young couple will reside with the groom's sister, Mrs. E. E. Tietz, for a short time before moving their own home in Edmonton.

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S.

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church held a very successful meeting on Monday night. The Literary Committee, which had charge of the meeting, provided a varied program. The first number, following the devotional exercises and the business of the evening, was the reading of one of Robert Service's poems, entitled "Jean Desprez," by Murray McKitrick. This was followed by a much appreciated solo by Mr. Percival Harding. The main item of the program was a contest on the names of Shakespeare's plays, Miss Edna Coulson carrying off the honors for the greatest number of correct answers. The final feature of the evening was a pantomime on Campbell's well-known poem, "Lord Ullin's Daughter," which proved both humorous and awe-inspiring, especially in the stormy scenes. The chair was ably occupied by Miss Isabel Fife. The meeting closed with the Y. P. S. Prayer.

Next week the meeting will be in charge of the Consecration Committee, which will provide the usual excellent program. Everybody cordially invited.

THE TRAFFIC CANNOT BE REGULATED

Speaking in reference to the "Ontario Temperance Act," Premier Drury said: "Once we carry the coming Referendum we have an enforceable act. It is going to be a more terrific fight than the last, and the temperance forces must exert every effort to win."

Ontario cannot win by sitting back and saying that a dry province would be a good thing—it must be fought for—every church member must go and fight for it, and work for it.

More respect is due the man who gets out and works and fights to bring liquor back, because he believes in it, than is due the man who says he is in favor of prohibition and lies back and does nothing.

It is a crying disgrace that Ontario is being used as a highway for the passage of liquor from Montreal into the United States, a country which has declared against liquor.

At a recent session of the Board of Arbitration in the Grand Trunk Railway enquiry, Mr. Pullen, President of the Company, described "liquor" as "the most profitable of the various types of goods handled," and stated in reference to express rates, that "much depended on the decrease in liquor traffic," also that "the liquor traffic has boosted the express business very much," representing at one time as much as thirty per cent. of the entire business of the Canadian Express Company."

Is not this fact sufficient to arouse to action the most indifferent? A company possessing as much capital, as the one mentioned does, basing its rates on the carrying of liquor, in reference to which, Archbishop Ireland says: "I find men behind prison bars, and ask: 'What put you there?' They say, 'Drink.' I find poverty, 'What caused it?' They tell me 'Drink.' I stand by the scaffold and ask: 'What made you a murderer?' They cry 'Drink!' Who foots the bills for the stuff? The landlord who loses his rent, the baker, the butcher, grocer, coalman, dry goods merchant, the charitable persons who pity the children of drunkards, and go down in their pockets to keep them from starving. The man who doesn't believe in hell, has never seen a drunkard's home."

Father Minihan describes the liquor traffic as the breeding ground of every kind of moral disease, and says: "You cannot regulate it or keep it in a cage."

Prof Ballantyne says: "Freedom is the right of every man, but a very serious responsibility." Personal liberty consists in the observance of the law, and individual interests must be adjusted to the interests of the community as a whole.

Who dare say that the traffic in or indulgence in strong drink, ever benefitted an individual or community?

The magic word, the word which will—if written a sufficient number of times, on the 18th day of April, on "Referendum Ballots," secure for our fair Province, the prohibition of the importation of Spirituous Liquors for beverage purposes is YES! A careful study of why write yes, will help you to do so, and to encourage others in this effort to remove as far as possible the disgrace resting over us in connection with the stuff.—Cornwall Freeholder.

THE LATE WM. BOWER

One by one the cords which unite the pioneer days with the present are being broken. Lifelong residents of the community, now full of years, are passing to their Great Reward. Such was the case when Mr. William Bower, sr., passed away at his home, lot 19, con. 5, east, Mono township, on Friday morning last.

The deceased was the eldest son of the late James Bower, who died in 1885, and who was one of the earliest settlers in Mono. The late Mr. Bower was born on the sixth line, Mono, on March 13th, 1842. When a young man he purchased a farm on the sixth line, Mono, a mile from the parental home and fifty-seven years ago he wedded Miss Elizabeth Coleman, who survives. Five children blessed this union, namely, Annie, now Mrs. Hamilton McFadden, Markdale; Margaret Mrs. D. G. McNally, who died in 1899; Martha, Mrs. W. J. Stinson, who died six years ago; J. J. Bower, Hume, Sask.; and Mima, Mrs. T. G. Reaburn, Shelburne. The son and three of the daughters survive, with twenty-two grandchildren and ten great grandchildren. The surviving brothers and sisters are John Bower, Orangeville; Mrs. Robert Murphy, Primrose; Mrs. E. J. Arthur, Orangeville; and Jas. Bower, Red Deer, Alta. Mrs. Robt. J. Irwin, who passed away in Orangeville five years ago was also a sister.

It would be a difficult matter to find a better type of a hardy, vigorous race than the late William Bower. Active, rugged and aggressive, he scarcely experienced a day's illness until the very close of his long career, when the end of life came peacefully in childlike slumber. He was a model neighbor, husband and father and a man who was keenly interested in religious, moral and educational work.

A large number of friends and neighbors assembled at Relessey Church on Sunday afternoon to pay a last mark of respect to the mortal remains of the man they had known so well and esteemed so highly. Rev. C. H. Forth preached the funeral sermon, using for his text, Job. 5:26, "Thou shalt come to the grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in its season." This promise given forth to a good man had been realized in the life of the late Mr. Bower. From the sacred edifice the cortege proceeded to a place in the shadow of the first monument erected in the cemetery and here the body was laid at rest with solemn and impressive ceremony. Five grandsons, Messrs. Ellis and Lester Stinson, Orangeville, Arthur Raeburn, Shelburne, R. W. E. McFadden, Brantford Lyman Waller, Mono, and a nephew, Wm. J. Bower, Reeve of Mono, acted as the pallbearers.

Among those who attended from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton McFadden, Markdale; Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Raeburn, Shelburne; and the following grandchildren:—Mrs. R. G. Walker and Mrs. W. M. Davis, Markdale; R. W. E. McFadden, Brantford; Arthur and Clara Raeburn, Shelburne; Lester, Ellis and Effie Stinson, Orangeville, and numerous Orangeville relatives.

THE MAPLES

The last regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Brown in February. Mr. J. B. Smith of Brampton, gave an interesting address on Dairying and Butter Making.

VARSITY SHORT COURSE

Attracts Many And The Course Proves a Success—All Parts of Province are Represented.

Students enthusiastic over University Lectures given them—Grandma and the girls join in winter course.

(By a Peel County Student.)

Over three hundred stulents enrolled for the two weeks special winter course in economics, architecture, hygiene, public health, literature and history, arranged by the Univerasity Extension of the University of Toronto in co-operation with the United Farmers of Ontario, of which Mr. W. J. Dunlop and Mr. M. H. Staples, respectively, were the directors, to get a new vision and to see and feel the spirit of the University for themselves.

Every county in the Province was represented there. The students were mostly young men between the ages of eighteen and thirty, although about a third of the total registration consisted of girls. There were, however, a very considerable number of middle-aged men and women also enrolled. Married women, some of them mothers of sons and daughters who have taken their independent place in the world, were among these enterprising students, and a number of members of the Farmer Legislature, which happened to be in session at the time, were quite diligent attendants at the lectures.

One and all the students were keenly anxious to make the most of the opportunities that were being presented. There was an earnestness of attention, that is by no means always a distinctive characteristic of University Lecture Halls.

This, however, did not preclude a keenly critical spirit of intellectual independance that manifested itself, especially during the lectures on economics, when Professor Jackman was closely interrogated. Real humor flickered at times from a background of intense interest and attention.

It was like a long, unfulfilled dream to be assembled in the University, to be enjoying such an interesting course of lectures, to see the splendid buildings of the University and to find the professors so human and sympathetic. It was a very real intellectual stimulus and is an indication that the people of our Province are looking eagerly for education.

The institution of this course undoubtedly marks one of the most important and significant innovations ever made at Varsity. It has the dual purpose, firstly, of placing a Short Course of a combined cultural and practical nature within reach of those who are prevented from attending the University in the regular manner, and, secondly, of letting men from all over Ontario learn at first hand of the great opportunities for self improvement that are extended by the Provincial Universities.

Fifty-five per cent. and over of the population of Ontario is rural—the farmer has then, evidently, the right to claim his full share in the advantages of the cultural and technical education which the Universities provide. Our Canadian Universities realize this more and more and what is equally to the purpose: are realizing that they must keep in view the needs of the farmer in framing their regular courses of study. The day of exclusive regard by the Universities for the "learned professions" is past.

Short courses for the farmers have been for years a familiar and useful feature at the various Agricultural Colleges of Canada. For the most part, these courses have been pretty much of an entirely practical character and centred on methods of better and of greater production, improvement of livestock, etc. This University Course was framed with a wider aim.

"The education of a farmer," declared Professor Jackman, "should prepare him as an adult to meet all the forces resident in his environment, just as that for a city man should fit him for practical life in the city. What the adult farmer needs to know to-day in a calling that is becoming more and more a highly developed science, is a better knowledge of farm methods, principles of business underlying all business in no matter what guise, principles underlying the payment of wages, rent, interest, tariff, the principles underlying international trade, the banking system, than which no better exists."

The first morning the students assembled in "Lash Hall" of the University, but, so popular was the unique two weeks' course, that Convocation Hall and the Main Lecture Hall of the Medical Building had to be commandered to seat the audience for the remaining lectures.

The mornings, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, were devoted entirely to the different lectures, while the afternoons were filled up with visits to places of interest, such as Legislature in Session (it happened that the vigorous and lively debate on the reply to the speech from the throne was on hand during the first week); the Royal Ontario Museum; the Lillian Massey; the Grange; Massey-Harris works; the T. Eaton factories; the Harris, Gunn, Ltd., and Swift abbattoirs; Hart House, etc.

An afternoon in the Biological Buildings, with a long chain of demonstrations and experiments; an evening on the commercial application of liquid air, meeting along with the Workers' Educational Association, under which University evening classes and discussions are held with mechanics and other hand workers; an evening of open debate by the 300 students, "resolved that co-operation has done more for agriculture than private enterprise," were additional pleasant and profitable features.

The lectures embraced public health and hygiene by Professor J. G. Fitzgerald, director of Connaught Antitoxin Laboratories at University; English Literature by Professor Wallace; Architecture, Professor C. H. C. Wright; the Constitutional History of Canada by Prof. Wrong, and Economics, especially as related to farm problems, by Prof. Jackman, and a concluding lecture on "Immigration," by Prof. Jackson.

Nor was the social side ever lost sight of—Professor Wright, of the Faculty of Applied Science, had used the Knox College Building, which stands in the University group, as an illustration in his first lecture on Architecture. This suggested an invitation from Principal Gandier for a Saturday afternoon inspection of the interrior of that fine building, with an organ recital in the Chapel of the College included.

There were also two delightful "At Homes" given by the President of the University and Lady Falconer. It is seldom that the University students have the pleasure of meeting the President and Lady Falconer, and the Special Course students felt highly gratified that such an opportunity was being given them during their short term there.

The course concluded by a Banquet at the Hart House. Their first annual dinner, and, although the course only continued for two weeks, Feb. 7th to 19th, the class was now organized and had their "yells."

The dining room was filled to capacity, over four hundred being present, and during the dinner, which consisted of seven courses, the "Tokie Orchestra" played a number of lively selections. Afterwards everyone joined in singing "There's a Long, Long Trail," "Katy," "My Wild Irish Rose,' and other popular songs. The orchestra then gave the School of Science yell and the Varsity yell, while the class gave their special yell:

"U. F. O.
U. of T.
United for Ontario
United Varsity.
U-N-1-T-E-D
United '21.

Lady Falconer was the guest of honor, and in the unavoidable absence of Sir Robert Falconer, Pres. of the University, Chancellor R. P. Bowles, of Victoria College, was chairman for the evening.

An excellent program of toasts was arranged: 1st, to "The King" and "The Provincial University," proposed by Mr. E. V. Lawson, Goderich, and Professor M. W. Wallace replying. Prof. C. H. C. Wright proposed the toast to "United Farmers of Ontario," and Mr. M. H. Staples replied. "The Class," proposed by Mr. W. Dunlop and responded to by Mr. H. H. Hilborn, Grand Valley, and "Our Instructors," proposed by Mr. G. Jackson, Elia, and replied to by Prof. Jackman.

The lectures, from an educational and from a social standpoint, have been a factor in bringing together country and city under the most pleasant circumstances, and the universal judgment of the students, men and women, older and younger, was —"well worth while!"—a judgment heartily coincided in by the joint direction, the President of the University and the Instructors.

VIOLET HILL

At nine o'clock the fun "begun,"
The floor was powdered for the fun
By Violet Hill's chosen one,
So pick your partners and come along
To Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Gordon Gilmore was the first to come,
It was Rosemont he hailed from;
He stopped off at Jack Law's
To get some chewing gum
For Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Lorne Halbert did some calling off that night,
And in every figure it was "hug her tight;"
And Angus Bell took advantage with all his might
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Cecil Hawkins got slightly mixed,
It was in the midst of right and left six,
He said he would do better the next
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

George Mountford sure was there
With two girls from the Bell 'Phone chair;
Elmer Horner said he had more than his share
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Clarence Manning came too late,
And poor Bill Foster had to wait
Until Clarence took home his dear little mate
From Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Trueman Thompson was there in good time,
He sported a partner from the second line;
For tea he seated her in very good time
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Charlie Foster was next in line,
He sported his pick from Prince of Wales Line;
He said he had a ripping good time
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Orrie Irwin's waltz was superfine
With his good true partner, Miss Angeline,
And to the music they kept good time
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Clarence Haddock was there in good time,
With his dear little mate from the third line,
He thought the music was certainly fine
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

I next Lyttle Thompson there did see,
He's still a youth both gay and free;
Of this old world he makes the most,
While of sweethearts fair he had a host
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Bob Looby and Albert Mews we next did meet,
Their clogging, it was done up neat;
For they both had fair sized feet
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Errol Lewis and Miss Florence Holmes
Stepped to the music of Casey Jones;
The crowd did shout in live tones
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

Miss McCrae was there at r[illegible], no less,
And she had donned her [illegible]ing dress,
And some of the lads she [illegible]ure did bless
At Violet Hill Baseball Party.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear husband, George T. Ostrander, who passed away on March 13th, 1919.

I think of you in silence,
No eye may see me weep,
But deep within my heart concealed,
Thy memory I will keep.

Peaceful be thy rest, dear husband,
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life I loved thee very dearly,
In death I do the same.

—Sadly missed by wife.

In loving memory of our dear daddy, G. T. Ostrander.

How often we long to see your dear face,
And put our arms around you
In one long embrace.

There's none wants you or misses you

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S.

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church held a very successful meeting on Monday night. The Literary Committee, which had charge of the meeting, provided a varied program. The first number, following the devotional exercises and the business of the evening, was the reading of one of Robert Service's poems, entitled "Jean Desprez," by Murray McKitrick. This was followed by a much appreciated solo by Mr. Percival Harding. The main item of the program was a contest on the names of Shakespeare's plays, Miss Edna Coulson carrying off the honors for the greatest number of correct answers. The final feature of the evening was a pantomime on Campbell's well-known poem, "Lord Ullin's Daughter," which proved both humorous and awe-inspiring, especially in the stormy scenes. The chair was ably occupied by Miss Isabel Fife. The meeting closed with the Y. P. S. Prayer.

Next week the meeting will be in charge of the Consecration Committee, which will provide the usual excellent program. Everybody cordially invited.

ROMANTIC HOUR IN DESERT

Seems the Only Time When Loneliness of the Country Is Hidden From the Eye.

One day before sunrise we set out from Rabat for the ruins of Roman Volubilis.

From the ferry of the Bou-Regreg we looked backward on a last vision of orange ramparts under a night-blue sky sprinkled with stars; ahead, over gardens still deep in shadow, the walls of Sale were passing from drab to peach color in the eastern glow. Dawn is the romantic hour in Africa. Dirt and dilapidation disappear under a pearly haze, and a breeze from the sea blows away the memory of fetid markets and sordid heaps of humanity. At that hour the old Moroccan cities look like the ivory citadel in a Persian miniature, and the fat shopkeepers riding out to their vegetable gardens like princes sallying forth to rescue captive maidens.

Our road led along the high road from Rabat to the modern port of Kenitra, near the ruins of the Phoenician colony of Mehedvia. Just north of Kenitra we struck the trail, branching off eastward to a European village on the light railway between Rabat and Fez. Beyond the railway sheds and flat roofed stores the wilderness began, stretching away into clear distances bounded by the hills of Rarb, above which the sun was rising.

Range after range these translucent hills rose before us; all around the solitude was complete. Village life, and even tent life, naturally gathers about a river bank or spring; and the waste we were crossing was of waterless sand bound together by a loose desert growth. Only an abandoned well curb here and there cast its blue shadow on the yellow bled, or a saint's tomb hung like a bubble between sky and sand. The light had the preternatural purity which gives a foretaste of mirage; it was the light in which magic becomes real, and which helps to understand how, to people living in such an atmosphere, the boundary between fact and dream perpetually fluctuates.—Edith Wharton in Scribner's.

Unlucky Whale.

Loose mines bobbing in the water hinted at the perils that were constantly threatening our forces. In the tense imagination of the lookouts floating spars or other debris easily took the form of periscopes. Queer looking sailing vessels at a distance aroused suspicions that they might be submarines in disguise. A phosphorescent trail in the water was sometimes mistaken for the wake of a torpedo. The cover of a hatchway floating on the surface if seen at a distance of a few hundred yards looked much like the conning tower of a submarine, while the back of an occasional whale gave a lifelike representation of a U-boat awash, in fact so lifelike that on one occasion several of our submarine chasers on the English coast dropped depth charges on a whale and killed it.—Admiral Sims, in the World's Work.

Like Steel, Yet Light.

A metal lighter than any yet known, and as strong as or stronger than steel, has for years been the dream of many, and every now and then rumors are circulated to the effect that at last it has been discovered. The advantages which such a metal would have, especially for aircraft, are obvious, but unfortunately it is generally found on investigation that there is a "snag" somewhere. The latest report to be circulated relates to a new magnesium alloy, said to have been discovered by a metal company of Montreal, Canada. The new alloy, it is stated, is only two-thirds the weight of aluminum and is "as strong as steel." It is said to be especially suitable for pistons and connecting rods of aero and motorcar engines. It is to be hoped that some of the qualities attributed to the new alloy may, on closer examination, be substantiated.

Horse and Donkey Meat In Mexico.

The following from the Mexico correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association is suggestive of at least one way to lower the cost of living:

"Because of the scarcity and the poor quality of the beef now on sale or through eagerness to make money, some people have been devoting themselves surreptitiously to the slaughter of donkeys, mules and horses. As some of these people have been caught and punished, they intend to ask the board of public health that they be allowed to open a slaughterhouse exclusively for horses. The flesh of these animals is not bad, and during hard times we have eaten it here with full knowledge of its origin, and it is known that there is in Havana a society of horsemeat eaters. I do not know anything about the quality of donkey meat."

Churches Into Movies.

Conversion of several churches in various parts of England into moving picture theaters has resulted from decreasing church attendance and the consequent disorganization or amalgamation of congregations. At Torquay one former place of worship has been turned into a laundry.

Safe Now.

This little bit of conservation was overheard at the Essex Country club in Manchester, Mass.:

"How is your husband getting on with his golf?"

"Very well, indeed. The children are allowed to watch him now."—Boston Post.

Not Me

Down here Ah fust saw light-o'-day,
An down here's where Ah'se goin' to stay.
Ah don't want to hab ma feet
Git too blame proud to walk de street.
Aah-Ah! Not me.

So Ah'll just wait till Gab'rel brings
Dem good, ol'-fashioned angel-wings,
An as Ah pass de air-plane by
In pity Ah'll look down and sigh.
Aah-Ah! Not me.

If Ah must do de loop-de-loop,
Let mine be 'round a bowl of soup,
An' not up where de doggone crows
Can say Ah'se treadin' on dere toes.
Aah-Ah! Not me.

It sure look sweet, Ah don't deny
To go a-flirtin' round de sky,
But dat's for folks what's in de mood
To pass up love—an' gin—an' food.
Aah-Ah! Not me.

Jest what ma country wants me to,
But dere's one trip dat Ah forsee
Ain't goin' to teach itself to me.
Aah-Ah! Not me.

But Ah ain't flirtin' wid de sun—

DIRE PLAGUE TOLL

Tuberculosis Responsible for Immense Death List.

Without Doubt the Greatest Menace to the Health and Prosperity of the Country Today—How It May Be Combated.

What is the gravest menace to the lives, health and prosperity of the American people today?

Ask this question of a dozen Americans, and your answers might be as varied as the political shades of opinion or personal hobbies of the individuals. Always providing, of course, that the group contains no physicians. For the correct answer, such as any medical man can establish by incontrovertible figures, is:

Tuberculosis.

In 1918 tuberculosis killed 150,000 persons in the United States. Probably 1919 has claimed more, rather than less lives, for somewhat belated results of the strain of military service among men and the exertions of war work among women are already beginning to become apparent in the development of tuberculosis among persons in whom the bacilli had perhaps long been dormant.

The loss to the United States, in life and labor, during one year has been estimated at $500,000,000 from tuberculosis alone. During the present year the loss will unquestionably be larger, unless something is done on a greater scale than ever before to stay the progress of this disease, which is both preventable and curable. Yet for every person who dies from tuberculosis there are eight other persons who have the disease, whether or not they are aware of the fact. On this basis it has been estimated that not less than 1,000,000 persons, and probably more than 1,200,000, have tuberculosis in this country at the present time.

In a larger sense, moreover, every precaution taken against tuberculosis reduces the danger from all other diseases and makes for the health and happiness of everybody. For the fight against tuberculosis is a fight for improved housing and working conditions, for higher standard of personal hygiene, for proper rest, good food, fresh air and sunshine available to all. These conditions have been established as the most effective preventive of the disease.

The fight against tuberculosis has been carried on in an organized form in this country since 1895. Today no less than 1,000 state and local societies are affiliated with the United States Tuberculosis association, which was founded in 1904. As a result of this co-ordinated work it is estimated that there has been an average saving of 30,000 lives annually in this country—lives which would otherwise have been sacrificed to the White Plague.

The great problem in tuberculosis is to keep the germ from the child. All of us are born free of tuberculosis, no matter whether our parents had it or not. Those of us who are afflicted with tuberculosis have acquired it—have taken the bacilli into our bodies—at some time after birth.

The problem is simple, for if every person afflicted with tuberculosis were aware of the fact—which most of them are not—and if he would obey the simple rules against the distribution of the bacilli by careless spitting or coughing, the most common method of producing new cases of infection would be stopped at the source. With new cases almost eliminated, the existing cases could be treated by the tried and proven formula of good food, sunlight, fresh air and rest, with the assurance that the vast majority of these cases would be cured or arrested. Yet simple as the problem is, it is multiplied to gigantic proportions by the million or more cases, and with 1 per cent of the population of the country properly classified as afflicted with tuberculosis only the most widespread and intensive education can serve to make headway against the disease.

Soldier Botanist in Macedonia.

During the occupation of Salonika by the allies a private in the Twenty-eighth division, William B. Turrill, found opportunities to gather and dry wild flowers from Macedonia and to collect their seeds for Kew Gardens, England. Being a member of the expert staff of the establishment, he had sufficient experience to carry out what must have been in the circumstances a fairly difficult enterprise. Macedonia has been very little explored botanically and Mr. Turrill's collection form an important addition to the knowledge of its flora. One of his discoveries was a Silene which was entirely new. No less than 60 packets of seeds he managed to collect. When it is remembered that some were so cured when his unit was normally under fire it will be seen they testify in no small degree to his devotion.

Money in Alligator Farm.

There is much money to be made in alligator farming. The demand for alligators is large, constant and rapidly increasing; the supply is limited and there is not much competition. The few alligator farmers in America are prospering. Alligators have to be fed on meat, but they need no food from September 1 to May 1, for this is their hibernating season, when they do not eat at all. Alligator skins are used for making bags, suitcases, purses, belts, cushion covers, etc., and the teeth and bones are made into cuff links, paper knives, whistles and many forms of cheap jewelry and ornaments.

KAISER BRONCHITIS IN EXILE

Thousands Liberated

What! have you not heard the joyful tidings! Bronchitis has been exiled—kicked right out of society—and 100,000 Canadians liberated from the bondage of this disease. Every case of bronchial trouble is blown to atoms by the world's most effective disease-destroyer, Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. No wonder people are rejoicing! No longer do they dread the effects of coughs, colds, asthma, etc., and so anxious are they, that others should benefit also, hundreds of letters have been written proclaiming the merits of this wonderful miraculous remedy. Here is one letter:—To Whom it may Concern: "This is to certify that I had been suffering for over three weeks with bronchitis and was advised to try Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. I purchased a bottle and after the third dose I received relief, and before the bottle was finished, I was perfectly well. In making the above assertion I have no hesitation in saying it is the best remedy I ever came in contact with for heavy colds and bronchitis."—(Signed), Mrs. M. Harding, c/o Dustless Brush Co., Toronto. The original of this testimonial may be seen at T. K. Buckley, Limited, 142 Mutual St., Toronto. This mixture, proven in thousands of Canadian households, will give you sure relief. It cannot fail. Seventy-five cents is the price that stands between you and the road to health. Take no substitute—insist on the bottle with the "Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded." Ask your druggist. 19

Some Singular Plurals

You may find a lone mouse, or a whole nest of mice,
But the plural of house is houses, not hice;
If the plural of man is always called men,
Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?
The cow in the plural may be cows or kine,
But a bow, if repeated, is never called bine,
And the plural of vow is vows, not vine.
If I speak of a foot and you show me your feet,
And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?
If one is a tooth, and a whole set are teeth,
Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?
If the singular's this and the plural is these,
Should the plural of kiss ever be nicknamed keese?
Then one would be that and three would be those,
Yet hat in the plural would never be hose,
And the plural of cat is cats and not cose.
We speak of a brother and also of brethren,
But though we say mother, we never say methren;
Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him,
But imagine the feminine she, shis and shim!
So the English, I think, you all will agree,
Is the queerest language you ever did see.

Nearly Insane From Leg Ulcers

She tells of suffering and brief story of her relief.

Read these two letters from Sarah D. Lawrence of Keeburn, Ontario. "I can't sleep at night from leg ulcers. I am in pain most of the time. I have doctored but no use. A lady from Winnipeg says that D. D. D. cured her of a bad case of eczema. That her sores are all healed. Can you help me?"

Now a few words from a later letter. "I have used D. D. D. as directed, and my leg is completely well."

Why not be convinced and try this remedy today for any form of skin disease? Our application and the itch is gone. Your money back if relief doesn't come from the first bottle. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

WOMEN IN TURKEY

Mistake to Class Them as "Toys of the Harem."

Under the Law They Have Absolute Control of Their Own Property, Which All Western Women Have Not.

"Some extremely modern young women, who mistake symptoms for the causes of woman's independence, should make a tour of Turkey," suggests a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society. "There women smoke, have had property rights for centuries, and divorce is easy, but who—in all respects—wants to be a Turk? The 'toys of the Turkish harems' were to be pitied in many ways, it is true, but considerable pity for them has been misdirected. For example, the Turkish women who now are to be 'emancipated' have had absolute control of their own property for hundreds of years, whereas the German wives cried in vain for such 'emancipation' under the kaiser."

The bulletin quotes from a communication by Mary Mills Patrick, which gives a vivid picture of the condition of Turkish women before the world war, as follows:

"It is a well-known fact that Roman law regarded the rights of the individual without consideration of sex; a man or a woman was alike a citizen of the Roman world. This met the requirements of Mohammedan life, where no woman ever necessarily sustained a lasting relation with any man.

"Therefore, during all the centuries of Mohammedan history, women have legally controlled their own property. They have been free to buy, sell, or alienate it without consulting any male relative. This has given them independence of thought and an influence in business affairs that seems wholly inconsistent with their life of comparative personal slavery.

"Enter a harem and there you see a Circassian beauty, who has been newly acquired by the tall, handsome pasha who has just passed you in the street. The air is heavy with the odor of eastern perfume, and the black eunuch stands by the door to watch all who come and go. The beauty herself is thickly powdered, with an elaborate coiffure erected by her numerous maids. Jewels half cover her arms, and she wears a beautifully embroidered negligee. There is a languorous expression in her black eyes, as she sits idly smoking a cigarette and sipping Turkish coffee.

"Would you think, to look at her, that when she draws her money from the bank that she must sign her own check? These two sides of life have been wholly at variance with each other; but, as years have gone by, the thoughtful side has predominated among the more intellectual Mohammedan women, until now they are ready to enter into the affairs of today with an understanding and vigor which the world has never accredited to them.

"It has been on the social side that Mohammedan women have suffered most under the oppression of the past, especially from the frequency of divorce. A man could legally divorce his wife at any minute, the only condition being the payment of the dowry which was settled upon her by the husband at the time of her marriage.

"In the last attempt to keep the sex in the role assigned to them by the life of the harem, very strict laws have been made to prevent all possible progress among them. Laws have been proclaimed over and over again forbidding Mohammedan women to attend foreign schools. In this emergency they engaged governesses. Most of these governesses were aliens, and many of them were inefficient, and bad moral guides to so large a portion of the population beginning to think and question. The governess system obtained so much influence after a short time that laws were made forbidding women to have governesses. Yet they struggled on in an effort for mental stimulation, reading, writing, talking things over among themselves, and sometimes getting help from their husbands and brothers. They have accomplished much, with so heavy a handicap, in literature, science, commerce and politics."

He Knew Her.

She was a most charming little person at a Red Cross canteen in an army camp. Everyone called her Peggy and her conquests among the soldiers from the rest camps were many.

One afternoon a young officer came in and asked for her. She was out and I undertook to entertain him. Hitherto Peggy had not counted officers among her adorers, or at least not in our sight. Hoping to make him feel more at ease I talked of Peggy, her popularity, her charms, her shameless flirtations; he was silent.

"Have you known her long?" I asked.

He stammered, blushed, and replied: "Well, yes, about three years; you see she's my wife."—Chicago Tribune.

The Coming Thing.

"What a beautiful night! The place seems to distill beauty."

"If you come a little further you'll find where it distills moonshine."

Fine Outlook.

"Our imports and exports are keeping up, I see."

"Yes, and our deports are going to be good, too."—Boston Transcript.

Observations of the Irish Philosopher

In the beginning man was made to dwell upon the earth; birds were made to live in the air; and the fish created to dwell in the sea. But it came to pass that man, becoming dissatisfied with his lot, desired to dwell on the sea, and lo, and behold, a house was built upon the water and called a boat. But man, not yet being satisfied with his achievements, and wishing to add to his possessions, made in the image of a bird, a machine to travel in the air. This, it duly came to pass, was called an aeroplane. But man, not being yet fully acquainted with his invention, often lost his way while travelling through the regions above.

And it came to pass that one such wayfarer was forced to return to the earth from whence he had so recently arose one fair morning in February at the hour when the recess bell sends out its merry note at the Academy of Learning on the hill. And forthwith, the entire male population, accompanied by a goodly number of fair dames, travelled in the direction of the field in which had alighted the winged machine Some had not time to place their overcoats upon their shivering shoulder blades, so great was the rush to the source of attraction.

And lo, time passed and only a few of the learned ones returned to the Academy building. And it came to pass, that when the bell tolled out its woeful tale at the eleventh hour, that many were still absent. Then the High Priest spoke to his colleagues after this fashion: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, that as in the days of old men forsook all to follow that which, to them, seemed marvellous, so children to-day are lured away by the charms of that which lasteth but for a season. And furthermore, even as in days gone by, only a few heeded the call of the eleventh hour, even so do they today."

WRONG SIGN

A farmer hitched his team to a telephone-pole.

"Here," exclaimed a policeman, "you can't hitch there!"

"Can't hitch! shouted the irate farmer. "Well, why does the sign say, 'Fine for Hitching'?"

STEELE BRIGGS SEED CO. TORONTO

A SERIOUS FIRE

Markdale Narrowly Escaped a Disastrous Conflagration.

What perhaps might have been one of the most disastrous fires in the County of Grey was speedily checked and brought under control by the daring efficiency of our local Fire Brigade. About 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon smoke was observed in the Hardware Department of F. T. Hill & Co's. store. The alarm was immediately given and the local Fire Brigade tackled the serious looking blaze. The seat of the fire was soon located and the full efficiency of the firemen directed thereto. The firemen soon perceived that there was very little hope of saving the Hardware Dept., and directed their efforts to keeping the fire from spreading to the main store building, and succeeded in preventing this and also saved a large portion of the Hardware Dept. stock, and by 4 o'clock the fire was practically out, altthough it was found necessary to keep a goodly supply of water pouring on it for a couple of hours longer, while the F. T. Hill Co. engaged a large staff of men to keep watch over the building during the entire night.

The Hardware, Boots & Shoes and Clothing Departments, including the offices are completely destroyed and the damage is estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

We cannot speak too highly of the splendid work done by the local Fire Brigade, assisted by many citizens. There were acts of daring efficiency that drew the admiration of the large crowd gathered from every quarter. The women and girls of the town rendered very useful service in helping to remove what goods could be recovered from danger, during the progress of the fire.

What perhaps saved our town was the fact that the day was calm and the efforts of the Brigade concentrated upon the saving of the more inflamable material in the vicinity of the fire. Our people are grateful that we have been saved from that which promised to be a very serious conflagration.

F. T. Hill & Co. have conducted a business in Markdale and district for many years. What they have done for this community can hardly be estimated and it was well for us in Markdale and district that the fire did not sweep the entire block. It may suspend business for a short period, but we are assured that vigorous operations for the restoration of the building and the operating of the business will be under way as speedily as possible.

We voice the sentiment of the whole town when we say we are proud of our Fire Brigade and that they have once more and perhaps in a more vivid way established the right to commendation and co-operation of the citizens of Markdale.

Much credit is due to Mr. Thorn Teeter, who is in charge of the pumping station, for keeping the water at high pressure, during the fire.—Markdale Standard.

GEO. HAM, PRINCE OF STORY-TELLERS, SENTENCED MAN TO HANG

'Twas When He Was a Magistrate in Winnipeg in Wild Old Days—Man Was "Confounded Nuisance"

George Ham was a magistrate—yes, think of that!—in the old days in Winnipeg and in his reminiscences he tells this story of Western justice as meted out by him one day in the police court there, owing to the unavoidable absence of Colonel Peebles, the regular distributor of justice. Let George tell it:

A worthless drunken pirate, who had the championship for being the best all-round nuisance in whatever locality he happened to be in, was brought up charged with being drunk and disorderly. The evidence was clear, and I felt that full justice should be sternly administered. So I put on my black Derby hat, and ordered the prisoner to stand up.

"George," I said, with dignity and solemnity, "you have been found guilty of being a general trouble-provider and universal nuisance. The sentence of this court is that you be taken from the place whence you came immediately after breakfast next Friday morning and be hanged by the neck until you are sure enough dead, and may the Good Lord have mercy on your alleged Protestant soul."

George stood aghast, but just then the good old Colonel came in, and intimated to me that I couldn't hang a man for being drunk, even if he was a confounded nuisance.

"I can't, eh? What on earth am I here for, tell me that, Colonel Peebles?"

Chief Murray and other court officials corroborated the Colonel's statement, and, as I am always willing to oblige, I immediately relented and ordered the prisoner to still stand and also to stand still.

"George, some warm if misguided friends have intervened in your miserable behalf, and have pleaded with me to be merciful. I shall—instead of sentencing you to the gallows, where you should go—I shall banish you off the face of the earth. Now get!"

And George did, but before he got very far he came over to St. Boniface, where I had an office, and borrowed $6 from me to take him to Pembina, which is just across the international boundary and outside the jurisdiction of Winnipeg courts. I warmly congratulated myself that that was the only time I had ever "committed a nuisance."

MRS. ANDREW CORBETT

Sarah Ann Vallery, widow of the late Andrew Corbett, Sr., died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Cunningham, Colbeck, on Sunday, Feb. 27th, 1921, in her 87th year. Deceased was an old and highly respected resident of this locality, having lived in and around Riverview for the past twenty-five years. Mr. Corbett died three years ago. Deceased was born in Tecumseth township and lived in Garafraxa and East Luther before coming to Riverview. The following family survive: Mrs. McGowan, Montana; James, Riverview; Mrs. Robert Hayes, Riverview; Mrs. Samuel Stevenson, Riverview; Mrs. John Cunningham, Colbeck; Mrs. Geo. Hammond, Riverview. One son, W. J., and one daughter, Mrs. Jos. Trumly, of Owen Sound, predeceased her. The funeral, which took place to Shelburne cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, was largely attended. The funeral service was held in Riverview Presbyterian church, of which deceased was for many years a member. The pallbearers were six grandchildren: Herb. Corbett, H. Hammond, Wesley and Morris Hayes, Hans and Samuel Stevenson. Friends from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mr. P. L. Wallace, of Guelph; Mrs. J. Mawhinney, Mrs. W. Pettigrew and Mr. J. Vallery, of Toronto; Mrs. J. Johnston, Mrs. Robt. Douglas and Mr. Wallace Vallery, of Belwood; Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Corbett, Fergus; Mr. Will Corbett, Arthur.—Economist.

Dr. Norman G. Bailey, V. S., of Collingwood, formerly of Shelburne, is at the present time confined to bed in the General and Marine Hospital at the former place.

Uxbridge town council has passed a by-law authorizing the payment of the council at the rate of $2 for each meeting attended, and $1 for attendance at regularly constituted committee meetings.

A very pleasant and interesting event was consummated at Ospringe on Feb. 19th, when the family of Mrs. Dougald McTavish met in a happy re-union to celebrate the 85th birthday of the mother of the home.

CALEDON EAST

A very pleasant evening was spent at the Parsonage, Caledon East, on Friday, March 4th, when the members and adherents of the Circuit gathered to burn the mortgage. After an enjoyable program the mortgage burning ceremony was held. The tray was held by Mr. R. W. Burrell, Mr. A. Sanderson, Mr. T. McCartney, Mr. J. McCandless, Mr. A. Neelands and Mr. Melville Neelands representing the Parsonage Board, Mrs. R. W. Burrell representing Caledon East Ladies' Aid and Mrs. A. Neelands representing Caesar's Ladies' Aid. Mr. A. Sanderson applied the match and while the document burned the guests stood and sang "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

On Sunday, January 16th, Rev. James Dudgeon, of Tottenham, preached an able sermon and made the debt extinction appeal for $700 and interest. The appeal was followed by a house to house canvass, which realized the handsome sum of $500. The Ladies' Aid of Caledon East came to the rescue with the handsome sum of $173 and Caesar's Ladies' Aid with $50. Now the handsome building and site on the Main St., Caledon East, is the rightful property of the Methodist Church.

During the evening a presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lindsay ,when the following address was read:—

Caledon East, March 4th, 1921.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lindsay,

The members and adherents of the Caledon East Methodist Church wish to express their gratitude to you for your hearty co-operation, faithful service and self-sacrificing endeavor in the work of Christ in Caledon East. We deeply deplore your departure, because we feel that we are losing two devoted church members and two valuable members of our community. You have always taken your share of responsibility in the maintenance of our church and every contribution you have made to the advancement of the Kingdom of God has proved to us that Christ and His Work have the highest place in your heart and life. We wish you God Speed in your new sphere of labor, but before leaving us we wish to show our heartfelt appreciation of the special service you have rendered the Church in Holy Song by asking you to accept this copy of our Church Hymn Book, which we trust will always remind you of your friends and fellow-workers in Caledon East Methodist Church.

Signed on behalf of the Church,
A. Sanderson, T. McCartney,
Stewards, and Alfred Laycock,
Pastor.

WHAT TO DO FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much.

Nine-tenths of all forms of indigestion or so-called stomach trouble are not due to the condition of the stomach at all, but are caused by other influences. The great contributing cause of indigestion is thin blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to take care of the food. If the blood is thin the stomach functions sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms and causes pains in various parts of the body. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison.

Relief from this condition can be obtained by the tonic treatment which Mr. D. Shaw, Mt. Stewart, P. E. I., tried and now warmly says: "I suffered from indigestion for over four years, and have tried many of the well-known remedies for such troubles, but never obtained more than temporary relief. The trouble was aggravated by constipation setting in owing to the stomach failing to do its work, and laratives only gave relief to the bowels and left the stomach in worse condition. The result was my blood was growing more and more anaemic, I did not sleep well at night and was growing despondent. I was in this wretched condition when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes and by the time they were finished there was some change for the better. This greatly encouraged me and I continued taking the pills for some three months, by which time my stomach was all right again, my blood good, nerves strong and life was again worth living. My advice to all who suffer from stomach trouble is to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HIGH SCHOOL LIT.

The High School Literary Society held a very successful meeting in the Assembly Hall last Thursday afternoon, the President occupying the chair. The program opened with a piano duet by Misses Laura Gillespie and Mildred Youmans. First and Third Forms debated for the High School Shield, which Fourth Form debaters won from the Second Form champions at the last Literary meeting. The subject was, "Resolved that the West has done more for the prosperity of the Dominion in the last fifty years than the East," and the affirmative side of the argument was upheld by Gordon Lewis and Lulu Wise, representatives of First Form, and the negative by Gordon Adamson and Florence Partridge, debaters for Third Form. The subject was well discussed on both sides, the debaters presenting their arguments clearly and in good order. First Form speakers had the advantage in delivery, but the representatives of Third Form offset this in superiority and style of material. While the Judges, Miss Sinclair, Rev. J. W. Edwards and Principal Hackett, were considering their decision, Misses Helen Irvine and Margaret Meek contributed an excellent piano duet. After a lengthy discussion the Judges announced their decision in favor of the negative. Third Form will now meet the Fourth speakers in the final debate for the possession of the Shield. The next meeting will be held on St. Patrick's Day, March 17th.

High School hockeyists were beaten by 6 to 1 in the return match with Brampton High School in Brampton on Saturday. The team was not up to full strength, a couple of the players being unable to make the trip.

EAST LUTHER PRESENTATION

On Friday week, Providence Methodist church held many of the residents of the locality, for the purpose of saying "good bye" to Mr. and Mrs. George T. Legate and family. Mr. and Mrs. Legate have resided in the vicinity for close on to 40 years, and identified themselves very actively in church work and the life of the community. Their neighbors evidenced their appreciation of those efforts and kindly acts in presenting them with a mantel clock, and a fountain pen to Master Harold. The congregation expressed their appreciation of the long, capable and patient services of Miss Stella as organist by presenting her with a gold wrist watch. The family left last week for Toronto, where there are more opportunities for the younger members, and where they carry the good wishes of their acquaintances, and the most prosperous future their friends could wish.—Star & Vidette.

ALLEN–BARBER

A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Barber, of Honeywood, on Tuesday, Feb. 22nd, when their only daughter, Florence Margaret, was united in marriage to William Hector Allen, eldest son of Jos. Allen, of Cookstown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Naylor, of Hornings Mills, in the presence of about 140 guests. Promptly at four o'clock the bride entered the church on the arm of her father and took her place under an arch of evergreens to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. L. E. Barber, sister-in-law of the bride. The bride looked very charming in a gown of white silk warp with georgette and pearl trimmings. She wore the customary bridal veil trimmed with orange blossoms with white marabou and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations. Little Nora Morrow, of Orangeville, cousin of the bride, acted as ring-bearer and flower girl. She carried a basket of sweet peas and wore pale blue satin. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl sunburst, to the pianist a gold bar pin and to the flower girl a pearl pendant. During the signing of the register Miss Irene Elder, of Lisle, and Miss Adella Coe, of Honeywood, sang "Just Because." After the usual congratulations the happy couple led the way to the home of the bride's parents, then to the dining-room, which was decorated in pale blue and white streamers, with large white bells, where a sumptuous wedding supper was served. Chas. Irish, of Toronto, formerly head waiter of the King Edward Hotel, acted as table manager. The young couple were the recipients of many valuable and useful gifts, showing the high esteem in which they were held. A very enjoyable evening was spent in dancing and other amusements. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will reside on the groom's farm on the "Prince of Wales," Honeywood. The friends from a distance were: Miss C. Thompson, Miss Elva Coe, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Corby and Chas. Irish, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Lew Morrow and Nora, Orangeville; Jas. Allen, from the West; John Cousins, Meaford; Mr. Lawrence and Miss Mary Barber, of Rosemont; Mrs. S. Elder and Irene, of Lisle, and Miss Marjorie Barber, of Owen Sound.—Free Press.

JUNE 26TH FATEFUL DAY FOR EARTH

Pons-Winnecke Comet, With Hun Name, Racing Towards us at 300 Miles per Second.

Next June, if the calculations of an eminent British astronomer are correct, this old earth is going to experience a demonstration of fireworks that will make the late explosive war seem like the twenty-fourth of May in a village.

A comet is now racing at an awful speed towards the earth.

Dr. A. C. D. Crommelin, of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich England, states that if this comet does not actually bump into the earth it is going to come so close that the most marvellous pyrotechnic display in the history of man will result.

June 26, next, he sets as the decisive date. About that day the large comet, Pons-Winnecke, travelling at the rate of three hundred miles a second (from Toronto to Montreal in tick-tock), will either have bumped into the earth or have swept by it in a stupendous rush of flaming gasses, molten matter, rocks, meteorites and dust.

astronomy at the University of To-

Professor C. A. Chant, professor of ronto, does not deny Dr. Crommelin's statement. Prof. Chant says that Dr. Crommelin is a very eminent astronomer, with one of the greatest observatories in the world in which to make his calculations.

Pons-Winnecke is one of twenty comets that run from the sun to Jupiter. It makes the round trip once every five and three-quarters years.

While our old earth ambles leisurely around the sun once a year at the rate of only eighteen miles a second, Pons-Winnecke rushes around its route from the sun to Jupiter at the rate of about 300 miles a second.

The comet comes at intervals that are irregular to the earth's calm passage. It cuts across the earth's orbit at a different place each trip.

This trip, says Dr. Crommelin, the comet is going to pass so close the two orbits are going to intersect so nearly, that it will be nip and tuck whether they pass each other or have a collision.

Rather an awful thought.

Pons-Winnecke, with flaming head and an huge, fiery tail, will become visible to astronomers some time the end of this month. From then on, according to Dr. Crommelin, it will rapidly increase in visibility, until before June it will be clearly visible to the naked eye. By which time, our astronomers will have had time to get their bearings and to warn us whether we ought to take out life insurance, dig deep dug-outs under our cellars, or simply get ready for the next world.

Professor Chant says that there is a difference of 15 degrees between the planes of the earth's and this comet's orbits. The comet is subject to deviation in its course, because of the "pull" of Jupiter and other planetary bodies, and until Pons Winnecke comes into view and observations are made on its course it cannot be definitely determined how close the two bodies will come. But Professor Chant assures us that we will have plenty of warning.

R. D. PORTER

Medicine Hat Man Fatally Injured by Explosion of Steam Coil.

Last week The Banner briefly noted the death of R. D. Porter, of Medicine Hat, well known hereabouts. The following particulars of his death and funeral are taken from the Medicine Hat News:—

Mr. R. D. Porter is in a serious condition at the hospital as the result of an explosion at his home, 435 Dundee Street. Last evening he was sitting chatting with friends in front of the fireplace at the rear of which are steam pipes. Hearing a hissing sound from the coil of pipes he went to turn off the steam, and the coil exploded.

Mr. Porter sustained fractures to his right arm, skull and nose and received a severe shock. Yesterday his condition had shown some improvement but during the evening he took a turn for the worse, and hope for his recovery had to be abandoned. The funeral service will be held at 2.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the family residence, 435 Dundee St.

The late Mr. Porter was 57 years of age and came here in June, 1883, when his father and mother and the family moved here from Wingham, Ont. Practically ever since then he has been engaged in the ranching business. He had a ranch four miles from Irvine, on Stoney Creek, and another about eighteen miles north of Bowell.

He was married about 19 years ago to Miss Florence Cook, of Orangeville, Ont., who survives him. He leaves two sons, Emerson and R. D., and one daughter, Clara. He is survived also by his brothers, James and R. C., and his sisters, Mrs. W. H. Tom, Mrs. Robert Rutherford and Mrs. J. C. Hargreave of this city and Miss Edith Porter, who arrived from Vancouver this morning.

Mr. Porter was a member of St. John's Church and was a member of the board of management of that church.

In the passing of R. D. Porter, the West loses a typical pioneer cattleman. His bounty was large and his spirit of comradeship such as drew to him many friends. Outside of raising cattle extensively, he also bought for market on a large scale and in his day swung many very large deals, earning the name of being one of the most shrewd and cautious dealers operating in the entire district. Genial "Bob" Porter's name will be mentioned with affection at every little gathering of cattlemen for many years to come.

The funeral, which took place on Saturday afternoon from the family residence to Hillside cemetery, was very largely attended, the "old-timers" of the city and district being particularly in evidence. The services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Morrow, six nephews of the deceased officiating as pallbearers, viz: E. R. D., John C., Norman and Robert Porter, Dr. William Hawke and Dr. Walter Hawke. The floral tributes were profuse and of great beauty, consisting of contributions from the following relatives and friends:—

Family, pillow; brother Dick and family, brothers and sisters, Willie, Walter and Gertie, J. H. and Mrs. Cook Irvine, H. A. and Clara Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. J. C Hargrave, Reg., Ada and Mary, Mrs. J. C. Reid and family, Miss Greta Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hay, Mrs. Tom White, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell and Beatrice, Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Begg, Mr and Mrs. Jas. Sangster, Mr and Mrs John Currie, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hargrave, Mr. and Mrs. J. T Bell, Mr. and Mrs. John Gillespie.; Cypress Club; Mr. I. Blatchford; Grade IIB, Alexandra High School; E. M. Dawson.

MRS. ALICE GRESHAM DODD, mother of first American soldier killed in France, who gives entire credit for recovery of her health to the well-known medicine, Tanlac.

The following remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Alice Gresham Dodd, the mother of Corporal Jas. B. Gresham, who was the first American soldier killed in France. The statement was made at the Gresham Memorial Home, which was presented to her by the patriotic people of Indiana as an evidence of their appreciation of the services rendered to his country by her son.

The shock of her son's death resulted in a serious breakdown in Mrs. Dodd's health, but everyone will learn with interest and pleasure that she is now in splendid health again. Mrs. Dodd gives the entire credit for her recovery to the celebrated medicine, Tanlac.

She said: "After my dear boy's death I had a general breakdown in health. At first it was just indigestion. My food would upset me and I had to diet myself very carefully. I also had rheumatism with severe pains in my shoulders, back and arms and at times I would suffer greatly, and my joints would become swollen and stiff. I was hardly able to do but very little about the house and at times could not even cook a meal. I became very nervous and restless and at night would lie awake for hours.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Tanlac. I am glad I did, for it proved to be the best medicine I have ever taken. It soon gave me a splendid appetite, and relieved me entirely of indigestion. My rheumatism also disappeared and I am now able to do my house-work with the greatest ease. My nerves are steady, and strong. I sleep well at night and my health is better than in years. I shall always be grateful for what Tanlac has done for me."

"Tanlac is sold in Orangeville by C. V. Jeffers," in Grand Valley by G. E. Morrow and W. T. Edmanson, in Shelburne by J. E. A. White, and in Caledon by McFetridge & Wittich.

Miss May Luckey Tells of Her Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills and Why She Recommends Them to Her Friends.

"Then a lady friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After using six boxes the blotches and pimples have vanished. I wish to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everyone who suffers with the same disease."

Pimples and blotches are caused by impure blood. The natural way to treat them is to put the kidneys in condition to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They have been in use in Canada for over thirty years and have an enviable reputation in the treatment of such diseases as pain in the back, dropsy, urinary troubles, diabetes and heart disease.

If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills for kidney troubles ask your neighbor about them.

Mr. A. E. Annis.
Dear Sir & Bro.,

The officers and members of Harris Lodge No. 216 A. F. & A. ANNUAL MEETING

Orangeville Methodists Hold Enjoyable and Largely Attended Banquett.

The Annual Congregational meeting of the Orangeville Methodist Church took the form of a Banquet which was held in the Church on Wednesday evening of last week. The Banquet started at half-past six when about three hundred sat down to a sumptuous repast prepared under the direction of the Ladies' Aid. Following this some old-time songs were sung by the audience.

Mr. C. R. McKeown acted as Toastmaster and presided in his usual pleasing and capable manner. In the course of his address Mr. McKeown said that he remembered when the present edifice was erected, which is about fifty years ago. Previous to this the Methodists of Orangeville worshipped in a building across from where Alexandra Park is now situated. The speaker said that the men who gave us our Methodist Church rolled up their sleeves and went to work voluntarily with the result that Methodism has lived and flourished in Orangeville. They gave much in comparison with what they had and it is up to us to give in the same proportion as they.

The first toast on the list was to the King, to which the audience responded by singing the National Anthem. Mr. John Glover then proposed the toast to the Church, which was responded to by the Pastor, Rev. H. L. Partridge. Mr. A. W. Bradley proposed the toast to the Ladies' Aid and Mrs. A. E. Annis replied. The toast to the Women's Missionary Society was proposed by Mr. A. Wise and responded to by Mrs. Geo. Beswick, the President of the Society. Mr. Will Porter toasted the Daisy Mission Circle in an appropriate manner and Miss Eleanor McCracken, the President of the Circle, responded. Mrs. Thos. Henderson proposed the toast to the Epworth League and the President, Mr. Wilson McConnell, made a fitting reply. In proposing the toast to the Sunday School, Mr. M. N. Armstrong said that one hundred and forty years ago there were no Sunday Schools in Christendom, to-day they are almost numberless. Mr. W. R. Liddy, the Superintendent of the School, responded by giving an inspiring report of the work of the Sunday School during the year. Mayor Parkinson proposed the toast to the Finance Committee, which was responded to by Dr. Price, the Treasurer of the Church, who gave a report of the finances of the Church, which showed them to be in a satisfactory condition. Mr. W. G. Kearns, Dr. W. H. Bowles and Mr. W. H. Kearns also spoke on the question of the finances The toast to the new-comers, replied to by Mr. Fletcher Stewart.

Among the musical numbers on the program were a vocal duet by Mrs. Dr. Bowles and Mr. Percy Harding, and a well-rendered instrumental selection by Mrs. Bowles and Mrs. Liddy. The regular choir and the men's choir favored the gathering with anthems under the able leadership of Dr. Price.

All are agreed that the Banquet was a great success. It was the first of its kind in the history of the Church. That such a big undertaking has been carried through successfully reflects great credit upon the Committee in charge and upon the work of the Ladies' Aid. The Methodists of Orangeville certainly have a right to be proud of the businesslike way in which the affair was conducted.

AN EDUCATIONAL REVIVAL

More than 1300 trustees and ratepayers have signified their intention of attending the annual meeting of the Ontario High and Public School Trustees' Association to be held in Convocation Hall, Toronto, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 29, 30, and 31. The average attendance for many years has been about 100, whereas there are 20,000 School Trustees in the province. The great majority of these delegates are from Rural School Boards, which goes to show that the people of Ontario are being awakened to a realization of the great opportunity afforded them by the Public School in developing an intelligent and patriotic citizenship. The convention promises to be the beginning of a new epoch in the history of education in the province.

The following are some of the subjects to be considered: Consolidation, Township School Boards, the Adolescent Act, Medical and Dental Inspection, Equalizing the cost of High Schools over Urban and Rural Areas. An opportunity will be given to discuss any subject relative to the administration of schools in the province.

Delegates are being sent from every County and District in the province. The School Regulations give Boards power to defray the expenses of one or more delegates to this convention and School Boards all over the province are taking advantage of this to get in touch with modern education methods.

AN OIL STRIKE

The Chamberlain Coal & Oil Development Co., Ltd., (no personal liability) of Shelburne, announce that they have struck oil at Well No. 2, on the Stoddart farm in Melancthon township. We are informed that the Well is not a gusher, but there is a good, steady flow of oil. An encouraging sign too is the fact that gas pressure is increasing the deeper the drillers go. Experienced oil men regard the well as one of much promise.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

A number of lady friends gave Mrs. Clarke and Miss Hazel Clarke, formerly of Orangeville, a pleasant surprise at their home, 92 Strathcona Ave., Toronto, on Friday evening last. The surprise took the form of a Birthday Party. The visitors presented Mrs. Clarke with numerous gifts. A very pleasant evening was spent in music, guessing contests, games and other amusements. A birthday cake illuminated with a number of candles occupied the centre of the table. Everyone present enjoyed the evening to the full and all united in wishing Mrs. Clarke and her daughter every happiness in their new home.

A SUCCESSFUL SALE

Excellent prices were realized by Mr. William Buchanan, lot 17, 2nd line, west, Mono, at his auction sale on Wednesday afternoon, March 9th. The sale attracted an unusually large crowd, many buyers being present from a considerable distance. Cows sold as high as $140 apiece, a lot of three months pigs averaged $16.-25 each and a brood sow sold for $78.00. Mr. Buchanan's power milking plant, probably the first of its kind installed in Dufferin, was purchased by Hilliard Bros., of Caledon, at a satisfactory figure. The sale realized well over $5,000. Auctioneer Geo. McAlister wielded the hammer in his usual satisfactory style.

The leases have been taken with a view to the organization of a coal, oil, gas and mineral development company, which will be owned and controlled by men in Orangeville and in the vicinity of Orangeville. The enterprise, we are informed, will be entirely separate and distinct from and will have no connection whatever with the Chamberlain Coal and Oil Development Co., Limited, of Shelburne.

CROSSED THE DIVIDE

Former Ontario Resident Passes Away in Saskatchewan.

Kinistino lost one of its oldest and most respected residents in the passing of Mrs. George Ellis on Thursday last, February 24th.

Mrs. Ellis was born at Mount Millie near Dublin, Ireland, in the year 1836. She came to Canada when about 11 or 12 years of age and settled in Ontario. In 1855 she was married and for 27 years Mr. and Mrs. Ellis lived in Huron County, Ontario ,where their children were born.

They came to the Kinistino district in the fall of 1882 and settled on the farm now owned by Mr. Roblin Anderson. They worked the farm until their children left home to establish homes of their own, after which they kept the post office and a small store. The Post Office they called Weldon after a son they had lost by death. In the post office and store they were widely known and highly respected. As is well-known a railway through here was a thing unknown in those days and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis was a haven of hospitality to many travellers.

After giving up the post office they spent seven years in the U. S. A., returning to Kinistino and settling in the little home where they have spent many twilight years among us. For a considerable time Mrs. Ellis has been failing and some weeks ago she was taken to the Victoria Hospital, Prince Albert, from where the messenger of God called her to her richly merited rest on the morning of February 24th, 1921, in her sleep. She was brought back to Kinistino and interred in the Cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Many old neighbors and friends came to see the mortal remains laid to rest. A memorial service, which was well attended, was held in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening. The Rev. A. B. Morten officiated at both afternoon and evening services.

The deceased leaves a son and two daughters, who are well known among us in this district and two sons in B. C.—Kinistino, Sask., Representative.

The late Mrs. Ellis was a sister-in-law of the late Samuel Ellis, of Mono, and an aunt by marriage of Mr. James Ellis of that township.

BRIDGE WENT OUT

East Garafraxa Council is up against an expensive bridge problem. Last week the old wooden bridge on the 11th concession went out during the spring freshet and will have to be replaced by a new bridge. The bridge was the last of the old type wooden structures in the municipality. As it had a span of about 120 feet—and this is not considered wide enough—the construction of a modern steel bridge will be quite an expensive proposition.

JOHN H. RYAN

Former Orangeville Man Died in Montreal Last Week.

A pioneer in the fields of herbs as a medicine, and a man well-known from one end of the country to the other, died this morning at the General Hospital after a few days illness.

Professor John H. Ryan, herbalist, conducting his business at 450 Bleury street, took suddenly ill yesterday and had to be rushed to the General Hospital for immediate treatment. An operation was performed which disclosed the presence of cancer in the stomach and after much suffering the patient died this morning. The funeral will take place at Orangeville, Ontario, at the family residence where the body will be taken tomorrow morning. He was 70 years of age.

For years, the striking figure of Professor Ryan has been a familiar sight to Montrealers, many of whom regarded him as a most likeable character. He was the first man to bring in the Indians to this city during the Pioneer days of the Kickapoo Indian medicine tribe and with Mr. Charles Grimwood, took the Caughnawaga Indians to the tri-centenary at Quebec where they were a feature of the big celebration.

Some years ago while on a boat on Lake Ontario fire broke out and the medicine man used his oratorical powers with such effect that he was awarded a medal by the city council of Toronto for his part in the dangerous fire on the lake boat. It was declared by the passengers and crew, that Professor Ryan saved the lives of all aboard through his bravery in eloquent appeals to the excited passengers who heeded him and remained calm under the spell of his assuring words.

Many persons will remember the tall figure with flowing white hair and a cowboy hat, standing on a box addressing crowds while he sold them his Kickapoo medicine. Billy The Kid, was one of Professor Ryan's Indians who accompanied the white medicine man on his nightly rounds dispensing the cure for all ills.

He is survived by three brothers and two sisters.—Montreal Standard.

In addition to the medal mentioned deceased was presented with a similar medal by the Doty Ferry Company. The late Mr. Ryan is survived by his wife, a son, three brothers and two sisters. Joseph and James Ryan, of Orangeville, are two of the brothers. The funeral was held from St. Peter's (R.C.) Church to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Monday afternoon. Among the friends present from a distance were Mrs. Frank Noonan, of Guelph, Mr. Thos. Ryan, Toronto, and Dr. Frank McCarroll, of Espanola, Ont.

A PRESENTATION

Last Thursday evening the Junior Choir of the Methodist Church called on Mrs. E. H. Niebel and presented her with a Methodist hymn book, and also with a bouquet of daffodils and carnations. They asked her to accept the gifts as a small token of their appreciation of her work with them.

HOSPITAL NOTES

At the present time the hospital is very much overcrowded and those in charge of the institution are very much concerned over the probability of being obliged to deny suffering patients admittance.

The Executive of the I. O. D. E. met at the home of Miss G. Irvine on Saturday night last to appoint Councillors for the National and Provincial Chapters.

The hospital received a large drop-load of sawdust from Mr. Hogg, who brought it from Mr. Maxwell's place in Caledon.

Those desiring tickets for the trunk may procure them from Miss Barclay or Mrs. J. E. Smith and should do so at once as the raffle will be brought to a close very shortly.

The meeting of the I. O. D. E. held at Miss Hewat's had a most interesting program. Mrs. Grigor's address on "Forward Movement in Education" was a real treat, as was a violin duet by the Misses Hobbs. Mrs. Bentley, of Lethbridge, Alta., gave an interesting Talk on "Junior Church Organization and Work." Mrs. J. B. Adamson's report of the special meeting of the Educational Secretaries held in Toronto during January was also very instructive.

Mrs. Bentley, who was formerly Miss Josephine West of the Orangeville P. S. staff, gave an account of the wonderful constructive work done by the Children's Chapter, especially among children of foreign birth in our large towns and cities. Earnest attention is here given to the problems of Canadianization. Recently the Victoria League has launched an inter-correspondence scheme. By encouraging children in different parts of the British Empire to write to one another their knowledge of our empire will be increased and likewise a spirit of fraternal interest which is so strong a bond between British peoples everywhere. At the close of the meeting little Miss Dorothy McMillan, on behalf of the Lord Dufferin Chapter, presented our worthy Regent, Mrs. E. E. Irvine, and our valued Treasurer, Mrs. Dahl, each with a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas.

We thank the Blount Institute for its donation of $5.00 toward the linen. These gifts from Institutes or from individuals are so much appreciated, as the linen supply always needs replenishing.

—Mrs. John S. Spence, of Wellington, who has been quite ill for the last three weeks, is improving and her early recovery is now looked for.

On Friday evening of last week the Whittington Orchestra met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ritchie and presented Mrs. Ritchie (nee Gladys White), with a beautiful fumed oak rocker as a token of appreciation of her services as accompanist.

After a goodly number had gathered together Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie were asked to come forward while the leader of the orchestra, Mr. Morton Rintoul, read the following address and at the proper time Mr. Harold Cruikshank made the presentation. The address read: —

Mrs. John Ritchie.

Dear Friend,

We, the members of Whittington Orchestra, have met here tonight for the purpose of expressing our sincere good wishes to you and your husband for the future. May God's blessing rest upon your home, and may peace and prosperity attend you all through life.

You have always given of your talents cheerfully and freely whenever there was need and especially has your aid been appreciated by the orchestra and we hope that, since you are going to remain in the neighborhood, we may occasionally have a rehearsal for "Auld Lang Syne," and, now, in remembrance of the many enjoyable evenings we have spent together, we ask you to accept this chair as a small token of our esteem for you.

Hoping you will still let your light shine for the benefit of others and wishing you and Mr. Ritchie long life and happiness, we remain your friends.

Signed on behalf of the orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie each made a brief reply, thanking their friends for their kindness. The remainder of the evening was enjoyably spent by all.

RHEUMATIC PAINS HAVE DISAPPEARED

As a Result of Treating the Trouble Through the Blood.

The chief sympton of rheumatism is pain. The most successful treatment is the one that most quickly relieves and banishes the pain. Many rheumatic people suffer pains that could be avoided by building up the blood; when rheumatism is associated with thin blood it cannot be corrected until the blood is build up.

Mr. Ed. Hall, Main-a-Dieu, N. S., suffered from rheumatism for years, but was more fortunate than many victims of the disease for he found a remedy that so built up his entire system that he is now free from rheumatism. Mr. Hall says: "I was taken down with rheumatism, and at times was under the treatment of several of the best doctors in Cape Breton, but they held out no hope for my recovery from the trouble. I was confined to bed for three years and a helpless cripple from the trouble. I could not move, and had to be turned in sheets. My legs and fingers were drawn out of shape, and sores developed on my body as the result of my long confinement to bed. I was in this serious condition when a friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them. The first benefit I felt from the pills was an improved appetite, and then I began to feel stronger, and was finally able to get out of bed and go about on crutches. I continued taking the pills for months, slowly but surely getting new strength, and finally I was able to lay the crutches aside. I will always be lame. As the result of my long stay in bed my left leg has shortened somewhat, but otherwise I am feeling fine and able to do my work as Fishery Overseer. I may add that when the rheumatism came on I weighed 140 pounds, and when I began going about on crutches I only weighed 67 pounds, and now I am at normal weight. There are many here who know and can vouch for the truth of these statements."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BRAMPTON EXCITED

Orangeville Man Makes a Big Stir in Peel Capital.

John May, an Orangeville man, wandered into Brampton last Friday and finding the town a bit dull decided to stir things up by providing some diversion smacking of the Wild West variety of entertainment. What John did and what the citizens did to John is narrated in detail in the following despatch:—

Brampton, March 11.—Nearly 300 citizens of Brampton joined in a man-hunt this afternoon. After John May, of Orangeville, had rifled the till in the bar of the Queen's Hotel and backed out, brandishing a gun, he was followed by a huge crowd for nearly 500 yards before being finally seized and disarmed. Richard Robson, proprietor of the hotel, headed the procession.

Both the bandit and the hotel proprietor exchanged shots. It was an old-fashioned Southern duel, with half the population of the town looking on. Robson was the only citizen armed. The others picked up stones and hurled them at the retreating man.

It was shortly after noon when John May walked quietly into the bar of the Queen's Hotel. Two patrons were in the room, but the proprietor was absent for a minute. With an air of owning the world, May calmly walked up to the till, opened it and extracted the contents—some $20. He was sauntering out the door when the proprietor arrived and shouted to him to stop. In the same leisurely way the bandit drew a gun and moved out backwards. Richard Robson seized a revolver and followed.

Both men fired, but the shots were directed skyward.

Still backing up, the bandit turned on Queen street and retreated in the direction of the C.P.R. station. A crowd quickly collected, but no one was anxious to rush a man who was brandishing a revolver. Robson followed the bandit, and the crowd followed Robson. Opposite the Salvation Army Barracks there was another fusillade of shots.

Arriving at the C. P. R. station the pursued man turned along the tracks in the direction of the Grand Trunk station.

But now the ballast on the track provided missiles for the voluntary posse, some hundred strong. Stones were soon flying and the fugitive was several times struck.

At the Grand Trunk freight sheds, Freight Agent W. E. Holwell entered on the scene. He cornered May. The man offered no struggle, but quietly walked with Holwell into the smoking-room of the station. When Chief Constable Herkes and Sheriff Henderson attempted to arrest him he resisted. The Chief tackled his man, knocked the gun out of his hand, and then led him off to the county jail. Tucked up May's sleeve was found an iron "billy."

The man gave his name as John May, and his address as Orangeville. He is married and has four children. The police have been informed by Orangeville authorities that he had never been in trouble before and had always borne a good character.

ALTON

A very interesting meeting of the Epworth League was held on the evening of March 7th, when the question of Women's Franchise was discussed. Messrs. George Presley and John Lowe who spoke for the affirmative, advanced a number of arguments why women should not be allowed to exercise the franchise. Mrs. Morris and Miss Green, who spoke for the negative, contended strongly that women should have the right to vote. The Judges announced that the arguments were evenly balanced, but gave their reward to the negative, thereby deciding that in their opinion the ladies should have the right to vote.

Last Monday night's meeting was in charge of the Second Vice-President, Miss B. Lowe. The topic, Canada's Opportunity and Obligation, was thoroughly discussed. Afterwards Rev. Mr. Morris made a short address and Mr. Geo. Presley contributed a musical selection.

Next week the meeting will be in charge of the Third Vice-President, Miss Evelyn McConnell. The important part of the program will take the form of another debate, "Resolved that the Consolidated School would be more beneficial than the Rural School." The affirmative side will be taken by some of the Alton boys and the negative by the Caledon boys. A good meeting is expected so come along.

The annual Easter Thankoffering meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary and Young Women's Circle will be held in the Methodist church on Wednesday, March 23rd. Mrs. T. W. W. Lane, Hornings Mills, District Superintendent, will speak. The ladies have arranged other interesting numbers of music, readings and a costume sketch entitled "Where Shall I Hang My Sign?" Reports of the work for the year will be given. All are welcome.

PAINS SO BAD STAYED IN BED

Young Mrs. Beecroft Had Miserable Time Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Hamilton Spectator and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Compound to several friends."—Mrs. EMILY BEECROFT, 289 Victoria Ave. N., Hamilton, Ontario.

For forty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women, why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is made from native roots and herbs and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.

CALEDON.

On Tuesday evening, March 8th, the members of the Women's Missionary Society and Ladies' Aid of Knox Church, gathered at the Manse to bid farewell to Mrs. H. Stuckey on the eve of her departure for Toronto, where she will reside in future. A sumptuous supper was provided by the ladies, and enjoyed by all present, after which the evening was spent in games and social enjoyment. During the evening Mrs. Stuckey was presented with a silver pie plate with Pyrex glass lining, and an address, read by Mrs. Fred Stubbs, Mrs. W. R. Patterson making the presentation. The address read: To Mrs. Stuckey,

It is with feelings of sincere regret we contemplate your departure from our community. During the period of your residence here, you have endeared yourself to us all. You have shared in every movement for our mutual advancement and have ever held out a helping hand to a neighbor in trouble. By your faithful attendance and willing assistance you have enriched the life of our Church For this and other reasons, we cannot let you go to your new home without an expression of our sure friendship and earnest wishes for a future of much happiness for yourself and family. Be good enough to accept this little gift to remind you of your Caledon friends.

Signed on behalf of the W. M. S. and Ladies' Aid of Knox Church, Caledon, Mrs. J. Burkholder, Mrs. W. J. Warnock, Lina Rutledge, Mrs. W. B. Dodds.

In thanking the ladies for their kindness, Mrs. Stuckey expressed her sorrow at severing the ties, which bound her so closely to the different societies and work of the Church. Before dispersing all joined heartily in singing Auld Lang Syne.

—Oh, Boy! They're having it again to-morrow night, Friday, March 18, that popular Play, "The Country Schoolma'm," in the Opera House, Orangeville.

How Zam-Buk Saved My Leg!

"For years I could hardly walk," writes Mrs. Jeffrey, of 31, French St., Methuen, Mass: "I was treated by doctors for an ulceration which started in my ankle and extended to the knee. Though sceptical when I read of other legs being healed by Zam-Buk, I gave the balm a trial.

"Whilst Zam-Buk didn't put my leg right in a day or two, it did ease pain and inflammation wonderfully. Perseverance soon convinced me that, thanks to Zam-Buk, I was at last on the sure road to recovery, and in time the terrible sore thoroughly healed. For three years now, I've had no leg trouble."

In obstinate sores, old wounds and ulceration where destruction of the tissues has occurred, Zam-Buk displays extraordinary healing power.

Sufferers marvel at the way it soothes pain and inflammation, purifies diseased parts and stimulates the growth of new healthy tissue. Whereas ordinary ointments simply cover over surface trouble, Zam-Buk healing is permanent for it leaves no trace of disease to break out.

Zam-Buk proves equally effective in eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, piles, poisoned sores, abscesses, burns, scalds, etc. All chemists and dealers 50c.

RURAL CREDITS NEEDED

Members from rural constituencies need make no mistake about it—the people of this Province are determined to have a system of Rural Credits. Grit, Tory, Labor, United Farmer, or whatever he calls himself, can rest assured that rural public opinion is behind the request for this system.

A Rural Credits system of this kind is one of the crying needs of the age. Cheap money will not prove a panacea for all the economic ills from which the farmer suffers, but it will go a very long way toward improving his condition. Our banking system, as at present constituted, is not suitable for farmers. The Bank Act requires that loans shall be made for only three months. A loan of this duration is oftentimes of no value to a farmer, and even if he made such a loan he is by no means certain that he can have it renewed when it expires.

Agriculture is our great basic industry and if the agricultural community prospers, all lines of business and industry will show a corresponding increase in prosperity. Doubtless in time the scope of the Act will be enlarged so as to permit of Urban Credit Societies, whereby working men can club together and secure money for the erection or purchase of homes.

In the meantime, however, the city man will be at liberty to deposit his money in the Government Savings Centres in which he will secure 4 per cent instead of the 3 per cent which is now paid him by the banks. No measure has come before the Provincial Legislature in a score of years that is so fraught with possibilities for good as the Rural Credits System.—Farmers' Sun.

G. W. Hepton has disposed of his business property in Shelburne to W. H. Lindsey. Mr. Hepton will continue business in the premises until September next.

A New Old Ending

By KATE EDMONDS

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Beth tried to smile as she faced her father and mother in the farmhouse kitchen. Anson Black's letter saying that money was scarce and that he could not renew the mortgage note, was a bitter blow to the three. He would give them a month to find some one else to take the note off his hands—

"It sounds like the old story folks always laugh about—the mortgage on the farm—and the old villain who will foreclose," laughed Beth, but her voice was not very mirthful.

"It isn't so funny to have to live it through," said her mother quietly.

"And Anson Black ain't no villain—he's close-fisted, but he's a decent, God-fearin' man and he really needs the money. Guess we'll have to let it go, Emily—we could go to the village and live in Gene's cottage, and I could hire out—farm help is scarce enough!" Mr. Gray filled his pipe and settled back in his chair as if the whole matter was ended. His wife smiled at him in her encouraging way, and they both looked at young Beth.

"Not yet—father—wait one week—I think I'll find a way out! Just as you have such a fine vegetable garden coming along, and everything engaged for the season by Colonel Raymond—even your squashes and pumpkins sold ahead for the fall—there must be some way—next year you were going to have a garden twice as big—"

"You mustn't go to Anson and beg off," protested her father.

"No, indeed, father—I hadn't thought of such a thing. Just one week is all I ask," pleaded Beth, her blue eyes shining. "Now, I am going to drive Daisy and Buttercup down to the south lot—the poor things are wild to be out. Bye!" she blew a kiss to them and then skipped toward the barn. Out of sight of the house, she stamped her foot impatiently and switched her pink sunbonnet at a passing cat.

"The dickens! The dickens!" she muttered forlornly as she let the cows out of the stable and drove them down the back lane toward the south meadow. The lane belonged to her father, and led under shady trees to the hayfields and back lots.

Once, when the cows stopped to crop the grass, Beth plumped down on the grass and buried her face in her little sun-browned hands. The pink bonnet fell from her head, revealing the rich brown curls pinned into some semblance of order.

Beth Gray was praying—she always prayed for help in time of stress, and now, when the old roof-tree was threatened, she sobbed as she prayed.

Gentle Daisy regarded her with wonder and mild-eyed Buttercup looked at her curiously and then turned and nipped off the heads of her yellow namesakes, as much as to say, "Why worry? Nothing matters."

Presently the cows moved uneasily, for some one was coming along the leafy lane, a very much-tanned young man with a queer instrument over his shoulder. At sight of the lovely lane, with the cows and the pink-clad figure of woe, he leaned his camera against the fence and approached the girl. His eyes twinkled and his white teeth parted in an amazed laugh as he leaned over her.

"Tell me, pretty maiden," he asked, "why the rainstorm? Is the mortgage on the old farm due and—"

Beth jumped to her feet and faced him, her eyes blazing with wrath, her cheeks pink and still wet with tears.

"Yes—yes, indeed, it is!" she cried defiantly; "and it isn't a bit funny, either—n-not—a-a-at a-l-l fu-funny!"

"I am sorry," he said gently; "I was only in fun—I didn't know you were really grieving—I wish I didn't get that way so much!"

"Wh-what way?" quavered Beth, putting her handkerchief to her face and mopping up the dampness.

"Oh, taking things so carelessly—that's my way, I guess—I used to get awfully grumpy—old bad luck used to sit on my shoulder all day long—then I got to laughing at him and I laughed so much he stayed away for good." Now he laughed again, and Beth joined him and, with the sunshine back in her face and the joy of youth in her eyes, she was marvelous to behold.

"Have you had lots of bad luck?" she inquired, stroking Daisy's silken ear.

"Lost my parents when I was fourteen—at the same time was cheated out of my inheritance—'twasn't much, but it was something to start on—and so I had to begin without it—getting along fine, and along came the war—couldn't stay home with all that to be done over there—so after four years came home and went into the pictures—and say, it's great—I'm a camera man and some shark on locations!"

"What are locations?" asked Beth, and he explained; then Beth told him the story of their particular mortgage, and she called Anson Black a "darling old villain." "I was praying for help," she ended.

"And along I came in answer to the prayer," declared Dick Harper.

"You?"

"Yes'm. Our company's over yonder behind the grove of walnuts. I'm looking for a rustic setting—old farmhouse—cows—milkmaiden — chickens—pigs—anything to make a good set—accept him under the circumstances. She still had a week of vacation left, and she decided to spend it with Aunt Martha in Ohio.

Before leaving the hotel she penned a note and left it with the clerk.

"Dear Leonard," it said, "I am leaving, and will never see you again. I love you, but I have been a wretched deceiver and cannot bear to look you in the face."

Thirty-six hours later she leaped from the train and into Aunt Martha's arms. Aunt Martha escorted her to the relic that had once been an automobile, and they drove to the farm.

It was lonesome there, but Winnie made the best of it. She felt that she was atoning for her sin by shutting herself away from the world. She was pensive and moody, but she roamed the fields and woods and tried to forget the handsome rich man who had asked her to marry him.

One day Aunt Martha sent her on an errand.

"I've got to churn today, and Uncle Robert's busy in the field; so we can't get away. I wonder if you'd as soon drive the flivver to town and get that tire we left to be vulcanized? That left front one is about ready to blow out."

Winnie welcomed the opportunity, but she smiled bitterly as she recalled her conversation in the north relative to being bored by driving.

She found the garage without trouble, stopped the flivver in front and went into the office, making her wants known to the proprietor, who looked as though he had just taken a bath in grease.

"Oh, Mr. Hendricks' tire; sure, I think it's ready," he said, and stuck his head out the door to call:

"Oh, Len, get Mr. Hendricks' tire, and bring it out and put it on for the young lady."

Winnie walked back to the car and stood waiting. Presently a tall, athletic figure appeared, lugging the tire. His face was so black from mechanical dirt that he would have passed for an Egyptian night.

"Which wheel, miss?" he said, and then stopped and stared, allowing the tire to drop in the road.

Winnie, puzzled by his behavior, studied his countenance in an effort to penetrate the grease and make out what he looked like. Suddenly she recognized him, in spite of the grime.

"Leonard!" she exclaimed. "Is it possible? Why, I thought you—did you get my note?"

"I did," he affirmed, "and I had just written one like it, to leave for you. I got sick of that business up north and beat it home about the time you did, You see, I am another wretched deceiver. All the money I possess, is what I've saved from my wages here, and it isn't much, and the cars I repair are the only ones I have anything to do with. I went resorting just to catch a rich girl and I—well, I really wished and wished you were poor like myself, as I could—"

"Well," said Winnie, joyfully, "your wish came true, the same as mine did, so now there's nothing to prevent—"

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood and the child suffering from it cannot thrive. To keep the children well the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative; are absolutely safe and never fail to relieve constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fever. Concerning them Mrs. Jules Fauquereau, Nominingue, Que., writes: — "My baby was terribly constipated and suffered day and night. I was advised to give him Baby's Own Tablets and from the first they helped him and now at the age of thirteen months he is a big healthy happy boy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ELECTING A PRESIDENT

Scenes at the Democratic Convention in San Francisco Last July.

The ... miracle is from the pen of ... Ransfield, B. A., ... who is now ... State Institute, ... California last ... an eye-witness of ... the Democratic ...

... Warren G. Harding, of ..., was inaugurated President of the United States ... which he was elected ... January by a large ... electoral college over James M. Cox, Democrat. To many people not ... ar with the American Constitution, the opinion prevails that the election was held in November. This is not strictly true. The Constitution makes no provision for November elections, but merely states time at convenient times each state shall choose electors for the electoral ... At the present time this is always done at the November ... election.

The American people are unfamiliar with the system of responsible government ... and do not follow our system of choosing their Chief Executive. All English and Canadian Premiers ... serve long apprenticeships as legislators and administrators and stand in line for years waiting their turn for the highest position.

With the exception of Grant and Wilson no president of the last century was widely known before his nomination for election. Clay, Calhoun, Webster, Seward, Adams, Blaine, Bryan were all rejected for less prominent men.

The candidates at the last election were no exception to the rule. One year ago Harding and Cox were scarcely known beyond the boundaries of Ohio. In a great straw vote taken by the Literary Digest, neither of these men received two per cent. of the votes cast, while General Wood, Senator Johnston and Herbert Hoover each received more than 25,000 votes; Lowden, of Illinois, Wilson, McAdoo, Bryan and Edwards each received more votes than the nominated candidates.

Harding Was Dark Horse

Harding received but very few votes on the first seven roll calls of delegates at the Chicago convention. As a dark horse he had remained in the background and had alienated the support of no one. On Saturday, June 12, the heat in Chicago was most oppressive; the delegates were anxious to return home for the week-end, and on the ninth ballot stampeded for Harding and proceeded to nominate a running mate for Vice-President.

The Democratic Convention was held in San Francisco, June 28th, to July 6th. The weather was ideal, the delegates were enamored of the Golden State and were in no special rush to finish their business.

On July 1st, while Canadians were celebrating the fifty-third birthday of their country, the Democrats of the United States were listening to grand iloquent nominating speeches delivered by eloquent spellbinders. Of the most prominent Democrats who stood in the first line for nomination, at least six had passed through divorce courts. This was considered a "blot on the 'scutcheon" of each, yet the nominee was one of those six.

Although the roll had been called more than twenty times, no choice was made by midnight of July 3rd.

The session of July 5th was opened with prayer by Dr. Jas. L. Gordon. A delegate then moved that the secretary read the Declaration of Independence. The motion was carried. The declaration was read while the 1094 delegates and 13,000 spectators stood in silence. Only moderate applause followed.

The roll call of states then continued with slight changes in the relative strength of the leading candidates, Palmer, McAdoo and Cox. By nine o'clock in the evening the feeling was intense, the great Civic Auditorium was crowded to the doors by excited delegates and spectators, while the secretary called the roll call for the thirty-seventh time. Cox and McAdoo each received about four hundred votes. Palmer received more than two hundred. After the secretary announced the result Palmer's manager announced the release of all Palmer delegates. The excitement was at fever heat as the secretary called the roll for the thirty-eighth time, and the several Palmer states swung to Cox or McAdoo. Pennsylvania had been casting 73 votes for Palmer and when that state was called the silence of the grave reigned until the chairman shouted, "Seventy-three votes for Palmer."

A Wild Scene

No decision was reached by midnight. The McAdoo forces moved for adjournment. This was defeated. Voting continued, but as the landslide started pandemonium broke loose. Aged assemblymen, congressmen, judges, governors, senators forgot all decorum. They screamed, shouted, howled, roared till they were hoarse! It was a dozen hackey, baseball, rugby games held in one building! The McAdoo forces pleaded, implored, entreated, besought Texas and other McAdoo states to hold tha line! "Texas hold that line!" ... forty-fourth roll-call was never f...hed. Cox was declared the unanimous choice. The demonstration began. An Ohio delegate led the procession, carrying a large portrait of the candidate; next came the Cox banner, and then a poor, frightened rooster perched on a stick carried by a Cox supporter. Behind filed the Cox band, playing familiar Ohio tunes. They filed about the auditorium and then placed their banners on the platform around the Cox picture. One after another of the state delegations scrambled to the front to put their banners beside the one from Ohio. A few McAdoo states hesitated, but finally all of the forty-eight states, Atlanta, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Canal one and Guam placed their ensigns on the rostrum.

The noise subsided, the band retired, the band wagon started about town serenading the headquarters of the various delegations.

The nomination of candidates for Vice-President was very quiet. Names were placed before the convention, but all withdrawn before roll call, leaving only the name of Franklin O. Roosevelt.

James Cox and Roosevelt, typical Americans, conducted their campaign by travelling thousands of miles and delivering hundreds of speeches.

Harding and Coolidge were more dignified in their behaviour. They did little travelling and speech-making, but conducted the "front porch campaign." It must also be admitted the Republicans frankly told the truth. They stated in their campaign literature that "the Democrats had so mismanaged the war that had it not been for the timely aid rendered by the associate powers the American soldiers might have met with defeat or disaster."

The defeat of the Democrats in November was so complete that a Republican remarked to Harding, "It is not an election but a census."

The election was supposed to be a solemn referendum on the Covenant of the League of Nations. As a matter of fact, it was merely Democrats versus Republicans. The parties voted on "The League of Nations" exactly as they did on the slavery question sixty years before.

Americans are pleased with their form of government, but in Canada also "the government in power is the people's choice."

MRS. HENRY BEATTY

Last Saturday the remains of the late Mrs. Henry Beatty were interred in the Union cemetery, the funeral taking place on arrival of the morning C. P. R. train from Toronto. Mrs. Beatty had been ill for some time, arterial hardening being the cause of her death which took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Hannah, 129 Evelyn Ave., Toronto, where Mrs. Beatty had been for some time. Born in Caledon East 74 years ago, Mrs. Beatty, whose maiden name was Sarah Jane Carter, was of U. E. Loyalist stock. Half a century ago she married the late Henry Beatty, who predeceased her by two years and for a number of years lived in South Adjala. All her life was spent in this district and when she and her husband retired from the farm they came to Alliston. Mrs. Beatty was a woman of quiet disposition, pious, industrious and extremely fond of home ties and family. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Hannah, two sons, M. G. Beatty, late of Alliston, and H. C. Beatty of Chicago. Two brothers, John Carter of Toledo and Geo. Carter of Battleford, also survive.—Alliston Herald.

"I wish I was in a nice, snug, comfortable, warm bar," growled the other.

"That's just like you, Jim," said the first one, "always wanting the best of everthingg."

Imported "Booze"

Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquor into the province be prohibited?

WHILE importation of intoxicating liquors into "dry" provinces was forbidden by war-time Order-in-Council, Ontario's jails were half empty.

Since that order was rescinded, imported "Booze" has been filling them up again.

Jail Commitments

—Before and after the Federal war-time Order-in-Council prohibiting importation of liquor into Ontario was rescinded:

Commitments for Drunkenness.	Commitments for All Crimes.
1919 3,415	1919 13,096
1920 4,511	1920 14,756
Net increase, 1,096.	Net increase, 1,660.

Imported "Booze" is demoralizing social conditions, breeding a disregard of law, endangering the home and menacing the youth of this province. Imported "Booze" defeating the expressed will of the people.

IN MEMORIAM.

SPEERS—In loving memory of Norman F. Speers, who died at his home March 24th, 1920, from influenza-pneumonia.

We stood beside his bed of death,
Bowed down were we with sorrow;
'Twas hard for us to bid farewell,
To one for whom such love we bore.

One year has gone, our hearts still sore,
As time goes on we miss him more;
His loving smile, his cheerful face,
No one can fill that vacant place.

Dear mother wipe away those tears,
He is only gone before;
It will not be long till you will meet him,
On that heavenly shore.

But still you miss your dear, dear son,
You see his empty chair;
We sadly miss him in our home,
We miss him everywhere.

We ride no more, no more together,
As ofttimes before;
Years roll on and we shall meet again
On that happy Easter Morn.

Friends may think we oft forget him,
When at times they see us smile;
But they little know the sorrow,
Which that smile hides all the while.

But peaceful be thy rest, dear Norman,
'Tis sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you very dear,
In death we do the same.

God knows how much we miss you,
He counts the tears we shed;
And whispers "Hush, he only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead."

Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Sisters and Brothers.

IN MEMORIAM.

SPEERS—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, John Armstrong Speers, who died in Watrous, Sask., March 17th, 1919.

The month of March again is here,
To us the saddest of the year;
For our family circle's broken,
But our hearts are bound on high,
Our dear Jack is not forgotten
In that home beyond the sky.

You heard a voice we couldn't hear,
It bade you come to rest;
You left us all who loved you dear
To lean on Jesus' breast;
And wait the time when by His grace
Our sweet reunion shall take place.

A beauteous Home we could not see,
Was to your gaze revealed;
The marvels of eternity
No longer were concealed.
Though yet we mourn thee, still we know,
God, in His wisdom, planned it so.

And though it seems but yesterday,
You calmly "fell asleep,"
Two lonely years have passed away,
And we your memory keep;
But know that soon God's saving love
Shall call us to that Home above.

Sadly missed by Parents, Sisters and Brothers.

MELANCTHON STATION

At present writing there is little or no snow in this locality and wagons and autos are running on the roads.

We understand some have already tapped their maple trees and the "run" is good, but pshaw! the industry is merely nominal when we think of the six weeks' "sugar making" season we experienced in the good old days when log taverns at every mile stretch did such a flourishing business along the Gravel Road. At that time it was usual for a farmer to make 30 or 40 gallons of molasses and 200 cwt. of sugar.

We regret to report the illness of our esteemed neighbor and representative in the Ontario Legislature, Mr. T. K. Slack, M. L. A., who has been confined to his room for the past couple of weeks suffering from a threatened attack of appendigitis. We are pleased to know Mr. Slack is recovering under the treatment of Dr. McWilliams, of Dundalk.

Several changes in real estate have taken place in our midst recently. Mr. William Barrett has purchased the 50 acres, lot 294, N. E. T. S. Road, known as the "Barrett homestead," where Billy himself was born and raised. This 50 acres and the adjoining one, No. 295, were taken up as Crown lands by the late Andrew Darraugh, grandfather of the present purchaser, about 70 years ago. The Darraugh family lived on lot 295, which was later purchased by the West family, and the late John Barrett, father of William, later purchased lot 294 from the Darraugh family, and with the valuable assistance of Mrs. Barrett (nee Miss Darraugh), cleared the then solid woods, which for many years since has been one of the best 50 acre farms in the county. The present price is $3800, and Billy, who is merely going home again, moved down from the S. Sawden estate north of the village, about three weeks ago. Billy says he is glad to be back again beside the Orange Hall and the dear old Gravel Road Church.

Another of the early pioneers of Melancthon passed away last week in the person of Mrs. Slack, widow of the late James Slack, who died at the home of her son, William Slack, in Toronto, in her 81st year. Deceased came from Belfast, Ireland, and with her late husband, settled on the corner farm about a mile east of the village some 60 years ago, where they raised a large family. The late James Slack was a very prominent man in the community, having served as councillor in the township for ten years in succession, from 1863 to 1872, and in 1874, when Melancthon was first entitled to have a Deputy-Reeve, Mr. Slack was elected as its first Deputy-Reeve when the County Council was held at Owen Sound. The late Mrs. Slack leaves four sons and one daughter, Mrs. John Hicks, of Amaranth. The sons are Thomas, at Matheson, New Ontario, William, in Toronto, and James and Jacob at Edgar, Ont. T. K. Slack, M. L. A. for Dufferin, is a nephew. The funeral was held at the Gravel Road Cemetery last Friday, Rev. J. B. Backus, pastor of Shelburne Congregational Church, conducting the service.

The Hillsburg Rifle Club shoot on Saturday, March 12th, resulted as follows:—

O. H. S. EX-PUPILS ASSOCIATION

A year ago last December a reunion of Orangeville ex-High School pupils, now living in Toronto, was held. The enthusiasm shown warranted a repetition, and a similar reunion, on a slightly larger scale, was held this year on February 7th.

Lack of definite organization made it impossible to get into touch with all the ex-pupils who are in the city, and at the last reunion, to remedy this and to keep up old associations, Capt. Adams suggested that a permanent organization be formed. A temporary committee was appointed that night, and later, a meeting was held at the home of Capt. Adams and the following officers elected:—

Hon. Pres.—Capt. J. H. Adams.
Pres.—Herb Rowan, '11.
Vice-Pres.—Dr. Wendell Holmes, '10.
Sec.-Treas.—Muriel Laverty, '14.
Committee—Don Macpherson, '10, Jennie Richardson, '10, Bob Pratt, '15, Alan Preston, '16.

A fee of 25 cents was decided upon for secretarial expenses. To show your willingness to support this organization you are requested to send your fee to the Sec.-Treasurer at 1226 Lansdowne Ave., as soon as possible or hand it to any of the committee with whom you are in touch.

In order that a complete list be had please give your address and 'phone number.

A picnic was suggested for June, and in the fall arrangements will be made for further activities.

LACROSSE NEWS

Juveniles Organize.

On Thursday evening of last week, in the Library Auditorium, the Juvenile Dufferin Lacrosse Team organized for the season of 1921. There was a good attendance of the boys of the town and from the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting the juveniles are out for a good season. The following officers were elected:

President—Frank Crowe.
Sec.-Treas.—Wilson McConnell.
Coach—Bert Booth.
Field Captains—Ralph Rohmer and Elmer McKim.
Executive Committee—Elmer McKim, Earl McGrath, Neil Crowe and Norris Hughes.

There is material for a real good team of juveniles in town and you know that without a juvenile team we'll never get a senior team. So get behind the boys and encourage them and keep Orangeville the leading lacrosse centre of Ontario.

Miss Alberta Kearns and Miss Marguerite Arnott played a piano duet.

Next Monday evening the Literary and Social Committees will be in charge. Come one, come all, and have a good time.

THERE is much more than mere routine to the elaborate system of inspection which guards the supreme quality of the Gray-Dort car.

Built into every car is the pride of an organization over sixty years experienced in the production of satisfactory transportation.

—each skilled craftsman looks upon the Gray-Dort as his personal product, by which he will be judged in the eyes of the world.

The result is a carefulness—a precision—of construction which is matched only by the fineness of the materials with which our men work.

The final result is freedom from ordinary motor car troubles and the long life which comes only with perfect harmony in every working part.

Compared with other cars, the Gray-Dort is worth much more than its fair made-in-Canada price.

The difficulty in securing a Gray-Dort will increase as the season advances. See the Gray-Dort dealer now.

LOWE RENOMINATED

PEEL LIBERALS SELECT STANDARD BEARER FOR FEDERAL HOUSE.

Mr. F. F. Pardee Tells Convention That Liberals and Farmers Are Travelling Same Road.

At a largely attended Convention in Brampton on Saturday afternoon the Liberals of the County of Peel unanimously selected William J. Lowe, of Snelgrove, as their standard-bearer for the House of Commons. Delegates were present from every part of the riding, a considerable number being ladies, and the hall, which seats some 300, was so crowded that many had to stand throughout the entire proceedings. Mr. James A. Martin, President of the Association, occupied the chair, and among the speakers were two ladies, Mrs. (Dr.) Hall and Mrs. William Dorrington, both of whom contributed sparkling and spirited short addresses.

Mr. Fred F. Pardee, M.P., who arrived from Ottawa on the afternoon train, roused the convention to a high pitch of enthusiasm. He described conditions at the Capital, the inability to "reorganize" the Cabinet because of the fear of by-elections and the consequent decision to "reorganize" the party by adopting a new party name. (Laughter.) "We object," he said, "to the inclusion of the word 'Liberal' in the new name, because it does not belong. But if they desire to perpetuate the old union between Nationalist and Conservative, that, of course, is their own affair." ("Hear, hear.")

Amid renewed laughter Mr. Pardee epitomized the policy of the Meighen Ministry as "Hang on, and, in the meantime, something may turn up."

"The Government knows right well," he proceeded, "that it has lost the confidence of the country. It knows it has lost the confidence of the public it is supposed to represent. It knows it has lost the confidence of the people who put it there three years ago for a specific purpose. But it retains confidence in itself and in the House of Commons—by a majority of 25 —(laughter) —and it likes the sweets of office more than it respects political morality, political manliness, dignity or courage."

There was only one place, Mr. Pardee pointed out, in which the Meighen Government could look for support. It could not look to the soldiers. It could not look to the farmers. It could not look to the workers. It could not look to the plain people of Canada in any line of activity or endeavor. It must look to the specially privileged and highly protected big interests. For this reason it was endeavoring to raise again the issue of high protection. For this reason it was talking tariffs.

"Don't think I am preaching free trade," proceeded Mr. Pardee. "We cannot have free trade in Canada. But I am opposed—and true Liberalism is opposed—to tariffs high as Haman's gallows, tariffs designed to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. We want to make this fine country of ours progressive and prosperous. We want to make it happy for the homes of the many, not luxurious for the favored few."

Alluding to references by local speakers to the probability of a three-cornered contest by reason of a Farmer candidate being in the field, Mr. Pardee took issue with those who were critically inclined. "I have no fault to find with the U. F. O.," he said. "We have no just quarrel with them. This is a free country—or ought to be. Free speech and free constitutional action are tenets of Liberalism. Any representative body of Canadian men and women have the right to seek direct expression and direct representation in Parliament. They have as much right to do that as you or I have.

"But there is one thing I do think—and I am not saying it to curry favor in any way with our friends the Farmers—that it is a pity, to say the least, that there is so little evidence of willingness to work together in harness with another progressive travelling in the same direction and having, to so large an extent, similar purposes. That is the part which I can't get. But then it is none of my business." (Laughter and cheers.)

Eight names were placed in nomination for the candidature, Messrs. W.J. Lowe, Ben Petch, Archie Wray, A. H. Milner, Norman Cameron, and Joseph Lawson, and Mesdames (Dr.) Hall and William Dorrington. All withdrew in favor of Mr. Lowe.

Officers of the Peel Liberal Association were elected for the ensuing year as follows, President James A. Martin; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. (Dr.) Hall and Fraser Smith; Second Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Harry Caven and William Shook; Secretary, Dr. J. L. Mackie; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. A. E. Laidlaw; Treasurer, W. J. Bowsfield; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Dolson.

WHY THE PRINTER LOST A GOOD JOB

Out in Missouri a farmer gave a printing office an order for sale bills. The job was promised for June 30th. The date being just before the prolonged drought started, the printer decided to take a few parting drinks. He took several. Then he happened to remember the bills that were promised for delivery that day and staggered to the office to get out the job. The farmer called for them, took them home and the next day started to put them up. This is what he read when he came down to the list of articles for sale:

"25 cows broke to work; 11 head of cultivators coming soon; 10 head of shovelling boars with scoops by side; 8 piano mares; 120 rods of canvas belting better than new; DeLaval cow with ice cream attachment; McCormick binder in foal; Poland China bobsled, due to farrow in April; 14 head of chickens with grass seed attachments in good working order; 2 J. I. Case heifers good as new; spraying outfit, can be ridden by children; 14 billy goats, 70 bushels capacity, with spraying nozzle and other attachments; many other articles too numerous to mention, which I expect to get at night between now and sale.

MILLIONS KILLED IN ACTION

Wonderful news! Millions and millions of germs killed in action and thousands and thousands of victims relieved of bronchitis, asthma, coughs, and colds. There is great rejoicing in the fact that science has at last invented the world's surest death trap for germs—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. With the first dose this remedy gets right down to business, and never ceases in its destructive work until every trace of the disease is completely removed and the victim restored to normal health. Letters from all parts of Canada praising this wonderful mixture are literally pouring into headquarters. Read this letter:—"Years of suffering from that terrible affliction, bronchial asthma, ordered by all medical men to close my business in Montreal and go south to a warmer climate, but I noticed your ad. in the "Montreal Standard" for the above mixture and I said I would give one more trial to health before I leave my native town, and thank the good maker I did. My bronchial tubes are clear, the hacking cough has disappeared, the wheezing cough has ceased as if by magic, and all discomforts have gone since taking your wonderful mixture."—Herbert Corri, 417 McKay Street, Montreal. There is no reason whatever why you cannot be completely and speedily restored to health if you take this remedy. You are satisfied or the money is refunded, according to our guarantee. Don't delay. George Gardiner, of Mt. Forest, has geranium leaves measuring 10¼ and 10½ inches across.

Mr. Andrew McKenzie, of the townline, Minto and Howick, had quite an experience. He had put a fair-sized parcel of suphur into a stove at home. The sulphur, after ignition, caused a dangerous fume, and Mr. McKenzie drew the burning package out of the stove. The burning sulphur fell on the floor and Mr. McKenzie in picking it up was suffocated. He was in a serious condition some hours before reviving.

Our exports of pulp and paper continue to increase. January's exports were $9,633,000, as compared with $9,151,000 for January of last year. An unsavory case was tried in Flesherton behind closed doors. Two men named McBeth and Cox were charged with a serious offense by a 14 year old girl named Kenold. H. W. BORING, a well-to-do Kansas farmer, says he has gained twenty pounds and is in better general health than he has been in years, since taking Tanlac

"Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty pounds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straight-forward statement made a few days ago by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kansas.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I knew of to get relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor and my digestion was so bad I could hardly retain my food. Nothing seemed to agree with me; in fact, I was almost a confirmed dyspeptic. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. I would have pains across the small of my back so bad at times I could hardly move around.

"My nerves were all unstrung and I would become upset at the least little thing. I seldom slept well at night and finally became so weak and run-down that I lost weight rapidly. I was also troubled a great deal with catarrh and of mornings had to spend a half hour or more clearing up my head.

"This is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it certainly has been a blessing to me. It just seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat I never suffer any bad after-effects.

"The pains across my back have entirely disappeared. The catarrh has left me, too, and my head is perfectly clear. I am no longer nervous and rest well at night. I have regained my lost weight and am feeling better and stronger than I have in years. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house so it will be handy at all times."

Tanlac is sold in Orangeville by C. V. Jeffers,, in Grand Valley by G. E. Morrow and W. T. Edmanson, in Shelburne by J. E. A. White, and in Caledon by McFetridge & Wittich.

THE OLD LADY OF THREADNEEDLE STREET

The recent failure of a semi-private bank in Great Britain calls fresh attention to the importance and strength of the major portion of Britain's banking institutions.

The Mother Country possesses some very powerful and very famous banks but probably none of them compare with the Bank of England, known as the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street." The Bank of England is almost part and parcel of Britain's political and economic development. It was established away back in 1691 by William Patterson, a Scotchman, who probably obtained his ideas on banking from the Lombards, those Italian tradesmen, who made such an impression on the economic history of Europe during the 16th and 17th centuries.

Five years after the bank was established, a crisis occurred and a "run" took place but the bank survived. In the first century the charter was renewed at frequent intervals and on every occasion the Government took the opportunity of forcing it to loan them money at a cheap rate.

It is somewhat significant that when the first bank notes were issued by the Bank of England many forgeries occurred but forgery was made a capital offence and many executions took place. The Bank of England has gone far from those early days of two hundred and thirty years ago. To-day it is more than ever a part of the wonderful economic strength of Great Britain.

The secret of Ford Car economy is the Ford engine, simple and powerful, using a minimum of gas and oil for a maximum of mileage.

For Car sturdiness of construction throughout gives it the endurance which assures economy of maintenance as well as of operation.

Repairs and parts for Ford Cars, supplied by 3,000 Ford Dealers and service stations in Canada, at prices fixed by the Ford Motor Company, reduce to a minimum the cost of keeping a Ford Car constantly at maximum efficiency.

THE TOWN COUNCIL

At Monday night's meeting the Town Council put through a by-law to provide for a grant of $15,000 to Lord Dufferin Hospital for the purpose of assisting to defray the cost of the proposed addition to the Hospital. The by-law will have to be submitted to and approved by the property owners of the municipality before it receives its final reading. The voting will take place on April 16th. The full text of the by-law will be found elsewhere in this issue. It is proposed to raise the money, should the by-law receive the sanction of the ratepayers, by the issue of debentures extending over a term of fifteen years. The annual repayments would amount to $1544.-44. As the assessment of the town stands at $1,170,436.00, this means that the grant would mean an addition of about 1 and 2-5 mills to the yearly tax rate, or a tax of about $1.40 on every $1,000 of assessment.

With the coming of spring open drains about town are beginning to assert their presence in a manner decidedly unpleasant to the nostrils of our citizens. Result, a number of complaints about stenches that are not supposed to exist in well-regulated municipalities. W. T. Leader was the spokesman for a number of petitioners, who are not pleased with the way the drain at the corner of Second St. and Second Ave. has been conducting itself. Mr. Leader did not mince words when presenting the grievance of the petitioners. Council considers a sewerage system the only adequate remedy and spent some time considering a contour map of the town prepared by Messrs. Wheelock & Christie. The map outlined plans for a system of sewers in a general way. Later in the evening a motion was passed instructing the clerk to notify the engineers that the council desires plans, specifications, prices, etc., for a sewerage system and would like these submitted as early as possible.

W. C. Hopkins was appointed to the Public Library Board in the place of H. F. Tuck, who has resigned. Mr. G. F. Stewart was given the appointment of weighmaster at the C. P. R. Station stock scale.

EXPERIENCING CASING TROUBLE

The Chamberlain Coal and Oil Development Company, of Shelburne, is just now experiencing the truth of the familiar saying that "the bitter comes with the sweet." Following last week's announcement of an oil strike at Well No. 2 on the Stoddart farm in Melancthon comes the news that the drillers are experiencing water trouble or more properly casing trouble. As a result Mr. Gregory, the Company's oil expert, has been obliged to go to Petrolia for special machinery to overcome the latest obstacle to progress. Work is practically suspended during his absence, but upon his return operations will be resumed with increased energy. The drillers are now 450 feet below the surface in Well No. 2 and expect to be down 550 feet inside of a week.

—Mrs. Henry Speers, of Caledon, was operated on for appendicitis in Lord Dufferin Hospital on Tuesday. We are pleased to learn that the operation was successful and that an early recovery is anticipated.

GLAD HE TRIED THE TONIC TREATMENT

Through Its Use Strength and Vigor Was Restored.

To be tired after exertion is natural. Rest and food restore the body to normal after such fatigue. But to be tired all the time is a symptom of an anaemic condition that will not be corrected until the blood is built up.

Such an anaemic condition is so gradual in its approach and generally so lacking in acute pains that it is often difficult to persuade the sufferer to do anything for it. But it is not a condition that corrects itself. If the blood is not enriched the trouble will increase. The nerves will be undernourished and neuralgic pains will follow. Digestive disturbances often result from thin blood, sleep is disturbed and a general breakdown may occur.

Mr. Wilson Johnston, Nineveh, N. S., says: "A few years ago my system was in a badly run-down condition. My nerves seemed always on edge, and I found myself so weak that I could hardly do any work. I suffered from headaches and from pains in the back and under the shoulders, and was often so sleepless at night that when morning came I felt as tired as when I went to bed. I was taking medicine all the time, but it was doing me no good. Then I read the tesimonial of a man whose condition had been similar to mine, and who strongly recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to give this medicine a fair trial, and when I had taken six boxes I felt much better. I continued taking the pills until I had taken six more boxes, and I can only say I am glad I did so, as I am now enjoying the best of health, and I advise all men who feel run down to give these pills a good trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ENTERTAIN DUFFERINS

Ex-Orangevillians in Calgary Plan to Honour Champions.

Former residents of Orangeville, Ont., who are living in Calgary and district, are planning for an entertainment of the champion Orangeville lacrosse team when it passes through the city this spring on its way to Victoria to play for the Mann Cup.

The movement has been set on foot by F. J. Marshall, of the Marshall-Bevens Hardware Company, who was mayor of Orangeville nearly twenty years ago, when the Dufferins first won the amateur championship of Canada. There are a considerable number of Orangeville old boys in Calgary, Medicine Hat and other Alberta points, who will be asked to join the movement.—Calgary Herald.

The following letter is also an evidence of the widespread interest that the proposed trip to the Coast is creating:—

Vancouver, B. C., Mar. 10, 1921.
Mr. Bert Booth,
Orangeville, Ont.
Dear Bert,-

You will be a little surprised at getting this letter, but I understand your lacrosse team is contemplating coming out to Victoria this spring, so thought I would drop you a line. You will remember the writer, who formerly played with Shelburne and often against yourself and as we often say in the good old days that we can never forget. I played a great deal out here, but found I was getting old and stiff so had to cut it out. Now, if I can be of any use to your team as referee, timer or water carrier you can count on me. Be sure to look me up when you hit Vancouver.

Yours respectfully,
WEB. K. NOBLE.

STARTED EXCAVATING

On Monday Mr. Orrie Johnston, of Caledon, who has the contract for the excavating, started work to prepare the foundation for the new addition to the Dods Knitting Co's Mill. Work will be rushed as speedily as possible and the Company plans to have the addition completed and ready for use shortly after midsummer. The addition will be a three storey and basement brick building 75 by 80 feet in size and will be constructed in the same substantial manner as the remainder of the factory. It will be situated directly west of the addition built a couple of years ago and will be used for manufacturing when completed. We understand that the Company is planning to double its present production and expects to employ close to 200 hands when the new addition is completed and in running order. This rapidly growing industry is certainly doing its share to place Orangeville on the map as an industrial centre.

WELL DONE, ORANGEVILLE

Orangeville Public School pupils are competing in a Dominion wide miniature rifle shooting competition. Four shoots are being held, one each in the months of January, February, March and April. The results of the first two competitions have been announced and the Orangeville school stands third in the list for the whole Dominion. First place was won by a team representing the Toronto Normal School and second by the Edmonton Public School. The showing is highly creditable to the Orangeville School and speaks well for the training that Principal Firth has given his pupils in marksmanship. We congratulate Capt. Firth and the School on the excellent showing.

BOUGHT THEATRE PROPERTY

Mr. C. L. Pownall, the hustling proprietor of the Gem Theatre, has purchased the Theatre block from the estate of Dr. T. G. Phillips, of Toronto. The block is a substantial three storey brick building. We understand that Mr. Pownall intends to build an addition of 70 feet at the rear of the block, thereby enabling him to double the seating capacity of the theatre.

PLAY A SUCCESS

The Play, "The Country School Ma'm," presented in the Opera House on Thursday night proved so successful that a second performance was given on Friday night in response to the popular demand for tickets. On both occasions, the actors, who were local amateurs drawn largely from the congregation of St. Andrew's Church, were greeted with crowded houses and their efforts were received with every evidence of the heartiest appreciation. The parts were all admirably taken and it would seem invidious to select any of the actors for special praise. Special mention should, however, be made of Mrs. (Dr.) G. H. Campbell, who took a leading part in staging the production and also took the role of the Schoolma'm in a most satisfying manner. Dr. Campbell and Miss Leila Hamilton were also excellent in the leading parts of Pa and Ma Sneckleby. Capt. W. J. Adams gave a really clever presentation of the Minister and Miss Audrey McLean more than made good as Maria Jane Sneckleby. The other characters, James Hughson (Mr. A. C. Hannahson), Gideon Longface (Harry Guest), Beersheba Buck (Mrs. E. H. Sproule), Mary Brown (Miss Mary Hughes), Ikey Sneckleby (Norris Hughes), Maybelle Primrose (Miss Mildred Forbes) Mrs. Crisp (Miss Jessie Campbell), and Tommy Crisp (Master George Campbell) were all well sustained, each contributing his or her share to the success of the performance. Dr. Campbell contributed a well rendered reading, "The Birth of St. Patrick." The musical features were solos by Master Morley McLean, Miss M. Forbes and Miss Bessie Lewis, a duet by Miss McLean and Mr. Hannahson, a quartette by Misses Hughes, Lewis, Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, a dance by Miss L. Betheley and an exquisitely rendered violin solo by Miss Clara Hulse. Falconer's orchestra provided excellent music before the Play and between acts. The Play was given under the auspices of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid, which will net a tidy sum from the venture, the proceeds being in the neighborhood of $250 for the two nights.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

Last Monday evening the Epworth League meeting was under the joint auspices of the Literary and Social Committees. The meeting took the form of an Irish Social and the room was beautifully decorated with the chosen colors of the Emerald Isle. Green and white were the prevalent colors and the decorations represented much work on the part of those responsible for the success of the evening. The program included a piano duet by Miss Helen Irvine and Miss Alberta Kearns and an Irish reading. Miss Dorothy Wright and Mr. Graham Kearns also favored the gathering with an instrumental selection. Two contests were held which added much to the success of the evening. A dainty lunch was served by the young ladies which all enjoyed greatly.

There will be no meeting of the League next Monday evening as it is Easter Monday, but on the following Monday the Christian Endeavor Department will conduct the regular monthly Consecration meeting. There will be a Roll-call and Collection. Everybody welcome.

Are Your Savings Earning from 6 to 7%?

IF NOT—HERE IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

DUE to the increase in value of the Canadian Dollar in England, we have been able to buy back high-grade Canadian Securities sold in London prior to the war—at much less than their face value. These Securities yield interest from 6 to 7%. They are safe as any first Mortgage, and we sell them at prices to yield handsome profits to the present investor. Example:

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

Issued by the Canada Atlantic Railway and guaranteed by the Grand Trunk, both of these railways are now owned and operated by the Canadian Government. In addition to having the credit of the Government of the Dominion of Canada behind these Securities, payment of principal and interest is guaranteed by a first Mortgage on 396 miles of railway in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

The face value of each bond and the amount paid to the holder when due is	$436.00	$436.00
The present total cost to purchaser of this bond is	329.00
Thus the immediate increase in Capital on each bond is		$107.00
The interest received by the purchaser each year is $19.44, payable in Canadian or New York funds. The total interest earned to time of maturity will be		670.68
This means that a present investment of $329.00 in these First Mortgage Bonds will return to the investor the sum of		$1,156.68

(In addition to the sum of $1,156.68, the investor will be entitled to the prevailing premium on New York funds.)

From the above you can readily see that it will pay you to communicate with us.

We have many other investments equally attractive and shall be pleased to send you our complete Bond list or give you our advice upon any investment in which you may be interested.

CALEDON

The Women's Missionary Society of the Prebyterian Church, Caledon, held a very delightful At Home at the Manse on Thursday afternoon of last week. There was a large number present to enjoy the splendid address which was given by Mrs. D. N. Potter, of Mono Mills. Other numbers on the program were a duet and a solo, which was sung very sweetly by little Jean Burkholder. Mrs. W. Patterson, of the 1st line, will take the topic for April.

(Intended for last week)

The Educational meeting held here on Thursday evening was fairly well attended. Very interesting addresses were delivered by Rev. W. M. Morris, Rev. J. R. Bell, Rev. Mr. Segsworth and Inspector Galbraith. Rev. J. Burkholder presided.

Mr. William Moffatt has been rather seriously indisposed during the past week. Nurse Brown is in attendance and Dr. Thomas is the physician.

Miss Mary Smith, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, has been very ill for the past few days. Nurse Robertson is attending the little sufferer and Dr. Thomas is employing his skill to combat the disease.

Mr. H. A. Potter held a very successful auction sale of his fine herd of Shorthorns, splendid horses, implements and farm equipment on Wednesday last. Messrs. Petch and Patterson wielded the hammer and got good prices for almost everything.

Mr. William Baker loaded a car and left for California last week.

Why the Ford is the "Universal Car"

DOWN among the orchards of Nova Scotia, the farms of New Brunswick, on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal, Yonge Street in Toronto, Portage Avenue in Winnipeg, on the far flung horizons of Saskatchewan and Alberta, up through the mountains of British Columbia, down Granville Street in Vancouver, on Government Street in Victoria—it's the same story—half of all the cars you see are Ford cars—in many sections they are two to one of all the other makes.

And it's the same story in Africa, Australia, Britain, Europe, United States—throughout the world—one half of all motors on earth are Fords.

Why?

Because the simplicity of the Ford Car adapts it to every driver.

—because the power of the Ford Car carries it wherever the driver wants to go.

—because its durability and rugged strength make it the car for every condition of usage.

—because of its low first cost and low cost of operation and maintenance.

The Ford Car is a good car for you to own.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

SPRING WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The Canadian spring weather—one day mild and bright; the next raw and blustery, is extremely hard on the baby. Conditions are such that the mother cannot take the little one out for the fresh air so much to be desired. He is confined to the house which is so often over-heated and badly ventilated. He catches cold; his little stomach and bowels become disordered and the mother soon has a sick baby to look after. To prevent this an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets should be given. They regulate the stomach and bowels, thus preventing or banishing colds, simple fevers, colic or any other of the many minor ailments of childhood. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Orangeville Women's Institute will meet at the home of Miss Young, York St., on Tuesday, March 29th, at 3 o'clock. Miss Hunter will give a Paper on "How to Add Cheer and Comfort to Our Homes in Winter." All ladies are welcome to these meetings, which are held on the last Tuesday of each month.

CALEDON.

There will be an illustrated lecture in the Methodist Church on Thursday evening, March 24th. A number of beautifully coloured slides will be shown, illustrating the events of Passion Week.

We are sorry to report that there is little change in the condition of Mrs. Wm. Moffatt, who has been critically ill for the last two weeks.

Special Easter service in the Methodist Church on Sunday morning. All are welcome.

THOMAS TEMPLE

As intimated in last week's Banner Thomas Temple, a well-known and highly respected resident of Orangeville, passed away at his home on East Broadway rather unexpectedly on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Two weeks before his death erysipelas broke out on Mr. Temple's face and before the seriousness of the case was fully realized blood poisoning developed and the patient's condition rapidly became critical and then hopeless. The end came about two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The late Mr. Temple was born in East Garafraxa over 65 years ago, but came to Orangeville when a young man and has resided in or near the town ever since. He was a steady, hard-working man, who was well thought of by all who knew him. His loss is mourned by a widow and a family of three daughters and one son, Mrs. Sprague, of Toronto, and Tory, Pearl and Alfred at home. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved widow and children. The funeral was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Friday afternoon. Rev. J. W. Edwards was the officiating minister.

AN AMARANTH PRESENTATION

On Monday evening about one hundred and twenty-five of their neighbors and friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Braiden to bid farewell to their son, Fred, and his bride prior to their removal to their new home in Caledon. Mr. Will Golden acted as chairman for the evening in a very capable manner. At the proper time Mr. Cecil Menary read the following address:

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Braiden,
Laurel, Ont.

Dear Friends:

A number of your neighbors and friends have gathered to-night to tender their congratulations upon your marriage and to wish you every happiness, a long and untroubled life together and a generous measure of the good things of this world. At the same time your approaching removal to another home constrains us to unite in expressing the sorrow we all feel that you are not going to continue your abode in our midst. Knowing you as we do we are all agreed that your influence as neighbors would have been helpful in the best sense of the term to the life of our community. Realizing this we are impressed with a profound conviction of the very real loss we are all sustaining through your departure.

You, Mrs. Braiden, have been amongst us only a short time, and young enough for us to value your friendship and to recognize your estimable qualities as a neighbor. Mr. Braiden we have known since his childhood and have long since learned to hold him in sincere regard and affection for his sterling qualities of head and heart.

Our best wishes go with both of you to your new home and as slight evidences of our esteem and mementoes of the old home and the old acquaintances in Amaranth we ask you to accept this mantel clock and this silverware. We hope they will always call up pleasant memories of this community and the friends you are about to leave. In concluding we wish to express the hope that you may find good neighbors, warm, true friends and a pleasant and congenial environment in your new place of abode.

Signed on behalf of your Amaranth friends and neighbors,
Russel Wolfe, Elgin Trimble, Wilmer Trimble.

Miss Willa Trimble and Mr. Wilmer Trimble made the presentations. Mr. Braiden made a suitable reply on behalf of his wife and himself. Addresses were also made by Mr. C. Braiden and others. The remainder of the evening was then pleasantly spent in music and dancing.

MRS. MARGARET GRAHAM

The death of Mrs. Margaret Graham, wife of the late Colwell Graham, of Shelburne, took place at the home of her niece, Mrs. R. J. McCutcheon, of Releasey, on Sunday, March 13th. The deceased had been in poor health for five months before her demise. The late Mrs. Graham was a sister of the late Robert Irwin, of Orangeville. One sister, Mrs. James Irwin, of Riverview, and a brother, Archy, of Saskatoon, are the surviving members of the family. The Rev. C. W. Forth, of Rosemont, conducted the funeral service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon on Tuesday following her death and Rev. J. W. Edwards, of Orangeville, the burial service at the Forest Lawn Cemetery. The pallbearers were six nephews, Robert, Archy and Thomas Moffatt, James Irwin, John Braiden and Geo. Irwin.

DIED AT VANCOUVER

There passed away at Vancouver on Wednesday, February 23rd, a former well-known Weyburn resident in the person of Margaret Jane Wiggins, beloved wife of James Watson, at the age of 76 years, 7 months and 16 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson homesteaded in the Weyburn district some twenty years ago, and remained here until 1910, when they moved to Vancouver, and have since made their home in that city. About a year ago Mrs. Watson suffered a stroke and although everything possible was done for her the end could not be averted. Last year, John A., and Wesley, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Watson, moved from Weyburn to Vancouver and this year the other two members of the family, Mrs. W. J. Bennett, of South Weyburn, and A. M. Watson, McTaggart, visited their parents, so that all the members of the family were present a short time previous to the mother's death; in fact Mrs. Bennett arrived back at Weyburn just the day her mother passed away.

The funeral was held on Friday, Feb. 25th, and was attended by many former residents of this city who are now in Vancouver.

The bereaved husband and family will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in the hour of their sorrow.—Weyburn, Sask., Review.

Mrs. Watson, who will be remembered by many of our Orangeville and Caledon readers, lived on lot 26, Centre Road, Caledon, for a number of years. Arthur, James and Joseph Wiggins, of Inglewood, are brothers.

WILLIAM SMITH, SR.

William Smith, Sr., a well-known resident in the west side of Mono township, died in Lord Dufferin Hospital at noon on Sunday after eleven days illness from pneumonia. Deceased was 71 years and 3 months of age and was born in Toronto, where he was a driver for the Toronto Street Railway Company, when horse drawn cars were used. He came to Mono about thirty-five years ago and has engaged successfully in farming and threshing since then. He was an honest, hard-working man, who was held in general esteem as a neighbor and citizen. He leaves a widow, five sons, William, James, Percy, Herbert and Charles, all living in Mono, and one daughter, Mrs. Willis Denny, of Orangeville. James and Thos. Smith, of Caledon, Matthew Smith, of Mono, Mrs. Wm. McFadden, of Esaa, and Mrs. Wilson, of Toronto, are the surviving brothers and sisters. The sympathy of the neighborhood is extended to the bereaved family. Deceased was connected with the Anglican church and was a staunch Conservative in politics. The funeral, which was largely attended despite the bad roads, was held from the residence of his son, William Smith, Jr., in Mono, to Greenwood Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. T. H. Stewart, rector of St. Mark's, was the officiating minister and the five sons and the son-in-law were the pallbearers. The floral tributes included a broken wheel from the family and a wreath from the grandchildren.

YOUNG WOMEN AVOID PAIN

This One Tells How She Was Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Regina, Sask.—"For two years I suffered from periodic pains and nausea so I was unable to get around. My mother had me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am much better and able to go about all the time, which I could not do before. I recommend Vegetable Compound to my friends if I know they suffer the same way, and you may publish my letter if it will help any one, as I hope it will."—Miss Z. G. BLACKWELL, 2078 Osler Place, Regina, Sask.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Blackwell did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, sidesache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.

MRS. HORACE G. ROYCE

There passed away at her home in New Liskeard on Saturday, March 12th, 1921, Phoebe E. Suggitt, wife of Horace G. Royce, at the age of 57 years. Mrs. Royce was born in Erin township and lived there until her marriage 17 years ago. Since her marriage she has resided in New Ontario. She was a sister of James Suggitt, of Hillsburg, and John Suggitt, of Orangeville. The funeral service was held in her late home on Sunday, the 13th inst., three ministers of the town taking part. The body was then brought to Orangeville and laid away in Greenwood Cemetery beside the remains of her mother. The service at the grave was conducted by J. D. Stephens, pastor of the Christian Church, Hillsburg.

IN MEMORIAM.

McKIBBON—In sad and loving memory of Mary Edna Speers, beloved wife of Robert McKibbon, who died April 9th, 1920.

She suffered patiently and long.
Her hope was bright, her faith was strong;
The heavenly gates were open wide,
A loving voice said "Come."

Asleep in Jesus, peaceful rest,
Forever with the loved and blest;
Awaiting there for those on earth,
To join her in the heavenly mirth.

You're not forgotten, Edna,
Nor will you ever be;
While life and memory last,
We will all remember thee.

Home to Jesus, home to glory,
Every wave of trouble o'er;
Thou art now with they dear brother,
On that happy, peaceful shore.

Four dear sons you left behind you,
And little daughter, dear;
And thy husband to mourn the loss,
Of one they loved so dear.

Around your lonely grave we linger,
When the setting sun is low;
But, our dear sister liveth,
In a better home we know.

Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Sisters and Brothers.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear little boy, Alan James, taken from us on March 20th, 1920.

A Lantern Lecture on the events of the Passion Week illustrating the betrayal, crucifixion and resurrection of our Lord will be given in the basement of the Methodist Church on Saturday, March 26th, at 8 p.m. The beautifully colored slides are reproductions of famous paintings. All are welcome.

The League debate on the Consolidated School Question has been postponed for two weeks.

We are sorry to report that on account of ill-health Mrs. Thos. Meek has been obliged to give up many of her community activities for a time.

A very happy time was spent in the school room of the Methodist church by about forty children of the Mission Band, who gathered to celebrate the victory of the Reds over the Blues in the membership contest. A good programme was given, after which refreshments were enjoyed. The event reflected much credit upon the superintendent, Mrs. L. Lemon, her assistant, Miss Barber, and the young officers, who discharged their duties remarkably well.

Mr. J. M. Dods gave a splendid address in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening on his trip to the World's Sunday School Convention in Tokio, Japan.

The St. Patrick Musicale given in the Methodist Parsonage on March 17th was a decided success in spite of the rainy weather and the many conflicting meetings. Mr. and Mrs. Morris, assisted by Mrs. Lemon, received the guests in the living room, which was bright with flowers and Irish favors. Interesting readings were given by Miss Green and Miss Margaret Meek on Irish music, which was illustrated by songs and Irish selections by Misses Dorothy Cockerill, Margaret Lemon, Violet Trimble, Hope Barber, Margaret Meek, Margaret Dods and Miss Green; Miss Hunter, of Manitoulin Island on the violin and Mr. Amos Mason on the cornet. Mrs. Everton Barber was in charge of the pretty tea table arranged with crystal basket of spring blossoms on Irish crochetted lace centre. Mrs. Alex. Patterson, Mrs. E. Tribble and Miss Barber assisted with the dainty refreshments.

Plate Glass Window in Alliston Store Broken By Stone Shot Off Roadway by Mayor's Auto.

Council of Municipality Confronted With an Unusual Problem.

The members of council had a most unusual case to deal with at the regular meeting Monday evening. It is a broken window in W. F. Kinsey's store front, the fracture in the plate glass light having been caused by a stone flying from the street when run over by Mayor Mitchell's car. Mr. Kinsley stated that he had gone into the matter minutely and had learned that either the Mayor or the corporation was liable for the damage. The window was broken very simply. Mayor Mitchell was turning to enter Stephen's garage and was running on low gear. When making the turn he heard a report like a shot from a small rifle. Thinking it was a tire she got out and looked his wheels over but no damage was visible then. Then he noticed the break in Mr. Kinsey's window and thought at first it had been done by a stray shot from a small rifle. Dr. J. J. Harper came across the street and Mr. Kinsey came out of his store. The three men hunted for some kind of missle inside but could find none. At the outer edge of the sidewalk was a small stone, the only one lying around, and the men concluded that as the Mayor's car wheel had passed over the stone it had thrown the stone with such force against the glass that the break had resulted. While no one actually saw the window broken, this is the conclusion arrived at by circumstantial evidence. When presenting his claim Mr. Kinsey stated emphatically that he did not intend to pursue the matter into the courts. He proposed that the glass be replaced by the corporation, the Mayor and him self each assuming one-third of the cost. He had ascertained that the Mayor was liable because his car left the roadway and ran up on the curb when making the turn and because the turn was made in the middle of a block when a town by-law says that vehicles must go to the street intersections to turn round. The corporation was liable because of the loose gravel after the paving had been done. Mr. Kinsey had himself taken five wheelbarrow loads of stones off the street in front of his place. He did not propose to attempt to force anyone to pay for the glass but thought he was quite fair in asking that all three parties assume an equal share of the cost.

Mayor Mitchell stated that he too had obtained legal advice in the matter and had been advised that neither he nor the corporation was liable for the damage. In legal records there was not a similar case recorded. The nearest his lawyer could come to it was the case of a vessel being driven into a dock by the tide in an English harbor. The impact moved the dock and damaged some houses close to it. In a suit for damages to the house the court held that anyone building close to a dock took the risk of any damage that might occur from being so located Applying the precedent to a public highway there did not appear to be much liability on the part of either the Mayor or the municipal corporation.

Members of council each had their own views of the case and what was or was not the liability of the parties involved. All agreed, however, that Mr. Kinsey was reasonable in the request he had made. He had got figures as to the cost of replacing the light and what salvage could be obtained from the broken light and figured that to replace the glass would cost about $45. Council agreed to assume one-third of the cost and authorized the Mayor to so inform Mr. Kinsey.—Alliston Herald.

While coming out of her home one evening recently, Mrs. J. M. Roach of Arthur had the misfortune to fall, breaking a bone in one of her wrists.

WHAT THE COMING REFERENDUM MEANS

A Brief Outline of Various Laws, Provincial and Dominion, Now in Force, or Available.

Issue to be Faced April 18th.

In view of the approach of the referendum vote to be taken April 18 in Ontario, we are publishing the following statement which shows just what is involved in the vote to be taken in April, and also reviews the provisions of the prohibitory laws already in force.

On September 16th, 1916, the Ontario Temperance Act came into force, and is still law in the Province of Ontario. On October 20th, 1919, the electors of Ontario voted emphatically against its repeal and against three propositions to weaken it, by overwhelming majorities.

The Ontario Temperance Act prohibits the sale within the Province of Ontario of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes; forbids the keeping, having, or giving of liquor in any place other than a private house; makes it an offence to canvass for, or receive or take orders for liquor, or to publish an advertisement of liquor. It provides that any liquor containing more than 2.5 per cent. proof spirits (1.15 per cent. alcohol) shall be conclusively deemed to be intoxicating.

It provides for the supplying by Government vendors and druggists of liquor for permitted purposes; that is, for uses mechanical, sacramental, medicinal, industrial and manufacturing.

The Ontario Temperance Act does not deal with the manufacture of liquor, the importation of liquor, the exportation of liquor or inter-provincial transactions in liquor; and it exempts from its operations native wines when sold by manufacturers in certain quantities.

Federal Measures

Early in 1918 a Dominion prohibition Order-in-Council came into force and continued in operation until repealed by the Dominion Government on Dec. 31st, 1919. This Dominion order prohibited the manufacture within Canada, or the shipment into any part of Canada in which the sale was prohibited of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes.

The repeal of Dominion prohibition came shortly after the passing by the Dominion Parliament of what is commonly known as "Bill 26." This was an amendment to the Canada Temperance Act, and provides that the Legislature ask the Dominion Government to take a vote of the electors of the province upon this proposition, "That the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into such province may be forbidden." The vote shall be taken by Dominion officials, upon Dominion voters' lists, and, if a majority approve, the Governor-General shall declare the prohibition of the Act to be in force.

It shall then be an offence for any person to "import, send, take or transport into such province any intoxicating liquor" for beverage purposes, or to "manufacture or sell liquor to be unlawfully imported, sent, taken, or transported into such province." The carriage or transportation of intoxicating liquors through such province shall only be by means of a common carrier, by water or railway and not otherwise."

This Dominion measure does not deal with the manufacture or delivery of intoxicating liquor within the province in which it is in force, nor does it apply to the importation of liquor for "sacramental or medicinal purposes, or for manufacturing or commercial purposes, other than for the manufacture or use thereof as a beverage."

Supplemental Provincial law

Further legislation was, therefore, found necessary to effectively deal with points not covered by either the Ontario Temperance Act or the amended Canada Temperance Act. To meet this need the Legislature of Ontario has passed the "Liquor Transportation Act," commonly known as the "Sandy Bill."

The "Sandy Bill" makes it an offence for any person by himself, his servant or agent to transport, carry, deliver, receive or take delivery of liquor in the Province of Ontario if such liquor is, "for sale or consumption under the order of the Board of License Commissioners,' and by them such order shall be granted only for purposes permitted by the Ontario Temperance Act.

The "Sandy Act," however, "shall not come into force or take effect until after a date to be named by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council by his proclamation," nor until after the Governor-General in Council has issued a proclamation as a result of the favorable vote upon Dominion "Bill 26."

What the Vote Means

The legal effect, then, of an affirmative vote in the approaching referendum will be the bringing into force of all the prohibitions already indicated as contained in the Dominion "Bill 26," and the Provincial "Sandy Bill," in addition to those now embodied in the Ontario Temperance Act.

This combination of laws is good and strong. The provisions for enforcement are complete. The penalties for violation are severe. Supplies for bootleggers and rum-runners will be cut off. It will be easier for men to keep sober, and harder for men to get drunk, and generally provincial prohibition will be made more thoroughly effective. It will further give an impetus to all reform effort within the province.

Out of 27 pavement contracts awarded by the Toronto board of control the city engineer was awarded 19, although the city's tenders were based on a 60 cents an hour wage rate.

RENEWED LIFE

Second Visit Causes "Visitor" to Revise Opinion of a Certain Peel County Church.

Editor of The Banner,

We paid another visit lately to the same church, we described in your columns some time ago as being "Dead and Alive," and we must say the change in some respects was marvellous, and had we not been forewarned by one of your correspondents of what had taken place, we certainly would have been as Jane says, "Puffed Up," and dear knows what might have been the consequences under the circumstances. We extend our thanks to this gentleman for his timely warning. There is an old saying, "It is better to be forewarned than forearmed," and in this case, the warning saved us from what might have turned out to be an unfortunate visit. On entering the sacred edifice, the change from our previous visit was amazing. A new lighting system had been installed, and only those who had experienced the change from the old style to the new could have any idea of the great difference between the two. The church under the old system might be likened to the Egyptian darkness spoken of in the Good Book, and under the new, to the sun shining in all its brilliance at noon day in a cloudless sky. But the brilliance of the new lights revealed several things, which were hidden from view by the old style, and which seemed to stand in need of being attended to. We will only mention one, and that is the pulpit Bible. If we were not suffering from an optical illusion, we thought it appeared to be in a very delapidated condition. The cover seemed as if it wanted to leave the body of the book, the rest of it merely hanging together, and standing greatly in need of a thorough overhauling by the bookbinder, or perhaps it is like the Irishman's gun, and requires a new stock, lock and barrel. In that case if a subscription list be opened for the purchase of a new volume of Holy Writ, we will be pleased to donate half a dollar towards that object. The congregation was fairly large and representative of the community, but was concentrated "en masse" at the foot of the church, leaving all the pews in the front part vacant. We have an idea, perhaps we may be wrong, but we think his reverence would appreciate it more if the members and adherents were to occupy the pews more at the front part of the church. It certainly would look better. The singing by the congregation was spirited and cheery; the organist and music being up to date and leaving the time of the "Dead March in Saull" many bars behind .The choir was in full force, the majority being of the fair sex, and we venture to say we would visit many churches before we came across such another bevy of young ladies as those who occupied the chairs that night. Two of its members, male and female, favored the audience with a vocal selection, in a manner wrich proved them to be artists of no mean order, (their voices blending harmoniously togetherer). Their singing would be hard to excel, even in Westminister Church, Toronto. The sermon was above the average, and well worthy the effort of a preacher of larger dimensions, but these things are not measured in this way. As the late celebrated Dr. Watts, who was a very diminutive person, once wrote:

Were I so tall to reach the pole,
Or grasp the ocean in my span,
I must be measured by my soul,
The mind's the standard of the man.

And so in this instance the mind and not the size was the stature of the preacher. It is well said that "Good stuff is put up in little bundles." The text was taken from the parable of the young man, who was told to sell all he had and follow Christ; and the discourse might be divided into three heads: 1. The sorrowful despondent and doleful expression on the face of the young man when he heard that, for he was very rich; 2. The lack of wisdom exhibited by him in not obeying that command; 3. The ideals of the young people of the present age. The first two divisions were handled without gloves and given a complete knockout blow by the solar plexus route, and the remarks in regard to the third part were most appropriate, and could be taken to heart with advantage by both young and old who were present that night. At the close a service of song was held, the hymns selected being most suitable. The singing most hearty, and a fitting climax to a delightful and instructive Sunday night's services; and as long as a spark of life remains in this tenement of clay will be remembered by a

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU

22 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont.

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1918, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician.

I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again.

I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial."

BEATEN TO IT

"Germany, confessing her wickedness and protesting her repentance, reminds me of a rascally fortune hunter," said the director of military aeronautics, General Kenly.

"This fortune hunter was describing his pursuit of a Pittsburg heiriss.

"'In proposing,' said this listener, 'you ought to have told her, George, that you were unworthy of her. That bait seldom fails.'

"The fortune hunter gave a gloomy laugh.

"'Yes, I was going to tell her that,' he said, 'but she told it to me first.'"

First, Doctors — Then a Skin Specialist Then a bottle of D.D.D.

We shall publish every week for the benefit of skin sufferers in this section, a few words written by Canadian people — some of them of prominence — all heartfelt stories of relief from terrible suffering.

A sentence or two from a letter from J. W. Corns, 35 Melbourne Ave., Toronto, a man of fine standing. "I have been a sufferer for two years with eczema on the legs and ankles. I tried three or four different doctors. I went to a skin specialist. All of no use. I used one dollar bottle of D. D. D.—that is all. Today I am perfectly well."

If you wish to try a bottle of this Prescription that Mr. Corns found so remarkable, we will guarantee relief on the first bottle, or your money back. Stop that itch today. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

HOGS

AS AN INVESTMENT

The Dominion Department of Agriculture states that the British market prefers Canadian to American bacon, but our present share of this trade is negligible.

The abundant supplies of feed now available offer an opportunity for profit to the farsighted farmer who increases his hog production.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

Capital paid up - $15,000,000
Reserve Fund - $15,000,000

The highest tender received for the wrecking of Grosvenor street Presbyterian church, Toronto, to be torn down to make way for the Terauly street extension, was reported to the board of control to be $2,500. The assessment commissioner asked if the board desired that the city architect be instructed to do the work regardless of cost to give work to the unemployed, and it was decided to hold a conference on the subject.

Austin Colbeck has bought from John Linklater his old farm on the 5th concession of East Luther, the James Nichol farm, for around $7,400.

Toronto board of control has voted $250 to entertain the delegates to the meeting of the International Sereotypers and Electrotypers in July.

TO ALL Whom It May Concern

THE Parliament of Canada has recently passed a bill regulating the taking of the vote on the Referendum in Ontario on April 18. The points to remember are as follows:

1. Every British subject by birth or naturalization, man or woman, resident in the Dominion of Canada one year previous to February 1, 1921, and resident in the Province of Ontario for two months previous to same date, is entitled to vote, unless otherwise disqualified.
2. Voters' Lists used in the last provincial referendum are the lists to be used in this Referendum, subject to revision. Every voter in an urban polling division must be on the list, and will presumably be on the list only in the division in which he resides.
3. In incorporated cities and towns of 1,000 population or over, arrangements will be made for receiving applications from any who are not now on the list on March 29 to April 4 inclusive—except Sunday—when for six clear days officers will sit to receive such applications.
4. In rural polling divisions the voter must be either on the list or be put upon it as a resident and be vouched for as such by another resident.
5. Both affirmative and negative sides have the right to select scrutineers.
6. Women have the right to vote.

CANADIAN GOOD ROADS PLAN NEAR COMPLETION

System Comprises 17,000 Miles—Rapidly Increasing Motor Travel Demands New Road Conditions—Provincial Co-Operation Necessary

Mr. A. W. Campbell, Dominion Commissioner of Highways, Ottawa, writes as follows in a recent issue of the Toronto Globe:—

The Canada Highways Act came into effect in July, 1919. It appropriates $20,000,000 to aid in the construction and improvement of main and market roads, with a view to facilitating travel, improving transportation, encouraging production, and stimulating trade and commerce.

It divides the amount among provinces on the basis of population. It provides that the money should be made available for a period of five years in order that each Province might prepare a comprehensive system, provide necessary legislation and carry out the work in a substantial and workmanlike manner.

The regulations for giving effect to the act require that each province shall, in the first instance, prepare a general program plan of roads for the Province, forming a continuous system connecting important industrial and agricultural sections.

To secure such a plan is considered a most important step in connection with road reform, in that it necessitates the classification of roads and the fixing of standards for creating an improvement in accordance with the character and extent of traffic over each, and selecting of the type of road most suitable and economical to meet the requirements, the providing of necessary funds for the carrying out of the work in accordance with such plans and specifications, and to secure at the end of five years a system of connected roads, finished to a modern standard.

Each Province promptly applied itself to the task, with the result that inside of the first year every Province had submitted the plan called for, forming not only a provincial, but an inter-provincial connecting system.

In order to avail themselves of the money appropriated under the act (being 40 per cent. of the cost), it is necessary that the Provinces should provide $30,000,000 (being the remaining 60 per cent.) Special legislation making full provision for this work has been enacted and the total amount is now available. About 17,000 miles are comprised in the system.

In the preparation of these plans and specifications the Provinces have had the assistance of expert engineers, and during the past season substantial work has been commenced under the direction of well organized Provincial Road Departments. The work has been divided up into districts, and field engineers have been established in each under the Provincial Departments. The expectation of all is that this extensive system of inter-provincial roads will be fully completed by the end of the season of 1923.

All of the plans submitted embody uniformly the fundamental principles of road construction, carefully studied location, uniform standard as to width of grade and crowning, the provision of adequate drainage to provide dry and unyielding foundations, the construction in the most durable manner of culverts and bridges, and, generally speaking, providing a firm and finished foundation for future surfacing is the fundamental principle aimed at in all the designs.

The varying condition of traffic in the Provinces will influence the type of surfacing to be allowed later. Suitable roads for present service and the development of these on general principles appears to be the method generally adopted. Not only the extent but the character of the traffic will enter very largely into the adoption of the class of surfacing to be used. Particularly in industrial districts and in the neighborhood of large cities and lines connecting central and railway points the use of motor trucks is rapidly increasing, and these demand such proportionate heavy construction as to necessitate a special consideration. The rapid-growing use of the motor vehicle as a means of travel and transport and the growing recognition of the benefits to result have made the demands for better roads throughout Canada general and persistent.

SAD FATALITY AT SALEM

Body of Alonzo Shafer Found on the Rocks in Irvine Ravine, Near His Home.

On Saturday evening, March 12th, 1921, Mr. Alonzo Shafer, who lived in a part of the house owned by his son, Mr. Arthur Shafer, on the Elora and Salem Road, remarked to his son that he was going up to Salem for the evening. The younger man came down to Elora, and on his return home found the light in his father's apartment burning, the door unlocked and the fire fixed as though for the night. His father, however was not there—but the son thought nothing particular of this, as he was accustomed to him being away over the week-end, though his custom was to lock his door and leave everything in proper shape before going. When the father did not return on Sunday, however, the son started to make inquiries, and finally a search was made. About four o'clock Monday afternoon his body was discovered lying on the rocks below the precipitous banks near the old Wissler mill. The unfortunate man had evidently climbed a couple of wire fences and walked along the edge of the bank for a considerable distance in the darkness, falling into a rift gouged out of the rock (where his hat was found), through which he was shot to the rocks many feet below. It is thought death must have been instant from the position in which the body was found, and the lack of any evidence of a struggle. Coroner Dr. Kyle, of Fergus, was notified, made an investigation into the circumstances, and decided that no inquest was necessary.

Deceased has lived in this vicinity for many years, latterly following the profession of a house painter and paper hanger, doing o good trade. He was in his 58th year, and had been married three times, though he and his present wife had separated. He leaves to mourn the loss of a kind father a family of three sons and two daughters, namely: Arthur Shafer, of Salem; James Shafer, of Elora; Miss Annie Shafer, Toronto; Wilbert Shafer, of Salem, and Carrie (Mrs. Henry Weadick), of Salem. One son, Stanley, predeceased his father. To the bereaved family the sympathy of the community is extended in the trouble that has come so suddenly upon them.—Elora Express.

LIEUT. S. F. T. HALBERT

Lieut. S. F. T. Halbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Halbert, of Harkaway, who died on Friday, February 25th, at the Military Sanitarium, Gravenhurst, was born at Harkaway in 1894. He graduated at the Ontario Veterinary College in 1918. After graduation he commenced practice at Thornbury, but almost immediately joined the Veterinary Corps of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, receiving the appointment of Veterinary Officer of a battalion of the Fort Garry Horse, with the rank of Lieutenant. He reached France in September, 1918, and was in the midst of things until he was attacked by influenza. Unfortunately he resumed his duties in a weakened state of health, which, together with the inclemency of the weather, resulted in the contraction of the malady from which he never recovered. From a French hospital he was transferred to the Officers' Military Hospital, London, England, and from there he was invalided home in April, 1919. After spending a few weeks in St. Andrew's Hospital, Toronto, he was admitted to Gravenhurst Military Sanitarium, where he remained until his death. The funeral took place at Harkaway on Feb. 28th, following a service in the Methodist Church. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The pallbearers were returned soldiers. The Markdale Chapter of the Royal Black Knights of the Orange Society and representatives from the local lodges of the Orange Order were present in goodly numbers, the former conducting the Committal Service. Among the relatives present from a distance were Will and Leonard Halbert, of Mono, and Lorne and Frank Halbert, of Shelburne, cousin of the deceased. The parents and one brother and one sister survive.

Three sons and three daughters survive: John, Whitfield; Thos. H., Markdale; David J., Barrie; Mrs. C. Greer, Penticton, B. C.; Mrs. J. Markle, Penticton, B. C.; Mrs. Geo. E. Berwick, Shelburne. The following brothers and sisters also survive; Thos. Dean, Sault Ste Marie, Ont.; David Dean, Carievale, Sask.; Geo. Dean, Sault Ste Marie, Ont.; Mrs. Wm. Ferris, Perm; Mrs. J. MAKING OR BREAKING HIM

A wife's job may be divided into three principal parts:

Bearing children; Spending her husband's money; Keeping her husband fit to earn.

And her biggest job is the last of these! For the first is pretty much a matter of biology, the second a question of economics, but the third requires an endowment of those "gifts which come only from above."

There is always a protective quality in a man's love for a woman. But also he has a feeling of dependency.

The woman he goes home to at night must needs take the place of his mother. To her must he bring his boy confidences, the pettinesses of the day that has ragged his nerve. From her must he take back to the fight next morning sympathy, and understanding, and faith.

For we never quite grow up, we people. And being created social animals the only things we really cannot live without are companionship and the approbation of those companions.

It is the woman sharing the mature fortunes of a man who makes or breaks him.—Seattle Star.

About a hundred and fifty friends and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Teeter, 4th line, Caledon, west, to present them with a token of remembrance before their departure to their new home, near Orangeville. Mr. J. McDonald, of Belfountain, was appointed chairman, and after calling the assembly to order, made known the purpose of the gathering and called on Mr. and Mrs. Teeter and family and Mr. Aaron Teeter. MRS. J. M. CRAIG, of Los Angeles, Cal., who says no one can feel more grateful for what Tanlac has done than she does. Has gained twelve pounds and health is better than in years.

"Of all the people who have taken Tanlac I don't believe there is anyone who feels any more grateful to it than I do," said Mrs. J. M. Craig, of 674½ E. 40th Street, Los Angeles, California.

"I suffered from nervous prostration and was so weak that I could not even sweep the floor and during the day I would have to lie down four or five times. I tried to walk, but found out that half a block was all I could stand before I would give out. Nervous spells came on me often. Finally my husband urged me to try Tanlac and I am indeed glad he did, for it proved to be just what I needed.

"The first two bottles did not seem to help me. I guess it was because I was so bad off, but on the third bottle I could tell I was improving and that gave me more hope than ever of getting well. My improvement from then on was rapid and by the time I had taken five bottles I was better and stronger than I had been in years.

"It enabled me to sleep soundly at night and I have gained twelve pounds. That was several months ago and from then until now I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life. I have told all of my friends and relatives what a wonderful medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold in Orangeville by C. V. Jeffers,, in Grand Valley by G. E. Morrow and W. T. Edmanson, in Shelburne by J. E. A. White, and in Caledon by McFetridge & Wittich.

The body was lying with the head and upper part of the body partly submerged in a pool of water in the swamp at the rear of the Cherry farm about a mile from the house. The body was lying on its face with the head practically submerged and the hips and feet out of the water, beside a log. Deceased has been in illhealth and it is supposed he became exhausted and fell in the pool.

De Laval cream makes the best butter

WHETHER you make butter yourself or sell butter-fat to a creamery, the value of your cream depends largely on the kind of butter it will make.

It is easy to prove that De Laval cream makes better butter. Every first prize awarded at the Convention of the National Buttermakers' Association since it was started twenty-eight years ago, has gone to butter made by De Laval users, or from gathered cream largely De Laval-separated.

The De Laval Separator is more economy; its bowl runs at lower speed and delivers the butter-fat globules unbroken. It is used in practically all of the world's creameries, because it gives not only more cream but better cream as well. And the fact that the De Laval runs at lower speed adds years to its life.

Let us demonstrate to you why the De Laval is the World's Standard Cream Separator

Sooner or later you will buy a De Laval

DR. GRANT SPEAKS

Secretary of Provincial Referendum Committee Addresses Orangeville Audience on Referendum Issue

Three hundred citizens heard Dr. Andrew S. Grant, Vice-Chairman and Secretary of the Ontario Referendum Committee, speak on the coming Referendum vote at a public meeting in the Opera House on Wednesday night of last week. Mr. W. R. Liddy, Chairman of the Orangeville Referendum Committee, occupied the chair and Rev. W. M. Morris and Mr. A. D. McKitrick, Chairman of the County Committee, delivered brief addresses. Ministers of the town churches, Capt. Lang of the Salvation Army and Principal Firth, of the Orangeville Public School, occupied seats on the platform. The programme was varied by a piano duet by Mesdames Bowles and Liddy, a solo by Master Morley McLean and a quartette by Messrs. Harding, Hannahson, Connop and McLean.

In the course of an excellent address Dr. Grant reviewed the temperance situation in Canada at the commencement of the war. War-time prohibition was brought into operation by an Order-in-Council for the purpose of enabling Canada to make her contribution to the winning of the war in the most effective manner. For reasons of economy and because of the unsettled conditions prevailing in the country this war-time prohibition was continued for one year after the restoration of peace. Dr. Grant dealt with the efforts of the Dominion Referendum Committee to get prohibition from the House of Commons and showed how these had led to the present referendum method of prohibiting the importation of liquor by provinces. Four provinces—three in the West and one in the East—had already voted on the question and all four had carried the referendums by substantial majorities. When Ontario voted on the question on April 18th another decisive victroy was almost a certainty. Dealing with the argument that the temperance people should have sought Federal legislation to prohibit the manufacture of intoxicating liquor for export purposes Dr. Grant explained the difficulty of getting the Senate to sanction legislation of this character and stated that the procedure adopted was in his opinion the best possible method of getting an effective measure of prohibition into effect at the earliest possible moment. The speaker advocated steps to stop licensing the manufacturers on the ground that it is immoral to offer for sale to others what we will not legalize for our own use.

Dr. Grant discussed the findings of the World Congress Against Alcoholism in Washington, where eminent men of science from all parts of the world discussed the use and effects of alcohol. One of their conclusions was that alcohol is not a food but a poison. It has absolutely no food value and its tendency is to destroy life and not to save it. When this poison is taken into the system the effect is to lessen the vitality of the life-giving cells. No man who uses alcohol can be 100 per cent efficient. In the case of middle-aged men, who frequently succumb under the strain of an operation, it is often this enemy of the race and not the immediate trouble that is responsible for the collapse. The Congress had found that the effect of alcohol on the mental faculties of the individual is to lessen his ability to withstand the temptation to commit a wrong. Alcohol, declared Dr. Grant with emphasis, has no remedial qualities. It is in no circumstances a remedy, but it may make the patient unconscious of his suffering by numbing his faculties exactly as chloroform does.

What were the people of Ontario going to do on the 18th? They had said that they were opposed to the legalized sale of liquor anywhere in the province. Were they going to allow the bootlegger to continue to sell against their expressed will, to demoralize society by doing so and and to amass large profits by his brazen defiance of the wishes of the people, or were they going to accept the challenge of the bootleggers and other lawbreakers, turn off the tap and stop the bringing of liquor into the province for beverage purposes. The world is turning its face more and more against this great enemy of the human race and Dr. Grant expressed the conviction that the next twenty-five years would witness far-reaching temperance reforms in every civilized country on the globe. Temperance people in this campaign were heading up to the Hindenburg line. If they carried this line on the 18th of April the enemy would collapse and capitulate just as surely as the Germans capitulated shortly after the Allies carried the Hindenburg line. Liquor had been driven from the barroom for ever and it was now the paramount duty of the people of Ontario to drive it from the home by voting to prohibit its importation into this Province.

EXTREME MISERY DAY AND NIGHT

Follows a Breakdown of the Nervous System.

Misery day and night is the lot of hosts of men and women who are today the victims of weak nerves. Thin, pale, drawn faces and dejected attitude tell a sad tale, for nervous weakness means being tortured by morbid thoughts and unaccountable fits of depression. These sufferers are plainly sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark. Sleeplessness robs them of energy and strength, their eyes are sunken and their limbs tremble; appetite is poor and memory often fails. This nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious evils affecting men and women of to-day. The only way to bring back sound, vigorous health is to feed the starved nerves, which are clamoring for better blood. This new blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a direct action on the blood, and through the blood on the nervous system. That a fair use of this medicine will bring satisfactory results is shown by the experience of Mrs. Marsh, Bass River, N. S., who says: "Following a run down condition, I became practically a nervous wreck. The doctor who was called in said the trouble was inflammation of the nerves. It grew so bad that practically I had no control of my lower limbs, and had to go about with crutches. Quite aside from my suffering I had a small family and a baby in arms to care for, and I became much discouraged, as I did not appear to be growing better. One evening my husband met an aged doctor on the street and told him of my condition. He asked my husband who was attending me, and when told said: 'I don't want to interfere, but why not try Dr. Williams Piik Pills.' My husband got me a supply of these pills and after taking a few boxes I was able to go about with the use of one crutch. Continuing the use of the pills I was able to discard the other crutch as well, and was as active as ever I had been. There are many in this neighborhood who know what my condition was when I began the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and who know what this medicine did for me, and I hope my experience may help some other sufferer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To hear his voice, to see his smile,
That meant so much to me.

How oft we long to see you, daddy, dear,

GOLDEN WEDDING

On Monday, March 21st, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cook, old and widely known residents of this district, celebrated their golden wedding at their home near Fraxa Junction. The happy union of fifty years ago was blessed with a family of three sons and five daughters, of whom all except two, Mrs. Thos. Montgomery and James, of Biggar, Sask., were present at the happy reunion. There are also twenty grandchildren and five great grandchildren, and a number of these were also present to add to the happiness and merriment of the occasion. Relatives, old friends and neighbors brought the number of guests up to sixty or upwards. The entertainment included a sumptuous wedding dinner, the dining room being attractively decorated in gold and white, a color scheme happily appropriate to the occasion. After justice had been done to the good things provided for the delectation of the inner man the bride and groom of fifty years ago led the way to the drawing room, where a very pleasant time was spent in music and other amusements. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, including a purse of gold, a bouquet of beautiful roses and tulips from the grandchildren and bouquets of carnations from Misses Dorothy Hunter and Audrey Prust. Congratulatory messages were received from friends in Fort William and Pilot Mound, Man. Some of those present from a distance were Dr. A. J. Hunter and Miss Dorothy Hunter, Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hunter and Mrs. Douglas, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Brown, Niagara Falls, Mrs. J. E. Laird, Biggar, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Armstrong, Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kearns, of Orangeville. The Banner joins the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cook in tendering its hearty congratulations and good wishes for continued health and happiness.

MEMORIAL COMMITTEE

Reports Progress and Invites Citizens to Submit Suggestions.

The first meeting of the Committee appointed to look into the matter of erecting a suitable memorial to the memory of the soldiers of the town and vicinity who fell in the Great War, was held early in February. Dr. G. H. Campbell was appointed Chairman and A. Firth, Secretary. The Secretary was instructed to send a circular letter, with stamped envelope for reply, to fifty of the important towns of the province asking: (a) What each town had done, or were doing, in the way of a memorial; (b) To whom should we apply for plans, etc., where anything had been done, and (c) How funds were raised.

At the second meeting, held March 26th, the Secretary presented replies as follows:—Ten towns had, or were erecting monuments; three memorial halls; two parks; two hospitals; one rink; and 20 reported nothing done; there was no answer from twelve. Money generally was raised by subscription and by a tax levy.

The Committee instructed the Secretary to send in a report to the local press, and to ask the citizens to send the Secretary, in writing, for consideration by the Committee, after which a general meeting of the citizens could be called:—(a) Suggestions as to the form the memorial should take; (b) Approximate amount of money to be spent on it; (c) How this money should be raised; (d) Where should the memorial be placed. Any information, therefore, or suggestions, should be sent as soon as possible to the Secretary, A. Firth, so that action may be taken right away. There is some three thousand dollars available from the County Council as a start.

Yours truly,
A. FIRTH.

HILLSBURG

(Intended for last week)

The Missionary Anniversary of the Baptist churches of Hillsburg, Erin and Belfountain was observed by special services on Sunday last, March 20th, conducted by Rev. Dickson Smith, a missionary from India, at present on furlough, who delighted his audiences with interesting addresses on the work in India.

On Monday evening March 21st, the Women's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church at Hillsburg held its Thank-Offering Social. A good program was given by local talent, with addresses by resident clergymen of the village, and a talk by Rev. Dickson Smith, on India. The spirit of co-operation among Hillsburg churches was manifested by the large number present from the Disciple and Presbyterian congregations. A social hour and refreshments brought the gathering to a close. Mrs. Watson, President of the Society, was a capable chairman.

On Wednesday last, March 16th, an enthusiastic gathering of the Hillsburg Temperance forces held a Referendum meeting in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, when Sam. Carter, Esq., of Guelph, gave an address upon the features of the vote to be taken on April 18th next. Owing to the bad roads the attendance was not as large as it might have been, but the enthusiasm of the audience left nothing to be desired. Erin township will do its part at the polls.

LAUREL

Laurel Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Fyfe on Thursday, April 7th, at 2 o'clock. All ladies are invited to attend.

Why the Ford is the "Universal Car"

DOWN among the orchards of Nova Scotia, the farms of New Brunswick, on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal, Yonge Street in Toronto, Portage Avenue in Winnipeg, on the far flung horizons of Saskatchewan and Alberta, up through the mountains of British Columbia, down Granville Street in Vancouver, on Government Street in Victoria—it's the same story—half of all the cars you see are Ford cars—in many sections they are two to one of all the other makes.

And it's the same story in Africa, Australia, Britain, Europe, United States—throughout the world—one half of all motors on earth are Fords.

Why?

Because the simplicity of the Ford Car adapts it to every driver.

—because the power of the Ford Car carries it wherever the driver wants to go.

—because its durability and rugged strength make it the car for every condition of usage.

—because of its low first cost and low cost of operation and maintenance.

The Ford Car is a good car for you to own.

LACROSSE CONVENTION

Three Hundred Enthusiasts Attended Good Friday Meeting of O. A. L. A.

Raspin Scott, Orangeville, and J. H. Harding, Durham, formerly of Orangeville, members of new Executive.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association held in Toronto on Good Friday at the Labor Temple brought out over three hundred enthusiasts, and if the spirit shown at the meeting is any indication of what may be expected during the coming summer, then the grand old game is in for one of the most successful years in its history. No less than 63 teams were entered, none of which were so-called paper clubs, but all ready to take the field when the season opens.

The report of President Bert Booth emphasized the fact that clean play ppredominated during his term of office. Secretary Dundas reported that no less than 1,023 players had engaged in the pastime during 1920, while Treasurer Labatt's report showed that the handsome surplus of $854.52 is in the bank after paying all expenses incurred to date. This last report brought forth rounds of applause.

Both Secretary Dundas and Treasurer Labatt were granted honorariums of $100.

Mr. Johnston, Vice-President of the New South Wales Lacrosse Association, attended the gathering and extended greetings, while ex-President Nelson sent his best wishes from the south.

The various amendments caused considerable discussion, some of which were withdrawn by the movers, while the following were carried:—

That where two team comprise one group and are scheduled to play a single or double schedule the total goals scored in the games so played or scheduled shall decide the championship of such group.

That referees in senior and intermediate games be paid ten dollars and their expenses. Balance of section to stand.

Each club to pay its own expenses at home and while travelling.

That the O. A. L. A. Executive write the Dominion Government with regard to reduced railway rates for lacrosse teams.

That the Executive see that all playing fields are adequate for all games, especially semi-finals and finals.

That where there are not more than six clubs in the senior series only one group be established.

That in the event of one group in the senior series the teams finishing first and second at the completion of the playing schedule shall play off for the championship, either home-and-home or a sudden-death game, as may be arranged by the Executive

That no others than the regular team of ten or twelve, as the case may be, and the three substitute players shall appear in uniform upon the field where a match is to be played.

All players in the senior and intermediate series shall be numbered with conspicuous figures displayed on the back of their jerseys.

Every player in the intermediate and senior series (which will include players eligible for the lower series, but taking part in either intermediate or senior games for his own club) must secure amateur card from the Ontario Branch of the A. A. U. of Canada, such card to be attached to his playing certificate when forwarded to the Association's Secretary for registration (card to be returned with certificate after registration). No certificate, however, will be issued to intermediate or senior players as above described, until such amateur card has been presented. In the case of players holding cards for other branches of sport this will save necessity of issuing second card.

In the event of senior teams forming one group and having the teams finishing first and second play-off for the senior championship such play-off game or games shall be directly under the control of the Executive, and the Association shall collect 10 per cent. of the gross gate receipts.

A redhot contest resulted in the fight for the Council. For the job of 2nd Vice-President Jim Wallace, of Toronto, defeated former Secretary Dundas in a close run. The Council will be composed of the following: E. Harrison, Mimico; W. Roe, Havelock; C. Condy, Toronto; S. Dankert, Hanover; A. R. Smith, Weston; J. H. Harding, Durham; R. Scott, Orangeville; D. Ingram, Brampton; J. D. Wright, St. Catharines; W. A. Coad, Oshawa.

MONO COLLEGE

The last meeting of the Mono College Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Irwin, Sr., Second Line, west, on Thursday afternoon, March 3rd. There was a good attendance and a splendid program was provided. Mrs. I. Murphy gave an excellent Paper on "The Value of Keeping Household Accounts." Miss Helen Cooper contributed an interesting reading entitled "The Wife Who Makes the Best of Everything." The musical part of the program consisted of two well-rendered violin solos by Mrs. Will Irwin, Jr., and piano solos by Misses Cora Robinson and Emily Island. The ladies present decided that at the next meeting a collection of 25c. each would be taken in aid of the suffering Armenians. This meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. J. McKitrick, Prince of Wales Road, on April 7th. Rev. W. M. Morris will address the ladies on the motto, "For Home and Country." Mrs. J. E. Smith will give a Paper on "A Woman's Education." All are asked to come prepared to answer the roll call with a joke.

REFERENDUM NOTES

This is registration week. Mr. W. C. Hopkins, the revising officer for Orangeville, is holding daily sittings in his office on Broadway from 10 to 12 o'clock in the forenoon and from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The ruling of the Chief Election Clerk making it necessary for applicants to appear in person rather upset the plans of the local referendum committee, which had prepared quite a formidable list of names, but the workers are adapting themselves to the new order of things and will endeavour to have all residents entitled to vote, whose names are not on the lists, appear before the revising officer in person.

Every citizen of Orangeville, who has the right to vote and whose name is not on the 1919 lists, owes it to himself or herself and to the province to register this week. Do not allow yourself to be disfranchised.

Evidence before Revising Officer Hopkins is taken under oath. Some citizens resent being sworn, but the Revising Officer is only following instructions from higher up, so why blame him.

Citizens of Orangeville and Shelburne, whose names are not on the 1919 lists, must register this week if they wish to have a vote on April 18th. To register they must appear before the Revising Officer in person.

Difficulties and obstacles should increase the determination of the temperance forces to obtain a favorable and decisive victory on April 18th.

Every person who has the right to the franchise should exercise the right. He should also make sure that he is not denied the right through failure on his part to comply with any special requirement, such as registration.

The issue before the voter on April 18th will be clear-cut and plain:—"Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?" Every man and every woman who is opposed to the liquor evil should vote "YES."

BOWLING GREEN

The Bowling Green Women's Institute will meet in the Methodist Church on Wednesday, April 6th, at 2.30 p.m. A full attendance of the members is requested as this will be the annual business meeting and election of officers.

CHILDLESS WOMEN

Please Read This Letter And See What Normal Health Will Do For You.

Berwick, Ont.—"I had organic trouble, and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Medicine all my troubles passed away. I was made strong and well and have been ever since. Now we have a fine baby boy six months old, and I know that I would not have this baby and would still be suffering if it had not been for your remedies. My husband and myself say that your remedies are worth their weight in gold, and I recommend them to my friends. One of my aunts is taking them now."—Mrs. NAPOLEON LAVIGNE, Berwick, Ontario, Canada.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its ability to correct sterility in many cases. This fact is well established as evidenced by the above letter and hundreds of others we have published in these columns.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

GIRL GUIDE WORK

Miss Viola Crombie, one of the teachers in Jesse Ketchum School, and the school's company of Girl Guides, of which she is Captain, put on a splendid demonstration of Guide work, with a concert in addition, at the school last night. This company, which numbers forty, was the first to be organized in Toronto's public schools, and has received fine backing from the Principal, Mr. Kirk, who takes a special interest in the splendid little corps of "Brownies," who will be the Guides of the years ahead.—Toronto Globe, March 19th.

At the conclusion of the concert, Miss Crombie, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Crombie, of Blount, was presented with a bouquet of beautiful roses by the Girl Guides.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hussey, of Toronto, were the guests of Mrs. Corbett this week.

The Play, which was presented in the Presbyterian Church by the Waldemar Dramatic Club on Friday night was a huge success. The church was crowded to the doors and the audience was very appreciative. Everyone took their parts in an able manner and all deserve credit and praise for the worthy manner in which they acquitted themselves.

Mr. R. Rodgers, of Hespeler, is holidaying at his home here.

Mr. Jas. Udell and children left last week for London, where they intend making their home.

Miss S. Price is visiting friends near Hillsburg.

Mr. Garfield Tolton has returned from Toronto, where he had a position in a garage.

Mrs. Robert Rodgers is visiting friends at Hespeler.

MARSVILLE.

Mr. D. M. Haws, ex-Reeve of the township, deserves the sincere sympathy of the community in his sad affliction. Over four years ago he suffered severely with gangrene in foot. The Dr. decided that amputation was the only remedy. The operation proved successful, but only to be followed by another affliction. His eyesight began to fail until at present he is almost blind. Of late his other foot has caused him much trouble. On Friday of last week Dr. Gibson and Dr. Campbell amputated the diseased member. To be footless and blind is certainly a sorrowful predicament. Through these trying years he has been ever cheerful and has borne his affliction with great fortitude. He is now progressing as favorably as can be hoped.

The Council held a special meeting on Saturday to make the necessary arrangements to erect a bridge over the Grand River on the 11th line to replace the one washed away by the spring freshet. The old bridge is lodged near Belwood and will be sold.

Mr. John Leader, who sold his farm on the 10th line, has purchased a property in Cedar Valley (Slabtown), and has moved to his new home.

About one hundred and fifty friends of Miss Myrtle Platt, a bride to be, assembled at the home of Mr. John Warnock on Wednesday evening of last week. Miss Platt received many beautiful presents. A pleasant evening was spent in games and dancing, in which all heartily engaged.

HOCKLEY.

Mr. Irwin Lee has returned to the West. We wish him a safe journey.

We are sorry that Gordon McKelvey prefers Orangeville to this burg.

We welcome M. J. Varey's housekeeper.

Miss Olive Irwin has returned from Toronto, where she has been studying music.

Miss Jean Crowden spent the week-end at the home of Mr. Dunning Irwin.

Mr. Garfield Lawson has forsaken Hockley for Brampton.

Miss E. Jordan is visiting friends in Hockley.

Mr. Vesty Barry has purchased a new lantern.

It is alright to go that way now, Leonard, on dark nights.

On Tuesday, March 18th, the marriage was solemnized by the Rev. A. C. McCollum, of Lloydtown, of Miss Sadie Firth and Mr. Goldburn Varey. We wish the happy couple much joy.

On Friday, March 18th, the Dramatic Club spent an enjoyable evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goldburn Varey, to whom they tendered a kitchen shower.

What we would like to know:—
Why McCarthy sacked his clerk?
Why McQuarrie attends all the dances?
Where L. P. and L. B. take their long drives east?
Why Doc goes to Orangeville?
What Joe took to the Shower in the buggy top?
Why C. G. spends so much time at home?
When Inez is going to get her life insured?
Why C. F. is quitting the mill?
If Thelma would like a farmer?
Will anyone be lonesome while Jean is home?
Has Leonard got his shaves fixed?

Chief Herkes of Brampton, brought out from Toronto a man named S. J. Balcombe arrested on a charge of defrauding the Royal Hotal in Brampton of $122 in hotel accommodation. Balcombe stayed in jail until Saturday when friends from the city came up and paid the amount with about thirty dollars additional. The board bill was for a show company for whom Balcombe was responsible.

The rough-cast dwelling belonging to Mr. John Ward, 3rd line, Albion, was destroyed by fire a week ago Thursday.

HOW many men have refused, purely from sentimental motives, tempting offers for their family homes. The old house that is well-preserved is always a delight, because each year seems to add to dependsured associations, as well as to its natural value.

The greatest agent of preservation against deterioration and decay is good paint.

OLD BOYS' REUNION

Former Residents of Dufferin County Hold Delightful Banquet in Winnipeg.

Former residents of Dufferin County and their friends to the number of 250 met at their Eleventh Annual Banquet in the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, on March 8th.

The first hour was spent in getting acquainted over again, and at 6.30 the party sat down to dinner, which was served in the usual efficient manner of the Royal Alexandra. Song sheets were provided and between courses everyone entered heartily into the singing of such old favorites as "There's a long, long trail awinding," "Smiles," "The Bells of St. Mary's," "Buffera," "Killarney," "Annie Laurie," etc.

At the close of the Banquet, the President, J. J. Rooney, complimented the Executive on their energy and enthusiasm in getting so many of the Dufferin old boys out. The toast to Dufferin was enthusiastically honored and E. A. August, M. P. P. for Dufferin, Manitoba, and a former resident of Melancthon, fittingly responded. The toast to "Winnipeg" was replied to by Mayor Parnell, who spoke very feelingly of his former residence in London, Ont. Professor G. A. Sproule, who was called on later, had made a very careful study of an old geography that he brought West with him from Crombie's Crossing. In this geography London is evidently located somewhere in Amaranth and Prof. Sproule asked that Mayor Parnell be added to the Executive Committee as one of the representatives from Amaranth.

There were a sufficient number present to locate Rocktown and Violet Hill, in fact old Mono was able to muster over 40 old boys at the gathering. In point of numbers Mulmur came second, the Grahams, Loves and Rooneys being out in force.

There were so few present from Orangeville that a committee will be appointed next year, if there is not a better representation from the county town at the next annual gathering, which will take steps to have the seat of government located either at Shelburne or Primrose.

Shelburne, though it did not have the largest delegation present, had the noisiest, and one would gather from listening to them that there was close on a quarter million people living in and around Shelburne. At the same time it will take a lot of coal mines and oil wells to get them back again. On all sides were heard regrets that J. A. Hand and family were absent from the Western contingent.

Very pleasing solos were rendered by Mrs. R. M. Neely, Miss Vera Graham and Chester McClellan. At nine o'clock the party repaired to the Louis XIV. ballroom, where a program of eighteen dances was successfully carried out under the direction of J. H. Braden, who at one time lived on Braden's Hill on the townline between Mulmur and Mono near Mount Zion Church. As the lancers and quadrilles were included in the program every one was able to take part and we think we are safe in saying that a good many had not been "on the floor" for many years and were agreeably surprised as one elderly lady said. "How easily it all came back." The old fashioned dance was a winner and will certainly be included in next year's program.

The following officers were elected to carry on the business of the Association for the coming year:—

Hon. Presidents—J. J. Rooney, Col. Geo. Clingan, M. D., M. P. P., E A August, M. P. P.
President—S. T. Newton.
Vice-Pres.—H. W. Watson.
Sec.-Treas.—C. E. Graham.
Executive Committee—Mono, J. H. Braden, J. C. McNabb; Mulmur, Mrs. J. J. Rooney, Rev. H. Graham; Amaranth, Prof. G. A. Sproule, R. M. Neely; Melancthon, Mrs. H. W. Watson, W. McNabb; East Luther, Thos. Bruce, Dr. F. W. L. Hamilton; East Garry, C. McClellan, E. Boggs; Grand Valley, Geo. Watson, W. H. Menary; Shelburne, Mrs. J. Barber, Mrs. J. T. Fisher; Orangeville, Dr. McCarten, Mrs. Modeland.
Publicity Committee—S. T. Newton, R. M. Neely, C. E. Graham.

The summer reunion will be held at Assiniboine Park on Saturday, September 10th.

THE TORTURES OF RHEUMATISM

Happily Stopped When He Began To Take "Fruit-a-tives"

8 Ottawa St., Hull, P. Q.

"For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism, being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief and thought I would never be able to walk again.

One day while lying in bed, I read about "Fruit-a-tives" the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me."

PERSONAL LIBERTY

Editor Orangeville Banner.
Dear Sir,

"Personal Liberty" is a phrase which the "Wets" are using for personal and financial gain on the eve of the "Referendum."

There was a man out West who had the smallpox and was placed under quarantine. Someone had smuggled him in some liquor by means of which he became intoxicated. While in this intoxicated state he broke loose from quarantine and marched up and down town, declaring that "No one had a right to interfere with his personal liberty." The doctor and the authorities of the town recognized the danger of such a man being at large and speedily had him put back in quarantine.

The sale of intoxicating liquor is now illegal and it is up to the liberty loving people not to be fooled at this coming "Referendum" on the 18th of April by the fallacy of this plea of personal liberty made at this time by the "Wets." Many, since the last Referendum, have been fined, and even quarantined by imprisonment, for secretly breaking the law in the smuggling of intoxicating liquor and the sale of the same.

It is up to the electors at this coming test to make the quarantine of intoxicating libuors, fines and imprisonments an impossibility by prohibiting the importation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes into this fair and happy province of Ontario.

By doing this we are protecting our own personal liberty and the liberty of all citizens of Ontario and we shall make strong bulwarks for the protection of our children and for future generations to come.

Yours truly,
John Lennox,
The Manse, Temple Hill, Ont.

10 Years of Eczema
A Sample Relieved Her

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters, telling stories of suffering from skin diseases and how cure was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. Henry Harvey, Black Lake, Que. Write her if you desire.

"Ten years of eczema on the face. Treated unavailingly by doctors. A sample alone of D. D. D. cured me, etc."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of cure and endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical.

Relief from itching torment is immediate. Just try one bottle of D. D. D. today on our positive guarantee. $1.00 a bottle. Try D D D. Soap, too.

MELVILLE

The Methodist Parsonage at Alton was the scene of a quiet wedding on Friday, March 18th, when Miss Clara Percilla Tucker was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Francis Sanderson, both of Orangeville. The bride was charming in a pretty travelling frock of navy blue silk and hat to match. Mrs. Sanderson is a sister of Mr. John Tucker of the Centre Road, who entertained the wedding party.

On Good Friday, March 25th, there will be an entertainment in behalf of the organ fund, when an illustrated lecture will be given on the events of the Passion Week. There will be beautifully coloured slides illustrating the Betrayal, the Crucifixion and the Resurrection.

A number of Melville young people spent an enjoyable evening at the Methodist Parsonage in Alton on Friday night, March 18th.

REFERENDUM MEETING

Dufferin County Organized for the Vote on April 18th.

A meeting was held in the Town Hall in Shelburne on Wednesday afternoon, March 23rd, at the call of the County of Dufferin Referendum Executive. The meeting was called for the double purpose of reorganizing the County for the vote on April 18th and of giving Dr. A. S. Grant, Vice-Chairman and Secretary of the Ontario Referendum Committee, an opportunity to address the workers and temperance people of the County. Despite the unfavorable condition of the roads fully one hundred and fifty people, including a number of ladies, answered the notification. Every municipality in the county was represented except the township of East Garafraxa in the extreme south. Mr. A. D. McKitrick, the County Chairman, presided. The work of organization was taken up in the early part of the afternoon, when the following officers were elected:—

Chairman—A. D. McKitrick, Orangeville.

1st Vice-Chairman—Dr. R. N. Kyles, Orangeville.

2nd Vice-Chairman—Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, Shelburne.

Secretary—Dr. W. J. Price, Orangeville.

Treasurer—Mr. E. Hackett, Orangeville.

Amaranth—J. A. Hughes, Laurel, Chairman; R.H. Wansbrough, Laurel, Secretary.

East Garafraxa—W. A. Hoare, Amaranth St., Chairman; Laban Boggs, Orton, Secretary.

Grand Valley—W.A. Wansbrough, Chairman; Miss Ethel Archibald, Secretary.

East Luther—H. H. Hilborn, Grand Valley, Chairman; R. J. Watt, Grand Valley, Secretary.

Melancthon—R. J. Woods, Corbetton, Chairman; Alex. McMurchy, Corbetton, Secretary.

Mono—J. A. Marshall, R. R. No. 1, Orangeville, Chairman; W. A. Henry, R. R. No 1, Orangeville, Secretary.

Mulmur—Rev. Chas. Bailey, Mansfield, Chairman; Cecil Ireland, Mansfield, Secretary.

Orangeville, W. R. Liddy, Chairman; Rev. J. W. Edwards, Secretary.

Shelburne—D. E. Dean, Chairman, W. T. Bailey, Secretary.

The meeting accepted an assessment of $550 for the general and county expenses of the campaign. This was apportioned to the several municipalities by a committee consisting of ex-Warden H. H. Hilborn and Mr. E. Hamilton, Township Clerk of Amaranth.

The following resolution, introduced by Rev. W. W. Wallace, of Shelburne, seconded by Ex-Warden H. H. Hilborn, was adopted by a unanimous vote of the meeting:—

"Resolved that this Convention of temperance workers and supporters assembled in Shelburne regards the granting of appeals from the Magistrate's decisions to the County Judge as a backward rather than a forward step and that the Secretary of this convention be instructed to write the Premier and Attorney-General of the Province urging them to stay such legislation."

At the close of the business meeting Dr. Grant addressed the gathering at some length on the question at issue in the coming vote. The speaker also devoted some time to the explanation of points concerning the voters' lists, the procedure necessary to have names added to the lists and the manning of the polls on voting day.

FREE SHORT COURSE

On Tractors and Power Farming to be Held in Orangeville.

An event that will attract big attention in this district will be the Free Short Course on Tractors and Power Farming to be held in the Gem Theatre, Thursday afternoon, April 7th, commencing at 1.30, and at the Ford Garage, Friday afternoon, April 8th, commencing at 1.30. Everybody will be made welcome at either or both days' proceedings, whether a present or prospective tractor owner or not. Instructive talks will be given by Mr. Murdoch, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and Mr. Fleming, of the Fordson plant, Dearborn, Mich. The free moving pictures to be shown Thursday afternoon are very highly spoken of. "Keeping the Boy on the Farm," is a good film on a timely subject. "A Whale Hunt," shows some of the excitement to be met with in the northern seas. "Farming With a Tractor," gives a good idea of how the extremely useful tractor does its work. "Canada's Inland Waterways," gives you in a few minutes beautiful views of Canadian scenes you could not otherwise get in days of travel. "Soil Moisture and the Germination of a Kernel of Corn" is spoken of as a picture of great educational merit. Miscellaneous pictures will also be shown. The practical course of instruction on tractors and power farming the first day will cover the principles of the gas engine, the tractor motor and its work, conditions for good tractor operation, power farming, belt work. The second day's course will cover cylinder, pistons, pins, connecting rods, crank shaft, valves, ignition, carburetion, clutch, speeds, lubrication of transmission, drive of road wheels, belt pulley, and general points. Those who miss this special short course will miss a really worth while event.

A SUCCESSFUL DANCE

One of the most enjoyable and successful Dances of the year was given in the Town Hall on Thursday night last by the Orangeville Junior Farmers' Improvement Association. The Association was formed by the students of the Agricultural Class held here last winter and the Dance arrangements were in charge of the Executive Committee under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dorrance. Upwards of one hundred and fifty guests were entertained from town and country. Music of the very highest order was provided b ythe Floyd Henderson orchestra with Miss M. V. Hogg at the piano. During the evening a dainty buffet luncheon was served and each guest was provided with a souvenir of the occasion. It is the intention of the organization, of which Norman Parks is President and R. V. Young Secretary, to carry out during the coming season various undertakings of a social and educational nature for the benefit of the members and other junior farmers, who care to join the organization.

BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SPRING

The Spring is a time of anxiety to mothers who have little ones in the home. Conditions make it necessary to keep the baby indoors. He is often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catches colds which rack his whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. This will prevent colds, constipation or colic and keep baby well. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont

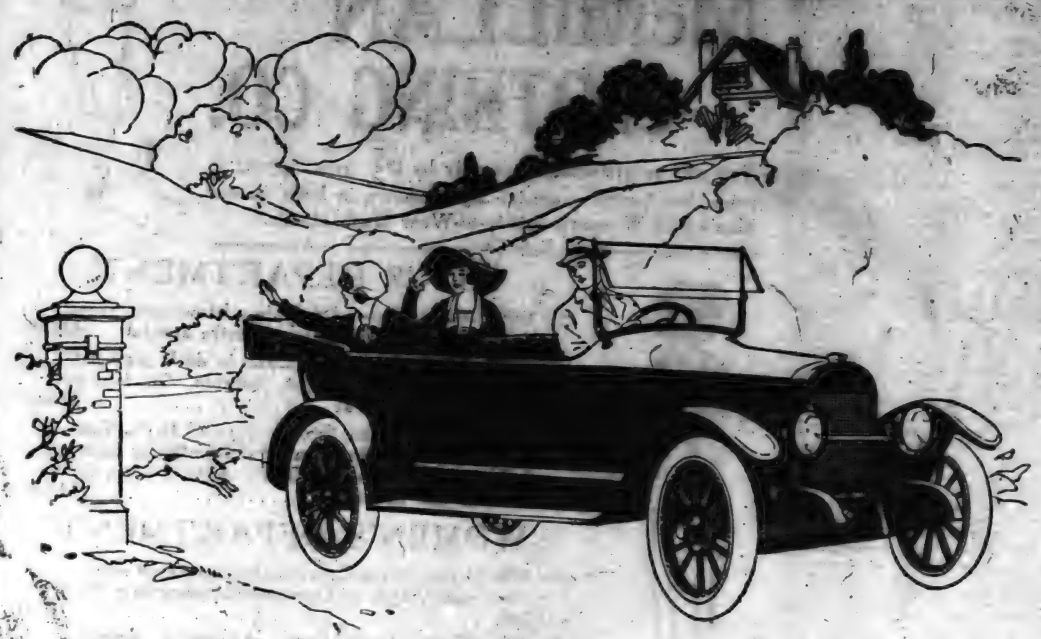
GRAY-DORT

Its Value Is Intentional



EACH added Gray-Dort which goes into use serves not only to provide fresh evidence as to the quality of the car, but also emphasizes anew the high ideals of the Institution which builds it.

A surprising majority of the thousands of motorists who have selected the Gray-Dort as the biggest value in the motor car field tell us that the reputation of the men responsible for the car has been the most important factor in their choice.

And this is natural, because only by deliberately intending to give heaping value could we hope to produce such a car as the Gray-Dort at its price.

CHRISTIAN—LUCAS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. E. V. C. Lowis, of Damascus, assisted by Rev. H. W. Nelson, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lucas, of West Luther, when their youngest daughter, Mary Alice, became the bride of Joseph Henry Christian, of Whittington. The ceremony took place under an arch of evergreen from which were suspended streamers held by Master Roy Christian, brother of the groom, and Master Arnold Walker, nephew of the bride. Promptly at one o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march played by the bride's sister, Mrs. R. J. Walker. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming gowned in ivory duchess satin with pearls and wearing the customary bridal veil caught up with orange sweetheart roses. Little Miss Ethel Lucas, niece of the bride, prettily dressed in ivory silk with shadow lace caught up with pearls, carried a basket of carnations, in which was concealed the ring. During the signing of the register, Miss Cora Moyer, of Kitchener, sang sweetly, "Let Me Love Thee." After congratulations from the assembled friends the bride led the way to the dining room, prettily decorated with pink and white carnations, and all partook of a sumptuous wedding repast. Amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left on the evening train for Toronto, Belleville and Ottawa, the bride travelling in a navy blue serge suit with hat to match. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm on the 4th line of Amaranth.

"BRAND NEW MAN" STATES CRICHTON

"Tanlac Made Me Feel Just Like I Wanted To," Says Toronto Man.

"Tanlac got me to feeling just like I wanted to," said John Crichton, a well-known decorator and paperhanger living at 185 Oak street, Toronto, Ont.

"For over a year," said Mr. Crichton. "I had been looking for a medicine that would build me up and put some life and strength into me, and I certainly found it when I got Tanlac. I suuffered from nervous indigestion and was in a mighty bad fix. I couldn't eat anything scarcely and when I did manage to eat a hearty meal I always paid the penalty. I had a constant hurting in the back of my head and neck, was terribly nervous and had a dull, heavy, sluggish feeling all the time. I fell off in weight and strength and frequently had to lay off from work, sometimes for as much as two weeks at a time.

"Well, if Tanlac had been made especially for me, it couldn't have fitted my case any better. I now have a fine appetite, my nervousness is all gone. I never lose a day from work on account of sickness and feel like a brand new man. Tanlac is simply O.K. It certainly does the work.

C. T. A. SUSPENDED

The Ontario Temperance Act Comes Into Force Automatically Peel County

Word has just been received from Ottawa that the Canada Temperance Act has been suspended in Peel County. This is in consequence of a petition signed by the electors calling upon the governement to have the Ontario Temperance Act take the place of the C.T.A. Peel was one of the last counties in the province to petition the governement. Alike with other places they felt it would be better to have the Ontario Act governing the whole province. As a result of the suspension the Ontario Temperance Act automatically takes effect.

By having the O.T.A. in force in Peel, one uniform law is in operation, and its administration is in the hands of the province. In this respect, the O.T.A. is superior to the C.T.A. Under the former act it is an offence to be found selling, keeping, giving or having liquor in any place other than a private house. Under the C. T.A., selling and keeping only are offences.

For the first offence, the O.T.A. imposes a fine of not less than $200 or more than $2000 for the first offence, with imprisonment of 3 months at the discretion of the magistrate. For the second or any subsequent offence, the penalty is not less than six months or more than twelve months in prison. TheC.T.A. provides a fine of $50 for the first offence, with imprisonment not exceeding one month. For the second offence, the fine is not less than $100, with imprisonment for a term not exceeding two months. For the third or subsequent offence the penalty is imprisonment not exceeding four months.

The right of search is a matter that recommends the O. T. A. to the temperance people. Under its enforcement, an official may enter at any time into any and every part of a place of public entertainment—shop, warehouse, or other place, wherein refreshments or liquor is served, and this without a warrant. He may make search in any or every part thereof. The C. T. A. gives the right of search only between daylight and sunset, and that under a warrant.

Unler the O. T. A. officials have the right to search vehicles on the public highway and elsewhere, and may seize any liquor found. The C. T. A. provides no corresponding right.—Conservator.

Brampton council is still after the eight thousand dollars good roads money voted to them by Peel County Council and afterwards held up by subsequent action of the council. They have instructed their solicitor to see if they have grounds for an action against the county.

Ask your neighbor about the De Laval Separator

THERE are probably a number of the 2,500,000 and more users of De Laval Cream Separators right in your neighborhood. You can find them by the signs nailed on the fence or barn, reading "We use the De Laval Cream Separator."

If you then talk by the gravity method or with any other separator, it will pay you to talk to some of these De Laval Users. Ask them if the De Laval gets more cream, runs easier and requires less attention. Ask them particularly about the De Laval wearing qualities.

For many years the De Laval Company have led in cream separator improvements. There must be a reason for the universal satisfaction which the De Laval gives and every neighbor among the De Laval Users may be glad to tell you of

Sooner or later you will buy a De Laval

"FARM FOLKS" AT LAUREL

The popular Play entitled "Farm Folks," which was given at Laurel with such success by the Young People of The Maples a short time ago, will be repeated in Laurel Methodist Church under the auspices of the Epworth League on Thursday evening, April 14th, at 8 o'clock. Admission, 35c and 25c. See handbills for cast of characters, etc.

—Mr. John T. Cameron, who has been transferred to the Alliston division of the C. P. R., has sold his dwelling house on Mill St. to Mr. Earl Bradley, a C. P. R. trainman. The sale was made by Mr. J. B. Irwin.

ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE

The fixing of April 18th as the date for the vote on the Referendum is a challenge to the sincerity of the temperance sentiment of rural Ontario. The vote was set for a time of the year when there was every reason to believe that the sideroads in the townships would be practically impassable. No Government would think of bringing on a general election in April. No representative from a rural constituency would favor an April election, because of the difficulty of holding meetings and conducting a campaign in this month. Yet we find the date for a vote more important to the welfare of the Province of Ontario than the result of any political contest fixed for a time of the year, when road and weather conditions were likely to prevent a large section of the rural electorate from casting their ballots on the question at issue. We are not concerned just now with placing the responsibility for the selection of this date, except to say that if the Liberty Leaguers and the bootleggers had been allowed to select the date they could not have chosen a day that would suit them any better than April 18th. Because of the road conditions that usually exist in the townships of this province in April, we repeat that the selection of this date is a challenge to the temperance sentiment and temperance sincerity of rural Ontario. The people of the farms should accept the gage that has been thrown down and rally to the polls in full strength on the 18th. Rural Ontario has always voted strongly for prohibition. Let the verdict on the 18th be decisive and overwhelming. Rural Ontario can make it both and rural Ontario can best show its resentment at the attempt to secure a snap verdict with the aid of blocked and impassable roads by polling its full available vote.

HOSPITAL NOTES

The regular meeting of the Daughters of the Empire will be held in the School Room of the Presbyterian Church at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon, April 8th. Silver collection.

Be sure to vote for the By-law on April 16th. We don't want our county to lose the hospital.

It is very necessary that all members should pay their fees at this meeting.

THE MAPLES

The Community Hall Board, together with The Maples Women's Institute, wish to thank The Maples Dramatic Club for the donation of $50.00 from the proceeds of the Play, "Farm Folks," given recently and also wish to congratulate them upon the excellent manner in which they performed their several parts. Much credit and appreciation is due the members of the Club as we realize that they sacrificed considerable time and energy in the preparation necessary to the proper presentation of the Play. Much credit is also due to Mrs. Prust for the assistance given those taking part in the performance.

PAULINE FREDERICK
—IN—
"Bonds of Love"

The struggle between mother love, self-sacrifice and revenge furnishes the main dramatic scenes in "Bonds of Love." In this photodrama, Miss Frederick plays the role of a governess to a little boy who has lost his mother. Her association with him developes all the mother love in her nature, but she decides to leave the employ of his father when the child's relatives make her position unbearable with continual references to the saintly character of the first wife. They accuse her of scheming to marry her rich employer.

The sudden opportunity thrust upon the young profligate acts like a bucket of ice water soused in his face. He braces up, squares his jaw and proceeds to win the support of his townsfolk in a highly original manner.

THOS. HINTON

Mr. Thos. Hinton, an old resident of the Bowling Green district of Amaranth township, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Simpson, Grand Valley, on Sunday at the ripe age of 87 years. Deceased was one of the last survivors of the Kitley township people who settled in the west of Amaranth a couple of generations ago. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, interment taking place in Grand Valley cemetery. John and Norman Hinton or the surviving sons. The daughters include Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Robt. Bates, of Shelburne, and Mrs. Chas. Bennett, living in Vancouver.

PRESENTATION IN AMARANTH

Tuesday night of last week about one hundred of the friends and neighbors joined in a farewell presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pratt, 4th line, Amaranth, prior to their removal to their new home at Bowling Green. Mr. Jas. Lanktree, Orangeville, occupied the chair and Mrs. John Porterfield read the following address:—

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pratt.

Dear Friends:—It is with deep regret that we have learned of your decision to sever your connection with your neighbors and friends in this vicinity. We feel that we cannot allow you to leave us without giving you some slight token of the high esteem in which we hold you as neighbors. You have always been kind and ready to lend a hand whenever needed and your departure will leave a vancancy, which it will be hard to fill. But we know that what is our loss will be some others' gain and whilst we regret your loss from our neighborhood our sincere wishes for continued happiness and prosperity will accompany you to whatever sphere of useful endeavor you may in the future find yourself called upon to fill. Wherever your lot may be cast there you will be followed by the sincere good wishes of the friends you are now about to leave. As a slight token of our esteem we ask you, Mr. and Mrs. Pratt, to accept these chairs, you, Myrtle, this brooch, and you, Norman, this lapel pin. We hope these gifts will always bring back happy memories of bygone days and of the friends and neighbors you are shortly to leave. In conclusion we hope that wherever you go you may have good neighbors and true, staunch friends.

Signed on behalf of your Amaranth friends and neighbors,
WESLEY PORTERFIELD.

The presentations were made by Willie Woulfe and Wesley Porterfield and Maude Porterfield and Lornie Woulfe. After an appreciative reply by Mr. Pratt and short speeches by a number of the neighbors, the remainder of the night was happily spent in music, dancing and other amusements.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Pte. W. J. Courtney, who was killed in action on April 5th, 1918.

Somewhere in France softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave;
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In his lonely, silent grave.
Sadly missed by Mother and Father.

Killed by a shell, in sorrow we tell,
Three years ago our dear brother fell;
So sad, yet so true, we cannot tell why,
The best are the first that are called on to die.
Ever remembered by his brothers.

A loving son and brother true and kind,
A beautiful memory left behind;
Loved and respected, one of the best,
May he be granted eternal rest.
Gone but not forgotten by his sisters.

Why the Ford is the "Universal Car"

DOWN among the orchards of Nova Scotia, the farms of New Brunswick, on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal, Yonge Street in Toronto, Portage Avenue in Winnipeg, on the far flung horizons of Saskatchewan and Alberta, up through the mountains of British Columbia, down Granville Street in Vancouver, on Government Street in Victoria—it's the same story—half of all the cars you see are Ford cars—in many sections they are two to one of all the other makes.

And it's the same story in Africa, Australia, Britain, Europe, United States—throughout the world—one half of all motors on earth are Fords.

Why?

Because the simplicity of the Ford Car adapts it to every driver.

—because the power of the Ford Car carries it wherever the driver wants to go.

—because its durability and rugged strength make it the car for every condition of usage.

—because of its low first cost and low cost of operation and maintenance.

The Ford Car is a good car for you to own.

LINDSEY—TRIBBLE

On Wednesday, March 30th, Cedar Spring Farm was the scene of a happy event, when Rita Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Tribble, of Bolton, was married to Cecil Orange Lindsey, youngest son of Mrs. James Lindsey, of Maeville. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. W. J. Tribble, of Shelburne, uncle of the bride. Mrs. W. J. Tribble played the wedding march. The bride, who was becomingly attired in a shell-pink crepe de chine dress, and carried a bouquet of roses, was given away by her father. After the wedding repast Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey took the train for Windsor and Detroit, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will reside at Maeville.

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

This Woman's Letter Tells You How To Pass The Crisis Safely.

Lascelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did would have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. DUNCAN BROWN, Lascelles, Prov. Quebec.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ear, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women, and let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carry them safely through this crisis as it did Mrs. Brown.

You are invited to write for free advice

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE CHEVROLET PLAN FOR DISTRIBUTING $4,000,000

THE production schedule of Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Models for the seven months from January 1st to July 31st, 1921, is fifty thousand cars.

We will give $70 to each retail purchaser of a new open car or light delivery model, and $100 to each retail purchaser of a new closed car, provided we manufacture and sell fifty thousand Chevrolet Model "Four-Ninety" cars between January 1st, 1921, and July 31st, 1921. This offer to be subject to the terms as set forth in full in the refund certificate which will be delivered to each purchaser.

Fifty thousand cars is the minimum which will secure substantial savings in cost of manufacture. These savings will be passed on to the purchasers of these fifty thousand cars.

It is in keeping with the Chevrolet purpose of providing quick, convenient, economical transportation at a cost within reach of those who want an automobile.

Each purchaser of a Model "Four-Ninety" will receive a certificate from his dealer, or from the Chevrolet retail store manager. This certificate will be redeemed as indicated on its face.

This is a straightforward business proposition presented in a straightforward way. Whether you are in the market for a new car or not, you must not fail to learn the details of this unique and simple plan. It offers to every man of sound business judgment an opportunity to take advantage of the best automobile value obtainable.

Retail purchasers of Model "Four-Ninety" cars since October 1st, 1920, will receive their certificates through their local dealers or retail stores on application to them.

THE CHALLENGE OF SELF

The most imperative challenge to noble conduct comes from within. It is the challenge of our best, of our possible self. We are farthest on our way to betterment when we compare what we have done, or attempted to do, not with the achievements of others, but with what we might have accomplished or at least striven after. In the account which we keep of our life, the difference between what we have done and what we might have done constitutes the debit that should fill us with shame for the past and spur us on to greater efforts for the future.

It is to this comparison, not with others, but with ourselves, that the Master summons. "She hath done what she could," were His words concerning the woman, who, in the prodigality of her love, broke the box of alabaster and poured its costly contents over His head as He sat at the table. There was infinite comfort in this unforgetable utterance; there was also a searching solemnity. "What she could" means all she could. It was because she had measured up to her highest possibilities, that she merited and received the commendation of Him whose gaze penetrates to the inmost motive and meaning of every human act. Those deeds alone which express the best self can hope for like praise from His lips.

To listen with attentive ear to the inner challenge of the best that one may become—that is the secret of the highest attainment in character and conduct.

A FIVE YEAR TERM OF HYDRO OPERATION

Eighteen municipalities were connected to the Hydro-Electric System in 1914. Since they have been engaged in the light and power business for a uniform period the last official record of their activities should be interesting. The importance of the time-factor in any productive municipal investment must not be overlooked. Local systems with five years' experience may justly be considered as typical of the System, since the method of organization, rate-making and accounting is exactly the same for all municipalities in association with the co-operative municipal power union.

Take first the case of Brantford. On December 31st, 1919, the balance sheet of the city's electrical department showed assets of $412,362, liabilities of $269,272, reserves of $87,384, and a surplus of $55,705. This is the largest city in the 1914 group. Windsor comes next, with reserve and surplus of $86,439. Peterboro has a population of 21,230. Its reserves are $54,077, its surplus is $33,302 and its net debt is 73 per cent. of its local assets.

St. Catharines has done even better, since its debts on "Hydro" account are only 66.1 per cent. of its resources. Exactly the same percentage is recorded by Walkerville.

Prescott, on the St. Lawrence system, is on Easy Street, with assets of $68,107, and only $27,110 against them, but Chesterville, a small community in the same part of Ontario, has been getting its power under cost, and has been meeting some obstacles. Its liabilities are in excess of its assets by $3,500—the only case among the eighteen. Elora, which is only slightly larger than Chesterville, has a balance on the right side of over $9,000.

Summing the records of the eighteen during five years, we find total assets of $2,679,230, with liabilities of $1,848,739; that is to say, the outstanding obligations are only about 62 per cent. of the aggregate resources. These eighteen have paid off in five years 38 per. cent. of their liability, and the debentures, at the date of the statement, still had 25 years to run.

Here is the detailed statement:—

A PRESENTATION

On Good Friday evening a number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hammond, Lot 20, Con.7, Amaranth, to bid them farewell before leaving for their new home on Lot 32, Con. 4, Amaranth, (the Snider farm), and also to present them with an address, a handsome silver tea service to Mr. and Mrs. Hammond and a locket and chain to Miss Hilda.

To Mr. and Mrs. W. F. and Miss Hilda Hammond,

Dear Friends,—It is with feelings of sincere regret that we have learned of your departure from our community. During the long period of your resilence among us you have greatly endeared yourselves to us all. You have shared in every movement for our mutual advancement and have ever held out helping hands to those in time of trouble. You have always given of your talents cheerfully and freely and by so doing have greatly enriched the life of the Church and the community. We therefore ask you to accept these gifts as slight tokens of our honor and appreciation of you. Our sincere wish is that God's blessing may rest upon you and that peace and prosperity may attend you in your new home.

Signed on behalf of the community,

Murray Sproule, Victor C. Johnston.

The address was read by Murray Sproule and the presentations made by Victor Johnston and Bernice Coombie. Mr Hammond made a very suitable reply, which was followed by other speeches. The remainder of the evening was spent in games.

SICK IN BED FOR A LONG, LONG TIME

C. H. POBRAN NOW PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Saskatchewan Man Gives the Reason Why Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Become the Standard Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Hafford, Sask., April 4th (Special) —Dodd's Kidney Pills have few more faithful friends in any part of Canada than C. H. Pobran, well known and highly respected here. He gives the reason in a few words that go right to the point.

"I was sinck in bed for a long time before I used Dodd's Kidney Pills," he says, "and I am healthy now. I am very thankful I used Dodd's Kidney Pills."

It is friends like Mr. Pobran who have given Dodd's Kidney Pills the reputation which for twenty years has stamped them as Canada's standard kidney remedy. They have been used for all forms of kidney troubles, dropsy, diabetes, rheumatism and heart disease. They have given satisfaction. If you haven't tried Dodd's Kidney Pills ask your neighbors about them.

There will be no Spring Assizes for Grey county, there being neither criminal nor civil cases to come before the Court.

BARS ACTRESSES

Will of Dr. Washington, Former Orangeville Man, Disposes of Large Estate.

Mrs. Harriet E. Washington and Hon. I. B. Lucas, K. C., have been granted probate of the will and three codicils, by which Dr. Nelson Washington, formerly of Milwaukee, who died in Toronto Feb. 16, disposed of his estate, consisting of $100 in personal effects, $3,364 in the bank, $30,397 secured by mortgages, an auto valued at $900 and 78-80 McCaul st., $13,000. After authorizing his executors to bury him in the burial plot he owns in Orangeville Cemetery or in a plot which they may select, he left an income of $50 a month to his daughter, Florence Blaisdell, Toronto, and the net income from the remainder of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Washington, 35 St. Edmunds Drive, Toronto.

On the death or remarriage of the widow, Mrs. Blaisdell's allowance is to be increased to $100 a month, $200 paid to the testator's nephew, John Groat of Oshawa, in trust for his children, and the remainder of the income paid to the deceased's grandchildren, Dorothy Rowland, Brooklyn; Marjorie Rowland, Margaret and Ruth Blaisdell, Toronto, "provided that none of my said grand-daughters become actresses, appear on the theatrical stage, or marry Roman Catholics," reads the will, which provides that any of the beneficiaries violating these conditions forfeits her interest in the estate. On the death of the grandchildren their heirs inherit.

The testator also directed that legacies of $200 each be paid to the seven children of a brother of the deceased living in Orangeville.

L. LeSage, Bogart, while visiting his uncle, was struck by lightning and is in a serious condition.

One hundred and fifty polling booths will be necessary to take the vote on the referendum in Kent Co.

Tobacco growers in the vicinity of Ridgetown are selling their stock for from 8 to 12 cents a pound. Last year they received 40 cents.

PRIMROSE

We have noticed news in The Banner
from Grasser,
And also from Violet Hill;
But Primrose seems to have been forgotten,
By those who should send news in.

So just for a little pastime,
And to give the people the news,
We are sending some items, that may be
Of interest, at least to a few.

Our general store at the corner,
Is always a lively place,
For "Dave" is a first-rate fellow,
Who has everything up-to-date.

Jim Dodds wears a smile every day now,
And he has good reasons for smiles,
For he hears the school bell pealing,
We're sure he can hear it for miles.

We miss the Fraxa car 'round the corner,
And Morris' buggy takes its place,
(When it doesn't go on to Whitfield)
Oh! It goes at a lively pace!

Elmer is making the best of the weather,
And drives out to town every day,
He says seed-time is surely coming,
And he must get the bird home to stay.

Jack Wilson, we'll miss from among us,
But we know from what we hear,
That he'll come real often to see us,
For a "humble Henry" he'll steer.

The mud on the Prince of Wales
Doesn't worry Harold the least bit,
Since he heard of the fellow from Whitfield
Who came and home didn't get.

For light heartedness and joking,
Lorne seems to have everything beat,
While Norman and Perry seem to be travelling
On the main road to "Bachelor street."

When last we saw Bob at a party,
He seemed to have lost his love for a dance,
For he played "Lost Heir" all the evening,
And it didn't just happen by chance.

As Art Rutledge crosses east on the sideroad,
And drives on up the first line,
He there, most likely, meets Johnny,
On his way to his home to dine.

Lyttle has now the days numbered,
Till his days of cooking will cease,
And Trueman, to picture, shows journeys,
With his dark-eyed girl from the east.

Go to Roy Wilson's home some Sunday morning,
If you've a message to send down to Fred,
If it's later, you'll find there, on calling,
A fair haired fellow instead.

So now, just all please remember,
That Primrose is still on the map,
And if a nice visit you're planning,
Come to this burg and hang up your heat.

"LETTERS FROM THE FRONT, VOL. I"

The above is the title of one of the most appropriate memorial works of the Great War that has yet been published in Canada. The book is issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce to perpetuate the memory of the 1701 young men, employees of the Bank, who enlisted for overseas service in the different branches of the Canadian Army. In the book we have a permanent record of these splendid young men, many of whom had not even militia experience, who left their desks and went to the front from the different branches of this great financial institution. This nation wide service is indicative of the colossal effort the Canadian people made in contributing of the country's men and means to the winning of the war. Many pages of the work are devoted to finely toned portraits of the dead and of the many survivors who gained military honors. The literary contents are largely letters, which tell the story of the war as these young lads saw it. Mr. William Smith Duthie, who saw service overseas, is responsible for the arrangement of the letters and for the explanatory notes which accompany them. In addition there are prefaces by Sir John Aird, the General Manager, and Mr. Foster, the original editor, which explain the scope and purpose of the book.

Unquestionably future writers will find in "Letters from the Front" invaluable historical material and first-hand evidence of the spirit in which these brave young soldiers fought, endured and died. The Bank of Commerce was well inspired and engaged in a truly national service when it set about to publish this intensely interesting and beautiful volume.

WERE HAPPY

Blank had had a day off, and when he returned to the office the following morning his pals wanted to know why he looked so disgruntled.

"Everything went wrong!" grumbled Blank.

"How was that?" one asked.

"Ever go fishing with a girl?"

"Once.'

"Did she protest against hurting the fish?"

"No. She said she was sure they were perfectly happy, because they were all wagging their tails."

A KISS

(Josephine Barrington.)

It trembles on the white lips of the dawn.
I've felt the shadow of its throbbing wings,
It rests on fingers of the morning wan,
Half poised for flight, a thing that sobs and sings.
And beating 'gainst the world's unyielding bars,
It calls my soul to sing unto the stars.

You offered this to me,
I could not mount.
I could not break the world's unyielding bars,
And, oh! I was afraid of the strange road,
The great white road that leads beyond the stars,
For it is full of shadows, and of wraiths,
That leave the soul half frought,
With age-old scars.

You offered this to me,
Sometimes I think,
I could have loved the road
And spurned the scars,
But, ah! I was afraid, I did not learn
From you, the ageless song of morning stars.

The boy surveyed his injured members ruefully.

"Certainly you'll be able to play the piano," said the doctor emphatically.

"Thats funny," remarked the soldier. "I never could play one before."

FREE SHORT COURSE

On Tractors and Power Farming to be Held in Orangeville.

An event that will attract big attention in this district will be the Free Short Course on Tractors and Power Farming to be held in the Gem Theatre, Thursday afternoon, April 7th, commencing at 1.30, and at the Ford Garage, Friday afternoon, April 8th, commencing at 1.30. Everybody will be made welcome at either or both days' proceedings, whether a present or prospective tractor owner or not. Instructive talks will be given by Mr. Murdoch, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and Mr. Fleming, of the Fordson plant, Dearborn, Mich. The free moving pictures to be shown Thursday afternoon are very highly spoken of. "Keeping the Boy on the Farm," is a good film on a timely subject. "A Whale Hunt," shows some of the excitement to be met with in the northern seas. "Farming With a Tractor," gives a good idea of how the extremely useful tractor does its work. "Canada's Inland Waterways," gives you in a few minutes beautiful views of Canadian scenes you could not otherwise get in days of travel. "Soil Moisture and the Germination of a Kernel of Corn" is spoken of as a picture of great educational merit. Miscellaneous pictures will also be shown. The practical course of instruction on tractors and power farming the first day will cover the principles of the gas engine, the tractor motor and its work, conditions for good tractor operation, power farming, belt work. The second day's course will cover cylinder, pistons, pins, connecting rods, crank shaft, valves, ignition, carburetion, clutch, speeds, lubrication of transmission, drive of road wheels, belt pulley, and general points. Those who miss this special short course will miss a really worth while event.

MUCH WORSE

"Have you a little fairy in your home?"

"No, but I have a little miss in my engine."

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

The monthly Consecration meeting of the Epworth League was held last Monday night under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Committee. Miss Dorothy Wright presided. Mrs. O. Banks gave a splendid address on "The Christian Life." Mr. and Mrs. Russell Morrow rendered a delightful musical number.

Next Monday evening will be the annual election of officers. At this meeting the present officers will be given an opportunity of making a report of the work done by the several departments during the past year. All members of the League are requested to be present next Monday night. Come and vote for whoever you think is best qualified to fill the offices for next year.

CAMILLA

Misses Florence and Victoria Parks, of Streetsville, Miss Eva Gallaugher, of Connor, Miss Elsie Curtis, of Hamilton Normal School, and Mr. Fred W. Rayfield, B. A., of Galt Collegiate Institute, have returned to their respective spheres of duty after spending the Easter vacation at their homes here.

Mrs. Harry Gemmell and little son, Neil, of Minneapolis, are staying at the home of Mr. W. H. Gemmell for a time.

Messrs. Albert Curtis and Robert Reid were in Toronto last week attending the annual meeting of the Ontario Trustees' Association. They report a large attendance and some interesting discussions on consolidated schools and kindred subjects.

Thursday night last the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. South gave striking evidence of their esteem by presenting Mr. and Mrs. South with a well-filled purse. The presentation, which was largely attended, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Bell. Mr. J. A. Marshall read the address to the recipients and Mrs. Elias Neil made the presentation. The teacher and pupils of the Camilla school presented Miss Annie South with a valuable fountain pen, the young people of the Endeavour Society made Miss Annie South the gift of a handsome pocket book and on Sunday the teachers and children of the Sunday School voiced their regard for the Misses South by presenting each of the young ladies with a hymn book. Mr. and Mrs. South and family left for their new home in Guelph on Monday, followed by the good wishes of the entire community. They were useful citizens and their loss will be keenly felt in St. Andrew's Church and also by the community at large.

On account of the communion, service will be held in St. Andrew's Church next Sunday afternoon instead of at night.

Mrs. A. Bremner is visiting friends in the city.

Miss Coutts, of Toronto, was a visitor at the Manse Easter week.

NEW STRENGTH FOR VICTIMS OF ANAEMIA

Loss of Strength Follows When the Blood Becomes Thin.

Anaemia is the medical term for thin, watery blood. The sufferer loses strength, becomes short of breath and complains of palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, such as walking upstairs. The lightest task becomes a burden. There is a loss of ambition, the victim loses weight and as the disease progresses the appetite is affected, color fades from cheeks and lips and fainting spells may occur.

Anaemia is not a disease that corrects itself, and if unchecked it progresses steadily. But it can be combatted by good food, fresh air and a proper tonic for the blood. As the blood becomes rich and red under this treatment, the symptoms disappear as in the case of Miss Evelyeen Joyce, Westville, N. S., whose mother says: "Almost from infancy my daughter was very delicate, and was often under the doctor's care. As her father had died of consumption my friends feared she would fall a victim to that dread disease. As the years went by and she was merging into womanhood I began to fear that I would lose her. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I could soon see a change for the better. For the next three years, at intervals, she took the pills, always with the best of results. Now at the age of sixteen she is a fine healthy girl, and I never tire of telling those who see the wonderful change in her condition that she owes it to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Miss Joyce herself says: "It gives me pleasure to confirm the statements made by my mother. Since using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have gained in weight, and from a sickly girl, suffering from headaches, dizziness and a languid feeling, I am now as well as other girls of my age, and I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NOTHING TO EQUAL BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Georges Lefebvre, St. Zenon, Que., writes: "I do not think there is any other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones. I have used them for my baby and would use nothing else." What Mrs. Lefebvre says thousands of other mothers say. They have found by trial that the Tablets always do just what is claimed of them. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus banish indigestion, constipation, colds, colic, etc. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

KIND WORDS FOR MR. MORRIS

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Trustees' Association in Toronto last week, Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, was unanimously re-elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Association. Mr. Morris held this important office last year and it was almost entirely due to his zeal and energy in the cause of education that the attendance of trustees last week reached the unprecedented number of about fifteen hundred representing all parts of Ontario. Heretofore the attendance had usually been about one hundred and fifty. In his address on Thursday morning, Hon. Mr. Grant, the Minister of Education, spoke very highly of Mr. Morris and his services to his Department. The following extract from last Saturday's Globe also indicates the high value that is placed on the work accomplished by Mr. Morris:—

"It would be difficult to overestimate the service rendered to Ontario by the Rev. Mr. Morris and those associated with him in promoting the attendance of the trustees at this week's meeting of the Ontario Educational Association. Convocation Hall packed with trustees was one of the most inspiring sights in the educational history of Canada. The fact that the majority of them were rural trustees was greatly significant. It would be hard to find a more responsive audience, or one more keenly awake."

GREAT OIL BOOM IN Peace River District Of Northern Alberta

FORTUNES IN OIL

The following are a few examples of what a Hundred Dollars invested in the early stages of the Burkburnett field, Texas, produced:

$100 invested in the Fowler Farm Oil Company returned $15,000 within fifteen months.

Investors in the Marine Oil Company received $3,300 for every $100 they invested.

$3,300 was paid to the shareholders of the Burke Wagonner Company for every $100 invested.

The United Oil Company paid their shareholders approximately 2300 per cent. within two years of the date of their investment.

An investment in the Coline Oil Company of $100 yielded $72,000.

Other Examples:

$100 INVESTED IN	Made
New York Oil Co...	$ 3,000
Parrafine Oil Co...	4,000
Kern Oil Co.	4,500
Fullerton Oil Co. ..	6,000
Cleveland Oil Co. ..	7,800
Central Oil Co. ..	10,000
Pinol Oil Co.	10,500
Alcado Oil Co.	30,000
Lucille Oil Co.	16,400
Homerun Oil Co. ..	40,000

Canada is entering upon the greatest oil boom in history. This is the unanimous verdict of oil experts in all parts of America and Great Britain: newspapers, financial men and the general public from one end of the country to the other.

"The Financial Times," of Montreal, March 5th last, said:

"Canada has had its mining booms, its lumber and wheat and other booms and its real estate booms a-plenty, but heretofore (has mercifully been spared an oil boom. It is a vain hope, however, that the experience of past booms will be of much service in protecting us against ourselves in the oil boom, which, if indications do not fail, we are about to enter.

"Speaking broadly, we cannot have booms without something fairly substantial whereon to base them. To this extent we may look with equanimity upon the coming of the oil boom. If there is one thing more than another in the way of natural resources which the world is looking for at the present juncture, it is oil."

"The Toronto Globe," under recent date, quoted Dr. J. A. Allen, of Alberta University, as declaring to the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy that Alberta "was on the verge of what might be the greatest oil boom that had ever occurred on the American continent."

In an editorial, February 21st last, "The Toronto Globe," under heading of "To Pay the War Debt," said:

"On the eastern side of the Rocky Mountains, in the valleys of the Mackenzie and Peace Rivers, stretching almost a thousand miles from north to south, lies one of the great potential oil fields of the world. It has been proved at only a few places, including Fort Norman, on the Mackenzie, where the Imperial Oil Company struck oil early last fall, but there is no doubt in the minds of the scientists who have been examining the territory that oil will be found over an area estimated at 300,000 square miles in extent."

Bootleggers and Whiskey Smugglers are Disgracing Canada

On April 18 Abolish Importation by voting YES

Since January 1, 1920, thousands and thousands of gallons of Whiskey, Gin, Brandy and High Wines have been shipped into Ontario.

Express shipments alone for a long period averaged four to six cars per day, and have run as high as eight!

Four car loads a day means at least 19,200 quarts daily, or over 5,000,000 quarts per year. And yet the people of Ontario voted to make prohibition the permanent law!

This imported "Booze" is the stuff which enables the "Bootlegger" to carry on his illegal trade, and allows "Rum Runners" and "Whiskey Smugglers" to disgrace Canada.

Officers of the law are set at defiance.

Read what the Chairman of the Board of License Commissioners says himself.

Importation Makes Law Enforcement Difficult

"After an experience in the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act covering the period from its first coming into force in September, 1916, I am in a position to state that importation is seriously hampering its effectiveness. The War Measures Act was repealed in January 1920, and the Dominion Orders-in-Council under the Act were rescinded. Heavy shipments of liquor into the province began at once. The number of cases of breach of the Ontario Temperance Act have increased in even greater proportion."—From a Statement by the Chairman of Board of License Commissioners for Ontario.

Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?	NO
Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?	YES X

THE QUESTION OF THE HOUR

Many an Ontario farmer is figuring out just what is the least expenditure he can make this spring so as to get as much net profit as possible when the year is closed.

One of the items that faces him is whether or not he shall buy fertilizers for his money crops.

True, it costs money to put fertilizers on his grain, roots and corn, but it is a "quick turning" investment—and not a dead expense.

Here are points to keep in mind, if you are puzzling over this problem:

1. Fertilizers increase yields.

Used on wheat, fertilizers have made increases of 10 to 18 bus. per acre.

On oats the increase has amounted to 20 bus. per acre.

On potatoes last summer the increase from 750 lbs. per acre, fertilizer amounted to 79 bus.

On hay fertilizers have made an increase of ½ to 1 ton per acre.

2. Fertilizers improve quality.

Fertilized corn ripened 10 days to 2 weeks earlier than unfertilized corn. Ripened corn makes materially better silage than unripe corn.

Fertilized wheat at Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station turned out 94 p.c. plump and 6 p.c. shrivelled against unfirtilized wheat which was 51 p.c. plump and 49 p.c. shrivelled.

Fertilized oats analysed by Minnesota Experiment Station showed 6 p.c. more protein than unfertilized.

3. Fertilized grain seeded to clover and timothy nearly always means that you get a first-class catch of grass and clover.

4. Fertilized crops have made much greater net income for the farmer than unfertilized.

The 1920 report from Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, Indiana, tells of yields of two farms compared; one fertilized the other unfertilized.

Here are acre yields from fields of the rotation on both farms:

	Corn Bus.	Wheat Bus.	Hay Lbs.
Fertilized crops	77.2	25.5	4252
Unfertilized crops	30	10	2000
Value of increase			$230.00
Cost of fertilizing			63.00
Gain			$167.00

This is the acid-test of fertilizing. Will it pay to fertilize the crops—especially the money crops—or the crops that you sell?

The few results quoted above are only a small number from the great volume of testimony accumulating year by year.

This testimony or experience points unmistakably to the conclusion that you cannot afford to expend labor on low-yielding crops, but that you can greatly increae your labor income by adding to the plant-food on the farm.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. WHERE DID THE MONEY GO

Two hundred and fifty Knights of Columbus recently visited the Holy Father in Rome, representing the Order in Canada and the United States. The cost of such a large delegation would be a large sum of money. Where did it come from? Supreme Knight Flaherty stated in Ottawa that forty million dollars was raised for war work. Were the expenses of the trip taken out of that fund? The public who contributed have a right to know.

An underground agitation against the Y. M. C. A. compelled that Association to publish an audited statement showing how the funds raised for Y. M. C. A. work were expended. There are much stronger reasons for a similar statement being published by the K. of C. That organization did not raise its forty million dollar fund until the last months of the war. It could not have spent all on the soldiers. There was time to spend but a very small part of it for the purposes to which the public contributed. How much of it has been spent on the soldiers, how much on joy trips, and where did the rest of it go? Common honesty demands an accounting such as the Y. M. C. A. gave. Is the public to get that information.—Orange Sentinel.

MAXIMS FOR KEEPING YOUNG

The Fountain of Youth is a fountain of new Ideas and Ambitions. Men are coming to believe that a wide awake mind stimulates the body, to renew and sustain itself; some keep their minds in sullen opposition to new ideas; and there is no surer way to grow old young. The thing that keeps us young is the stream of new ideas and interests that tingle through us. Not only must we be a thinker, but we must have sources of ideas outside of ourselves. Any person is young who discovers new ability in themselves.

Three deadly symptoms of old age—Selfishness, Stagnation, Intolerance.

Three defences which will make us die young—Sympathy, Progress, Tolerance.

Don't think you are old, or you behave as if you were old. Premature old age only attacks those who are susceptible to it. Refuse to acknowledge it and you will learn something of the secret of perpetual youth.

Keep up with the times. Don't fall behind the procession. To accomplish this learn one new fact every day. The mind that is satisfied to live upon the lessons it learned in its youth soon becomes old and musty. To keep young it must be fresh and active—that is abreast of the times. The old methods of thought and the old facts may have been correct enough once upon a time, but that time has passed. To-day they are obsolete, and only amusing, as relics of antiquity. To remain young therefore, one must keep the storehouse of the memory clear of all such rubbish. Throw away one of the mildewed relics every day and replace it with some newer, fresher and more up-to-date fact.

Keep the mind youthful. Live in the present with all the other young people. Don't get to be reminiscent. Let the old people talk about the past, for the mere act of thinking about old things reminds the mind of its years. Reminiscences are dangerous whether they are soothing, or sweet, or sad, for they characterise old age and must be sedulously avoided by those who would be ever young.

Don't worry, either about the past or future. Worry, of whatever kind, banishes contentment, and contentment is a necessity of youth.—From the pocket notebook of Victoria Evangeline Dynes, Beaverdell, B. C.

"IS WITHOUT AN EQUAL," SHE SAYS

Both Herself and Daughter Think Tanlac is Grand, Declares Hamilton Woman.

"Tanlac is certainly the best medicine I ever saw or heard of, for it has done my daughter and myself both a world of good," was the statement made by Mrs. Alice Young, of 158 Catherine St., South, Hamilton, Ont.

"Before I began taking it I had suffered from stomach trouble until I was in such a weak and run-down condition I scarcely had any strength at all. I had no appetite, and what little I did eat caused awful pains and gas which pressed up around my heart and almost cut off my breath. What little sleep I got was in cat-naps, and mornings I got up feeling as bad as if I hadn't been asleep at all, and was often so weak and dizzy I just had to sit down for a time. I had awful headaches, and the back of my neck hurt terribly at times.

"But the first bottle of Tanlac I took got me well started on the road to recovery, and now my appetite is simply fine and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. I sleep like a child nights, and mornings I feel refreshed and ready for my housework. In fact I feel fine and my daughter and I both think Tanlac is just grand."

Orangeville, Ont. Canada.

The De Laval puts money in the bank
MONEY in the bank is the final test of any piece of farm equipment. It is especially true of a cream separator.
Butter-fat is the most valuable product of the farm. Twice a day, every day in the year, gravity skimming or a poorly constructed separator wastes this high-priced food.
A De Laval Cream Separator stops this loss of profit. It supplies the extra money that is needed for current expenses, improvements about the farm, or for the purchase of new stock.
More than 2,500,000 De Lavals are in daily use throughout the world. These De Laval owners represent the most progressive and most prosperous farmers in every country and locality.
A De Laval Cream Separator will make your farm more profitable, too, and put money in the bank for you.
You can buy a De Laval on such terms that it will earn the cost from extra profits while you are using it. Come in and talk it over

THE HOSPITAL BY-LAW.

Reasons Why The Hospital By-Law Should Be Carried.

1. The demand requires a larger building.

2. The overcrowding is yearly condemned by the Inspector and to secure the Government Grant, the Government requirements as to overcrowding must be complied with.

3. A maternity ward apart from the patients' has become absolutely necessary.

4. The laundry has become such an expense as to make a laundry in connection with the Hospital a necessity.

What The Hospital Means as an Asset.

1. In the event of accident to your self there is a place to receive immediate treatment.

2. In the event of sickness in the home there is a place for the patient, where the best of care can be received without interfering with the home routine.

3. A trained nurse is always available in any emergency.

4. It is a town industry, the upkeep of which means the expenditure of about $10,000 a year in Orangeville.

What the Hospital Means as a Liability if the By-Law Carries.

1. Less than $1.50 a year of an increase in taxes for every $1,000 of assessment. The cheapest insurance premium you can secure.

Why An Extension to the Hospital is Necessary.

When the Hospital was established eight years ago with provision for twelve patients it was generally conceded that the capacity was ample for years to come. Gradually the success of the institution has increased the demand. More people realize that the best scientific treatment and care can only be had in an institution equipped for the purpose and at less cost than it is possible to have trained nurses in their homes. Skilled surgeons preferred to perform operations in Hospitals instead of in homes. These various causes have increased the number of patients of the Hospital with a capacity of twelve up to a maximum, at times, of twenty-three. The overcrowding of the Hospital is not to the advantage of the patients. It also necessitates the Superintendent giving up her room quite frequently. Yet at times people are turned away. It has been necessary of late to have the nurses room out of the Hospital and not closely in touch with the Superintendent. If the nurses had their quarters within the Hospital it would make the entire staff easily accessible to meet all emergencies.

The $15,000 grant to the Hospital will increase the capacity to thirty-five wards. This will take care of the increased demands that have already overcrowded the institution and will provide a surplus of wards to take care of emergencies such as the influenza outbreak of a few winters ago. A modern laundry will be provided, which will make a large saving in laundry bills and lengthen the life of the linen. A section of the present Hospital will be fixed for a nurses' residence. This will better the conditions of the staff, who have made so many sacrifices for the betterment of the patients.

What the Government Says About Lord Dufferin Hospital.

The following are extracts from the report of Dr. McKay, Provincial Government Inspector of Hospitals, concerning Orangeville Hospital:—

"It would appear that a larger hospital is required for Orangeville and the surrounding district, and that the community as a whole should take up the question of hospital work, each individual doing what he or she can.

"One of the greatest needs at present is a proper maternity ward and nursery.

"A maternity department is one of the most important in any hospital.

"Considering everything, the result of the inspection was satisfactory, but it is hoped that a new era in hospital work in Orangeville will not be too long delayed."

Hospital Finances.

Lord Dufferin is the only hospital in the Dominion of Canada that is out of debt. It is not run as a money making scheme. It is run only for the benefit of humanity. Through the efficient management of the staff and officials there has always been a surplus. Last year's financial statement shows:—

Income	$9323.41
Expenses	$8890.29
Surplus	$ 433.12

This is truly a remarkable record when compared with the other hospitals in Canada, and considering the fact that the charges made are among the lowest—over 25 p.c. lower than any city hospital. Wards are provided at rates as low as $10 per week up to $20—much less than a trained nurse would cost in your home.

In practically every case where there are hospitals the whole expense of building and maintaining is borne by the municipality. The larger portion of them are constantly procuring funds from the public treasury. Cities and towns find that money donated to hospitals accomplishes more than when given to any other cause. In Orangeville most of the cost of the present hospital has been raised by profits on entertainments, etc. Expenses have always been met out of revenue. The hospital assets at present amount to over $17,000.

As a matter of fact the Daughters of the Empire have established, financed and operated the Hospital for eight years. In asking for a grant for $15,000, it seems smaller assistance than usually has been given industrial concerns or other institutions locating in a town and yet this small assistance will give a greater return to the community than any similar investment. There is absolutely no risk as the Hospital has stood the test of time (passed the experimental stage), and has proven its ability to become a permanent institution.

The cost in taxes will amount to only $1.40 annually per $1,000 assessment. Surely a trivial amount for such large returns.

CHANGES IN REGULATIONS

An amendment has recently been made to the regulation respecting the requirements for an Elementary certificate in Agriculture. A student, who has completed satisfactorily the courses in Agriculture in both the Lower and Middle Schools, will be given an Interim Elementary certificate in Agriculture after such student will have completed his Normal School Course. For such student a Summer Course in Agriculture is, therefore, not required.

Another change has been made in the method of payment of expenses incurred by those attending the Summer Courses in Agriculture for teachers, to take effect in the Session of 1921, at each of the three centres: O. A. C., Whitby and Macteith. Heretofore the teacher paid for his board and lodging on commencing the session and the money was refunded to him after the close of that session. In 1921 the teacher will pay nothing for board and lodging, the Department of Education undertaking to settle for such expense directly with the authorities who provide the accommodation. The railway expenses will be managed in 1921 in the same way as in 1920.

REFERENDUM NOTES

By voting to stop importation Ontario will cut off the liquor supply at its source. A "YES" majority next Monday will ensure bone-dry prohibition.

One of the first duties of every good citizen is to exercise the franchise. Do not shirk the issue next Monday. Go to the polls and vote "YES."

The people of Ontario have banished the licensed barroom and its attendant evils. By voting "YES" on Monday they will banish the drink evil from the homes.

Cut off the supply and stop the stream. Vote to prohibit importation and strike an effective blow at the source of the liquor that is finding its way into Ontario.

The question at issue next Monday, "Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?" Can you do otherwise than answer "YES?"

What good has strong drink ever done you? What good has it ever done any of your friends? Do you owe the traffic anything? Is there one valid reason why you should not vote "YES" next Monday?

Ontario has already voted to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquor within the Province. The next logical step is to prohibit its importation from outside the Province. Ontario can secure this prohibition by voting an emphatic "YES" next Monday.

If the importation of liquor is allowed it will always be a very difficult matter for officers of the law and the courts to determine whether it is being brought in for legal or illegal purposes. The sure way to avoid trouble is to stop importation and this the people have the opportunity to do by voting "YES" next Monday.

You may lose a few hours good seeding weather by going out to vote "YES" on Monday, but if there is not a "YES" majority three years must elapse before you will have another chance to cast your vote to prohibit the importation of intoxicating liquor into Ontario. Are you, as a decent, law-abiding and law-respecting citizen, willing to allow the bootleggers and rum-runners to work their will for another three years?

The law of the Province of Ontario prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes. To sell and sell persistently is to set at defiance the law of the Province and this is exactly what the bootleggers, the rum-runners and their employers are doing. The citizen who does not go to the polls and vote "YES" next Monday says by his action that he is quite satisfied to allow this brazen and disgraceful defiance of the law to continue.

If the importation of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes is prohibited the law will be given a chance at the manufacturers. It will no longer be a case of punishment for the individual bootlegger and rum-runner. It will then be possible to get after the manufacturers and the big wholesale houses that are able at the present time to operate with impunity. When the wholesale end of the business comes within reach of the law it will make a mighty difference in the situation.

"With the passing of the referendum you will have the liquor trade where it will be definitely possible to control it. Having got it in that shape—having practically wiped out the beverage—YOU WILL HAVE A GENERATION OF YOUNG PEOPLE GROWING UP WHO KNOW NOT THE TASTE OF ALCOHOLIC LIQUOR. You will have trouble while a few of THE OLD STAGERS LAST, BUT LIQUOR WILL BE OUT OF BUSINESS AS AFFECTING THE NEW GENERATION."—Premier E. C. Drury.

When the date for the vote was fixed for April 18th rural Ontario was placed in a position where it might be faced with either of two serious disadvantages when the vote was taken—a backward spring and impassable roads or an early spring with everybody on the farms busy seeding. If either contingency should occur it is up to the temperance electors of the townships to prove that these obstacles—even if serious—will not prevent them from getting out to the polls. Better to lose a few hours of good seeding weather or to spend a few hours on wretched roads than to miss the chance of striking a blow at the great enemy of happiness, order and better living conditions in this fair Province.

It is said that some good temperance people are indifferent as to the outcome of the vote next Monday because they are disgusted with the apparently lax enforcement of the existing prohibitory law. Citizens who are inclined to take this attitude would do well to remember that for the past eighteen months the liquor interests have been using every possible means to discredit the Ontario Temperance Act and bring about exactly the state of opinion that we have just described. It has cost them a mint of money in fines, confiscated liquors and other penalties, but they will not mind that if they can secure a "No" majority at the polls next Monday. Their object is transparent and the temperance elector who allows himself to become disgusted for this reason is an easy mark.

To-day the probibition situation in this province is determined by the Ontario Temperance Act, which prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes and forbids the keeping, having or giving of liquor in any place other than a private house. If Ontario votes "YES" next Monday the Ontario Temperance Act will still continue to be the backbone of our prohibitory law, but its provisions will be supplemented and strengthened by the Federal Act commonly known as "Bill 26," and by a Provincial amendment known as the "Liquor Transportation Act," or the "Sandy Bill." Bill 26 makes it an offence "to import, send, take or transport" any intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes into Ontario or any other province in Canada that has prohibited the sale of liquor within its boundaries. It also makes it an offence to "manufacture or sell liquor to be unlawfully imported, sent, taken or transported into" provinces that have prohibited the sale of liquor. The Sandy Bill makes it an offence for any person by himself, his servant or agent, to transport, carry, deliver, receive or take delivery of liquor in the Province of Ontario if such liquor is for sale of consumption within the Province. If Ontario votes "YES" next Monday Bill 26 and the Sandy Bill will become operative by Orders-in-Council, so that the Province will have the benefit of three separate enactments driving at the liquor evil from three different directions. Does the situation not remind our readers somewhat of the Great War situation when the Allies smashed the Hindenburg line and their victorious forces pressed back the discouraged armies of the Kaiser on all parts of the battle front. The people of Ontario can smash the Hindenburg line of the liquor traffic by rolling up a decisive "YES" majority next Monday. A "YES" majority will strike a real death blow at this longtime enemy of the human race.

THANKFUL MOTHERS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she would use nothing else. The Tablets give such results that the mother has nothing but words of praise and thankfulness for them. Among the thousands of mothers throughout Canada who praise the Tablets is Mrs. David A Anderson, New Glasgow, N. S., who writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and from my experience I would not be without them. I would urge every other mother to keep a box of the Tablets in the house." The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION

OLD METHODS OF FARMING GIVING PLACE TO NEW

Old methods of farming giving place to new were brought graphically before the minds of those who attended the free moving pictures and lectures on farming given in the Gem Theatre on Thursday afternoon, April 7th, when five reels of pictures were shown, entitled: "Farming With the Tractor," "Keeping the Boy on the Farm," "The Hamilton Plowing Match," "Preparing the Seed Bed," and "The Germination of a Kernel of Corn." All the pictures were remarkably good, but special mention must be made of the last two. These pictures are second to none on this continent in that they treat of soil moisture in clay and sandy soils, the application of humus, proper plowing and soil tillage, the rise of water from the sub-soil to the seed bed, and the germination of two kernels of corn—one in a good seed bed, properly prepared, and the other in a cloddy seed bed. In this film the corn is shown sprouting and growing before the eye. Everybody voted it a remarkable tribute to photographic art. The pictures alone were worth a good concert admission fee, and J. E. Smith & Co., local Ford dealers, are to be congratulated on securing the co-operation of the Ford Motor Company of Canada in putting on this most instructive and entertaining programme. Mr. Murdock spoke on 'Power Farming, its advantages and how it pays.' Briefly his address may be summed up as follows: Firstly—The reasons a farmer buys a tractor are twofold. Either he may farm his land more intensively, or he may acquire and farm more land than he now possesses. Secondly—The tractor is the only solution for the serious weed problem which confronts Ontario Farmers to-day. Thirdly—With a tractor a farmer would be able to cultivate or plow fields not seeded down, right after harvest, thereby turning down the stubble and trash, burying eggs of injurious insects, conserving the moisture in the seed bed and putting the land in a better state of tilth for fall plowing. Here the speaker dwelt upon the importance of having the seed bed in a fine state of tilth. The pictures, graphically illustrated the excellent results from this good practice and greatly supplemented his remarks. Fourthly—"One of the greatest advantages in power farming," said the speaker, "lies in the fact that with a power outfit, a man is able to get all his fall plowing done." He instanced the case of one man farming 360 acres whose threshing bill last year was for 5 1-2 days. This man has never driven a tractor but his fourteen-year-old son did all the plowing last fall. Fifthly—As a power plant the tractor develops 20.4 h.p. on the belt as 1000 revolutions per minute and in this connection the picture showed the little tractor threshing, grinding grain, cutting corn, filling silos ,sawing wood, and at other jobs on the farm. It did each job efficiently and well and promises to aid very materially in saving corn and crops. Sixthly—"The indirect results from the use of a tractor probably produce more revenue than the tangible results." The speaker illustrated this statement by citing the case of a farmer who found time after having a tractor, to prune, spray and cultivate an old, neglected orchard and make it produce a revenue. Altogether the afternoon was entertaining, instructive and profitable. A large attendance of local farmers enjoyed the afternoon course.

Mr. Fleming's excellent address on the Tractor motor and his demonstration of important points in the operation, care and repair of the tractor, as J. E. Smith & Co.'s warerooms on Friday afternoon, was also greatly enjoyed by the farmers present.

The eye is the most sensitive organ of the human structure. It has many ways of giving the alarm for help.

Smarting eyelids; A pain behind the eyeballs; A pain in the temples; A drowsy, sleepy feeling.

These are a few of the signals. Do not refuse to answer their call. We have the remedy and the knowledge of how to apply the remedy.

Let us examine your eyes and fit you with the proper glasses. The more difficult the case the better we like it.

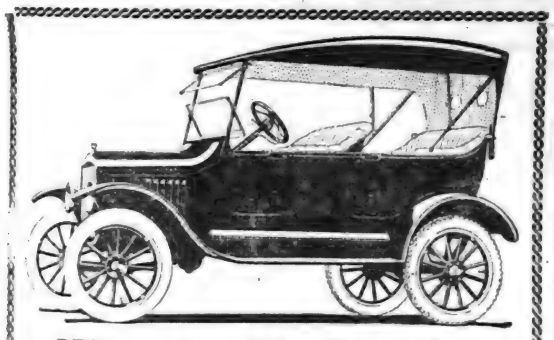
STILL MADE A NOISE

An Italian fruit dealer was caught in the railroad yards in his Ford truck. Becoming excited, he killed his engine, stopping the truck on the track, from which it was knocked by a switch engine. Next day a friend asked him if the car was badly damaged. "Yes," replied the Italian, "he pretty bad smasha up." Did it damage the engine very much?" "No I tinka not. De horn he stilla blow."



Why the Ford is the "Universal Car"

DOWN among the orchards of Nova Scotia, the farms of New Brunswick, on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal, Yonge Street in Toronto, Portage Avenue in Winnipeg, on the far flung horizons of Saskatchewan and Alberta, up through the mountains of British Columbia, down Granville Street in Vancouver, on Government Street in Victoria—it's the same story—half of all the cars you see are Ford cars. In many sections they are two to one of all the other makes.

And it's the same story in Africa, Australia, Britain, Europe. United States—throughout the world one half of all motors on earth are Fords.

Why?

Because the simplicity of the Ford Car adapts it to the driver.

Because the power of the Ford Car enables it wherever the driver wants to go.

Because its durability and ruggedness make it the car for every condition of usage.

Because of its low first cost and low cost of operation and maintenance.

The Ford Car is a good car for you to own.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

MRS. BEN COOK, SR.

A lifelong resident of Caledon was called to her eternal reward last week in the person of Mrs. Isabella Cook, wife of Mr. Ben Cook, Sr., who passed away at her home, lot 16, conc. 3, east, late on Thursday, April 7th, after a short illness from pneumonia. Mrs. Cook, who was in her 76th year, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David McMaster and has since resided in Caledon. She was a kindly, unassuming woman who was devoted to the welfare of her home and family. As a neighbor she was held in the highest regard and the news of her demise brought sorrow to a large circle of friends. She was one of the old members of St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, and had always been a very faithful attendant at the Sunday services. She is survived by her aged husband, himself in indifferent health, and a married son, Mr. D. C. Cook, of Caledon. These and the other relatives have the sympathy of the whole community in their loss. Mrs. Jas. Henry Orangeville and Mrs. T. Brimacomb, Loverna, Sask., are sisters, Dr. David McMaster Miami Fla. and Dr. Alexander McMaster, of Los Angeles, Cal., are the surviving brothers. The funeral was held to Greenwood cemetery on Saturday afternoon, Rev. W. M. Morris conducting the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. W. A. and Harold Dowling, John E. Cook, Ben Robinson, Wm. Cook and Geo. Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married 46 years ago—and have lived on the 3rd line, Caledon, 43 years.

Mrs. J. B. Lindsey, an old resident of the Hockley neighborhood, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hilborn Donaldson, lot 8, 6th line, east, Mono, on Saturday last at the ripe age of 76 years. Deceased had been ill for some time with a severe attack of bronchitis followed by pneumonia. Mrs. Lindsey was the widow of the late J. B. Lindsey, V. S., who died a few years ago. She had made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson for the last year. The funeral was held to St. John's Church cemetery, 7th line, Mono, at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

MRS. JAS. RAYBURN

The death of Mrs. Rayburn, widow of the late James Rayburn, of Caledon, occurred at the home of her son, Mr. Jos. E. Rayburn, Wellington St., on Thursday evening, April 7th. Deceased, who was 88 years old last August, had been in failing health for a considerable period and had been confined to her bed since last October. Mrs. Rayburn, whose maiden name was Sarah Clugston, was born in Armagh, Ireland, and came to Canada with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clugston, when only eleven years of age. The family settled in Brampton, where she spent the remainder of her girlhood. After her marriage to Mr. Rayburn, the young couple settled at Silvercreek in Caledon township, where they resided for eight years and then moved to Caledon, where the subject of our sketch lived until five years ago, when she came to Orangeville with her son. Of a family of four sons and five daughters, four are dead and five survive their mother. The living are three sons, Jos. E., Orangeville, J. W., Toronto, and Jas. A., in Saskatchewan, and two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Emack, Orangeville, and Mrs. C. W. Hewitt, Boskung ,Ont. Deceased was a warm hearted, kindly woman, who was well-liked by her neighbors and held in the highest esteem by the community at large. She settled on a bush farm in Caledon when a young woman and had experienced her full share of the hardships, trials and discouragements of pioneer life. She was a steadfast member of the Presbyterian church and became a member of St. Andrew's Church shortly after moving to this town. There was a goodly attendance of sorrowing friends and neighbors at the funeral, which was held to Caledon cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. M. Morris, the family pastor, conducted services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. R. J. McConnell, Wm. McConnell, Sam Hughson, Wm. Bradley, Walter Fairbairn and Allen McKinnon.

WILLIAM HARRISON

Mr. William Harrison, an old and highly respected resident of the township of Caledon, passed away early on Wednesday evening, April 6th, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thos Delaney, Mill St., west, Brampton. Deceased had been in poor health for a considerable time, but was usually well enough to go about. He was only bedfast for a week prior to his demise. The late Mr. Harrison was born on lot 23, Centre Road, Caledon, and had resided continuously in that township until about two years ago, when he went to Brampton to live with his daughter. His wife predeceased him about nine years ago. The surviving members of his family are two sons, Elmer, of Alton, and Harry living in Toronto, and four daughters, Mrs. Thos. Delaney and Mrs. Samuel M. Delaney, living in Brampton, Mrs. J. M. Delaney, of Alton, and Mrs. Thos. H. Bracken, of Caledon. Deceased is the last surviving member of his family. He was a man of very quiet manner and industrious habits, an excellent neighbor and a law-abiding and law-respecting citizen of the community. He took a lively interest in educational matters and served as school trustee in Caledon for a number of years. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and a pronounced Liberal in politics. Rev. Mr. Sparling, of Brampton, held a short service at the bereaved home in Brampton on Thursday night. The remains were brought to Orangeville for burial on Friday morning, the funeral taking place from the C. P. R. station to the Forest Lawn Cemetery. Rev. W. M. Morris, Orangeville, and Rev. W. N. Carr, Alton, were the officiating ministers. The pallbearers were six grandsons, W. Delaney, A. Harrison, R. Delaney, E. Delaney, C. Delaney and Osburn Bracken. A number of beautiful floral tributes bore mute testimony to the esteem and sorrow of friends of the departed man.

Among the relatives here from a distance for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Delaney, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Delaney and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Delaney, of Brampton, Mrs. Foster, Mr. Frank Harrison and Mrs. Alex. Adamson, of Toronto.

Grandmother came to this House a Bride

SHE came into it perhaps 60 years ago, she enriched it with all the romance of youth, the experience of maturity and, thanks to its wonderful preservation, she was permitted to spend the evening of her life amid the old familiar walls.

And to-day it still stands—a trifle old-fashioned in architecture perhaps—but in every essential, a home rich in memories and a silent tribute to the wisdom of protection against decay.

BACK FROM OIL FIELDS

EDMONTON MEN HOME AFTER 3000 MILE WINTER TRIP.

Believe That Fort Norman Field Has Great Possibilities.

Arriving in Edmonton on the Alberta and Great Waterways train from Fort McMurray late Tuesday afternoon, Tony Neis, Victor Dumont and Melgar Cardinal, three of four Edmonton men who left this city Dec. 1st, for the Fort Norman oil fields, are the first to return, having made the round trip of almost three thousand miles, 2,500 of which were mushed with dog teams in dead of winter.

Looking very fit, despite the many hardships on the trail during the four months, "Tony," interviewed by The Bulletin Tuesday night, gave some interesting sidelights on the trip, which he describes as one on which a man would do well not to embark on unless well stocked with provisions and carrying a well-filled purse.

Owing to the scarcity and high price of provisions in the far north, he has a vivid remembrance of one supper for his dogs alone, costing the neat bill of $45, or an average of $3 per dog, the sole article on the dog menu consisting of fish.

Oil in Quantities

That there is oil in enormous quantities at Fort Norman, is the firm belief of Mr. Neiss, who is one of the first to bring to Edmonton spot information of the petroleum industry there, since the big strike of the Imperial Oil Company at Fort Norman. He believes that adequate transportation and development are the only factors which are required to prove to the world that a boundless oil field has been discovered in Northern Canada.

A singular sidelight on the trip is described by Mr. Neis in the fact that having posted a letter at Fort Simpson for Edmonton, 340 miles this side of Norman, on the way up, proceeding to Norman, staking claims and returning he had the experience of beating his own mail to Edmonton, the letter being due to arrive in this city on the next train from McMurray. Mr. Neiss and party passed the mail which contained the letter at Fort Chipewayan, 190 miles north of Fort McMurray. The letter was addressed to Garnet Chambers, of the Brown Investment Company, next to Macdonald Hotel.

A record trip was established by Mr. Neiss and party on the 190 mile stretch between Chipewayan and McMurray, the party making this distance in just two and a half days. "Tony" describes the trip of Billy George to Norman and return as the quickest made to the oil fields this winter, George having left Edmonton about December 23rd, and arriving on the same train from McMurray here Tuesday aftrenoon. From Fort Simpson to Edmonton Billy George travelled with Tony's party, A. S. Rankin, old timer of the Yukon, who also arrived on Tuesday's train, following immediately in the rear from Norman for almost the entire distance.

$2,000 for Round Trip

Neis and George arrived in McMurray March 25th, at noon, Rankin striking the northern gateway town just a day later and in time to make the Edmonton train. Mr. Neis estimates the cost of the round-trip for an individual at $2,000, stating that it would be well to be prepared to greatly exceed this figure if contemplating a trip.

En route to Norman from Edmonton, Tony Neis had the misfortune to break a toe on an ice pinnacle while crossing Willow Lake, between Providence and Simpson, thus necessitating keeping entirely off the ground for the next fifteen days. Despite this handicap Neis never lost a day's travelling owing to the mishap, but riding in one of the sleighs, pressed on to his Arctic goal.

Priests are Prospectors' Friends

Mr. Neis describes hospitality and kindness of the priests of the Catholic missions along the whole route of travel as a great boon to the man on the trail. The furthest of these missions is at Red River, in the Arctic circle, 500 miles north of Fort Norman, the long line of these outposts of truly Christian effort extending from there to Fort McMurray, almost three thousand miles.

Pioneers in the real sense of the word, for the good of humanity, such is the enterprise and sacrifice of these Catholic priests that on the north shore of Great Slave Lake, over 300 miles from any recognized route of travel, a lone mission is maintained, the late priest of which was unfortunately drowned this winter with his dog team while on an errand of mercy to one of this distant habitants of the country.

The coldest weather experienced on the entire trip was 47 degrees below zero, the party sleeping out in the open over 25 nights in temperatures ranging from 30 to 40 degrees below. Scraping the snow down to the ground level for a fire-place and sleeping room, it was a nightly task to dig through three or four feet of the beautiful before the travellers of the trail could think of having much needed rest. At no time on the trail, states Mr. Neis, was any scarcity of firewood experienced, many stretches of the Mackenzie and other waterways having large quantities of good merchantable timber along their courses.

Jap is a Prospector

Tony Neis and party met Waddo, the Jap, accompanied by four native guides, at Blackwater, between Fort Wrigley and Fort Norman, the little yellow man appearing to be in the best of health and making strenuous efforts to reach his ultimate goal, Norman. When met with, Waddo was feeding quantities of butter, corn beef and rice to his dogs in order to get through, having run out of all other provisions.

Carrying a letter of credit on the Northern Trading Company, Tony found this missive to be a boon in getting supplies at the various posts en route far from the pale of civilization. Three teams composed the husky equipment on the way up of thirteen dogs, the return stretch from Chipewayan being run with five huskies.—Edmonton Bulletin.

NEW WAY TO RAISE WRECKS

Still another method is being tried for raising wrecks from great depths. The latest thing in this work is hypodermic salvage. It is found that in vessels loaded with bags of rice, grain and malt it is possible to give them, so to speak, a hypodermic injection of compressed air. A sufficient quantity of this air is retained in the mass to make it buoyant. It is then possible to float the grain from one point to another without its losing its quality. The compressed air is forced into the grain by means of a "needle," formed by a length of brass pipe pointed at the end so that it can be jabbed deeply into the package. Every bag, so to speak, becomes a bubble. By shifting the bags about in the hold, the lifting power can be consecrated and exerted at the desired point.

FOR FUEL COMMISSION

We have just received a copy of the Saskatoon Daily Star of April 1st, containing a large sized photo of J. A. Maharg, M. P. for the constituency of Maple Creek, Sask. Mr. Maharg, who is a prominent figure in the Progressive Party in the House of Commons, is one of the men suggested by Premier Meighen for the Commission to investigate and report on Canada's fuel supply. He was formerly President of the Canadian Council of Agriculture and is President of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, a post which he is now holding for the eleventh consecutive term. Mr. Maharg was born in or near Orangeville, but has lived in the West since he was a young man.

CALEDON

(Intended for last week.)

The "Visitor's" interest in church affairs is shown not only in his kindly criticism, which is restrained to a degree only appreciated by one attending oftener, but by his donation toward the purchase of a new Bible. "The warmest sympathy is often expressed by cold cash." The decision to purchase a new pulpit Bible, however, had been arrived at prior to his suggestion, as was the case with the lighting. There are still, perhaps, one or two improvements which he might suggest, before their need is discovered by the board of management.

Another meeting re the local telephone situation suggests the formation of a telephone institute with regular monthly meetings where various members can "rise and give their experience."

April 1st was lacking in the regular old time practices. The dog tag law and the O. T. A. both becoming effective that day seemed to put a damper on hilarity.

If a chain is as strong as its weakest link might we not say a road is only as good as its worst parts. The energy expended in highly explosive language regarding the Centre Road between here and 25 Hill would, if harnessed, run a thresher all season. Oh, yes! It's better now but the question is, what action is being taken to prevent a recurrence next year.

Consolidated Schools—For and against—Is not the fear of increased taxation at the root of 99 per cent. of the opposition?

Caledon Agricultural Society will hold their Fall Fair on Thursday and Friday, September 29th and 30th.

Patterson Bros. (Sam & Ike) are the owners of a fine team of 6 year old heavy drafts, purchased from Mr. R. J. Cluff, Clearbrook Farm.

Grandma is Their Doctor

"ON an old - fashioned bureau, in a house I know, lies a large-sized New Testament with the binding well worn, and with it a much-used old copy of Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. When the calves have the colic or the neighbor's baby the earache, 'Grandma' hands out well-assimilated advice from the Dr. Chase Book. When 'Grandma' herself feels 'run-down,' Dr. Chase's Nerve Food stands ready on the dining-room table among the salt and pepper shakers."

In these few simple words Mrs. Bert Smith, Way's Mills, Que., beautifully describes the way in which many a grandmother is a blessing to her family and to her neighbors as a guardian of health.

And what finer compliment can be paid to Dr. Chase's Receipt Book and Dr. Chase's Medicines than the approval of such mothers of experience as the one here described.

Just as in this home, Dr. Chase's Almanac hangs on the wall in the great majority of Canadian homes, and in the cupboard or medicine chest will be found one or more of Dr. Chase's Medicines ready for use in case of emergency.

If you did not receive a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac it will be sent free by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

A Bad Case

Eczema All Over His Body— His Legs—His Arms Covered

John Clark of Brookville, N. B., crowds a story of great suffering into a few words.

"I was tormented beyond words. I could not sleep. You could not put a pin on my whole body. I tried several Doctors. They said it was scrofula. Three dollar bottles of D. D. D. is all I used. I have not had a sore for five months."

Each week we are selecting a letter from some Canadian sufferer to show what can be done to itching, burning skin disease by the clear, purifying liquid wash, D. D. D.

Stop that itch today. You are not asked to use D. D. D. for weeks before you receive results. If you don't get relief from the very first bottle we hand your money back. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

Husband—"Why?"

Wife—"Because you always let me get up to light the fire now."

"Best right in the world, sir. I licked the fellow it was issued to."

AN ANCIENT JOKE

A widower ordered a headstone for his wife's grave. The inscription concluded with: "Lord, she was thine." When it was finished it was found that the stone-cutter did not have room on the stone for the "e" in "thine."

ONE WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Of Interest to Childless Women.

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered for a long time from a female weakness, inflammation, and a terrible backache caused by that condition. One day one of your booklets was left at my door, and I read how other women with troubles like mine had been made well, so I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Sanative Wash, and it helped me wonderfully, and I now have the finest little baby boy that any mother could want. I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who has female troubles."—Mrs. JOSEPH LA BELLA, 773 Shaw Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong, and this good old fashioned root and herb remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

HOSPITAL TESTIMONIALS

Orangeville April 9th 1921

We cannot speak too highly of the care and treatment Mrs. Jackson received while in Lord Dufferin Hospital during her recent illness. We are both convinced that she owes her life to the excellent care and nursing she received while she was a patient in that institution. We only wish that we were property owners in Orangeville so that we could both work and vote for the By-law on Saturday.

Very Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jackson

Orangeville, April 12th, 1921

Secretary Lord Dufferin Hospital,

Orangeville.

Dear Madam:—I would like to express my appreciation of the good work of the Hospital. As one who spent four weeks there as a patient I can testify to the skill and kind attention of the matron and nurses and to the value of this institution to the town and vicinity. It is regrettable that a building more suitable for the purpose had not been provided and it is hoped that the matter may soon be remedied that those who have labored under such difficulties may feel that their work is appreciated by the public whom they serve.

Yours Sincerely,

(Name on request)

Alton Ont., April 12, 1921

To whom this may interest:—

I spent several weeks in the Lord Dufferin Hospital this last winter after an operation. I am sure I could not have received better care than I did there in any other hospital in this Province. I sincerely hope that the Hospital will be enabled to still carry on its good service. I consider that the people of the surrounding district are just beginning to realize the benefit of the Hospital in Orangeville.

Yours truly,

(Name on request)

—John Lewis, a veteran of the American Civil War, passed away in the Aged People's Ward at the County Buildings Tuesday morning. Deceased hailed from the Mono Centre neighborhood and was well-known to many of our readers.

—A Children's Choir of fifty voices provided a fine song service in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday night. The youngsters had been trained by the church organist, Mr. A. C. Hannahson, and their singing was an inspiration. Mr. Hannahson contributed some fine numbers on the organ. The edifice was crowded to the doors.

—Ben Hokes, the famous Hawaiian soloist, will be in Laurel Methodist Church on Monday night, April 18th.

—The congregation of St. Mark's Church held a most successful banquet on Tuesday night of last week. The schoolroom of the church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and tables were prepared for 250 people. In the absence of the rector, Rev. T. H. Stewart, Principal E. Hackett, of the Orangeville High School, occupied the chair. The banquet was followed by a short and very satisfactory business meeting.

—The Opera House was well filled for the referendum rally immediately after the church services on Sunday night. Mr. W. E. Liddy presided and Mayor Parkinson and Messrs. Arthur Macpherson, Wilson McConnell and A. D. McKitrick were the speakers. A male choir led the song service under the direction of Mr. A. C. Hannahson. Revs. H. L. Partridge and J. W. Edwards took the devotional part of the programme.

INCREASED RECTOR'S STIPEND

At a business meeting following the banquet in St. Mark's Church on Tuesday night of last week, it was decided by unanimous vote of those present to increase the stipend of the rector, Rev. T. H. Stewart, to $2000 a year. The decision speaks well for the spirit and liberality of the people of St. Mark's and will be welcome news to the people of the other churches of the town, who have learned to esteem Mr. Stewart for his zeal, earnestness and sincerity and the fine spirit he has shown as a citizen of this community.

BABE'S NARROW ESCAPE

While Mr. Wm. Cullen, 2nd line east, Mono, was driving home from Orangeville about 8.30 on Saturday night a motor truck coming this way collided with his buggy near the Credit River bridge just east of the town. Mr. and Mrs. Cullen and their four months babe were thrown out and their buggy was badly wrecked. Mrs. Cullen was holding the child in her arms, but in some way the impact forced the babe from the mother's protecting embrace and the helpless mite of humanity was subsequently found lying on the truck fender. The child and mother were rushed to the home of Mr. Frank Marshall, West Broadway, where the services of Dr. J. A. Macleod were enlisted. It was thought at first that the child was dangerously injured, but it seems to have escaped with a bruised back. That it came off so well is due to the fact that Mrs. Cullen had it heavily wrapped for the trip home. Mr. and Mrs. Cullen escaped with slight bruises. They saw the truck coming and were well off the road when the buggy was struck. The driver of the truck, a man named Denny, and his companion, Allen, claim they did not see the buggy.

CHURCHMAN ON PROHIBITION

The following paragraphs on the prohibition situation and the duty of the hour are from the editorial columns of the Canadian Churchman, the widely known Church of England weekly:—

"The beneficial experience of total prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes during the latter years of the war is one of the strongest arguments in favour of the people of any province voting that the federal law shall be proclaimed in their province. Many previously hostile to the principle of prohibition were convinced of the good, practical results on business and individual efficiency, and the wife and children of many a home date their prosperity from that bit of paternal legislation from Ottawa. Most people can distinctly recall expressions of satisfaction that the liquor was safely stowed at the Armistice and the days following.

"It is stated that Prohibition does not work. It certainly has not worked ideally under the conditions of inter-provincial traffic in Ontario. But even so it is not a question of perfection but of improvement. The present conditions taking Ontario through and through are better than under the old system. Already in parts of Ontario there is a generation who have grown up without the taste of liquor. Canadian opinion has steadily progressed from the condition of open license to a point far in advance of European opinion. Remember that it is the taste of liquor that creates the taste for liquor. And too many men find that the taste grows. That is a physiological fact. It is the action which all narcotics have on human tissues. A man may be able to resist the growth of the drinking habit, and thank God many can and do, but to do so he has to resist an enemy to whom he has given quarter and whose hostility never slackens.

"In Ontario a great majority declared itself in favour of the abolition of the beverage liquor traffic at the last vote. The Dominion control of liquor traffic was then banning all inter-provincial trade, and it was represented that the federal authorities would not fly in the face of such an expression of the will of the people. The withdrawal of the federal control completely changed the matter. The people of Ontario have not been experiencing prohibition as they voted it. They voted to make permanent the prohibition they had at the time of voting. They voted to dry up the bed of the river and Ottawa took the stop-log out of the dam.

"The present situation in Ontario to-day is impossible. We cannot stay where we are. Nobody voted to get where we are. But the unsatisfactoriness of the present situation does not condemn prohibitory measures. It shows how inter-provincial traffic defeats the good results which were admittedly gained under the war-time prohibition. Ontario is called upon to reaffirm the same principle which the people endorsed last vote. It is not a new issue. It is the old one over again."

SOCIAL PROGRESS

SOCIAL SERVICE A GREAT DEVELOPMENT OF OUR PRESENT DAY WORLD.

"Social Progress Through Social Service" was the subject of an able address by Dr. Barnett E. Bricker, of the Holy Blossom Synagogue, Toronto, at an open meeting of the Orangeville Canadian Club in the Public Library Auditorium on Wednesday night of last week. Mayor Parkinson, who was recently made President of the Club, occupied the chair and introduced the speaker.

In the course of his eloquent address the speaker pointed out that when considering the question of social progress we have to take account of all types of people. There is first the optimist, who sees a silver lining in every cloud and who is firmly convinced that the world is steadily growing a better and brighter place. Again we must consider the question from the standpoint of the pessimist, who entertains the fixed belief that everything is going from bad to worse. Thirdly there is the viewpoint of the cynic who makes little of all human accomplishments and expresses disbelief in human progress.

There are certain very definite criteri which mark human progress. The world is surely growing better and we are coming to realize that all things work together for good. Life is change and change is progress. But human progress is more than mere change or evolution. It has a goal and is working steadily in the direction of that goal. God is the great force in the universe that is making constant improvement so that his children may have happiness in their mastery over the elements of nature. It is the divine in man that is placing him in consonance with God's purpose. Proofs of the fact that the world is becoming better and a healthier place in which to live are furnished by the increased possibilities in the expectancy of human life, the increasing fitness of the individual for the average individual is today more highly specialized and a much more fit person than at any time in the past, the constant increase in the standard of living, the increasing variety of economic opportunities and the holding of wealth which is more democratically distributed now than in former generations. Another proof is the advance in the moral standards governing life. We have got away from the ancient dogma of an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth and have come to believe in the prevention rather than the punishment of crime.

It is in the development of a mutual and general belief in the common weal that social service is related to social progress. Social service to-day is not merely palliative in character but represents the collective effort of the whole community brought to bear upon some portion or some problem of the community. Social service as now understood is preventitive and progressive in its character. Poverty is no longer regarded as an affliction imposed upon the individual by Divine will. Social service is a conception of obligations and duties to our fellow-men that is bringing heaven down to earth and is making of this earth a paradise—a place fit for all human life. It is a great movement to make the world social and human beings sociable. Some of its results are seen in the increasing care of the child, the improvement of milk supply, better housing conditions, improved and increased opportunities for recreational activity and the setting up of such beneficial institutions as the juvenile court and the Women's Court in the larger centres.

The whole world, Dr. Bricker declared, is built on the great faith that at bottom men and women are good and not bad. The speaker predicted that the time would come when medicine would be just as much socialized and just as free as education is at the present time. The time was coming when the physician, like the teacher, would be employed by society and paid for his services by society. We are coming to recognize the great value of good health and that every child has as much right to good health as to an education.

Touching briefly upon the great questions of unemployment and the relations existing between capital and labor Dr. Bricker pointed out that land, capital and labor are the three factors that enter into all production, deplored the fact that war was at the present time the recognized status between capital and labor and anticipated a happier era when representatives of these two great forces in human progress would meet in friendly conference over their differences, place all the cards on the table and settle the matters at issue by the judgment of an impartial tribunal.

On motion of Col. J. A. W. Preston, seconded by Mr. A. D. McKitrick, Dr. Brickner was tendered the hearty thanks of the audience for his splendid address.

NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED A TONIC

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Enrich the Blood, Thus Increasing Your Nervous Energy.

Nervous people who have not yet developed a disease that can be recognized and treated by the medical profession, often have great trouble in finding relief. Irritation, headache, sleeplessness, nervous indigestion—all these discomforts make life miserable, but are endured rather than run a doctor's bill.

Such sufferers should know the danger of such a condition, which, if allowed to persist, may result in a nervous breakdown. In this condition what is need is rich, red blood. As a tonic for the blood and nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been used with much success. They have a direct action on the blood, and through it carry to the nerves the elements needed to restore their normal function, at the same time improving the general health. The benefits that follow the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are shown by the case of Mrs. Norman Seifried, West Montrose, Ont., who says: "It would be hard for me to overstate the benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I began taking the pills I was very nervous, weak and run down. I could hardly do my housework, and as there is a great deal of work to do about a home on a farm, I felt very much discouraged. One day while reading a newspaper I saw an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. I could notice beneficial effects after taking a box of the pills, and by the time I had taken a few boxes, I could again do my work with ease, was no longer weak or nervous, slept well at night, and awoke in the morning feeling well and strong. I am happy to say that the pills so greatly benefitted me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail on receipt of 50 cents a box or $2.50 for six boxes by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Real Bicycle For a Real Boy

"WHY don't you ride your bicycle to school any more, Bill?"

"Well, Dad, everybody laughs at it. The other boys ride rings round me, and call it the old boneshaker."

"Hmm! How long have you had it?"

"Why, it's three years, now. You got it second-hand, Dad—remember?"

"That's right! What kind of bicycles have the other boys?"

"They're nearly all C.C.M.'s. The best ones are, anyway."

"I see. What make would you like best?"

"Why, of course, a C. C. M., Dad, every time!"

Dad Offers Him One for Passing

"Well, now, look here, Bill. If you'll pitch in at school and pass your exams., I'll get you one of those C. C. M. Bicycles. How does that strike you?"

"Dad, I'd do almost anything for a C. C. M. You just watch me!"

"That's the stuff! I've heard C. C. M. Bicycles well spoken of, and one should be a prize worth winning."

"It sure is. C. C. M.'s look so snappy and ride so easy. Pewee Bowman has one of the new models and it has the C. C. M. Triplex Crank Hanger. He loaned it to me yesterday for five minutes. Gee, it was just like riding on air!"

"Why, what difference does the Triplex Hanger make?"

"Well, there's never any looseness or tightness when you're pedalling. You feel that every single bit of weight you put on the pedals counts for speed.

"And the C. C. M. doesn't tire a fellow out, either, Dad. Why young Mac Reynolds—he's only half as big as me—rides around all day on his C. C. M. It never tires him out.

"And there's a special bike that I won't outgrow, Dad. It's equally good for a lad of nine or a youth of twenty. It's called the C. C. M. 18-inch Curved Bar Model."

"That's a fine idea, Bill. Dig in, now, pass your exams., and that C. C. M. bike is yours."

TRUSTEES' RESOLUTIONS

The following are the resolutions passed at the recent Toronto meeting of the Ontario Trustees' Association:—

1. We approve of consolidated schools where they can be introduced in the best intereats of the community and with the consent of the people. We therefore recommend that the Department of Education give the widest publicity to the facts regarding such schools, and that all information be as concise and simple as possible. We would further recommend, for the encouragement of consolidated schools, that the Department consider the equalization of grants so that school sections with a low assesment pay an equal rate on the dollar as those of higher assessment.

2. We recommend, in view of the wider scope of the association by the addition to the name of the word "ratepayer," that the present legislation regarding payment of expenses of delegates to the annual convention be so amended that Trustee Boards may pay the expenses of delegates other than trustees, but appointed by Trustees Boards.

3. In our opinion sub-section 2 of Sec. 58 of the Public School Act, 1920, should be so amended that wives, daughters and sons of "ratepayers" in any municipality who are of age be eligible for the office of school trustee and eligible to vote for school trustees.

4. We recommend that a committee be appointed to confer with the "Religious Education Association of Ontario" regarding the teaching of religion in public schools.

5. In view of the fact that we have a financial year ending in December, a superannuation year ending in April, a library year ending in October, and a municipal levy year ending in August, we recommend that in all matters pertaining to the Education Department uniformity of "years" be secured by causing them for statistical and financial purposes to end on the thirteenth day of June.

6. That this convention is strongly opposed to the introduction into the public and separate schools of "military training," except as a cadet movement, and as distinguished from "physical training."

7. That it would be in the interests of the community and of our schools that a course of study in "Citizenship" be placed upon the school curriculum.

8. That additional Government aid should be given to rural sections in New Ontario where there is a large school attendance and low property valuation.

9. In our opinion the Province can afford to spend more money for education.

10. We regret the shortage of school books, which seriously handicaps the pupils and teachers, and we recommend that no imprint be put on school tert books, except "Issued by the King's Printer."

11. Urban schools should have an equal share of the Provincial grant with rural schools.

12. We are in favor of free entrance to high schools and free textbooks for the pupils, giving equal opportunity for all in secondary education. This is an absolute necessity for crippled children, who are not able to do manual labor and frequently are not able to secure a high school education.

IT DID THE WORK SAYS 'PHONE MAN

Has Enjoyed Finest Health Ever Since Tanlac Put Him on Feet Three Years Ago.

"Although it was three years ago that Tanlac relieved me of a bad case of stomach trouble and built me up thirty-six pounds in weight, I've been enjoying the best of health ever since and to-day am feeling just as fine as I ever did in my life," said Frank Slingerland, employed by the Bell Telephone Company, living at 229 Balsam Avenue, South, Hamilton, Ont.

"I was in a terribly run down condition due to a badly irritated stomach caused by working in a munition factory. I was continually breathing the fumes and kept getting worse and worse until I could scarcely retain a glass of milk on my stomach, and at times I couldn't even drink a glass of water. Everything I ate caused my stomach to pain for hours, and I had frequent headaches lasting two or three days at a time. In the morning I was just as tired as when I went to bed at night, and I never felt rested, but was simply miserable all the time.

"I just kept hearing so much good said about Tanlac that I finally began taking it myself, and it wasn't but a little while until I was improving right along. After taking five bottles I am in tip-top condition, feeling fine and can eat anything set before me without my stomach hurting me a bit. I have put on thirty-six pounds and have been feeling like a different man ever since. Tanlac certainly did the work for me all right, and I don't hesitate to give it my highest endorsement."

CHANGING CUSTOMS IN CHINA

Ignorance, which breeds superstition and bolsters wrong, is not confined to China, but it has found Christian education in that nation its worst enemy. Many of the gods of yesterday have been tumbled into the ash-heap to make way for the school-boy with his books, and what was religion to many yesterday is useless superstition to-day.

Customs that were respected hitherto are now despised. For centuries little children have been bound at the altar of a painful old age. Preaching and protest went unheeded until the Christian girls' schools demonstrated that big-footed women were the queens of the land, not its slaves. Students now in government schools are announcing that the will not marry girls who have not natural feet, and girls with bound feet parade the streets with their little feet in big boots.

The reason is evident. Big feet and brains have come to be synonymous. Government schools are refusing admission to bound-footed girls, and the better classes are in the big-footed crusade. Women in useful service have come with the new order.

A De Laval Cream Separator will last a lifetime

MANY DE LAVAL Cream Separators have been in continuous service for twenty, twenty-five, and even thirty years.

In fact, we never hear of De Lavals wearing out. At most they are outgrown and replaced by new De Lavals of larger capacity and later design.

De Laval durability is due to simplicity of construction, low bowl speed, high-grade materials and careful workmanship. Every bearing surface of the machine is oiled from one oil cup. This insures correct lubrication, lessens wear on parts, and helps to make the De Laval easy to turn.

Because of its greater durability, the De Laval is the least expensive cream separator to own.

BY-LAW CARRIED

Property Owners Sanction Proposed Grant of $15,000 to Lord Dufferin Hospital.

Saturday's voting on the Hospital By-law took place under very disagreeable weather conditions. The storm broke about ten o'clock in the forenoon and the falling snow soon made streets and pavements bad for either motors or pedestrians. Members of the Daughters of the Empire and other supporters of the By-law worked hard and managed to get out quite a heavy vote despite the adverse weather conditions. The opposition to the measure was not open but was much more active than generally anticipated and a surprisingly large vote was recorded against the measure. Supporters of the By-law had much the better of the argument in the West and South Wards, where they secured a large vote and good majorities. The majority in the North was not as large as they had counted on and the East, where it was recognized that there was a large element of unfavorable opinion, gave a majority of 18 against the measure. The vote by Wards follows:—

	For	Against
West Ward	109	59
South Ward	111	76
North Ward	82	63
East Ward	63	76
	365	274

Majority for By-law—91.

When the vote was announced there was much doubt and difference of opinion as to whether the by-law had been carried or defeated. The doubt arose on account of the statutory provision which requires measures of this class to secure the support of one-third of the property-owners qualified to vote as well as a majority of the vote cast. It had been computed that there were 1095 names on the list. This was taken to mean that the by-law had secured exactly the one-third vote required Certificates had, however, been issued to a couple of voters, whose names had been inadvertently omitted from the Voters' List, but who were clearly entitled to vote. Opponents of the by-law contended that these should be added to the 1095 total, which would mean the defeat of the measure by 2-3 of a vote. In the absence of the town clerk the matter was referred to Mr. J. L. Island on behalf of those interested in promoting the by-law. We understand that Mr. Island expressed the opinion that it is the number of persons whose names appear on the list and not the number of names that should be counted. The difference arises from the fact that the names of persons owning property in more than one Ward appear on the list in each Ward where they are owners. Mr. Hughson, who arrived home on Tuesday night, agrees with Mr. Island. This means a reduction of the total from 1095 to 1040, and ensures the safety of the by-law with a margin of 18 votes to spare.

Apart from all this it is doubtful if the by-law would in the end require more than a straight majority vote to carry it. A bill is before the Legislature at the present time expressly exempting hospital by-laws from the one-third of the total vote requirement and making a straight majority all that is necessary. One of the clauses of the proposed enactment reads:—

"Any by-law for granting a bonus in aid of a hospital, which has, since the first day of January, 1920, been submitted to and received the assent of the majority of the electors who voted thereon and has heretofore been or may hereafter be passed on by any municipal council shall be legal, valid and binding."

The bill has already received its second reading and will probably be given its final reading without much opposition. Should it become law it will of course apply to the Hospital by-law.

DUFFERIN VOTED DRY

Prohibitionists Rolled up a Majority of 4000 on Monday.

Monday's Referendum vote shows that Dufferin is still entitled to be called one of the banner temperance counties of the Province. The "Drys" carried every municipality and also had majorities in every one of the 43 polling sub-divisions in the county. They polled nearly five votes for every "Wet" vote recorded and rolled up the splendid majority of 4,011. The unofficial figures are:—

Yes	5031
No	1020
Yes Majority	4011

Owing to Sunday's storm the roads were in indifferent condition, the rapidly melting snow making them very wet and muddy. Even with this handicap the storm probably made the temperance cause quite a number of votes in the rural districts, because the farmers were unable to do anything on the land and it is probable that more of them voted than would have done so had they had been busy seeding. The "Drys" were well organized in most parts of the county and a large vote went to the polls. 6,051 votes were recorded without taking account of the rejected ballots. In the 1919 Provincial election 7,696 votes were cast for the two candidates, but it should be remembered that the road and weather conditions were much more favorable on that occasion. The 1919 vote was also taken on new lists, prepared nad revised immediately before the election, whreeas Monday's vote was on the same lists, now over eighteen months old. Because of this difference the available vote on Monday was undoubtedly several hundred short of the total vote available at the time of the 1919 election and referendum

Melancthon township polled the largest vote in the county, 1073 electors going to the polls. The dry majority reached the impressive total of 671. Orangeville was second with a total of 998 votes. The "Wet" vote was a little larger here than in the northern township, but the dry majority reached 570. The Orangeville and Shelburne votes were both better than three to one. Grand Valley voted nearly six to one. Laurel division in Amaranth carried off the palm for the county, the vote standing 225 dry to 4 wet, with practically the entire available vote out. No wonder Chairman J. A. Hughes and his workers were pleased with the result. The "Wet" vote was a negligible factor in the townships of Amaranth, East Luther and East Garafraxa. The vote was light in some of the Mono and Mulmur divisions, but Camilla division in the former township furnished an exception. Here the "Drys" got out nearly their full vote, polling 155 to 20 for their opponents. The following are the details for the county:—

HOW RHEUMATISM CAN BE OVERCOME

Not by Rubbing, But by Enriching the Blood.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood, which will shortly leave the victim painracked and helpless. Liniments, hot applications and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by enriching the blood. This new blood drives out the poisonous impurities, and the rheumatism disappears. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady, begin the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away. Among those who have benefitted by the use of these pills is Mr. Freeman Irving, Baxter Harbor, N. S., who says; "Some time ago my blood was in a terrible condition, leaving me very much run down and with boils breaking out on my body. To add to my misery rheumatism set in, and I not only suffered greatly from the pain, but could only get around with the greatest difficulty. After trying several medicines without much success, I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, as they had been warmly recommended to me. I think I used nine boxes altogether, but the results met my every expectation, as both the boils and the rheumatism disappeared. Naturally I feel that I cannot praise the pills too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

He registers joy, sorrow, pleasure, and anger and all the other human emotions just as they are registered by the fellow who washes the dishes at home or the chap who brings the bon bons every Saturday night. Who? Will Rogers. He isn't fancy; he hasn't got big blue eyes and a baby stare. He hasn't got curly hair or Cupid Bow lips. He's a regular feller! He's human and he's real. He's an honest-to-godness, down-to-earth human being. That's why you can't just help lovin' him. That's why you'll want to see "Jubilo."

'The Miracle of Money'

If you suddenly fell heir to $300,000 no doubt you would have a very definite idea as to what to do with your unexpected wealth. Emmeline and Patty Hodges, forty-eight and forty-two years of age respectively, had such luck befall them and immediately they made their plans. They would go to the theatre and sit in two-dollar seats. They would ride in taxi-cabs and live at a grand hotel. Maybe they would even go to Europe and perhaps—who could tell—one of them might get married.

JAMES DODDS

Mr. James Dodds, a highly respected citizen, passed away at his home on Parsons St., on Wednesday of last week at the ripe age of 84 years. Deceased had been quite poorly since the New Year, but was bedfast only a few days prior to his demise. Mr. Dodds was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Dodds, pioneer settlers in Mono, and was born on the 5th line in that township. As a youg man he lived for some years in Adjala and Toronto, but the greater part of his life was spent in Mono, where he farmed successfully until he retired about twenty years ago and with his wife came to spend the evening of their lives in Orangeville. As a neighbor and citizen, Mr. Dodds enjoyed the good-will, respect and confidence of the neighborhood in which he lived. He was a man of strong convictions, but his influence was invariably thrown on the side of law, order and the best interests of the community. He was a man of strict integrity, one of whom it could be truly said that his word was as good as his bond. He was a staunch temperance advocate and always took an active part in the promotion of the cause of temperance. He was a consistent member and one of the elders of St. Andrew's Church, with which he and Mrs. Dodds have both been actively identified since they came to Orangeville. He is survived by his widow, to whom the sympathy of a large circle of friends and neighbors is extended in her irreparable loss. Mr. W. J. Dodds, of Mono, is the only brother who survives and Mrs. Hollinger, of Toronto, the only sister. Deceased was a brother of the late George Dodds, of Primrose. There was a large attendance of sorrowing neighbors and friends at the funeral, which was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Friday afternoon. Rev. W. M. Morris was the officiating minister and Messrs. D. Macpherson, R. B. Henry, Allen McKinnon, E. J. Arthurs, Robt. McKim and Isaiah Hammond were the pallbearers. A number of beautiful floral tributes, including a wreath from the Session and Managers of St. Andrew's Church, bore silent testimony to the sorrow and esteem of friends of the departed man.

Among the relatives here from a distance were Mrs. Hollinger and Mr. Jas. Hollinger, Mr. Geo. Bell, Miss Bell and Mrs. Cockburn, Mr. and Mrs. Robb and Miss Jean Dodds and Mr. Geo. Livingstone, all of Toronto, Miss Eckland, of Mono Road, and Mr. John Hamilton, of Adjala.

MRS. J. B. LINDSEY

The late Mrs. J. B. Lindsey, whose death was briefly noted in last week's Banner, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hilburn Donaldson, lot 8, 6th line, east, Mono, on Saturday, April 9th. Deceased, who was in her 76th year, had been ill with bronchitis followed by pneumonia. Mrs. Lindsey was a daughter of the late John Wilson, of Adjala, and the widow of the late J. B. Lindsey, V. S., who was for many years one of the most widely known residents of the Hockley district. As a neighbor she was held in the highest esteem and the sad news of her demise brought sorrow to a wide circle of friends. She was a member of St. James' Anglican Church, Hockley, and is survived by a family of one son and six daughters. These are Wilbert Lindsey and Mrs. Wm. White, Herchel, Sask., Mrs. J. J. Bower, Hume, Sask., Mrs. W. M. Alexander, Weyburn, Sask., Mrs. Ben Anderson, Relessey, Mrs. Alex. Beatty, Hockley, and Mrs. Donaldson, Mono Mills. Mrs. R. J. Wilson and Mrs. John White, Los Angeles, Cal., are the surviving sisters. Mrs. Lindsey was a great grandmother and is survived by twenty-two grandchildren and ten great grandchildren. Friends from a distance, who attended the funeral, were Joseph Lindsey, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. John Harper, Bolton, Mrs. James Harper, Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lindsey, Macville, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Westlake, Bolton, and Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Alexander, Mono Road. The floral tributes included a pillow from the family and a pillow from Mr. and Mrs. Westlake, Bolton. The funeral was held by motor to St. John's Church cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, April 12th, Rev. J. A. Matheson, of Mono Mills, conducting the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. William Cobean, Dr. J. G. Alexander, John Harper, Wm. Donaldson, Ben Anderson and Emerson Westlake.

AUDITORS' REPORT

In accordance with the provisions of sub-sections 10 and 20 of section 56 of the Bank Act, 1913, we report to the shareholders as follows: We have audited the above Balance Sheet and compared it with the books and vouchers at Head Office and with the certified returns from the branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and are of the opinion that the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

We have checked the cash and verified the securities representing the investments of the Bank, at its Chief Office and principal Branches at a date other than that of the certification at the Chief Office on the 28th February, 1921, and found that they were in agreement with the entries in the books of the Bank relating thereto.

In our opinion the Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the Bank according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Bank.

W. M. S. THANK-OFFERING

On Wednesday afternoon, April 13th, the Sunday School Room of St. Andrew's Church was filled almost to overflowing by ladies from the various women's missionary organizations of the town, who had gathered on invitation of St. Andrew's W. M. S. to hear Dr. O'Hara, of India, address their Easter Thank-offering meeting. Very clearly and forcibly the gifted visitor presented the situation in India and the overwhelming needs of the millions of that land. She dwelt especially on the needs of the women and children, the necessity and importance of medical missionaries and strongly urged the call to this the highest form of Christian service. A delightful musical programme was provided, a feature of unusual interest being a hymn by Dr. O'Hara in the native tongue. Refreshments and a social hour at the close of the programme gave many of those present an opportunity to meet and converse with Dr. O'Hara about the people, the country and the great work to which she has consecrated her life. A Thank-offering of $63.00 was received.

THE CHEVROLET PLAN FOR DISTRIBUTING $4,000,000

THE production schedule of Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Models for the seven months from January 1st to July 31st, 1921, is fifty thousand cars.

We will give $70 to each retail purchaser of a new open car or light delivery model, and $100 to each retail purchaser of a new closed car, provided we manufacture and sell fifty thousand Chevrolet Model "Four-Ninety" cars between January 1st, 1921, and July 31st, 1921. This offer to be subject to the terms as set forth in full in the refund certificate which will be delivered to each purchaser.

Fifty thousand cars is the minimum which will secure substantial savings in cost of manufacture. These savings will be passed on to the purchasers of these fifty thousand cars.

This plan is in keeping with the Chevrolet policy to make the price of its product as low as quality manufacture on a large scale will permit. It is in keeping with the Chevrolet purpose of providing quick, convenient, economical transportation at a cost within reach of those who want an automobile.

Each purchaser of a Model "Four-Ninety" will receive a certificate from his dealer, or from the Chevrolet retail store manager. This certificate will be redeemed as indicated on its face.

This is a straightforward business proposition presented in a straightforward way. Whether you are in the market for a new car or not, you must not fail to learn the details of this unique and simple plan. It offers to every man of sound business judgment an opportunity to take advantage of the best automobile value obtainable.

Retail purchasers of Model "Four-Ninety" cars since October 1st, 1920, will receive their certificates through their local dealers or retail stores on application to them.

ROYAL NICKNAMES

History records innumerable instances of kings and queens who were renamed by their subjects. Because of some peculiarity or virtue they were given a nickname that described their characters or referred to something they had done.

Alfred, king of the West Saxons, was called the Great, because he was a great soldier and a great lawyer as well as a great king who laid the foundations of the English monarchial system. Seventy years after Alfred the Great, Ethelred the Unready came to the throne. His nickname was given him because of his lack of foresight which caused him to lose many of the fruits of Alfred's victories.

In those far-distant days men were very fond of bestowing such nicknames upon their monarchs. Thus we have Edward the Confessor and William the Conqueror. In later days came Henry VIII. who was known as "Bluff King Hal." His daughter, Mary, who became queen at his death, was called "Bloody Mary," because of her persecution of the Protestants. She was succeeded by her half-sister, Elizabeth, the Virgin Queen.

In recent times Queen Victoria is remembered as "The Good," and her son, Edward VII., as "The Peacemaker."

Possibly the strongest and one of the least complimentary nicknames ever bestowed upon a king was that given to a Jewish monarch some centuries before Christ was born. We read about him in the Bible (Hosea V-13), King Jareb, as he was called, was known as "King Pick Quarrel." Apparently he was a quarrelsome and contentious man always getting himself and others into trouble. He had an army to back him up. Possibly without his soldiers King Pick Quarrel would not have been so troublesome, for quarrelsome people are often cowardly as well and they are not fond of disturbing others stronger than themselves unless they have "the gang" at their backs. That explains why the school bully illtreats only boys smaller than himself and why he is careful to behave himself towards his equals.

Although Jareb was a king with an army of his own that might have helped the oppressed, his ill-nature prevented his being an instrument for good. We read that Ephraim and Judah were in trouble. They turned to Jareb in Essyria for help but he could do nothing for them. The reason for this is not given, but one of several causes must have explained his inaction. He may have been afraid, or his quarrelsome nature may have led him into a dispute with the messengers from Palestine. Perhaps his army was not so large as he had boasted. He may have wanted a large sum for his services, more than poor Ephraim or Judah could afford to pay, for bullies and pick-quarrels are always greedy.

One thing is quite sure, and it is that quarrelsome and bad-tempered people are of very little use in the world. They seldom want to help from unselfish motives and they are always ready to stir up strife. Their room is always preferable to their company.

It is the Jarebs that spoil games and picnics and parties and fun of all kinds. If we are to be given a nickname by our companions, let it be for some good quality. It is an honor to be called Edward the Peacemaker. It is a dishonor to be a King Jareb. Don't be a pick-quarrel.

LATE THOS. HINTON

Death came as a happy release to Thomas Hinton, one of Amaranth's pioneer settlers, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. A. Simpson, on Sunday night. Long past the allotted span of three score and ten years, of late he found little comfort or pleasure, because of feebleness, yet through a long and trying illness he received the tenderest care and attention that a devoted daughter could give. Born near Brockville 87 years ago, he married Margaret Pritchard, of the same district, the young couple coming to Amaranth 60 years ago, where they did strenuous pioneer work, in clearing the virgin bush, and transforming it to a splendid farm. About ten years ago they gave up the homestead, retiring to Grand Valley where Mrs. Hinton died five years ago, since when Mr. Hinton made his home with his children. He was a member of the Anglican church, one of the few who assisted in erecting the Church of the Good Shepherd at Bowling Green; an enthusiastic, loyal Conservative; and had served as Councillor and Deputy-Reeve in the township. Possessed of that happy disposition that makes friendships, as ready to take or receive a joke, he proved interesting company. He was also quite a sportsman, and at an age when other men might have sought the shelter and ease of their fireside, nothing afforded him greater pleasure than to stake his wits against the cunning deer or fox. His death removes about the last of the older settlers of Amaranth. Of a family of twelve six survive, John of Regina, Mrs. W. A. Simpson of Grand Valley, Mrs. J. R. Bates of Shelburne, Mrs. Geo. Bruce of East Luther, Mrs. Chas. Bennett, of Vancouver, and Norman of Grand Valley. The funeral took place on Tuesday to the Union cemetery and was largely attended.—Star & Vidette.

The girl walked briskly into the store and dropped her bag on the counter. "Give me a chicken," she said.

"Do you want a pullet?" the store keeper asked.

"No," the girl replied, "I want to carry it."

J. D. Oliver, dining car conductor, was fatally hurt at St. Thomas M. C. R. yards.

GIANT TREES

English Trees, Shrubs and Flowers, Unknown in Ontario, Flourish on British Columbia Coast.

Giant trees towering hundreds of feet above the dense undergrowth outside the tropics, pretty bungalows nestling amid roses, are conjured up at mention of Vancouver Island, Canada's western outpost which, in conjunction with Northern British Columbia, talks of setting up as a separate province. Vancouver Island has often been compared to England, with which it has much in common, yet from which it differs so utterly. Whereas open and densely populated England and Wales have an area of 58,324 square miles, Vancouver Island, 280 miles long and from 40 to 80 miles wide, sparsely settled, backboned with mountains and covered with dense forests, is only 15,937 square miles in extent.

Both countries have very moist climates, and English trees, shrubs and flowers, unknown in Ontario, flourish exceedingly on the B. C. coast. English ivy, brought out from the Old Land, clings to the sides of houses and spreads its dark green mass over walls. English roses riot as they do in Devon. The yellow flowers of the gorse will be blooming there now just as you would see them in the Kentish country. It would make a Toronto gardener sick with envy to see with what marvellous speed English box or privit turns into a hedge in the genial soil and air of Vancouver Island. Holly bushes with red berries stand in the gardens. And the grass is always green, never withering as here.

In addition to the above and other imported flora, lower British Columbia has a wealth of her own ivys and bushes whose evergreen leaves and ferns help to make a veritable jungle of her forests. Many Old Country folk, too, are settled there. Moreover, the damp atmosphere makes for a tranquility of disposition reminiscent of England and unlike the keyed-up nervousness of Ontario and other inland provinces. But there the resemblance stops. The winters in lower British Columbia are wetter than in England, and the summers much warmer. The soft air of the Pacific Ocean lacks the snap of the Atlantic breezes off the English coast. In fact the warm Japanese current gives the shores of Canada it laves a real touch of the tropics.

CALEDON.

(Intended for last week.)

The fine weather has been putting the land in shape for working and most of our farmers are busy in the fields.

Mrs. William Moffatt, who has been rather seriously ill for the past month, is not making the progress toward recovery which her many friends would like to see.

At a meeting of the telephone petitioners last week Messrs. W. J. Holmes, Wiley Houston and Alex. Patterson were appointed commissioners and are busy getting things in shape.

Mr. Robt. Chambers gave a pedestrian a "lift" on the way to town last week and after he got off the wagon Mr. Chambers picked up a pocketbook containing over eighty dollars and suspected the stranger had lost it. He soon located the man who had not yet missed the money, but when told to search his pockets soon became aware of his loss, proved his propetty and told Bob he was glad it was an honest man who had found it.

Mr. Isaac Patterson purchased a fine team of Clydesdales from Mr. R. J. Cluff, paying in the neighborhood of half a thousand for them. "Ike" is an admirer of good horse flesh and knows the good ones at sight.

The 24th of May will be celebrated in Dundalk by a big program of athletic sports under the auspices of the Presbyterian Sunday School.

THE HUMAN SPECIES

Suckers have been biting freely around here recently—the human species. A slick gent registered at the Munshaw House a couple of weeks ago as A. R. Ryan, Ottawa, and announced himself as agent for Toronto papers, and several magazines which he sold below the agent's price. We have heard of a number who bit voraciously at this bait and are now dangling from the end of Ryan's line. After running a hotel bill of over twenty dollars Ryan departed without farewell or liquidation of his debt. What's the use of moralizing over the depravity of human nature? Doesn't the Bible say "The poor suckers ye have always with you?" We have them, anyhow, and probably will until the end of time. But fishermen like Ryan get their deserts in the long run, too, and a warrant is now ready for this crook's arrest when he is run to earth.—Star & Vidette.

Why the Ford is the "Universal Car"

DOWN among the orchards of Nova Scotia, the farms of New Brunswick, on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal, Yonge Street in Toronto, Portage Avenue in Winnipeg, on the far flung horizons of Saskatchewan and Alberta, up through the mountains of British Columbia, down Granville Street in Vancouver, on Government Street in Victoria—it's the same story—half of all the cars you see are Ford cars—in many sections they are two to one of all the other makes.

And it's the same story in Africa, Australia, Britain, Europe, United States—throughout the world—one half of all motors on earth are Fords.

Why?

Because the simplicity of the Ford Car adapts it to every driver.

—because the power of the Ford Car carries it wherever the driver wants to go.

—because its durability and rugged strength make it the car for every condition of usage.

—because of its low first cost and low cost of operation and maintenance.

The Ford Car is a good car for you to own.

"You Are Working Too Hard, John"

"WELL, I cannot help that. I am trying to figure out how the business is going to pull through and meet the liabilities with prices falling the way they have been lately."

"But, John, if anything happens to the business your health will be more necessary to you than ever, and you cannot afford to take chances of putting such a strain on your nerves. You are looking so worried and nervous, and you do not half sleep."

"What am I to do? You know I have got to keep plugging along and try to see things through."

"One thing you can do is to begin a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You know how well that brought me around when my nerves gave out and I was so miserable."

Mr. Charles E. How, R. R. No. 5, Aylmer, Ont., writes:

"My system became generally run down, and I suffered from dull, heavy headaches. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and my muscles used to twitch. My appetite became poor. I had indigestion and weak spells. I consulted a doctor, who gave me a tonic, but it did no good. I used other remedies, too, before finally trying Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I found that this did me more good than anything I had ever taken."

ONLY A FRAUD

That is What Philadelphia Newspapers Say of Much Discussed Baker Estate.

Banner readers who are interested in the Baker estate, a very valuable property said to exist in Philadelphia, will probably be somewhat disappointed when they read the following clippings from Philadelphia newspapers:—

Nothing Known of It

The Evening Bulletin—Inquiries at the State Capitol regarding the Baker estate, which is reported from time to time as the rightful owner of valuable coal lands, the hearts of cities, sites of industrial plants and country estates, have taken a new form. The latest letter, from a town in Ontario, was addressed to the Attorney-General. It said a "valuable package" was being held for lawful heirs of Colonel Jacob Baker, who was said to have come to America at the time of the Revolution. Inquiry was also made as to the land leased for ninety-nine years to the Government, but not located. Attorney-General Alter replied that the State is not custodian of any package belonging to the Baker estate, and that there is no information here about such a legacy, which is regarded as a myth.

Says It's a Fake

The Public Ledger—Inquiries regarding the "Baker estate," consisting, as it is alleged, of a large part of the realty of Philadelphia, are being received almost daily at the Mayor's office from different parts of the country. There is no such estate, and the Bureau of Legal Aid, of the Department of Welfare, will in the future communicate with the prosecuting authorities in the section from which the inquiries come to learn whether persons are committing an illegal act in soliciting money to prosecute claims against this mythical estate. John S. Broadway, chief counsel of the bureau, has learned that an estate left by Jacob Baker, a Revolutionary veteran, was audited in the Orphans' Court in 1847. Records show that the estate was valued at $7000. The faked "Baker" estate has been used as a lure throughout the entire country, a ninety-nine year lease on realty, and it is alleged that it consisted of part of property, which is now occupied by the City Hall. Representations are made to the alleged heirs that the property is valued at $800,000,000, and that the lease is about to expire.

An Official Denial

In addition to these newspaper reports The Examiner has received the following from the Registrar of Wills, Philadelphia:—

Dear Sir:—If you refer to the celebrated "Jacob Baker Estate," alleged to be under a ninety-nine year lease, etc., permit us to inform you that it is a fraud. There is no estate of that nature in process of settlement in Philadelphia, and persons collecting money under a pretense that such an estate exists should be prosecuted.

MAKING THE SEA SAFE

The approach of storms at sea is now reported with surprising accuracy by means of wireless electricity. An ingenious device makes it possible to pick up news of their approach long before local conditions are affected. It is not only possible to learn of the position of storms when many miles distant but to know the direction they are taking. The tests have been made with great success at the naval base at Pensacola, Florida. It is a simple matter to get news of the approach of storms over land but the conditions at sea have been baffling. The warning of an approaching storm can now be wirelessed to aviators flying at sea and to ships far from land. Since ships far out at sea may now be warned of bad weather, a new element of safety is let to all who go down to sea in ships.

PRESENTATION

On the evening of Wednesday, March 30th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Laughlin, lot 15, con. 5, west, Caledon, was the scene of one of those occasions that are at the same time both sad and pleasant, for while mostly, the evening was of merriment and happy faces were everywhere apparent there might, at times, be seen upon some of those faces the "smiles that come through tears."

The people of the neighborhood had learned that Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin were about to leave for their new home at Ospringe and had come to say good-bye.

After an hour or so had been spent in games and dancing, the ladies prepared a dainty lunch, and just before it was served, the chairman, who had been appointed for this part of the proceedings, called the house to order and asked Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin to take chairs in the parlor, where Mr. J. McMaster read an address, expressing regrets at losing the couple from the community and wishing them prosperity, health and happiness in their new home.

Messrs. Curry, Pinkney and Elgin Laughlin then placed in their possession a handsome clock and a casserole, which might, as the address stated, serve as something tangible to link them in memory with the friends they were leaving behind in Caledon.

Mr. Laughlin suitably replied to the address on behalf of himself and Mrs. Laughlin, and asked that all might make themselves at home and enjoy themselves for the rest of the evening. All joined in singing "They Are Jolly Good Fellows," with a vim that made the old song ring true.

Supper was then served and the rest of the time spent in music and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin left for Ospringe on Monday, April 4th. —Erin Advocate.

ADVERTISING

One of the largest credit rating companies in North America made a statement recently to the effect that about 80 per cent. of the business failures in 1920 were non-advertisers. Such a statement is worth pondering. It seems to prove conclusively that in order to continue business, the dealer must advertise. Every legitimate means should be employed to bring his goods to the attention of the real prospects for his line, to create a desire to buy, to bring the prospect to his door, and finally to transform the prospect into a satisfied customer.

Advertising is obtained in many ways, but the best publicity a dealer can receive is the testimony of a satisfied customer. But long before the dealer can cash in on this kind of advertising he has to sell himself, his goods and his service. This is usually done through the local press, the movies, window display, circular letters and descriptive material.

The dealer who hopes to do a paying business this year must advertise. Of course, it is possible for a dealer to increase his sales without advertising if he substitutes an unlimited amount of personal effort, but advertising will make his task easier and will ensure larger returns.

Manufacturers in every line expend a great deal of money each year in national advertising. They would not expend these sums unless it paid to do so.

Certainly it pays, and pays handsomely.

It keeps their products constantly before the attention of the public and sooner or later establishes them in a very sound manner, deep down in the public mind.

By national advertising alone the manufacturers do not expect to sell their products. They know that they have to come in personal contact with the buyer, but when they do establish contact the buyer is already perfectly familiar with their products because of the constant national advertising.

Now, if the manufacturers derive benefit from advertising it should also help the dealer. He should line up his own advertising campaign so as to derive the greatest possible benefit from the national advertising.

Persistent advertising, coupled with personal salesmanship, is a need of every business.

No salesman can see more than a few prospects each day. Therefore, it is necessary to advertise in order to cover the territory constantly and relieve the dealer of a great deal of personal effort, and in some cases to save the expense of extra salesmen.

Not to advertise is equivalent to hiding your store and goods so that it would take a Sherlock Holmes to find them.

BIG DEAL IN FARM PROPERTY

One of the largest farm deals that has been transacted hereabouts has just been closed by Mr. W. J. McCracken, whose large advertisements appear weekly in this paper. In this transaction about $53,000 was involved. It began by Mrs. Davis, of Toronto, only daughter of the late Senator Cox, buying Mr. R. Bentley's 211 acre farm near Streetsville on the Credit. Mrs. Davis was charmed with the river drive of nearly two miles which can be had on this property. She has engaged Mr. Ewles, of Derry West, to look after the farm, on which she will place a large herd of fine cattle. Mr. Bently, having sold out, began to look about for a farm and found it on the first line, east, Chinguacousy. From Mr. Jas. Laidlaw he bought 100 acres, lot 14, (the old J. C. Snell property), and from Mr. M. Ledlow across the way another 100 acres, making two hundred in all. Mrs. Jas. Laidlaw had 75 acres remaining on the east side of the line bordering on the lake and this was bought by Mr. Chas. Strangway, who owns the old John Snell homestead.—Peel Banner.

THE VICE OF IMPATIENCE

A railroad train comes to a sudden stop between stations. Some of the passengers sit placidly back and wait for it to start again. But there are always a few who jump out of their seats and walk to the doors, or thrust their heads out of the windows, meanwhile fretting and fuming at the delay.

If the train had gone on, as they so much desired it to, it would have plunged into a train on a cross track ahead, and some of the impatient ones would have been impatient no more.

Think of that next time a train stops. Perhaps if you will consider the disadvantages to yourself of being trapped in an overturned car, the delay of a few minutes to let the other train go by will not seem such a hideous thing to endure.

Impatience can easily become a vice and will become such if you allow it to dominate you.

Delays in everything save the sweeps of the spheres in their orbits and the movements of the tides are to be expected.

Some of them can be shortened, but not by getting into a fever over them.

Watch a man changing a tire on an automobile. If he is the impatient kind he mislays his tools, works unavailingly at something he could do easily if he took the time, and occupies perhaps half an hour at the job.

The man who is calm and patient gets it done in half that time, and with no loss of temper.

Impatience never produced any thing that was worth while. It never speeded up production. Even in war, where things have to be done in a hurry, it is the man who plans with patience, and patiently awaits the right moment to strike, who is successful.

Youth, almost always impatient, dislikes to think of the years that must intervene before manhood, with its supposed privileges, is at hand. When manhood arrives the privileges do not appear so charming, and it is seen that the impatience of youth was rather foolish.

Patience does not mean dawdling or idling. It merely means adjustment to conditions as they exist, and a recognition of the fact that hurry is always wasteful.

If you are the impatient sort, try to cultivate patience. It is a means of investing time to make sure of rewards in time and money later on. You will never have either if you rush your way through the world, fuming and fussing at everything that causes a little delay.

Carrick Council has decided to abolish the statute labor system in the township. The municipality has 3,500 days of road work, which at the present rate of $2 a day would amount to $7,000, and under the new system the provincial grant will amount to $1,400.

Nearly Insane From Leg Ulcers

She tells of suffering and brief story of her relief.

Read these two letters from Sarah D. Lawrence of Roebuck, Ontario. "I can't sleep at night from leg ulcers. I am in pain most of the time. I have doctored but no use. A lady from Winnipeg says that D. D. D. cured her of a bad case of eczema. That her sores are all healed. Can you help me?"

Now a few words from a later letter. "I have used D. D. D. as directed, and my leg is completely well."

Why not be convinced and try this remedy today for any form of skin disease? One application and the itch is gone. Your money back if relief doesn't come from the first bottle. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

GIVE LOVE A CHANCE

Have you ever stopped to think how many things this old world has used and admired and worshipped which have proved to be absolutely worthless when a great crisis arose to test their value?

The world believed in the power of Commerce and money. They could not stop the war.

The world believed in Culture. It did not stop the war.

The world thought a great deal of Art. It was powerless to stop the passions of men.

The world worshipped Science and boasted of its greatness. And Science used its skill to invent new ways of killing more people.

The world counted on Music to soothe the savage beast. And Music fled in fear before the war's trumpet.

The world was proud of its Ecclesiasticism and covered Europe over with Cathedrals. And all the so-called Religion and Architecture of Ritual went down like a child's sandpiles when the tidal wave of hate came rushing in over the shores of man's sellfishness.

Money, Culture, Art, Science, Music and Ecclesiasticism all failed to stop the flood of Hate and Race Feeling and Greed in men's hearts.

And they always will fail.

Why not give Love a chance? Love is the only thing in the world that could have stopped the war. And the world did not give Love a chance.

Everything else fails to conquer passion.

Love never faileth.

Give love a chance!

You can't afford to neglect fertilizers this year.

Here are their advantages:

Fertilizers:

(1) pay your money back with big interest.
(2) increase yields.
(3) improve quality.
(4) hasten ripening.
(5) eliminate to a large extent crop failures,
(6) help banish weeds.
(7) cut down labor costs.

Last summer $1 invested in fertilizer for potatoes growing near London returned in one case $2.94 and in another $4.52.

Figure your needs, and place your orders at once so that you can receive fertilizers in time for seeding.

THIS WOMAN'S MISERY

Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Remarkable Recovery of Mrs. Church.

Smiths Falls, Ont.—"I suffered with falling of my organs, pains around my heart and in bowels and down my legs, neuralgia in my face and head, and that terrible sinking feeling. I felt that I could not live and would fix my house in order every night so there would be no trouble if I dropped off in the night. My husband went to the druggist to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and felt a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. O. CHURCH, Box 845, Smiths Falls, Ont.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

If there are any complications about which you need advice write in confidence to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

On Monday morning of last week at 9 o'clock there passed away a well-known citizen of the community in the person of Samuel Depew. He had been enjoying his usual health until nine days previous to his death, when pneumonia set in and in spite ing he succumbed to the malady. The of the best medical care and nurs- deceased was born in Norwich, Ont., and was 73 years of age. In early life he moved with his parents to Fergus and afterwards to West Garafraxa, where he followed the occupation of blacksmith for a number of years. In 1877 deceased married Agnes McBride, eldest daughter of the late John McBride, a pioneer settler of the township. His genial disposition and jocular ways won for him many friends. He proved himself a true and kind neighbor, who was ever ready to assist in time of trouble and his many kindly acts will long be cherished by those he leaves behind. Besides a widow he leaves a family of three daughters and four sons, namely, Mrs. J. Nevills, of Orton, Mrs. A. Milne and Miss Mabel Depew, Toronto; Peter, of Toronto, John, of Bradford, and Ernest and Draper, of Kitchener. He is also survived by four sisters, Mrs. Fleet, Mrs. Chrysler, Mrs. O'Reilly and Mrs. J. Irvine, all of Toronto. The funeral was held to McKee's Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Harper, of Hillsburg. Members of the A. O. The meeting which was called for last evening to discuss the lacrosse situation did not materialize. There were two or three enthusiasts put in an appearance, but not sufficient to hold a meeting. SWEEPING VICTORY

"Dry" Majority Will Probably Reach 200,000 When Returns Are All In.

Ontario temperance forces won a sweeping victory at the polls on Monday. The returns are still far from complete, but the final results will probably show a prohibition majority of at least 200,000. Rev. Ben H. Spence, Secretary of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, announced on Tuesday that the Alliance had received reports showing an aggregate majority of 140,000. Dr. A. S. Grant, Secretary of the Ontario Referendum Committee, stated that returns at the Referendum headquarters showed a majority of 115,000. This he was confident would be greatly increased when full returns were received and was sanguine in the belief that the final majority would not fall short of 200,000. Toronto, Ottawa, Windsor and other large centres went wet, but this was offset by London, Brantford, Owen Sound, Sarnia and Guelph, which voted dry. In the main the smaller urban and village centres were strongly dry, while the rural parts of the Province voted from 5 to 1 to 10 and even 25 to 1 in favor of prohibition. Altogether it was a splendid victory and the dry forces of the province have abundant reason for gratification and thankfulness.

—A Brampton youth is said to have picked up an envelope in one of the streets containing ten thousand-dollar government bonds ($10,000), payable to bearer. The name of the owner was on the envelope. MRS. COOPER'S RECEPTION

A large number of our ladies attended the reception given by Mrs. Drummond Cooper in her Art Studio on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Fred A. Lewis, of Mount Forest, a friend of girlhood days, received with the hostess, Mrs. Tuck and Mrs. J. A. Macleod poured tea, Mrs. J. A. Arnott ushered the visitors into the reception room, little Marguerite Arnott attended at the door and Misses Alice McGuire and Gwen Sproule assisted at the tables. Mrs. Cooper is an accomplished portrait and landscape painter and the reception gave her visiters an opportunity to see and admire some of her paintings. That this courtesy on the part of their hostess was keenly appreciated goes without saying. Of special interest were some old world scenes done while Mrs. Cooper was visiting in the British Isles and several miniatures on ivory, a form of her art in which Mrs. Cooper takes an especial interest and which has brought her words of the highest praise from some of the leading art critics in Canada and abroad.

A SPLENDID MEDICINE FOR THE CHILDREN

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They are a mild laxative which quickly regulate the bowels and stomach and are guaranteed to be entirely free from any injurious drugs. Concerning them Mrs. A. D. West, Loreburn, Sask., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets have given me more satisfaction than anything else I have ever given my children. They are easily taken; always work well and though I have given quite a few to my baby they seem to work as well now as at first, which is something other laxatives seldom do." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

Graduate Class of Lord Dufferin Training School Receive Their Diplomas.

A capacity audience attended the graduation exercises of the Lord Dufferin Traing School for Nurses in the Opera House last Thursday night. Mayor Parkinson occupied the chair and the speakers of the evening were Mr. C. R. McKeown, who made an eloquent plea for support for the Hospital by-law on Saturday, Rev. W. M. Morris, who also spoke in behalf of the by-law, and Dr. McKay, Inspector of Hospitals for the Province.

The members of the graduating class, six in number, occupied seats on the platform during the first part of the proceedings. The young ladies, Misses Alice Fenwick, Maxwell, Isabella Murchison, Arthur, Lillian Bell, Beeton, Viola Lee, Ballycroy, and Almira Johnston and Margaret Welwood, Orangeville, were addressed by Mr. Morris and Dr. McKay. The former administered the Nurses' Pledge and the latter presented the members of the Class with their diplomas. Following the presentation of the diplomas, Mrs. Parkinson, wife of Mayor Parkinson, invested the members of the Class with the class medals and as each was invested a child stepped forward from the wings and presented each of the nurses with a basket of beautiful roses. The little folk who assisted in this pleasing ceremony were Misses Mary McBride, Dorothy McMillan, Helen McKitrick and Masters Clarence Trimble, Alton Adams and Arthur Hogg. Members of the Class also received beautiful shower bouquets from their friends transforming the stage into a veritable fairyland of flowers.

In his address to the Class Dr McKay complimented the Hospital on having such a large graduating class and Miss Barclay, the Superintendent, upon the excellent manner in which she had supervised the education and practical training of the girls under her charge. The nurse in the larger hospital might get a more varied experience, but the graduate from the smaller hospital received just as good training and had the advantage of the personal touch and interest lacking in the larger institutions. Nurses from the small hospitals had more than held their own in the trying work of overseas service. The speaker also emphasized the need of such traits of character as kindness, sympathy and a love of humanity if the nurse is going to make good in her chosen profession.

In the course of his main address later in the evening Dr. McKay stressed the shortage of student nurses, which he attributed in part to the poor remuneration these girls received and the lengthy course they were obliged to complete before graduating. He emphasized the need of a good general education, making the statement that some hospitals now demand that a girl shall have at least one year at High School before enrolling as a pupil nurse. He deplored the lack of some system of registration in Ontario, stating that every State in the Union and every Province in Canada except Ontario, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island had some system and standard of registration. There had been a great extension of the field for nurses until to-day we have trained nurses engaged in almost every phase of public health work. At the present time about fifty per cent. of the training hospitals were unable to secure a sufficient number of pupil nurses. Owing to the difficulty of getting help in the home the hospitals were patronized more generally than at any time in the past. The hospital had come to be one of the most important institutions in the community, but despite this there was a deplorable lack of community interest. Many places would never have enjoyed the boon of a hospital had it not been for the interest, zeal and devoted efforts of a small band of women.

Miss Barclay, the Superintendent, read a statement covering the activities of the hospital during the past year and giving information as to the patients treated, their place of residence and the receipts and expenditure of the institution. A delightful musical programme was supplied by Mesdames Bowles and Henry and Misses Lewis and Allen, Mrs. J. Z. Henry acting as the accompanist for the evening.

Long Distance Service Is Now Classified

THE Classifications on long distance telephone calls in effect from midnight, April 20th, are of interest to all users of that service. It is possible, by a study of your long distance requirements, to effect savings in your long distance bills that are well worth while.

Station-to-Station Service

Station-to-Station service should be used when you are willing to talk to ANYONE at a distant telephone — that is, when you do not need to get a particular person on the line.

Station-to-Station service is not only cheaper, but more rapid and accurate than Person-to-Person service. On Station-to-Station service the call can be completed as soon as the distant telephone is answered, while on a Person-to-Person call the particular party wanted must be located and summoned to the telephone.

The charge for a Station-to-Station call cannot be reversed — that is, it cannot be charged to the telephone called, for in that case the telephone operator would have to locate a particular person to approve the charge, which would make it a Person-to-Person call.

Person-to-Person Service

When you make a call specifying that conversation is desired with a particular person at a given number, Person-to-Person service is used.

As this service requires greater operating labor and circuit time than a Station-to-Station call, the rate is about 25 per cent greater.

Examples of Different Rates

Following are examples showing the station-to-station and person-to-person rates for distances up to sixty-four miles:

Miles	Station-to-Station Rate	Person-to-Person Rate
0–12	$0.10	$0.15
12–18	.15	.20
18–24	.20	.25
24–32	.25	.30
32–40	.30	.40
40–48	.35	.45
48–56	.40	.50
56–64	.45	.55

Appointment and Messenger Service

Appointment calls and Messenger calls are special kinds of person-to-person calls.

An APPOINTMENT CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is quoted for service when an appointment is made by the calling party to talk at a particular time.

When a person who does not have a telephone is called over long distance and a messenger must be sent to summon the party to the telephone, the MESSENGER CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is charged, and to this is added the necessary messenger charges.

The Report Charge

When you place a call for a particular person or persons and for any reason they cannot be reached the same day at the address given, or will not talk, or if you make a call and you are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within an hour, a REPORT CHARGE is made. The report charge is about one-fourth the station-to-station rate. It is intended to cover part of our expense of handling the uncompleted call.

Special Evening and Night Rates

The EVENING rate, between 8.30 p.m. and 12 midnight, on station-to-station calls, is about one-half the day rate. The NIGHT rate, between midnight and 4.30 a.m., is about one-fourth the day station-to-station rate.

However, no evening or night rates are quoted on station-to-station calls where the day rate is less than 25 cents. On such short-haul calls the day rate applies. For longer distances special evening and night rates are quoted.

Because it is difficult to reach particular persons at night, when many are away from their homes and places of business, there are no special evening or night rates quoted for person-to-person calls. They apply only on station-to-station calls.

SKIMMING THE SURFACE

When years ago people became restless and chafed under the restrictive laws of one country, they emigrated and set up for themselves in a new land beyond the seven seas. To-day the world is fairly well peopled, and there are no new worlds to conquer in an economic or agricultural sense. No longer are people able to get away from the tax collector and the law maker.

The result of this is to make people take a keener interest in the laws and problems of their own country. For the most part it is no advantage to leave one's own land to go to another country, because taxes are almost as high in the new land as in the old. The result is that there is a certain restlessness in the older country. They chafe under restrictions and delays.

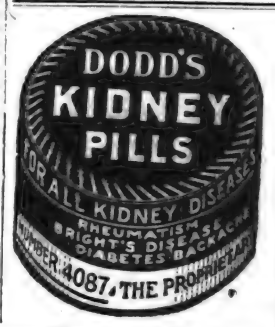
Since we are unable to spread out, we must do the only other thing, namely, dig deep. This is also true of farming. In agriculture we have two methods of carrying on, one the intensive way of farming, and the other, the extensive. The former implies thorough cultivation, digging deep, and making the very best of our opportunities, while the latter implies broad acres, superficial cultivation, and a fertile soil which yields abundantly when tickled by the husbandman's tools. To-day we cannot go in for the extensive method, so we must turn to the only other alternative, and adopt a policy of intensive cultivation.

The farmer of to-day must be able to apply scientific knowledge to his farming operations. He must know marketing conditions. He must practise the principles of co-operative buying and selling. He must keep step with his fellow farmers. The changed conditions also point to the necessity of intensive cultivation in a political sense. Farmers cannot any longer afford to neglect their political welfare. It is no longer profitable to entrust their political destinies to the old parties, or to the professional politicians. Intensive cultivation on the farm and intensive cultivation in the social, political and economic worlds seems to be the solution of present day problems. Skimming the surface will no longer do.—The Farmers' Sun.

Rev. J. G. Stuart, formerly minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, London, has applied for retirement from the ministry after 40 years' service.

Brant County Council granted permission to the Brant Historical Society to build a memorial to A. S. Hardy on the County Square, Brantford.

Mr. J. E. Matson, of the firm of F. T. Hill & Co., Markdale, who has been for years battling with and taking treatment for acute rheumatism, collapsed after his strenuous duties, following the recent fire, and is still in a precarious condition.



TRY TALKING THEM UP

Are you sure that there is any profit in your talking down your own day and age as much as you do, and calling attention to its frailties and failures after such persistent fashion? Even though you could prove that all that you say is true, you would be much harder put to it to prove that it was the whole truth, and certainly you would have greater difficulty still in showing that your continued saying of it was helping any. There seem to be a great many people at the present time engaged in telling the young folk of our day how frivolous and pleasure-seeking and altogether unsatisfactory they are. Facts are brought forwards in great and damaging array to establish this argument. That it is any truer to-day than it was fifty years ago we do not believe, but we know that the man that is continually telling us that it is true is not helping the situation any, but rather is doing his best to make it so. One thing wrong in the present situation touching young people is that there are so many of their elders, who ought to know better, talking them down.

MRS. ROBT. TWEEDY

The sad news of the sudden death of Mrs Mary Ann (Wallace) Tweedy came as a great shock to the people of Hornings Mills on Saturday evening, April 9th She seemed in her usual health and attended to all the duties of her home in the morning. Feeling wearied she retired about noon. Weakness of the heart brought on hemorrhage and she passed peacefully to her reward about 6 p.m. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, interment being made at Honeywood cemetery beside her husband who predeceased her 18 years ago. They had been privileged to live together 40 years. A family of six children remain to mourn the loss of a devoted mother. They are: Mrs. T. Gallaugher, Camilla; Mrs. G. Reburn, Whitfield; Thomas, of the Western States; Mrs. Agnes Appery, of Saskatchewan; Nelson, of Alberta; Wallace, of Honeywood, and John, who is at home. Many friends will remember the sad calamity which befel another son, Samuel, who was killed some years ago in the barn now owned by John Wallace, near Hornings Mills. Two sisters and a brother remain; Mrs. J. Welwood, Mono Mills; Mrs. D. Granger, Creemore, and James, who moved from Melancthon to Cartwright, Man., a year ago. Those who were called before her were Mrs. Mortimer and Mrs. William Thomas and John. There are twenty-nine grandchildren and one great grandchild living. Mrs. Tweedy was born in Ireland 77 years and 10 months ago. When about 8 years of age she came with her parents to Canada and settled in Toronto township. She was married to Robert Tweedy 58 years ago. For a time they lived at Fraxa Junction and then moved to Mulmur, near Honeywood. Six years after her husband died she moved to Hornings Mills, where she has made many friends during the last 12 years. She was greatly beloved, a devoted mother and a consistent member of the Presbyterian church. It was her privilege to sit at her last Communion service on earth on Easter Sunday. A large circle of neighbors and friends extend sincere sympathy to those who mourn the loss of a loving mother and thoughtful sister.—Free Press.

MRS. STEPHEN DENNIS

Death came as a happy release to Mrs. Stephen Dennis, of East Luther, after nearly 25 years suffering from an incurable disease, which caused great pain at times. Yet she bore the affliction with a grace and forbearance like that of the Master Himself, in whom she found the great comfort. A devoted husband and family found a real joy in lessening the burden of the mother and in alleviating her pain. The late Mrs. Dennis was a daughter of William and Ann Clark, of West Garafraxa, and was married about 37 years ago to Stephen Dennis, the young couple starting on the farm on the 2nd concession. She devoted herself to her home, where she exerted a worthy influence, her physical disability preventing activity in other spheres. Besides her sorrowing husband she leaves the following children:—John, in West Luther; William, in Toronto; Mrs. Maurice McMullen, of Guelph; Stephen, in West Garafraxa; Alfred and Robert, in Sask.; and Mary and Charles, at home. The funeral took place on Monday to the Union cemetery and was largely attended. — Star & Vidette.

HUSBAND TELLS OF BIG CHANGE

"The Way Tanlac Restored My Wife is Nothing Short of Wonderful" He Says.

"What Tanlac has done for my wife is nothing short of wonderful, and I'm glad to recommend it to others," said Earl George Bradley, well-known electric operator on the Dominion Power and Transmission Co., residing at Ancaster, Ont., while at the Parke & Parke Drug Store in Hamilton, the other day.

"Nearly a year ago my wife suffered a severe attack of influenza which developed into pneumonia, and after this she gained strength very slowly. Her appetite was so poor and her stomach was so disordered she could scarcely eat anything, and she complained of feeling tired and worn out all the time. She couldn't sleep nights, and in the mornings seemed more tired than on going to bed. In this awful condition she could hardly stay up, to say nothing of doing her housework.

"But Tanlac soon brought about a great change in her condition. She has taken four bottles now and her appetite is good, and she has gained so much in weight and strength she says she hardly feels like the same person. She sleeps well, too, and Tanlac has done her a world of good in every way, and she is still gaining in weight and strength."

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

The high cost of building material, the rapidly increasing population, and the enormous annual destruction of dwelling houses, in which there were 5,644 fires last year in Ontario, have combined to make the housing problem one of most serious and acute proportions.

Ontario is noted for its extravagance through unnecessary fire waste, which is nothing short of an economic crime, caused chiefly through our careless habits and indifference.

Statistics show that 64 per cent., or practically two out of every three fires which occur, are in our homes; eighty per cent. of which are preventable.

The Ontario Fire Prevention League, in affiliation with the Fire Marshall's Department, has inaugurated a Province-wide publicity campaign for the purpose of conserving our homes as well as our lives from destruction by fire. The boys and girls of the Province will be called upon to assist in this most desirable and patriotic movement. Through the principals and teachers of our schools, the League will distribute 250,000 copies of a "Home Inspection Blank," so that the pupils, with the help of their parents, may answer the questions. The primary object is to clean up attics, cellars, back yards and remove hazardous conditions, the underlying thought being to prevent fires by removing the cause and thus save our homes.

A brief service was conducted by Rev. J. THE FATEFUL YEARS FOR EVERY WOMAN

How to Overcome Troubles That Afflict Women Only.

So far as a woman's health is concerned, probably the most fateful years in her life are those between 45 and 50. Many women enter this period under depressing conditions, through overstrain in household cares, or a neglected condition of the blood, and so they suffer heavily.

Among the commonest symptoms at this time are headaches, pains in the back and sides, fever flushes, palpitation, dizziness and depression. It is well to know that these variations of health can be relieved by home treatment. What women stand in need of all their life, but never more so than in middle age, is rich, red blood. As a tonic for the blood and nerves, Dr. Williams Pink Pills are always useful, but especially will they help women at this time. Among those who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. J. A. McDougall, Rhodena, N. S., who says: "I was greatly troubled with nervousness, palpitation of the heart, dizziness and a generally run down condition. It was only with difficulty that I could do my work, and although I had been taking medicine for some time I did not improve. Finally a friend advised Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a supply and began taking them. The result more than met my expectations, and I am feeling better than I have done for years, sleep well, eat well, and do my housework much more easily. In my case the pills certainly did what you claim for them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CAMILLA

The annual meeting of the Camilla Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Alex. Lundy at 2.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, May 4th. A good attendance of members is requested for the election of officers.

A well-attended meeting of farmers living along the Prince of Wales Road was held in Mann's Hall on Friday evening, April 15th, for the purpose of discussing the Government Good Roads scheme as it applies to the Prince of Wales Road. The gathering was addressed by Mr. T. K. Slack, M. L. A. for Dufferin, Government Roads Engineer Bush, W. J. Bower, Reeve of Mono, J. A. Marshall, Robert Reid, J. M. McNaughton and others. The discussion centred on the proposition to make the road twenty feet wider by taking ten feet off the front of all farms on both sides of the highway. Advocates of the widening contended that this would ensure a good winter road and would make plenty of room for poles, trees and all necessary drains. The speakers were agreed on the benefit and value of good roads and were also of the opinion that when the Prince of Wales Road is improved the work should be done in thorough fashion and should be of a permanent character as far as possible.

"What's this 'Triplex' Stuff I Hear So Much About, Ed?"

"THAT'S it, right there on that bicycle.

"It's as simple as A. B. C.

"But it means as much to a bicycle as the whole alphabet does to the English language."

"How's that, Ed?"

"Just this way:—

"The crank hanger is the power plant of your bicycle.

"If your crank hanger turns just a little stiff or hard, that means more effort for you.

"If the hanger develops those mean 'tight and loose' spots, it means more friction and less power.

"But the 'Triplex' was designed and is built to overcome those faults.

"It is made of such fine steel and to such close limits of accuracy that it always runs smoothly. It makes your bicycle run so easily you'd think you were riding down grade.

"It takes a lot more time and better workmanship to construct such an accurate hanger."

"Well, well! I never thought a crank hanger was so important. I see now that it is really just as important to have a good crank hanger on a bicycle as a good engine in a car."

"That's right. The 'Triplex' is sure some power plant.

"Were you thinking of buying a new bike, Charlie?"

"Yes, I was thinking something about it, Ed. You know I bought a cheap one against your advice last year and I'm sick of pushing the old cart along. Besides, it's always wanting repairs."

"What you need is one of those new C. C. M. Bicycles. They're built to stay out of the repair shop. I know of many C. C. M.'s that are giving good service after ten to fifteen years riding over all kinds of roads."

WHERE DID THE MONEY GO?

When will the Knights of Columbus give an accounting of the money collected for their Hut Fund? Is there any intention to do so? By underground propaganda the Y. M. C. A. was made to advertise all over Canada the details of their receipts and expenditures for war work. Why should the K. of C. not do the same? If they have expended the huge fund they gathered honestly why not make a public statement? It is over three years since they collected a large sum, running into millions. Only the merest fraction of it could have been used for the soldiers. What has become of the rest of it? —Orange Sentinel.

PRESENTED WITH PURSE

On Friday evening, Mr. David Hill was the guest of honor at a very jolly social gathering at the home of Mr. Charles Lawrence. Mr. Mahoney ably discharged the duties of chairman and after calling the meeting together asked Mr. Jeremiah Deady to read the subjoined address and at the proper time, Mr. Hill was made the recipient of a well-filled purse. After Mr. Hill had suitably replied a few short addresses were delivered by Messrs. Jackson, Farrell and others. A vocal selection delivered in fine form by Mr. Neil Farrell was vigorously encored. The address read as follows:—

Mr. David Hill.

We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here tonight to bid you a hearty farewell before you leave our midst. It was with deepest regret that we learned of your intended departure, for years of association with you have been the

THE HOSPITAL AGE

(By A. Groves, M. D., Fergus, Ont.)

In these days of accuracy, precision and efficiency, it is not to be expected that the people will much longer be satisfied with the present amateurish way of treating the sick.

The era of the itinerant doctor going from house to house with his little grip, is or ought to be near an end. As an example of wasted energy and unemployed science he stands alone. A young man goes to college for five or six years, and after strenuous efforts graduates an M. D. He has at at his finger's ends the latest science and goes out to the country with his high ideals as to his life work. He equips his office with an X-Ray and electric outfit, he puts in a laboratory as an essential aid to diagnosis and treatment, his microscope is to be his constant companion, his library is selected and scientific.

His competence and efficiency bring work and in a few years his services are sought far and wide. He sits in a cutter or automobile all day long and, usually a good part of the night. His scientific apparatus is no longer used because there is no time. Instead of investigating disease almost all his time is taken up driving horses which any livery man can do better or in guiding an automobile like a second-rate chauffeur. His life is a busy one but only a small part of his day is devoted to treating the sick. His hours are spent on the roads with a few minutes interlude occasionally, while he runs in and looks after a patient. The highly trained scientist whose youthful vision saw his days devoted to investigation and study of disease finds that for scientific study of his cases, he has no time because he wastes it travelling back and forth, and the people will have it so for they know no better.

The remedy for this state of affairs is to bring the patient to the physician instead of bringing the physician to the patient and for this purpose every village should have a hospital and to it, when possible, all sick should be brought. If a man's watch fails to function properly he does not send for the watchmaker and instruct him to come daily until the watch is put right. That would be

Joe. Lynch, seventh line, Adjala, was attacked by a bull he was taking to Alliston and had a leg and his collar bone broken and was otherwise injured.

Fletcher Ryall, formerly of Sheldon, has been elected by acclamation to fill a vacancy in Alliston Council, and W. A. Austin has been elected by acclamation to fill a similar vacancy on the School Board.

The officers of the newly organized Bowling Club in Markdale are: Hon. Pres., J. S. Kelly; President, T. H. Reburn; Vice-Pres., Dr. J. A. McArthur; Sec.-Treas., W. D. Henry; Executive Committee, the Officers and S. A. Morrison, H. H. Lucas and R. V. Ricketts; Grounds Committee, Dr. L. G. Campbell and J. W. Lyons.

an expensive way and the work could not be well done when necessary facilities were lacking. He wants it done right and therefore, takes it to the place where their business is care for watches and where they have everything necessary for adjusting them. If the same man's wife is sick he sends for the doctor oblivious of the fact that he cannot bring or use his modern appliances. No thorough or minute scientific investigation is attempted for there is neither time nor means in a private house. There is no continual oversight but an irregular daily visit if it is possible to get there. The woman is not treated as well as the watch and surely she is worth many watches. It is not that there is intentional neglect of the woman. Far from it, but custom and prejudice, those two great clogs on human progress, prevent the patient from getting the benefit of modern scientific methods. If the appliances and equipment found in modern hospitals are necessary for the proper care and treatment of the sick it inevitably follows that patients cannot be properly treated outside of a hospital.

Where a case is difficult or obscure it is very often sent to a hospital, the attending physician explaining that there the proper means of examining and treating patients will be found and this explanation is true. That being so it would be rational to send the patient to the hospital before his condition became serious. For every sick person requires the best treatment science can give. No man can tell the beginning from the end and the case that appears mild to-day may be serious or hopeless to-morrow. Treating the sick is dealing with human lives and no case is so trival that any treatment short of the best should be considered good enough.

I believe the day is fast coming when every community will have its properly equipped hospital where the sick will go as a matter of course and where the medical men may be found devoting their time wholly to the investigation of disease and its scientific treatment. Once this becomes the custom people will look back astonished that they could even have been satisfied to have their nearest and dearest denied the best possible chance for their lives when overtaken by disease.

Honestly now! Could you get for 50c. any other prescription which would give the same all-round service and satisfaction that a box of Zam-Buk does?

Zam-Buk is a combination of powerful, healing, herbal extracts, so refined and compounded that wherever there is any kind of soreness of the flesh, or diseased tissue or abnormal condition (such as inflammation, festering or blood-poisoning) it almost immediately soothes and heals. It stops bleeding. It is highly antiseptic—kills disease germs. It is suitable alike for the hardened skin of the worker or the tender sensitive skin of a child.

Zam-Buk is 100% pure herbal medicine. It contains no animal fat nor mineral impurity. It cannot go rancid.

"For seven years we have used Zam-Buk in our home" writes L. E. Andresen, of 1407, E. 22nd. St., Minneapolis. "We simply could not get along without it. Whenever any of the children, my wife or I, happen an accident, we promptly apply Zam-Buk. It saves many a doctor's bill."

HANDLESS, HE MAKES ARTIFICIAL LIMBS

Mr. Andrew Gawley, of Meaford, Manufactures Hands of Own Invention.

Mr. Andrew Gawley, of Meaford, is handless but nevertheless he more than carries on. He is now employed in assisting those who are unfortunately placed in a position similar to his own.

Mr. Gawley himself invented the artificial hands which he now manufactures for the use of those unfortunate enough to lose one or both of their hands. They are of the five point iron variety and are very flexible, the owner being able to pick up very small articles.

Mr. Gawley is to be congratulated on being able, with his handicap, to put on the market such a necessary and useful substitute for the natural limbs that many have been unfortunately deprived of. He has had many enquiries from various armless men from different sections and those who are using his "iron hands" are his best boosters and advertisers, and many prospects are in sight for future orders. Soldiers now claim that Mr. Gawley's product is the best manufactured from Vancouver to New York, and the more the armless men of the war learn of his invention, the more enquiries he receives. He is kept busy with orders and has a number of prospects for the near future.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

SIMPLICITY

NEVER was so much efficiency combined so skillfully with extreme simplicity. That is why the Ford is called a marvel of engineering skill.

Simple in design—anyone can quickly understand all running parts of a Ford.

Simple in construction—and every part a bulwark of strength.

Simple in operation—anyone can run a Ford.

Simple to maintain—no skill required to care for it.

Yet in spite of this simplicity look at the performance of the car! The worst roads in this part of the country are smooth as compared with those that the Ford negotiates daily in other parts of the world.

Engineering skill has combined the wonderful endurance power of the Ford with light weight. It weighs several hundred pounds less than the ordinary car of equal power and carrying capacity.

Light weight means no loss of strength. Every wearing and strain bearing part is made of Ford vanadium steel, made according to special Ford formula, and infinitely stronger than ordinary steel.

Engineering skill has put into the Ford these miracles of utility, efficiency and endurance at the lowest cost. Light weight means economy in manufacture, and reduces wear and tear on tires.

Ford owners not only enjoy a car of unequalled efficiency at lowest cost but they have fewest expenses with tires and other troubles.

When your Ford needs attention we render Ford service. No waiting for genuine Ford parts or for expert mechanics to make repairs. Our stock of genuine Ford parts is kept complete.

"We Saw Your Letter In the Newspaper"

"YES." "And is that correct what is said about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"

"Yes, it is absolutely true."

"But why do you recommend it?"

"For two very good reasons. First, because it fully restored my health and strength when I was weak, wornout and very greatly discouraged, and, second, because I believe it is a duty as well as a pleasure to let other women know about so superior a treatment."

"I never used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but I got interested in that Woman's Advertising Contest they had, and nearly every woman I met seemed to be talking about it. Then I saw your letter, and knew you would tell me about it."

"Well, you know how weak and miserable I was for years in spite of all the doctors could do for me. I was nervous, irritable, restless and sleepless. Thought sometimes I would go out of my mind from worry and depressed spirits. I need not tell you how well I am now. You can see for yourself. There is the whole story, and all the credit is due to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

"I get your viewpoint now. It would be a sin and a shame if you did not tell others."

PRESBYTERIAL W. M. S.

Large Attendance at Annual Meeting in Claude.

(Intended for last week.)

The seventh annual meeting of the Orangeville Presbyterial W. M. S. was held in the Presbyterian Church, Claude, on April 12th. Mrs. (Rev.) J. Burkholder, President for the past two years, presided at both morning and afternoon sessions.

Auxiliary reports in some cases did not measure up to expectations. Nineteen Auxiliaries out of thirty-four show a decrease in the amount sent to the Presbyterial Treasurer. Others did splendidly, so that the Presbyterial is glad to report an increase in membership and givings. Two new Auxiliaries have been organized—Camilla and Rosemont—making 37 Auxiliaries with a total membership of 691, an increase of 46. The total missionary givings for the year were $2948.65, an increase of $91.62 over the previous year. $229.09 was contributed by Home Helpers, an increase of $36.-20. There are 14 Mission Bands and 5 Young Women's Auxiliaries. Shelburne was the banner Auxiliary and Erin the banner Mission Band for 1920.

The Supply Secretary reported a very successful year. The supplies were exceptionally good in quality and quantity.

The report of the delegate to the Canadian Girls' in Training Camp at Geneva Park was read by Miss Mabel Francis, Riverview. The training given in this camp is the development of the four-fold life—the spiritual, intellectual, physical and social. The importance of making the most of all their powers is emphasized, so that our girls may be ready for any call to service that may come to them. The teaching may be summed up in the following: To be a Christian is to love; to love is to serve.

"Self is the only person that can bind the soul,
Love is the only angel who can bid the gates unroll;
And when He comes to call thee, arise and follow fast,
His way may lead through darkness, but it leads to life at last."

Mrs. Burkholder, in her address, impressed upon the women of the Presbyterial the great work assumed by them as members of the W. M. S. and asked for a prayerful and careful consideration of their duties. She emphasized the fact that in order to "carry on" successfully more workers are needed, not only in the foreign field, but in the homeland. The harvest truly is great but the laborers are few.

A duet, entitled "I Came to the Garden Alone," was beautifully rendered by Mrs. McFarlane and Mrs. Copeland, Claude.

The Presbyterial was fortunate in having with them Dr. O'Hara, who is home on furlough, after having spent thirty years in India. Dr. O'Hara congratulated the members of the W. M. S. on the splendid work done by their society. It is a great society, none greater and yet only twenty per cent. of our church members are members of the W. M. S. She spoke briefly of the work being done at our ten Mission Stations; of the love; devotion and untiring efforts of our missionaries, often amid hardships and trials. As Christian women our prayers should follow them and thus strengthen their hands in their mighty task. The need of medical women is urgent. We have many calls for medical work and at present there are only two doctors on the field. India, in common with other countries, is experiencing the same spirit of unrest in her social and industrial and economic life. The caste system and early marriages make the work difficult. Most interesting were the incidents that took place on her own field at Dhar, which she said she felt most reluctant to speak about. When she related the wonderful restoration to health of those who had gone far down into the valley we were reminded of the words of our Lord when He said, "According to thy faith be it unto you."

The Presbyterial accepted the hearty invitation from Dundalk for next year's meeting.

The Executive purpose holding sectional conferences in the Presbytery and ask for the co-operation of every Auxiliary.

The closing words by Mrs. Dodds, Cheltenham, were well chosen. She asked the delegates to carry home with them and put into action the enthusiasm and inspiration of the meeting. Be strong and of good courage. Be not weary in well doing for in due season we shall reap if we faint not.

The delegation, which was unusually large, was given a hearty welcome to Claude by Mrs. J. M. Scott and Mrs. Robinson on behalf of the Auxiliaries of Claude and Mayfield.

Luncheon and tea were served to the visiting delegates in the school room.

Officers were elected as follows: Honorary President, Mrs. G. Kendall; President, Mrs. J. Burkholder; Vice-Presidents—1st, Mrs. J. M. Scott, Inglewood; 2nd, Mrs. Paralow, Priceville; 3rd, Mrs. Kate Paton, Claude; 4th, Mrs. Dodds, Cheltenham; Secretaries — Corresponding, Mrs. T. C. Glassford, Caledon; Recording, Mrs. Rose, Corbetton; Mission Band, Miss J. McMeekin, Brampton; Supply, Mrs. Sproule, Orangeville; Assistant Supply, Mrs. Gale, Orangeville; Home Helpers', Mrs. Craig, Grand Valley; Strangers, Mrs. D. N. Potter, Mono Mills; Library, Mrs. Matheson, Mono Mills; Messenger, Mrs. Adamson, Orangeville; Treasurer, Mrs. Ferguson, Shelburne; Auditors, Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Bailey, Shelburne.

MISSING TWO MONTHS

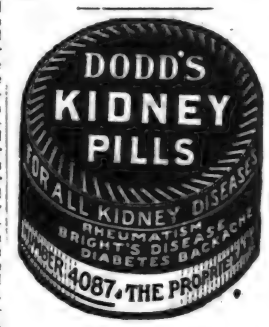
Believe That Son of Provincial Constable Rutledge Met With Foul Play.

Provincial Constable W. H. Rutledge, of Port Credit, said on Tuesday night that the failure of the police authorities to obtain any trace of his son, Fred Rutledge, missing since February 10 last, when he started from Parry Sound for Toronto with $1,500 in bills in his possession, had forced him to believe that the young man had met with foul play.

Fred Rutledge, 32 years of age and married, sold out his livery business in Parry Sound a little more than two months ago, obtaining a large sum in cash. He gave his wife $400, and told her that he intended to visit his father and consult him about purchasing a business in Brampton. He assured his wife that he would telephone or wire to her the next day and bought a railway ticket for Toronto. Since that time there has been no clue whatever to his whereabouts, although the police have been active and a photograph of Rutledge and personal description have appeared in the newspapers.

Constable Rutledge said that his son had had uninterrupted success in business, that he was under no mental stress, and that the theory of a sudden lapse of memory was not to be entertained.

Fred Rutledge, according to the description furnished, is 5 feet 6 inches tall, very fair of hair and complexion, and with prominent gold-filling in his teeth.—Peel Banner.



George Mournahan, the East Luther horse king, sold a team of Clydesdales, 4 years old, to a Halifax buyer for $800. One weighed 1890 and the other 1910.

Leslie Faulkner, a Brampton lad of ten years, was run over by an automobile a week ago Saturday but miraculously escaped without serious injury. He did not notice the car coming and ran directly in front of it.

The death occurred in Davisville hospital on April 10th, of William John Vallery, formerly of Belwood, in his 57th year. Deceased was attached to the flying corps in the States, contracted tuberculosis and died in the military hospital.

AMARANTH COUNCIL

Township Hall, Laurel,
April 9th, 1921

The Council met pursuant to adjournment. Members all present, the Reeve presiding. Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Simpson-Hammond—That we instruct the Reeve to get legal advice as to procedure in regard to changing roadway on 15 sideline, lot 16, con. 6, and that he take action forthwith according to agreement.—Carried.

The Women's Institutes of the vicinity of Laurel came in a body to interview the Council in regard to a Community Hall at Laurel and made an offer that they would put up one thousand dollars if the said Council would remodel the Township Hall and put some extension to it, and have it for a Township and Community Memorial Hall as well, the Government paying twenty-five per cent. up to two thousand of the cost. The Council could not see their way clear to take the matter up, therefore it was voted down:

Simpson-W. H. Whaley—That the following bills be ordered to be paid: Bert Hughes, trip to Toronto and time, also E. Hamilton, time spent in connection with the grant from the Government, $13.00; Harry M. Jelly, for deviation of road at bridge on 8th line, opposite lot 11, $50.00; John Conner, for deviation of road at bridge on 8th line, opposite lot 11, $50.00.

W. H. Whaley-Hammond—That we do now adjourn to meet again as a Court of Revision on the assessment, on Saturday, May 28th, 1921, and for the transaction of other business.

MONO COLLEGE

The last regular meeting of the Mono College Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. J. McKitrick, Prince of Wales Road, on Tuesday afternoon, April 12th. There was a good attendance and a splendid programme was provided. One of the features was an instructive address on Rural Education by Rev. W. M. Morris. During the discussion which followed the address a number of interesting questions were answered by Mr. Morris. Miss Arkell, of Orangeville, gave a helpful Reading entitled "Lessons from the Flowers," and also spoke on horticulture, explaining how all who were interested might secure their garden seeds at a small price. Miss Clara McKitrick favored the gathering with a recitation and Miss Myrtle Marshall gave a reading on Institute work. It was decided to pack a bale at the next meeting for the suffering Armenians. The members are invited to contribute anything in the line of clothing or money. The meeting was closed by Rev. Mr. Morris leading in prayer, after which the hostess served a dainty lunch.

The next meeting will be held in the hall of Prince of Wales L. O. L. No. 320 on Thursday, May 5th. All are requested to attend this meeting. A report of the work of the year will be given by the Secretary and the election of officers will take place.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Kiever.

Vancouver, B.C.—"I am pleased to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a lot of good. I can now walk about without the aid of a support and feel real strong again. A nurse advised me to take the Vegetable Compound and it is certainly helping me. It seems like Heaven to be relieved after months of pain."—Mrs. H. W. Baker, 2374 10th Ave. West, Vancouver, B.C.

Albert Co., N. B.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and they have done me a lot of good. Since then I have been able to do my housework and I have a lot of work to do as we live on a farm. Seeing your advertisement in the papers was what made me think of writing to you. I hope this may help some one else."—Mrs. Wm. B. Keiver, Upper New Horton, Albert Co., N. B.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

DIED SUDDENLY

Mr. Harry Firth, a brother of Principal Alex. Firth, of the Orangeville Public School, died very unexpectedly in Toronto on April 6th. Deceased left the house before breakfast to attend to some chickens. Shortly afterwards his daughter, who was preparing breakfast, saw her father leaning against a tree in the yard and ran out to learn what was wrong, but before she could reach his side he had expired. Death, we understand, was the result of a paralytic stroke. The late Mr Firth was in the neighborhood of 60 years of age and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Firth, of Durham. Principal Firth attended the funeral in Toronto.

SCHOOL HOMES IN QUEBEC

The Presbyterian Church in Canada conducts, with the aid of the Women's Missionary Society, four School Homes in the Province of Quebec for the purpose of giving an education under Protestant auspices. Three are for French children—at Tourville, Namur and Hull, and one for English-speaking in the city of Quebec. These are in addition to the Pointe-aux-Trembles School, near Montreal, with an average enrollment of nearly 300 and with, as a rule, a waiting list of applicants. Thousands have been graduated from this excellent school during the seventy years of its existence, and it has thus made an invaluable contribution towards the unity and brotherhood of the French and English races in Canada.

Lowe Brothers Paints

This paint film is less than 1\100 of an inch thick. What does that mean to you?

When you stop to realize that a two-coat film of paint is less than 1-100 of an inch in thickness, and that this thin film stands between your house and the weather, you can see the vitalness of buying the right kind of paint.

Lowe Brothers High Standard Paint forms a tougher film than any other paint we know of. It is elastic. It will not crack with the weather's changes. It is both weatherproof and waterproof.

It costs a little more than most paints, but it always covers more surface, therefore less paint is required and you actually save money at the very start. This fact, coupled with its long lastingness, makes it really an investment paint.

If you want to prevent future trouble, come in and talk over your paint problems with us.

CHILDHOOD INDIGESTION

Nothing is more common in childhood than indigestion. Nothing is more dangerous to proper growth, more weakening to the constitution or more likely to pave the way to dangerous disease. Fully nine-tenths of all the minor ills of childhood have their root in indigestion. There is no medicine for the little ones to equal Baby's Own Tablets in relieving this trouble. They have proved of benefit in thousands of homes. Concerning them Mrs. Jos. Lunette, Immaculee Conception, Que., writes: "My baby was a great sufferer from indigestion, but the Tablets soon set her right and now I would not be without them." Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HARVIE–FREEBURY

A very pretty quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Freebury Sunday afternoon, March 27th, at 3 o'clock, Rev W. B. Empey officiating, when Miss Verna Freebury, eldest daughter of the late Rev. John Freebury and Mrs. Freebury, of Botha, and Mr. Robert Harvie, of Foreman, were united in marriage. The bride entered the room where the ceremony took place on the arm of her brother, Mr. Garnett Freebury. The ring service was used. The bride looked very charming in a suit of sand-colored velour cloth, the coat opening over a blouse of pale yellow embroidered crepe-de-chene. Her hat was of African brown with touches of pale yellow and she carried a bouquet of roses and fern. Congratulations were extended to the bride and groom, after which a dainty and appetizing lunch was served. Shortly afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Harvie left for their farm in the Foreman district. The guests present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Harvie and Miss Jean Harvie, of Calgary, father, mother and sister of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Empey, Miss Lamerne Empey, Miss Mary Rammel, Miss Mamie Armstrong and Miss Ruth Hollingshead.—Stettler, Alta., Independent.

The bride is a niece of Mr. W. M. Freebury, of Caledon, and Mrs. John R. Hicks, Orangeville. The Independent also reporrts two presentations to the bride shortly before her marriage. On Friday, March 25th, the Botha W. M. S. presented her with a shower, consisting of many beautiful and useful gifts and on March 23rd a number of Miss Freebury's girl friends tendered her a shower at the home of Miss Mamie Armstrng.

Long Distance Service Is Now Classified

THE Classifications on long distance telephone calls in effect from midnight, April 20th, are of interest to all users of that service. It is possible, by a study of your long distance requirements, to effect savings in your long distance bills that are well worth while.

Station-to-Station Service

Station-to-Station service should be used when you are willing to talk to ANYONE at a distant telephone — that is, when you do not need to get a particular person on the line.

Station-to-Station service is not only cheaper, but more rapid and accurate than Person-to-Person service. On Station-to-Station service the call can be completed as soon as the distant telephone is answered, while on a Person-to-Person call the particular party wanted must be located and summoned to the telephone.

The charge for a Station-to-Station call cannot be reversed — that is, it cannot be charged to the telephone called, for in that case the telephone operator would have to locate a particular person to approve the charge, which would make it a Person-to-Person call.

Person-to-Person Service

When you make a call specifying that conversation is desired with a particular person at a given number, Person-to-Person service is used.

As this service requires greater operating labor and circuit time than a Station-to-Station call, the rate is about 25 per cent greater.

Examples of Different Rates

Following are examples showing the station-to-station and person-to-person rates for distances up to sixty-four miles:

Miles	Station-to-Station Rate	Person-to-Person Rate
0-12	$0.10	$0.15
12-18	.15	.20
18-24	.20	.25
24-32	.25	.30
32-40	.30	.40
40-48	.35	.45
48-56	.40	.50
56-64	.45	.55

Appointment and Messenger Service

Appointment calls and Messenger calls are special kinds of person-to-person calls.

An APPOINTMENT CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is quoted for service when an appointment is made by the calling party to talk at a particular time.

When a person who does not have a telephone is called over long distance and a messenger must be sent to summon the party to the telephone, the MESSENGER CALL rate, which is about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate, is charged, and to this is added the necessary messenger charges.

The Report Charge

When you place a call for a particular person or persons and for any reason they cannot be reached the same day at the address given, or will not talk, or if you make a call and you are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within an hour, a REPORT CHARGE is made. The report charge is about one-fourth the station-to-station rate. It is intended to cover part of our expense of handling the uncompleted call.

Special Evening and Night Rates

The EVENING rate, between 8.30 p.m. and 12 midnight, on station-to-station calls, is about one-half the day rate. The NIGHT rate, between midnight and 4.30 a.m., is about one-fourth the day station-to-station rate.

However, no evening or night rates are quoted on station-to-station calls where the day rate is less than 25 cents. On such short-haul calls the day rate applies. For longer distances special evening and night rates are quoted.

Because it is difficult to reach particular persons at night, when many are away from their homes and places of business, there are no special evening or night rates quoted for person-to-person calls. They apply only on station-to-station calls.

THE FIRST TRAIN ON THE T. G. & B.

Left Toronto on April 11th, 1871, Just Fifty Years Ago Yesterday Came as Far as Alton.

Fifty years ago yesterday (Monday) the first train on the old Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, the old narrow gage, left Toronto Union Station and ran up as far as Alton, about a mile from Orangeville. Over a year later the line was completed on into Owen Sound and this now thriving city had its first railway connection. Previous to that the most of the passenger traffic came by train to Collingwood and by stage or boat to Owen Sound, according to the season of the year. The alternative route was by overland stage coach from Guelph by way of Mt. Forest and Durham.

Since that time Owen Sound has had a remarkable development along some lines, but has lost out on others. Citizens who lived here during the early days of the railway will remembre the really large amount of shipping that made its way into the harbor, or anchored in the bay. The boats were mostly small ones but the activities along the harbor front were very impressive. Tall masted schooners were regular callers and at times the harbor took on the appearance of a forest of masts. The schooner is now almost a thing of the past and the railways have taken much of the trade that used to be carried from here to North Shore. Now vessel movements, except the few regular boats into Owen Sound, are few and far between.

About 20 years later the Grand Trunk was brought in here from Park Head, and most of us are sanguine enough to believe that within a very few years the missing link to Meaford will be constructed, and the railways electrified. This would give Owen Sound a real railway service.

Some day a complete history of the old Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway will be written—how its right of way was laid out, and why the railway did not touch either Flesherton or Priceville. — Owen Sound Sun-Times.

LOCAL AGENT—C. R. REID

William Wentrope, of Bradford, recently journeyed to Toronto and had $114 in his possession. At Parkdale his suspicions were aroused by two men following him. He boarded a Queen Street car; the two men boarded the car also, and succeeded in relieving him of his roll. They made their getaway.

Tuesday, April 12th, an interesting event took place in St. Andrew's Church, Alliston, when Miss E. J. Asaph was married to Mr. Jethro Swaffield by the Rev. P. W. A. Roberts.

Mr. Wm. Mitchell, of the Circle Bar Knitting Co., Kincardine, has been granted a patent on a hose design which will be an immense saving on all hose. It is known as an anti-run design in knitting and does away with the run in hose from a cut or broken thread at the top where the hose supporter attaches to the stocking.

From the looks of the their back sides (see dictionary, Scotch for back-yards), many citizens were expecting some one to clean up for them. Once more the "dear old town" has agreed to foot the bill. Thus are conscientious people who hire the garbage men to make regular calls to keep their premises clean, repaid, by seeing town funds squandered in cleaning out a neighbor's accumulation of a year's gathering. If the sanitary laws were enforced as they are supposed to be the penurious, sloppy, dirty citizen would be made to keep clean at his own expense The town should either enforce the law or adopt free removal for all garbage.—Peel Banner.

CALEDON

The Ladies' Aid of Caledon Methodist Church will hold their regular meeting in the Methodist Church, Caledon, at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, April 27th. An interesting feature of the program will be a Travel Talk by Mrs. J. M. Dods on her recent trip to China and Japan. She will also show a number of curios of the countries visited. This will be an open meeting and all ladies of the community are invited to attend. The program will be followed by a social time. 42-2t

Part of the Rowntree estate, near Weston, has been purchased by a syndicate represented by William Grogan at a price fixed at $2,550 an acre. The lot measures eighty-six and two-fifth acres, so that the total sum paid for the property is $220,320.

An accident, with serious results took place the other day in Cookstown. An auto from Toronto collided with a hydro pole and Mr. Murray, a traveller, was injured about the head and was conveyed to the local hospital. The other occupants of the car received slight injuries, but were able to return to Toronto.

High Average Mileage

Sometimes you find a tire that gives extraordinary mileage—one in a dozen perhaps. Whereas the average of mileage given by a dozen—or a hundred—Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" will be as high as that given by the exceptional ordinary tire.

It's the high average that counts—that cuts the cost of miles—that makes it worth while to get Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" instead of ordinary tires.

Music's Perfect Mirror

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

The New Edison is like the perfect mirror that reflects form and feature, true to every line and subtlety of coloring. It gives you an exact RE-CREATION of the singing or playing of the living artist or artists.

Mr. Edison spent 7 years of his time and 3 millions of his dollars to develop the perfect realism of the New Edison. He has proved this perfect realism by comparing the New Edison with living artists 5,000 times before more than 5 million people. The New Edison is positively the only phonograph which can sustain this test.

We have, for you, a proof on offset paper of the famous Franklin Booth Etching of Mr. Edison, as he looks today. Size 12 x 19 inches. Bears no advertising matter; suitable for framing. Just fill out the ballot,—and bring or mail it to us.

HE REJOICES OVER HIS GOOD FORTUNE

Ontario Farmer Says He Is Like Brand New Man Since He Started on Tanlac.

"It would make anybody rejoice to get the wonderful relief I have," declared Adam Book, well known farmer residing at Ancaster, Ontario, while relating his experience with Tanlac at the Parke and Parke Drug store in Hamilton a few days ago.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac I had been suffering with acute attacks of indigestion for a long time. Often it seemed that my time had surely come. After each meal gas would form on my stomach and bloat me up so I could hardly get my breath. My appetite was very poor most of the time, and I had severe attacks of biliousness when I got so dizzy I could hardly stand up. I suffered from constipation, and most of the time I had a terrible headache. My right shoulder ached so I could hardly get my coat on, and at times I ached and hurt all over. My nerves were in an awful condition, and I scarcely slept any. Mornings I got up feeling dull and heavy, and could hardly do any work at all.

"But the first few doses of Tanlac got me to feeling better. I have taken four bottles now, and my appetite is good, and I never have a trace of indigestion or biliousness. I have no more aches or pains of any kind, and am feeling like a brand new man. I certainly am grateful for what Tanlac has done for me, and am glad to recommend it to anyone needing medicine."

MISS ELIZABETH YOUNG

Another resident has gone to her reward in the person of Miss Elizabeth Young, who passed peacefully away on Saturday, April 30th. Miss Young was the second daughter of Mr. John Young, who settled at Hillsburg, in the township of Erin, in the year 1850 and whose death occured in 1862. Miss Young resided on the old homestead close to the village of Hillsburg from the time of her birth until about three years ago when she removed to Orangeville, where she has lived with a brother and sister on York St. Her illness was of very short duration and was borne with Christian fortitude. The funeral took place on Monday, May 2nd, to Huxley Cemetery on the seventh line, Erin. The services, both at the residence and the grave, were conducted by the Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Orangeville, of which the deceased was an active member, especially in the Ladies' Aid. The late Miss Young was beloved by a large circle of friends and leaves to mourn her loss three brothers and one sister, Mr. John P. Young and Miss Minnie Young, Orangeville, Mr. W. F. Young, Winnipeg, and Mr. James Young, of Eden, Man.

MRS. R. JACKSON

After being in ill-health for the past 18 months, and being a patient at St. Michael's Hospital since the beginning of the year, Mrs. Mary Jackson, widow of Robert Jackson, a well-known farmer of Orangeville district, died yesterday in her 67th year.

Mrs. Jackson was born near Mount Forest, her maiden name being Mary Shaw. After her marriage she lived on her husband's farm near Orangeville until shortly after his death 30 years ago, when she moved to Orangeville. About 15 years ago she came into Toronto. In religion she was an Anglican, and, until ill-health overtook her, attended St. Thomas' Church.

She is survived by three sons, James, of Dayton, Ohio; George and Garnet, of Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Warburton of 325 Davenport Road.—Toronto Globe.

The funeral was held on the arrival of the C. P. R. train from Toronto on Monday at 10.12 a.m., to the Forest Lawn Cemetery. A very impressive service was conducted by Canon Morley in St. Mark' Church at 10.30, at which there was a large attendance. The pallbearers were one brother-in-law, Jos. Jackson, and five nephews, Messrs. Reggie, Frank, Edgar, Jack and Jos. jr. Jackson.

DOGS ARE BURDEN CARRIERS OF NORTH

Reliance in Winter is Places Wholly on the Outfits of Huskies.

The horse or the fliver has no chance with the dog teams in the northland during the winter season. Dogs are the winter burden bearers of the north. The young men of the towns buy a dog team and toboggan instead of a fliver with which to take the girls riding. On the other hand, pioneers at remote posts do not mush the dogs as sport. The dogs are harnessed when it is necessary to make the round of the trap lines; to replenish the larder; to fetch supplies or mail from the nearest post or to make a hurrying trip for the doctor.

The only wagon roads north of The Pas and vicinity run to Flin Flon mine about 100 miles, and from Mile 82, on the Hundson Bay Railroad, to Herb Lake, about 18 miles. Aside from these roads, horses are unknown in the north and where the horse can not go the automobile has no chance.

Northern traffic goes by water in summer and the dogs for their sins of fighting and howling, are banished to outlying dog camps. They come into their own again each fall at freeze-up, for then passenger, freight and mail service depends upon dog power.

The genuine husky is a cross between the big timber wolf of the north and the collie dog. The first generation of such dogs is of little huskies are generations removed from the original cross by which the type was procured. Many other working dogs show points of the husky, all use for work. Many of the present but extinguished in the conglomeration of almost everything doggy.

Pure huskies are known by their sharply pointed ears, the plume-like tails carried well over their backs, the rich, smoky silver of their coats which are long and silky, and also by their wolfish howling. Such dogs cannot really bark. Some of them weigh 100 pounds, and a load of one hundred pounds per dog is not considered excessive. They are fit for work before they are one year old and are good for the hard trips of several hundred miles with a spin of perhaps 60 miles per day, for almost seven years. After that they may be used at easy hauling for two or three years. Fifty miles a day is considered good sledding and 2,000 miles in winter is a conservative estimate of what a dog at regular work will cover.

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "moosh," generally is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right or left, "whoa" for the stop and other words too numerous and hectic to mention, reserved for the lazy contrary beast. The Indians use "Yoo" for the right turn, and an explosive "Cha" for the left. The Alaskan, Walter Goyne, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

CENTENARY OF DEATH OF NAPOLEON

This week the centenary of the death of Napoleon will be celebrated by the whole world. In a small bedroom at Longwood, St. Helena, there died on May 5th, 1821, the greatest of self-made men, General Napoleon Bonaparte. He was born at Ajaccio, Corsica, on August 16th, 1769. At the time of his death the former Emperor of the French had been five years and five months in confinement on the lonely isle of St. Hela, irking his soul in defeat and illness, and his powers decaying through the ravaging of cancer of the stomach. On the 3rd of May the last rites were given and then for two days Napoleon lay in a stupor, dying on the stormy night of May 5th. The body lay in state in the little bedroom where he died for two days, after which he was buried with full military honours beneath the weeping willows where he often resorted to. Nineteen years later the remains were permitted to be removed to France and found a fitting resting place in the chapel of the Hotel des Invalides where old comrades could guard their idol.

The Origin of Heckling.

The art of heckling, or badgering a political candidate with questions and interruptions, is well understood in England. The word, which is also spelled "hackle," was brought over into politics from the flax trade. Prior to the introduction of machinery, hackling was a process carried out by hand. The hackle was an instrument with a wooden base, into which a large number of steel pins were fixed at short distances one from another; these pins projected about four inches through the base, after the style of a hairbrush. The hackler, or heckler, held the flax material firmly in his hand, and drew it through the hackle pins, thereby straightening and splitting the fibre, and at the same time removing the loose fibre known as "tow." Nowadays this process is done by machinery, but the political application of it is still as much used as ever, and very soon finds out what a candidate is made of.

"The Slim Princess"

The petite Princess Kaolra couldn't get a husband because she wasn't fat enough. So her father, the Count Selim Malagaskie, put her in a rubber suit, filled it with air—and lo! she was enormous. Until she sat on a pin and—pow! the darn thing blew up. The zippiest, funniest of all Mabel's pictures. Don't miss this harem-scarem picture made from George Ade's famous play. Gales of giggles, typhoons of titters, hurricanes of hilarity—and then some! The funniest, fastest farce Mabel Normand ever played in.

ON THE LINE BY NINE

This is the story of the Blue Bird Wash. In one short hour—never for a moment to neglect the baby or to visit upon it the tyrannies and temper associated in everyone's mind with the average wash day of the past—this young mother, fresh and happy and joyous as the day when that baby's father asked her to take his name, has provided clean linen for the household for another week.

"THE MEN ARE ON THE LAND"

"The men are on the land" is the message which comes to the chance caller at the average farm home in Old Ontario these days. As one travels through the country by train or journeys up and down the concessions and side lines, one sees the old familiar, yet ever new sight of men and horses against the background of trees which are just commencing to show green. The brown earth, moist in places, but dusty and brown on the hillsides is being made ready for the seed which shall yield "some thirty, some sixty and some an hundred fold."

For weeks the farmer has been looking out across his broad acres, planning his campaign as a general does his order of battle. Chores become less inviting as the great out-of-doors calls. The cattle themselves grow restless in their stalls. The greening grass, the moist earth, the songs of the birds and that indefinable something which we call Spring gets into the blood of both man and beast and indoor tasks and duties loose their attractiveness.

A farmer may make a little maple syrup, cut some wood, fix fences and generally tidy up after the long winter season, but he never feels that Spring has really come until he gets "on the land."

Perhaps it is that the farmer goes back in spirit to the days when God walked in the Garden of Eden "in the cool of the evening." Perhaps it is the long list of ancestors whose love of the land creeps out in his blood, but there is something about getting your feet on Mother Earth that is unlike anything else on earth.

And it is well that it is so.

Farming is hard work. It is not an easy task to follow a team of horses all day in a cloud of dust. The hours are long and the work hard, but it is out-of-doors; And in the springtime when all nature is alive there seems a freshness, a virility and a charm about God's great out-of-doors which compensates for much that we have to endure. It's a great day when we are told that "the men are on the land."—The Farmers' Sun.

If you want True Music you must choose

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

CONSIDER your object in buying a phonograph. It is to bring true music to your home—the living performances of great singers and instrumentalists, of great bands and orchestras.

Over five thousand times, before more than five million people, the New Edison has stood side by side with the living artist in a direct comparison test, and no one has been able to distinguish between the living performance and the RE-CREATED performance.

The New Edison is the only phonograph or talking machine that sustains this test. It is the only phonograph that has actually proved beyond question that it gives you true music.

IF you buy phonograph records, or player-piano rolls, if you play or sing, you should have a copy of "What Edison Likes in Music." It tells Mr. Edison's 25 favorite tunes,—gives his views on music,—and names 6 selections which he thinks everybody ought to own. Get your copy. It's free for the asking. Use the coupon.

While Mr. Ed. Johnston was walking near Green Lake (on McLaughlin's side) he accidently struck his toe on a strange object which he examined and came to the conclusion it was the horn of an animal. Mr. Johnston decided to make further investigation and supplied himself with tools and repaired to the spot where he had first made the discovery and started to dig and soon came to the conclusion it was the antlers of a deer but later was convinced that these specimens were too large for to belong to any of the deer family and after a time unearthed a set of antlers that would measure 11 feet from tip to tip when carried by this mighty monarch of the primeval forest. Mr. Johnston has now found the whole skeleton and thinks it is that of an elk. He is in communication with the museum authorities in Toronto, and soon this very rare specimen will be on exhibition in the Royal Ontario Museum and will doubtless be viewed by thousands of interested visitors, who will thank Mr. Johnston for making such a find.

THE CHEVROLET PLAN FOR DISTRIBUTING $4,000,000

THE production schedule of Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Models for the seven months from January 1st to July 31st, 1921, is fifty thousand cars.

We will give $70 to each retail purchaser of a new open car or light delivery model, and $100 to each retail purchaser of a new closed car, provided we manufacture and sell fifty thousand Chevrolet Model "Four-Ninety" cars between January 1st, 1921, and July 31st, 1921. This offer to be subject to the terms as set forth in full in the refund certificate which will be delivered to each purchaser.

Fifty thousand cars is the minimum which will secure substantial savings in cost of manufacture. These savings will be passed on to the purchasers of these fifty thousand cars.

This plan is in keeping with the Chevrolet policy to make the price of its product as low as quality manufacture on a large scale will permit. It is in keeping with the Chevrolet purpose of providing quick, convenient, economical transportation at a cost within reach of those who want an automobile.

Each purchaser of a Model "Four-Ninety" will receive a certificate from his dealer, or from the Chevrolet retail store manager. This certificate will be redeemed as indicated on its face.

This is a straightforward business proposition presented in a straightforward way. Whether you are in the market for a new car or not, you must not fail to learn the details of this unique and simple plan. It offers to every man of sound business judgment an opportunity to take advantage of the best automobile value obtainable.

Retail purchasers of Model "Four-Ninety" cars since October 1st, 1920, will receive their certificates through their local dealers or retail stores on application to them.

VIOLET HILL

(Intended for last week.)

From Violet Hill now comes the news,
Of what our folks are doing;
And first of all we'd have you know
There is a wedding brewing.

Now to the fields our farmers go,
Their seed time work to do;
For flowing tides of life now rise,
All nature to renew.

A beef-ring has been started here.
The slaughter house is erected;
Right on Sam Liddy's farm it's built,
The site was well selected

Spring is here and carolling birds
Are swaying in every tree;
But Gordon says as he tosses his head,
"There's only one Birdie I see"

Alfred McKee drives 'round by the rocks,
And whistles a "gay wee toon,"
He agrees with the poet of old, who wrote:
"What is so rare as a day in June?"

To Sawyers' party from Kilgorie there came,
The two Duffin lads brave and bold;
But sad to relate and to tell it we hate,
Leonard Elgie was left in the cold.

Bull dogs are supposed to be vicious,
But Angus don't think so, we're told;
He agrees with the doggie on this point,
"What we have we will hold."

When you chance to meet Herman out driving,
Don't think he is breaking the rules;
He may not be sure where he's going,
But he'll call at either one of our schools.

And now we might tell you that W. J.
Has moved off "Bachelor Alley,"
So all bachelors take heart and visit the street,
Where fair young maidens sally.

The luckiest fellow is Alfie these days,
When "grain has got to be sowed,"
While Norman is dreaming of Everett afar,
Alf saunters across the road.

We wonder if Bill Snider and Walter Ever meet at a gate up the third,
Or if Charley Cooper now visits our village,
And—if John Bowers will soon cage a bird.

—KUPID.

Nearly Insane From Leg Ulcers

She tells of suffering and brief story of her relief.

Read these two letters from Sarah D. Lawrence of Roeback, Ontario. "I can't sleep at night from leg ulcers. I am in pain most of the time. I have doctored but no use. A lady from Winnipeg says that D. D. D. cured her of a bad case of eczema. That her sores are all healed. Can you help me?"

Now a few words from a later letter. "I have used D. D. D. as directed, and my leg is completely well."

Why not be convinced and try this remedy today for any form of skin disease? One application and the itch is gone. Your money back if relief doesn't come from the first bottle. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

MR. GASPARD DUBORD

"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine and faithfully carried out his instructions; but I did not improve and finally the doctor told me I could not be cured.

At this time, a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and I did so. After taking two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives', I was greatly relieved; and gradually this marvelous fruit medicine made me completely well.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

SIMPLICITY

NEVER was so much efficiency combined so skillfully with extreme simplicity. That is why the Ford is called a marvel of engineering skill.

Simple in design—anyone can quickly understand all running parts of a Ford.

Simple in construction—and every part a bulwark of strength.

Simple in operation—anyone can run a Ford.

Simple to maintain—no skill required to care for it.

Yet in spite of this simplicity look at the performance of the car! The worst roads in this part of the country are smooth as compared with those that the Ford negotiates daily in other parts of the world.

Engineering skill has combined the wonderful endurance power of the Ford with light weight. It weighs several hundred pounds less than the ordinary car of equal power and carrying capacity.

Light weight means no loss of strength. Every wearing and strain bearing part is made of Ford vanadium steel, made according to special Ford formula, and infinitely stronger than ordinary steel.

Engineering skill has put into the Ford these miracles of utility, efficiency and endurance at the lowest cost. Light weight means economy in manufacture, and reduces wear and tear on tires.

Ford owners not only enjoy a car of unequalled efficiency at lowest cost but they have fewest expenses with tires and other troubles.

When your Ford needs attention we render Ford service. No waiting for genuine Ford parts or for expert mechanics to make repairs. Our stock of genuine Ford parts is kept complete.

"I Am So Tired, Dearie"

IN the recent Advertising Contest the question was asked, "For what is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food most frequently used?"

And the answer in the great majority of cases was: "I have found on inquiry among my friends that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is most used by women who have their own housework to do and small children to look after.

"When tired and wornout by the continuous monotony of household duties and the care of small children the nerves in time play out and then it is that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proves the good friend in time of need."

Mrs. W. German, 213 Park street, Brockville, Ont., writes: "After the birth of my boy I became so weak and gradually lost weight. I was unable to do my work and was in misery because I could not sleep. My nerves would twitch and jump and I would get up in the mornings with tired, aching limbs and aching head. My heart was so weak that it would palpitate at times, and I became greatly discouraged.

"Following personal advice from friends, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and took altogether 12 boxes. I wish you could see how well I am now and how I am enjoying life."

PIONEER DAYS IN OWEN SOUND AND DISTRICT

Mrs. Harriett Moote, the Oldest Living Resident, Tells of the Forties —Came Here in 1842.

The oldest living resident of Owen Sound at the present time is Mrs. Harriett Moote, 166E, 8th Ave. E. Mrs. Moote is in her 81st year and came to Owen Sound with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bodie in the year 1841, when she was two years of age. She is still enjoying the very best of health, her vitality is quite strong and her mind exceptionally bright as to the happenings of the days when Owen Sound, then Sydenham, consisted of but a few log shanties and there were but a few families in the settlement.

Mrs. Moote's stories of the early days are very interesting, and when a representative of the Sun-Times called at her home yesterday she was quite disposed to chat about the early times in the forties.

Mrs. Moote was born in Toronto, Canada, in 1840, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bodie. In 1842, when Mrs. Moote was two years of age, the family, which consisted of four daughters and three sons and the parents travelled from Toronto north to Barrie and then to Collingwood. From Collingwood the family came to Owen Sound through the dense bush by a large ox-team. They had a large wagon full of provisions which they brought along to their new home in Sydenham. No road opened up at that time between Toronto and Owen Sound for teams but only a trail led through the bush.

The Bodie family arrived safe and sound in the land which was to be their future home and settled in the old log hut on the Market Square erected by the Government Agent, the late John Telfer, just to the west of the present City Hall near the bank of the Sydenham River. This building was a long, squatty log cabin and was divided into several compartments. Several families would stay in this log hut at the same time while the fathers and the larger sons built the homes for them in the woods, literally hewing them out of the forests. On the bank of the river near this dwelling house those who came up the river from Boyd's Wharf at the present site of McQuay's Tannery, landed from their batteaux, which were poled along by the men of the party.

The Bodie family lived in this "immigrant house," as it was called, for a considerable space of time while a home was built for them on the St. Vincent Road six miles east of Owen Sound. The site of the school house on the Meaford Road on the top of the rock is just where Mr. Bodie's barn stood. The Bodie house was a little bit west of the barn. The farm of Mr. and Mrs. McClurg was across the road from the Bodies' and next to the McClurg place was the Howey homestead. The next neighbors west were the Long family. These early settlers are all dead but their grandsons are still in possession of the homesteads.

In the year 1846 the Bodie farm had got into good working condition and gradually the land was becoming worked. Suddenly, however, news reached here of the opening of the copper mines up Lake Superior and as there was very little money in circulation in this district at that time, the two eldest sons of the Bodie family, with some of the neighbors' boys, left their homes and went to the copper mines. As the elder Mr. Bodie could not work the farm alone he sold his property to Mr. Long, his neighbor, and bought half an acre of land on Hill St. (now Fourth Ave. E.), opposite the present Registry Office and County buildings. Here he built a fine log house with a large baker's oven in the rear as he was a baker by trade.

Mr. Bodie was Owen Sound's first baker. In his splendid brick oven he would bake the bread the settlers used from whole wheat flour. He would take the bread to the general store of Mr. John Frost on Poulett Street where it was disposed of to the settlers. However, as there was not much sale for bread at that time considering that there were only twelve families in the settlement, Mr. Bodie and family moved to Sault Ste Marie, Mich., and carried on his trade. He was the first baker in that place.

In Owen Sound in 1846 besides twelve families there were a number of unmarried men. The houses were all constructed of logs and were scattered along Poulett St. (2nd Ave. E.). Besides those on the Market Square there were two frame houses on the west side of Poulett Street, four log houses on the east side of the street a house owned by Wm. Boyd where the Queen's Hotel is now, and Cobean's tavern at corner of 2nd Ave. E. and 10th st. On Poulett street were two general stores owned by A. M. Stephen and John Frost.

In 1846-47 when six years of age, Mrs. Moote attended school on the Market in the log cabin. The late Mrs. Elizabeth McLean was one of her school mates. The teachers were the late Mr. and Mrs. Breese. Mr. Breese taught the boys and Mrs. Breese the girls. If the little boys came short of their lessons a long rod was freely used on their bare feet and legs.

In those days creeds made no difference. Some of the settlers were Methodists, some Baptists, and some Presbyterian, but all would meet together in the different homes and go home rejoicing as one family. Religious animosities were not displayed and the best of brotherly love prevailed throughout the community.

The community spirit was greatly exemplified. When a barn was raised or a fence was built all the neighbors would come together and help. After the evening meal was partaken of, the rest of the day was spent in games and singing. The spirit displayed was most beautiful.

The woods in those early days were infested with wild animals. Mrs. Moote can remember when she was about four years old in 1844, she was going down the big rock in Sydenham with her eldest sister when a large black bear was seen crossing the road. Both children were greatly frightened and clung closely to each other, but the elder sister raised a shout and the bear ran off and disappeared in the thick bush. Game of all kinds abounded. Bears and wolves were common and the deer were quite bold. Huge flocks of wild pigeons nested in the trees and colonies of beavers and flocks of wild ducks were numerous.

What seemed to be the best time of the whole year long, was spring time when Mrs. Moote's brothers, with three large kettles full of maple sap made maple syrup or sugar. That was indeed a glorious time.

In 1847 the Bodie family all went up on the old steamer "Gore" to Sault Ste Marie, Mich, where Mr. Bodie was the first baker. They embarked from Boyd's Wharf near the present McQuay's Tannery.

Miss Bodie lived in Sault Ste Marie until 1855 in which year she returned to Owen Sound and engaged with the late Mrs. J. Davis as an apprentice to learn the dressmaking and millinery business. Her husband at that time was running the stage between Meaford and Owen Sound.

After residing in Owen Sound for about a year Miss Bodie returned to the Sault staying there for a time and then coming back here where she was married in 1855 to Mr. Zenas Moote, who died in 1905. After their marriage they resided on the west side of the Sydenham River just north of the 10th St. bridge and just east of Riverside Arena. They had an acre of ground here and grew all they needed. Mr. Moote was a carpenter by trade and was widely known.

Of the original family of seven children there are only two surviving, Mrs. Harriett Moote, 1667, 8th Ave. E., and Mrs. Hugh (Marie) Taylor, 740, 4th Ave. E., who is two years the junior of Mrs. Moote.

When one's mind travels back to the olden days one cannot help but feel a certain longing for the wild rugged life the pioneers lived. The tales told by such people as Mrs. Moote are fascinating in the extreme. However, we have much to be thankful for in the present enlightened age. The friends of the pioneer home-builders wish them continued happiness and health. There is a debt of gratitude to them that cannot be paid.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

THE GOOD ROADS

A digest of the good roads legislation has been prepared by the Department of Highways. The various classes of roads in Ontario with respect to Provincial aid, are described as follows:

1. Township Roads—Under the control of township councils, to which the Province contributes twenty per cent. of the cash expenditure, an average of 100 miles for each township. If the township appoints a road superintendent, the Province pays forty per cent. of his salary.

2. County Roads—Under the control of the County Council, an average of 250 miles for each county.

(a) County roads generally receive a Provincial subsidy of forty per cent. for construction and maintenance.

(b) Provincial county roads receive a Provincial subsidy of sixty per cent. or construction and maintenance.

(c) County suburban roads are constructed and maintained in the proportions of forty per cent. by the Province, thirty per cent. by the city, and thirty per cent. by the county; and are designated by and are under the management of a special commission representing the city and county. When a Provincial county road included in a county suburban system, the Province contributes sixty per cent.., the city twenty per cent. and the county twenty per cent.

3. Provincial highways are designated by and under the management of the Department of Public Highways, and comprise about 1,800 miles of the most important roads in the Province.

(a) On Provincial highways generally, the Province assumes eighty per cent. of the cost, and levies twenty per cent. on the county in which the work is situated.

(b) Provincial suburban highways adjacent to the cities, are designated by the Department, and the city is required to contribute twenty per cent. of the expenditure.

At home a box of Zam-Buk is ever so useful. The baby's nasty rashes, the older children's cuts and bruises, the inevitable burn, or scald—for all these, as well as for more serious skin troubles, such as eczema, ulcers, ringworm, etc., Zam-Buk is the unrivalled remedy.

Mr. J. W. Bossard, 589, Craig St. E., Montreal, writes:—"Two of my fingers were so severely crushed that the doctor said they would have to be amputated. I decided to try Zam-Buk first, and applied the balm daily. Within a few weeks the injury was completely healed. My fingers were saved." 50c. box, all dealers.

Like the Brilliance of Jewellery for Your Table

THE veritable glitter and gleam of gems—radiance such as your table never showed before—that is the charm the exclusive "Holmes & Edwards" hand-burnished lustre brings to your table.

And "Holmes & Edwards" yields the enduring satisfaction which only the bountiful use of pure silver can give—sterling silver alone surpasses it in life.

More silver is used in "Holmes & Edwards"—and then, in SILVER INLAID, solid silver blocks are set in at the back of the bowl and handle; and in SUPER PLATE, a heavy extra plating is given to protect these points against wear.

Good jewelers gladly recommend "Holmes & Edwards" flatware and also "Holmes & Edwards" table appointments which harmonize with it in quality and gleaming lustre.

LETTER FROM MRS. WAKELIN

Tells Remarkable Story of Sickness and Recovery.

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered greatly from weakness, seemed to be tired all the time, and had no ambition to do anything or go any place. My nerves were in bad shape, I could not sleep at night, and then came a breakdown. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and several of my friends advised me to use it, and it surely put new life into me. Now I am quite able to do all my own work, and I would strongly advise every suffering woman to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."—Mrs. CHARLES WAKELIN, 272 Christie St., Toronto, Ont.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for more than forty years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

The day they arrived at Long Beach there was a slight snowfall, the first to happen there to the knowledge of the residents. While in California they met many old Orangeville residents and friends. The mountain climate and fruit groves delighted them immensely and will be something to be long remembered. On the trip home they came by the Shasta mountains, stopping at Portland, Oregon, then to Seattle, via boat to Vancouver, staying there for a few days. The trip through the Canadian Rockies was one of the most interesting parts of their journey. Calgary, Chicago and Windsor were also visited.

ALTON EPWORTH LEAGUE

The Alton Epworth League is still flourishing and appreciated the visit paid by some of our Caledon friends, when they took the negative side of a debate on Consolidated Schools. Both sides acted their part well and the decision made by the judges was a tie. We hope to have our Caledon friends with us again in the near future.

The annual election of officers was held Monday evening, April 25th. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Hon. Pres., Rev. J. F. G. Morris; Pres., Geo. Presley; 1st Vice-Pres., Miss Kathleen Erskine; 2nd Vice-Pres., Miss Bertha Lowe; 3rd Vice-Pres., Mr. Ed. Tribble; 4th Vice-Pres., Mr. Joyce McConnell; Treas., Miss Mary Trimble; Cor.-Sec., Miss Lyla Yokom; Rec.-Sec., Miss Evelyn McConnell; Pianist, Miss Dorothy Cockerill; Ass't. Pianist, Miss Mildred Cockerill.

We hope each of the above officers will feel, not only a co-operative, but an individual responsibility as well as "Let's make the new year's work a top-notcher."

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

The Christian Endeavor Committee had charge of the Epworth League meeting in the Methodist Church last Monday evening. Miss Marguerite Arnott played a piano solo which was much appreciated. Mrs. E. M. Still, the 1st Vice-President, occupied the chair.

In the course of a short address to the Leaguers the President pointed out that even if the Great War has seriously handicapped the activities of the Church throughout the world, the need of the world is as great, if not greater, than ever before. Therefore Christian organizations must continue with renewed zeal to minister to the spiritual needs of the world. When the age in which we live is viewed by people a few centuries hence all our wars and revolutions will have faded away. This age will be known in history as the steam-engine age because the invention of the steam steam engine and the numerous inventions which have followed it are really the outstanding characteristics of our age. As man's knowledge increases his responsibilities increase. The question is asked, and not without reason, are we capable of managing affairs in the sate which our inventions have placed them? Or would it have been better if these discoveries had not been made by men of this age? However, we are not given tasks which lie within our power. We are given tasks which we cannot easily perform because it is better for us to run up against something hard than to be asked to accomplish something easy. This is the position of the Church to-day, she is up against a big situation, a difficult situation, and she must cope with it. One means by which the Church can increase her power for good is to inaugurate a campaign for better Sabbath keeping.

Next Monday evening the Missionary Committee will be in charge of the meeting. A good program is being arranged. The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock. Be on time.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Last Friday morning a unique event in the history of the Orangeville High School took place when the First Form students were given a lesson in singing, the first ever taught in the school. The High School Board has arranged that the First Formers will have one singing lesson every week. This is a very wise move on the part of the members of the Board and one that should be appreciated by the pupils and their parents. Seeing the advantages of the musical instruction now being given in the Public School, the Board has secured the services of Mr. J. E. Jessop who directs the teaching of singing in the Public School. This enables those who have taken singing in the Public School to continue it after they have passed the Entrance. The addition of singing to the curriculum ensures more and better singing at the Literary meetings in the future and also that songs will form a more prominent place on the programs.

On Thursday and Friday of last week the students were all very busy writing off a set of examinations. These were regular term exams but as the term is drawing to a close a good test of the general knowledge of the students could be obtained. No cases of severe illness from over-study have been reported as yet.

The Bookworms this year have a baseball team which, if practise counts for anything, is second to none. They play every day at recess in the morning, for a short time after dinner, and again after four bells they continue their game. The campus is a very busy place when the aforementioned professionals are in the middle of a big game, some of the girls are playing indoor baseball, and others are playing basket-ball (without making any noise of course), and a few of the boys are practicing lacrosse of the green and white brand. Each group of players has its own pet spectators who encourage their favorite stars by cheering lustily when they make a good play. Some regular matches are held after four. A certain bunch of players will get a set of swelled heads (so big in fact that they have to get their lids made to order), and challenge the rest of the School to play against them. The challengers usually win in these games for when it comes down to the fine thing the rest of the School are busy watching the basket-ball and indoor baseball games and can find no time to practise.

IMPORTANCE OF EARLY CULTIVATION IN ORCHARD

(Experimental Farms Note)

If a cover crop has been left over the winter in the orchard it should not, as a rule, be allowed to grow in the spring until there is a good crop to plough under, especially in districts where droughts occur, but the land should be ploughed as soon as it is dry enough to work, not waiting for the plants to grow up; thus much moisture which would otherwise be transpired by the leaves of the plants will be saved and the chance of suffering from drought lessened.

A good setting of fruit depends very much on an ample supply of moisture in the ground at blooming and setting time, and if there should be a drought after a heavy crop of clover or vetch has been ploughed under late in the spring, conditions will not be at all favorable.

After the land has been ploughed, it should be kept well harrowed during the early part of the season to conserve the moisture as it has been found that there is a rapid decrease of moisture unless the surface soil is kept loose. Early cultivation is desirable also because it is important to get the soil warmed up as soon as possibble by letting the air in and so making conditions favorable for growth early in the season. The greater activity in growth there is in the early part of the seasn, the more likely is there to be a good set of fruit, especially on rather old trees where the flow of sap through the fruit spurs is not as free as in younger trees, and if there are drying winds and a drought there may not be sufficient moisture to hold the fruit on the trees. An application of nitrogen on some soils has been found very useful in promoting greater activity of growth in the early part of the season and so better ensuring a setting of fruit.

W. T. MACOUN,
Dominion Horticulturist.

We feel our success is due in having so many motor, who otherwise would not have gone out in such weather. We indeed appreciate the kindness shown by all who helped and especially those not in any way connected with the I. O. D. E.

"To those who assisted with the graduating exercises we would express our appreciation and especially Mr. McKeown who has assisted the D. O. E. on so many occasions, for the excellent address. "I THINK both you fellows are missing a good thing.

AN OLD NEWSPAPER

Mr. W. H. Hunter, The Maples, has in his possession a newspaper published over one hundred and twenty years ago. It is a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, dated Saturday, January 4th, 1800, and published at Kingston, Ulster County, New York, by Samuel Freer and Son. The paper, which is in an excellent state of preservation, was discovered by Mr. Hunter, while looking through some old papers belonging to his father, the late W. H. Hunter. It is a four page sheet, five columns to the page, and is heavily bordered in black on account of the recent death of George Washington, the illustrious founder of the American Union. The front page news consists of a report of the proceedings of Congress and extracts from English newspapers. The latter are prefaced by the following note:—

"By the arrival of the Factor from Falmouth we are put in possession of London papers to the 20th of October, inclusive, from which we take the following selections." What a difference from today, when the ocean cables make it possible to wire old world happenings to the newspaper offices of this continent within a few minutes of their occurrence. Most of the foreign news relates to the war then raging in Europe. Considerable space on the inside pages is devoted to the funeral of Washington. The back page is given over to advertisements. Sheriff's sales were evidently of frequent occurrence in those days for there are no less than thirteen of these sales advertised. The reader is also greeted with a reminder of the existence of slavery by the following "For Sale" advt.: "A stout, healthy, active negro wench. Any person inclined to purchase may know the particulars by applying to John Schoonmaker, jun., at Rochester."

The business advertisements are very plain and matter of fact when compared with the display advertisements of the present day. One man announces a "general assortment of drygoods and groceries, which he will dispose of upon the most reasonable terms for cash or country produce." In an N. B. notice at the foot of this announcement the advertiser states that he wants to purchase a quantity of wheat and flax seed, for which cash will be given. Another advertiser states that ashes are taken at his store. It must not be thought, however, that original advertising methods were unknown in those days. We submit the following proof positive, which we are reproducing as nearly as possible after the style of the original:—

Luther Andres

Been opening GOODS both fresh and gay,

And as I purchase by the Bale,

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

(Intended for last week.)

Last Monday evening the Epworth League met as usual in the Methodist Church. Rev. H. L. Partridge took charge of the opening exercises. Misses Mary Hughes and Madeline Leggett favoured the Leagures with a well rendered vocal duet. The President, Mr. Wilson McConnell, was then called on to address the gathering.

A brief report of the work done by the league during the past year was given. The members of the Executive Committee were thanked for the effort they had made to advance the cause of the Society. The work of the different departments was briefly reviewed. The Christian Endeavor Committee conducted the monthly Consecration meetings. The Missionary Committee also was very active. In addition to arranging several interesting programs this Committee collected in the neighborhood of $500 for the support of the two missionaries looked after by the Epworth Leagues of the Orangeville District. Two Chinese Scrolls, which had been presented to the League's representative in China, Dr. W. H. Birks, were exhibited and formally accepted on behalf of the Society. The Literary and Social Committees arranged several delightful entertainments and their work has added much to the League's success. The Citizenship Committee also looked after a number of instructive programs. A brief sketch of the way in which the League was founded in Canada was given.

Next Monday evening will be the first meeting in charge of the newly elected Executive and will be the regular monthly Consecration Meeting conducted by the Christian Endeavor Committee. All young people are urged to attend this meeting. Come and bring your frends. There will be a Roll Call and collection.

An act was introduced in the Legislature by Chas. Swayze, M. P. P., making it compulsory that men doing electric wiring pass an examination as for fitness.

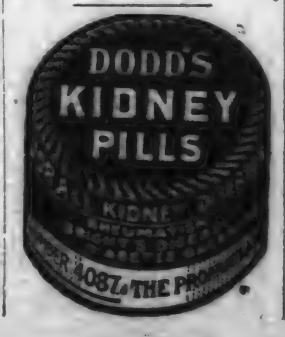
W. J. RITCHIE

W. J. Ritchie, a respected resident of lot 12, con. 7, Amaranth, died quite suddenly on Thursday of last week, at the age of 77 years. Heart failure was the cause of his death. Deceased lived for many years on the 9th line, north Amaranth, before moving to the farm on which he died. He acquired the present farm 7 or 8 years ago. The deceased was a Methodist in religion, being a member of Bowling Green Methodist church, the funeral on Saturday last being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Truax, of Grand Valley. Besides his widow, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Back, of Toronto. Interment took place in Laurel Methodist cemetery, the funeral being a large one.—Economist.

AT DEATH'S DOOR

Albert Gorman, C. P. R. section foreman, has been at death's door recovery may be rightly ascribed to recovery may be rightly acribed to a higher than earthly power. On Friday last he was seized with a terrible pain about the top of his stomach and rushed home when the doctors advised an operation which took place next afternoon. It was found that an ulcer had perforated the stomach, leaving an opening an inch wide. According to medical theory and experience Mr. Gorman's days were numbered. He accepted the inevitable, and a world of sympathetic care came to the sorrowing house. Mr. Gorman's splendid physical condition and his fighting will withstood the shock of the operation and the unfavorable symptoms following, and now there is the bright hope for his recovery.—Star & Vidette.

John Gillesbie, a returned soldier, was found dead at the residence of Mrs. M. Hurl, in Owen Sound. He had been out Wednesday with some other men and had gone to the Hurl place. That night he was taken ill, and was confined to bed Thursday and Friday morning. Later on Friday he was found dead.



ESSAY ON MAN BY ONE WHO HAS BUMPED THE BUMPERS.

Man that is born of woman is small potatoes and few in a hill. He rises up to-day and flourisheth like a rag weed and to-morrow or the next day the undertaker hath him. He goeth forth in the morning like a lark and is knocked out in one round and two seconds.

In the midst of life he is in debt and the tax collector pursues him wherever he goeth. The bannister of life is full of splinters and he slideth down with considerable rapidity. He walketh in the bright sunlight. He absorbs the ozone and meeteth the bank clerk with a sight draft for $358.

He cometh home at eventide and meeteth the wheelbarrow in his path. It riseth up and smiteth him to the earth and falleth upon him and runneth one of its legs into his ear. In the gentle spring time he putteth on his summer clothes, and a Blizzard striketh him far from home and filleth him with cuss words and rheumatism. Int the winter he putteth on winter trousers and a waistcoat that abideth therein causes excitement. He starteth down into the cellar with an oleander and goeth backward and the oleander cometh after him and sitteth upon him.

He buyeth a watch dog and when he cometh home from the lodge the watch dog treeth him, and sitteth near him until rosy morn. He goeth to the horse trot and betteth his money on the brown mare, and the bay gelding with a blazed face wineth.

He sometimes marrieth a redheaded heiress with a wort on her nose, and the next day the parent ancestor goeth under with heavy liabilities to meet, and cometh home to live with his beloved-son-in-law.

Geo. Overland, of Erin, received a nasty crack on the chin at Grand Valley spring horse show. A frisky animal reared up because of a passing motor and striking out with its fore feet, caught Mr. Overland on the point of the chin with the toe calk. It made his mouth bleed, as well as letting a lively stream flow from the cut.

"IT'S WONDERFUL" SAYS J. H. NOYES

"Tanlac Is Certainly The Medicine To Make A Man Feel Like Something," He States.

"This is the medicine that built me up so wonderfully nearly three years ago and I think it's the best in the world," said James H. Noyes, of 54 Clyde St., Hamilton, Ont.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac I was in a badly run-odwn and very weak condition. I had no appetite, and my sleep seemed to do me very little good. I felt tired and worn out all the time, just didn't seem to have a particle of energy, and I always had to be taking something for constipation. My entire system seemed to be out of order, and I ached and hurt all over.

"Well, I heard about Tanlac helping others, so I decided to see if it would bring me back to myself. I took three bottles in all, and it put me in shape to where I felt like a brand new man, and I have felt well ever since until a little while back, when I commenced to feel a little run-down again. I remembered how Tanlac helped me before, so here I am getting another bottle. It certainly is the medicine to make a fallow feel like something, and I'm always glad to tell others about it."

Tuesday of last week was Mr. Louis Fisher's hoodoo day. In the morning he undertook to load some hogs to take from his farm in the suburbs. One of the animals got out over the dashboard, causing the horse to run away and dump the rest of the wagon. One of the pigs had a leg broken and had to be killed. He borrowed another wagon from a neighbor and got the remnant of his load gathered together again, and got the stock to the station all right, but on the return journey while coming down the station hill a bolt gave way, the tongue dropped and the horses bolted, upsetting the borrowed vehicle and breaking it up considerably. Mr. Fisher hung grittily to one line and side-stepped the animals, thus saving more damage. But it was enough. —Flesherton Advance.

BROADWAY - ORANGEVILLE

Orangeville Always Famous For the Game of Lacrosse.

Dufferins Have Had Many Great Teams in the Past and Turned Out Some of the Game's Greatest Players—First Played Back in 1876.

(By a Side Liner.)

Sometime about 1835, when the men who are now young have reached the threshold of middle age they will be talking of the "good old days" of lacrosse, and they will mention as one of the best teams that ever stepped on the field, The Dufferins of Orangeville, who earned for themselves in October, 1920, the right to challenge for the Mann Cup. But even right now, when we find some croakers who like to tell us that lacrosse was in its prime in the days of Ross Mackenzie or even Dade and Findlayson, one may safely venture the opinion that no better team ever stepped upon the field than The Dufferins of Orangeville, when they were at the top of their 1920 form. By winning the right to challenge for the Mann Cup, Orangeville reached the climax of a lacrosse career of which any town may be proud. There is only one step higher for them to go, and that is to accomplish the seemingly impossible task of bringing the Mann Cup back from the Pacific Coast. There is one thing that Ontario lacrosse enthusiasts would like to know. Is it to be defended by a single club or by all the lacrosse players in the Province of British Columbia?

In The Olden Days

The history of larrosse in the town of Orangeville dates back to 1876. The national game was first introduced there by the principal of the High School, Colonel J. J. Craig, who later became a citizen of Fergus, where he also boosted the game. Colonel Craig was one of the early presidents of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and later represented one of the Wellington constituencies in Ontario Legislature, but he never did anything that had a more lasting effect than the planting of lacrosse in Orangeville.

In the early days, lacrosse consisted entirely of challenge games, and the idea of having a league organization had not been developed. A match was won by the first team to score three goals. The classic name, "Olympians," was chosen for the first Orangeville lacrosse team, and so far as the records show, the premier performance of the national game in that town, was given on July 2nd, 1877, when the Olympians battled with a team from Guelph. History has kept no record of the score. During the same year another lacrosse team came into existence in Orangeville, bearing the more dramatic title, The Mechanics' Lacrosse Club. It might be mentioned in passing that the Mechanics played the Standards of Bolton, a game that lived in history in that part of the world for many years. The game took place on Augut 13th, 1877, and the teams battled for one hour and forty-seven minutes. At the end of that time the score stood 2 all and the game had to be declared a draw on account of darkness. This item is interesting just at the present time as lacrosse has just been revived in the town of Bolton, where a club was organized during the past week.

During the winter of 1878 the Olympians and the Mechanics decided to amalgamate, and called themselves the Orangeville Lacrosse Club, and in 1879 they assumed their now famous name, "The Dufferins of Orangeville." Of course, The Dufferins did not always have the town to themselves. For many years there were active junior teams in operation, like the Shawnees, the Wellingtons, the Lornes, the Young Harkaways and the Young Hanlans. Of these the most successful club was the Young Hanlans, which developed such famous Orangeville old-timers as Ward House, Bill York and Sam McElroy. In fact for several years the Young Hanlans seem to have had most of the spotlight.

The first record of The Dufferins playing against a Toronto team was in 1882, when they defeated the Maitlands on July 1st by a score of three straight goals, but it took them 1 hour and 8 minutes to get them, which indicates that the Maitlands were a hard team to down even in those days. Another of the famous lacrosse teams with which Orangeville from the very earliest days of its history had to reckor was the Excelsiors of Brampton. As far back as August, 1879, the Excelsiors were trying conclusions with an Orangeville team. They were beaten by the Young Hanlans in Orangeville, but won from them in Brampton. Other towns which played against Orangeville in those days were Fergus, Elora, Shelburne, Georgetown, Arthur and Mt. Forest.

When we get down to 1884, the first links with the lacrosse of today will be found. In that year four junior teams, the Chippewas, the Tannery Team, the Silver Stars and the Station Team became merged as the Junior Dufferins. During the season, three juniors graduated to senior ranks. They were C. R. McKeown, Army Munroe and T. H. Henry, all well-known names in the history of Ontario lacrosse. It was on July 1st, 1884 that T. H. Henry played his first senior game. During the same year a junior lacrosse team, calling itself the White Elephants was organized, and the small boys in it included the Menarys, Irvine, Kearns, Ketchum and George Carson, all well-known senior players in the 90's. In 1885 the Dufferins made an unsuccessful attempt to win a challenge trophy held by Richmond Hill.

Coming of League Lacrosse

It was in 1887 that the Canadian Lacrosse Association was formed, that C. L. A. champions. They won which introduced league lacrosse into Ontario. The Dufferins were the old Northwestern District by defeating Shelburne, Fergus and Owen Sound, and in the finals they disposed of the Stars of Bright and the Young Torontos. That was the first appearance of the historic Toronto team in their history. On that first Orangeville championship team one of the players on the home team was Blaney McGuire, still of Orangeville, and now one of the most widely-known figures in Canada's national game, being a past president of the O. A. L. A.

Also it was in 1887 that the scoring rule was changed. After that the team which got the most goals in two hours was pronounced victor. It was several years before Orangeville captured another championship, although they won their district several times. However, other honors came their way. In 1889 they defeated Brampton in a game for a silver challenge cup, and in 1893 they got as far as the finals, but were defeated by Fergus in a play-off in Harriston

During all those years they were developing players of the first rank in Orangeville. George Carson and Harry Ketchum played their first senior game in 1889. It might be mentioned that Hugh Carson moved away from the town before reaching the senior company, but this star may be claimed as an Orangeville product. Ernie Menary made his senior lacrosse debut in Mount Forest in 1891. He became known in course of time as one of the headiest defence players in the game and remained before the public for 20 years. Later he moved to Toronto and became captain of the Toronto professional team. Ernie Menary is probably the most famous of the lacrosse players who learned the game in Orangeville.

In 1897 Orangeville began winning championships again. They annexed the intermediate honors in that year, and tsraightway decided to graduate into senior ranks. They did well in the senior series until the end of their first season, when they went down to defeat at the hands of the Orillia team on the Rosedale grounds. Three years later, in the season of 1901, they came back strong. That was the year in which they won the Senior C L. A. championship. To do so, they had to defeat St. Catharines in a sudden death game at Hanlan's Point. The older generation of Orangeville fans recall the game as a hummer, one of the greatest in the history of the team. The men who played for the Dufferins on that occasion when they won the Globe Shield, were Ernie Menary, C. Shore, Adam Clarridge, W. Kearns, H. Goodall, J. T. Hatcher, F. S. Dowling, Bert Henry, J. A. Irvine, G. H.Campbell, J. M. Kearns, W. E. Irvine, W. Swain and A. L. C. Kirkwood.

A few others of the well-known lacrosse exponents who played the national game in Orangeville were R. Bowie, Art Snell, Jack Carmichael, George Donaldson, Tiny Henry and the McIntyres.

More Modern History

The more recent history of the Mann Cup chasers is probably familiar to most followers of the national game. After 1903, there was a period in which no new champions were developed, even though the Dufferins always remained a team with which to eckon. When the split occurred in amateur lacrosse circles about 1910, Orangeville went into the new organization, which included such teams as Young Torontos, Brampton, Bracebridge, Weston and St. Simon's, but in 1913 the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association was organized, and both the rival governing bodies became merged in it. Then the national game began to boom once more, and the Dufferins were just at the point of developing another first class team.

Their record in the O. A. L. A. has been an enviable one, but the Dufferins have had their disappointments. Twice they had the intermediate championship snatched away from them when they seemed almost certain of it. In the last playing year before the O. A. L. A. went out of business for the duration of the war, the Dufferins of Orangeville were looked upon as the favorites for the intermediate honors, but they were beaten out by Weston in home and home games. In 1919, after the coming of peace, the Dufferins reorganized with a splendidly balanced team. They came through the season safely to the finals, and the championship looked a certainty. In fact, they were considered a 2-to-1 bet when they met Bracebridge at Scarboro Beach. Never did a team have a game snatched from them that was a harder blow to lose. Orangeville led by two goals in the first quarter. At half-time Bracebridge had things tied up. In the next period the Dufferins took a margin of one goal, but in the last period Bracebridge took a brace that bridged the small gap. Then they went away out in front, finishing with a 9 to 6 victory.

But last year the Duferins did not encounter any such catastrophe. In fact, the only team, senior or intermediate, that defeated them, was Weston, which won from them twice on the Weston grounds. The Dufferins won the intermediate championship by defeating Mimico in the finals, both in Mimico and in Orangeville. Then they administered a similar dose to the senior champions, St. Simons, for the right to challenge for the Mann Cup. They did all these things so decisively that there can be no room for dispute regarding their superiority.

The Dufferins have known their ups and downs. They have tasted bitter defeats, and have had apparently certain victories snatched from them by last moment smashes. They have also had their fair share of victory. Twice in their hitery they have developed teams capable of annexing the first honors for the Province of Ontario. Whether the team in 1901 was any better than the team in 1920, it is not for a person who did not see the former aggregation perform to say, but if they were any better, as the old-timers will undoubtedly assert, because they know you cannot contradict them, then they were some team.

VERA D. M'QUARRIE

The very sad and sudden death of Vera Dorothy McQuarrie, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McQuarrie, 17th sideroad, came as a shock to the neighborhood, when on Saturday morning the news spread that she passed away very suddenly about mid-night, from a hemorrhage of the stomach. Miss McQuarrie was in her 18th year and was a favorite among the young people and highly esteemed by all. She had been ailing only a very short time, and her sudden demise was a great shock to the family and friends. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. McQuarrie and family in their sad bereavement. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon to Erin cemetery and was very largely attended, the Rev. J. Lindsay conducting the services. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.—Erin Advocate.

JOSEPH W. PIERSON

The very sad and sudden death of Joseph W. Pierson, second son of the late James Pierson, came as a shock to the neighborhood when on Saturday morning the news came that he had passed away about mid-night after an illness of a few weeks, in his 44th year. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Pierson and family in their sad bereavement. The only brother surviving is Robt. May Pierson, Fergus, and three sisters, Mrs. Robt. May, Elora, Mrs. Irad Allen, Glencross, and Miss Jennie, Fergus. The funeral, which was largely attended, was conducted under the Orange Order and took place on Tuesday afternoon, May 3rd, to the Forest Lawn Cemetery. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Mr. Coutts, Camilla. The pallbearers were Joseph Hood, George Still, Hunter White, Eben Woolner, Irad Allen and Robt. May.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful, including a wreath from his Lodge, L. O. L. No. 84; sprays from Mr. and Mrs. G. Woolner, Mr. and Mrs Eben Woolner, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Still; broken circle from the family and wreath from brothers and sisters

JOHN A. HALBERT

Friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Halbert and family deeply sympathize with them in their many sorrows within such a short time. Towards the close of the war, Joseph, the eldest son gave his life for his country. Three months ago the father, after a long illness, passed away, and now, John, the second boy and the main support of the home, was called to his heavenly reward last Wednesday morning at the early age of 24 years and 5 months. About three months ago he was operated on for appendicitis. For a while he seemed to be improving nicely and came home from the hospital apparently on the way to recovery. Then it was discovered that he had typhoid fever and he went to the hospital again. Other complications set in and all that medical skill could do for him was unavailing. He was brought back home shortly before his death.

John Halbert will be greatly missed in the community of Mono Mills. He had a happy disposition. He was always cheerful, kind and pleasant. The high esteem in which he was held is evident from the fact that when he was only twenty-two years of age he was ordained an Elder of the Mono East Presbyterian Congregation and its secretary-treasurer. He was willing and able to do his part in church and community. He was a dutiful son, a loving brother, a true friend. He was born in Sydenham, Grey County. The funeral services were conducted at the house last Friday by Rev. J. A. Matheson, assisted by Rev. J. A. Black, of Horning's Mills, and Rev. Dean Grey, of Rosemont. The Orange Order had charge of the services at the grave in the Forest Lawn Cemetery.

(Owen Sound and Markdale papers please copy.)

HENRY WESLEY DUKE

With the passing of Mr. Henry Wesley Duke on Thursday, April 28th, the township of Mono lost one of its most highly respected and enterprising farmers. Deceased, who was 58 years of age, had not been in a robust state of health for some time. He was born on the farm on which he died, lot 3, 5th line, being a son of the late William Duke, one of the pioneers of Mono. Thirty years ago he married Miss Margaret Donaldson, who, with four sons and three daughters, are bereaved by his death, Elgin, of Orangeville, Frank, Clifford, Edwin and Mary at home, Lillian, of Sturgeon Falls, and Bessie, of Toronto. Mrs. Claybourne and Mr. Hartford Duke, of Toronto are a sister and brother of deceased. The late Mr. Duke lived all his life on the Duke homestead and was known and respected by all with whom he came in contact. He was a man who possessed more than the average ability and was remarkably well posted on almost every branch of human endeavor. As a farmer he was very progressive and his extensive farm is classed as one of the best in the county of Dufferin. Besides his agricultural interests the late Mr. Duke was a member of the firm of E. H. Sproule & Co., proprietors of the Overland Garage here. The funeral, which was in charge of Mr. J. A. Donaldson, of Caledon East, was held on Sunday afternoon, interment being made at Mitchell's church cemetery. The funeral was the largest seen in this district for a long time. Several hundred people assembled at the residence and later followed the remains to the grave. Service was held at the house and was conducted by Rev. P. Tiller, assisted by Rev. Mr. Laycock, of Caledon East, and Rev. J. A. Matheson, of Mono Mills. The remains reposed peacefully in a beautiful oak casket, which was almost hidden by the floral tributes sent by friends. Each of the reverend gentlemen paid a tribute of respect to the integrity and worth of the departed and as the body was being carried out Mr. J. A. Sloan sang very feelingly, "Heaven is My Home." The bearers were all neighbors and old friends of deceased, Messrs. Geo. Lee, Wesley Kee, Henry Babe, E. H. Sproule, George Crosier, James Darraugh, Charles Crombie and Wellington Darraugh. Among those who sent floral offerings were: Broken wheel, the family; basket, Mr. and Mrs. W. Darraugh, Jennie and Fred Atkinson; wreaths, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kee, Mr. and Mrs. Aitcheson, Orangeville Co-operative Marketing Co.; sprays, Mrs. Claybourne Hartford Duke, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. George Crosier, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sproule, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Coutts.

Among those from a distance who were present at the funeral were David Duke, of Southampton, James Darraugh, Robert and Harry Mitchell, of Alliston, Dr. Carson, Mr. Hartford Duke, Mrs. Claybourne, Mrs. Hagerman, Mr. A. Coutts, Mrs. McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hibert, of Toronto.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Morrow, engineer, who was killed in the C. P. R. yard, Parkdale, May 11th, 1920.

Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,

LAUREL

Baseball is booming here again. The boys under W. R. Grosskurth as manager and Wm. Langtree as captain are practicing regularly and hope to land some of the honors in their games at Shelburne on Victoria Day.

Farmers report ideal seeding conditions. With a few more dry days operations will be completed in this vicinity.

We understand the Caledon Dramatic Club are to put on their play, "The Night Riders," in the Town Hall here on the evening of May 24th, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Sunday School.

Misses Idell and Greta Grosskurth, of Toronto, spent part of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Grosskurth.

Miss M. Cooke spent the week-end with friends in Georgetown.

Mr. A. D. Harrison, who for the past two years has been living in the suburbs of our thriving village, is moving into the central part of the town to the fine residence lately occupied by Mrs. R. Hamilton.

CALEDON.

The Caledon Dramatic Club scored another success here on Friday night when they presented their new play, "The Night Riders," to a very appreciative audience, which packed the Town Hall to overflowing. The play abounds with humorous situations and witty sayings and each actor or actress performed their parts with credit to themselves. Homer Hillyard played the double role of Col. Shelby and Geo. Flim Flam very creditably indeed and got on the good side of the audience right on the start. Miss Coleman, as Mabel Shelby, left nothing to be desired in her clever impersonation of this notable character. Douglas Puttallo performed his part to the satisfaction of everybody, while Jackson Glassford and Frank Johnston also proved to be clever as could be. Miss Jean Puttallo and Miss Rowena Grosskurth drew much favorable comment from the crowd. Mr. E. E. Stubbs again displayed his dramatic ability while Ed. Wittick, Jas. and Chas. Tribble, J. Thompson Graham Puttallo and Sarah Tribble contributed much to the performance. The proceeds amounted to $160 and the Club have already booked two engagements for the near future.

A very pleasant time was enjoyed last Tuesday in the Methodist Church by all who were present at the open meeting of the Ladies' Aid. Our President, Mrs. Nichol, presided, introducing Mrs. J. M. Dods, of Alton, who gave a splendid address on her trip to Japan, Corea and China. Mrs. Dods illustrated their habits customs and industry by pictures and curios as well as by many examples of their work. She emphasized the wonderful results of missionary zeal and endeavor, collection [illegible] for Ceres and urged our hearty support of our own Sunday School work. Miss Lillian Coleman kindly rendered two solos and we are also indebted to Mrs. Thomas Meek, Alton, for presiding at the organ. The young ladies who served refreshments, made of the occasion, a happy social time.

The Red Cross Carries On---Why?

1. Because of demands made upon it in dealing with the terrible aftermath of disease and suffering which always follows war.
2. Because of the serious health conditions revealed by the war—more than half of our Canadian young manhood unfit for combatant military service.
3. Because an international conference of medical experts, realizing that voluntary organization was necessary as an aid to Governments in solving the world's health problems, decided that "no other organization is so well prepared to undertake these great responsibilities as the Red Cross," and that "no movement deserves more the hearty and enthusiastic support of all people than does this."

STILL HOPES OF OIL.

That the management of the Canadian Oil Fields, Ltd., have not given up hope of their well here which was "shot" a couple of weeks ago, is evident from the following paragraph which is sent out to their shareholders:—

"Well No. 1 at Flesherton was shot Thursday, April 14th, with 180 quarts of nitro glycerine over a depth of 170 feet from the bottom up. The shot was followed by a tremendous flow of gas for nearly twenty minutes. This result indicates that the hole was clear after the shot and that the channel of gas and oil had been opened. Naturally the gas would be the first to escape followed by the heavier of the two, oil. However, the combined force of the gas and oil, meeting the debris of the shot, bridged or plugged the hole about 50 feet above the level of the shot and shut off the flow. This made it necessary to use the drill again. The well has been cleared down to the hard bridge above mentioned and upon which we have drilled for two days. During the last half hour's drilling we moved this bridge four inches and the flow of gas more than doubled as result, indicating that the bridge is opening, furthermore the tools and cable when withdrown from the hole were covered with grease and oil proving that some was spraed into the hole while same was bridging below. We are endeavoring to clear the hole at the earliest possible moment. We can reasonably say that the foregoing facts indicate the probability of production in our No. 1 well."—Flesherton Advance.

TEAM WORK

"I say, Gadsby," said Mr. Smith, as he entered a fishmonger's with a lot of tackle in his hand, "I want you to give me some fish to take home with me. Put them up to look as if they'd been caught to-day, will you?"

"Certainly, sir. How many?"

"Oh, you'd better give me three or four—mackerel. Make it look decent in quantity without appearing to exaggerate, you know.

"Yes, sir. Youd better take salmon, though."

"Why? What makes you think so?"

"Oh, nothing, except that your wife was here early this morning and said if you dropped in with your fishing tackle I was to persuade you to take salmon, if possible, as she liked that kind better than any other."

Sad But True

On-n-n-ne! "What, is it that time?" With the words the scratching of a pen suddenly stops. "Yes," comes a voice from somewhere in the night. "It's time you were in bed instead of worrying away at that stuff. Why don't you leave it till morning?" "Can't be done, old thing, all material must be in the printer's hands tomorrow, besides it's morning now."

"Don't twit me, young man. Tell me, what is that pile of books shoved to the other side of your table?"

"I object," began the pen-wielder.

"Out with it," persisted the voice.

"Well, since I must, there's Vergil, some Frenchy or other, and Shakespeare. They're no friends of mine."

"I shouldn't think so by the distance you keep them away. Take a tip from me, though, and cultivate their acquaintance some time soon, good-night."

"I'll think it over, good-morning."

Again the scratch of the pen sounded through the room. Then, "This writing editorials is no cushy job. Write something serious, and you're preaching; write something light, and you're weakening. Moral, 'Do as you please. Above all, don't worry!' That's good, who ever heard of me worrying?"

With that the pen resumes its course on, on, in the silent night until, On-n-n-ne! Two-o-o. With a final flourish of the weapon-mightier-than-the-sword, last lines are blotted and a hurried retirement is carried out. And still they wonder why he can't reach school on time in the mornings.

Ford
THE ONLY CHOICE

SIMPLICITY

NEVER was so much efficiency combined so skillfully with extreme simplicity. That is why the Ford is called a marvel of engineering skill.

Simple in design—anyone can quickly understand all running parts of a Ford.

Simple in construction—and every part a bulwark of strength.

Simple in operation—anyone can run a Ford.

Simple to maintain—no skill required to care for it.

Yet in spite of this simplicity look at the performance of the car! The worst roads in this part of the country are smooth as compared with those that the Ford negotiates daily in other parts of the world.

Engineering skill has combined the wonderful endurance power of the Ford with light weight. It weighs several hundred pounds less than the ordinary car of equal power and carrying capacity.

Light weight means no loss of strength. Every wearing and strain bearing part is made of Ford vanadium steel, made according to special Ford formula, and infinitely stronger than ordinary steel.

Engineering skill has put into the Ford these miracles of utility, efficiency and endurance at the lowest cost. Light weight means economy in manufacture, and reduces wear and tear on tires.

Ford owners not only enjoy a car of unequalled efficiency at lowest cost but they have fewest expenses with tires and other troubles.

When your Ford needs attention we render Ford service. No waiting for genuine Ford parts or for expert mechanics to make repairs. Our stock of genuine Ford parts is kept complete.

"You Are Looking 'All In'"

"YES, and that is just how I feel."

"What seems to be the matter?"

"Why, I had tonsilitis, and my whole system seemed to be poisoned and run down. So much so that I do not seem to gain strength."

"Will you let me be your doctor and do as I tell you?"

"I will do anything to get strong and well. I have been sitting here too long already."

"Well, you send to the drug store for six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and take one pill after each meal and at bedtime. Believe me, it will not be long until you feel the benefit of this treatment and find yourself gaining in health and vigor."

"How do you know?"

"I know from personal experience. After I had the 'flu' I was left just like you are now—all run down; could not sleep; the little food I ate did not seem to do me any good, and I was getting pretty blue."

"Yes."

"Well, my wife had been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and insisting on me giving it a trial. You know the rest, for I was soon about again, as hale and hearty as ever. I have told lots of people about this Nerve Food, and never knew it to fail yet."

"You are to be the doctor in this case, so I will follow your advice."

ENJOYS FISHING IN HIS CELLAR

Nottingham, N. Y.—Followers of "Ike" Walton, how would you like to sit in a rocking chair in a warm and well lighted room, the wind howling, the snow blowing and zero weather outside, and fish for perch, sunfish and roach? You disciples of "Ike" Walton would no doubt call it a cosy recreation. Well, Roselle Pushwell of this village enjoyed fishing under such conditions for several months.

A year ago, Mr. Pushwell purchased the property on Main street near the creek bridge, the creek running through it. Mr. Pushwell decided he could find no better location for a store so he erected a two-story building over the creek. The cellar of the building is 60 feet long, 40 feet wide and 10 feet high. The cellar bottom is planked with four inch hardwood plank. The creek runs under the building.

The creek for half a mile before it reaches the building averages 10 feet deep, then drops into a deep hole, the water under the building being 25 feet deep.

The creek is inhabited by perch, roach and bullheads and is known as one of the best fishing streams in this section.

Mr. Pushwell is an ardent fisherman. New Year's morning he went to his cellar, removed a plank, took a long fish line with a hook and sinker on the end of it, baited the hook with salt pork, drove a nail into the plank and tied one end of the line to it, dropped the hook into the creek and returned to his office. An hour later, Mr. Pushwell went to the cellar, pulled the line from the creek and landed a perch eight inches long. The next afternoon he put his fishing rod together, went down cellar, removed a plank and fished. In an hour's fishing he landed 11 sunfish, 16 perch and 18 roach. His catch weighed 25 pounds.

During the long winter evenings, Mr. Pushwell took his rocking chair to the cellar and fished, and was always rewarded.

For several weeks Mr. Pushwell presented his customers with a mess of fresh fish. He would laugh when asked where he caught them, and his customers were puzzled. One evening weeks ago the fish mystery was solved. Mr. Pushwell's neighbors had been trying to find out where he secured the fish. They passed his store late in the evening and saw a light in the cellar. Mr. Pushwell had forgotten to draw the curtain over the window. There he sat in his rocking chair, rod in hand, smoking and fishing. The next morning the neighbors accused Mr. Pushwell of fishing in his cellar and he admitted it.

Mr. Pushwell invited the village to enjoy the sport with him. Evenings, from 10 to 20 members of the "Ike" Walton Club can be found in the cellar fishing. Each fisherman has his camp stool. Three rows of plank are removed from the entire length of the cellar, so that all can fish. Large catches of perch, roach and sunfish are being made.

Mr. Pushwell has advanced the theory that late in the fall the fish work down stream and winter in the deep holes; that they found the hole under the cellar the most comfortable quarters in the stream, the hole being protected by the building, and never freezes. Mr. Pushwell says it is his opinion that every fish in the 10-mile creek is making its home in the hole under his cellar.

The "Ike" Walton Club has passed a resolution prohibiting its members from catching more than 10 perch, 8 sunfish and 12 roach in one night. The members are obeying the resolution. When they make their allotted catch, they go home.

The largest catch so far reported was made one night last week when 20 members of the club caught 200 perch, 160 sunfish and 240 roach.

Mr. Pushwell says the fish will leave the hole April 1, and the cellar fishing will be over until next winter.

I AM THE FARMER

I am the provider for all mankind. Upon me every human being constantly depends.

A world itself is builded upon my toil, my products, my honesty.

In war I am absolute; in peace I am indispensable — my country's surest defense and constant reliance.

I am the very soul of a nation, the hope of a race, the balance wheel of civilization.

When I prosper, men are happy; when I fail, all the world suffers.

Through me is produced the energy that maintains the spark of life.

I rise with the early dawn and retire when the "chores" of the world are done.

I am your true friend—I am the farmer.

NOT SO LOONY

M. D. Cubitt-Nichols recently took a gentleman from the local jail in Barrie to the asylum at Mimico, and on entering the building the alleged insane man looked up at the big clock in the hallway and said to his escort, "Is that clock right?" "Yes," answered Mr. Nichols. "What in the world is it doing here then?" queried the prisoner.—Barrie Advance.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

THOMAS A. EDISON invented the New Edison. And in the shadow of beautiful Llewelyn Park, Orange, N. J., he built and equipped the finest, most modern phonograph laboratories in the world. There he makes the New Edison and guards its quality with zealous attention.

Think a moment! What other phonograph or talking machine is made, protected and sponsored by its inventor—by an Edison?

Mr. Edison spent three millions of dollars in research work to perfect the New Edison. Then, to prove its perfect realism, he stood the New Edison side by side with the living artist and matched its voice with the actual performance of the living artist. No one was able to detect any difference between the two. The New Edison has stood this amazing test over five thousand times before more than five million people.

Again we ask you to think a moment. What other phonograph or talking machine can sustain this test of direct comparison with living artists?

A stout school-mistress, anxious to convey some idea of the relative sizes of different countries said to one of her pupils, "Cambodia is about as large as Siam." The girl reproduced this piece of information in a written exercise as follows: "She says Cambodia is about as large as she is."

The sportsman strode into a poulterer's shop, and with the air of a man who meant business, said, "Can you sell me a nice plump pheasant?" "I'm sorry I haven't a pheasant left, sir," replied the salesman; "but here are some fine sausages. I'm sure your wife will be delighted with them." "Sausages be blowed!" yelled the sportsman. "How can I tell my wife I shot sausages?"

NEWS NOTES

Shelburne will observe Wednesday as a half-holiday this year.

At Camp Borden there are 59 aeroplanes. For the year 1920 the total running expenses amounted to $130,925.

Columbia phonograph records for the Canadian trade will shortly be manufactured in Durham. The company will eventually employ at least 50 men.

The heads of all issuers of marriage licenses will drop into the political waste basket one of these days. No more will jewellers sell the documents that allow parsons to tie a knot that only death or divorce will untie, and sell a wedding ring at the same time. Municipal clerks are to get one dollar of the five for filling in the state's part of this legal document, the balance going to the government. If a clerk receives over $2,000 in fees in an year he must hand all over that sum to the municipality. In large towns the clerks do not require the extra salary as they are pretty well paid, but in rural sections the township clerk is not overpaid by any means, so the extra hand-out will assist him in a considerable degree.

Said a man this week, "It is a pretty hard thing to think that if anyone gets a toothache on Wednesday afternoon, he has to suffer with it until the dental offices are open again on Thursday." Replied the one addressed: "Why can't he go to a doctor and have his tooth pulled if it aches?" "Sure," returned the other, "he can have it pulled if it aches, but that is not the thing. Maybe the dentist could find out the case of the ache, and save the tooth. A doctor does not pretend to do that." And after further deliberation, they arrived at this solution: That one of the dentists take his holiday on Thursday afternoon, remaining on duty on Wednesday. That the several dentists meet and arrange to take alternate days on duty. That a notice be prepared to hang on the doors of the closed offices, directing sufferers to the office where relief may be obtained. —Conservator.

An old lady at a railway station accosted a porter and inquired where she could get her ticket. The man pointed in the direction of the booking office. "You can get it there," he said, "through the pigeon-hole." "Get away with you, idiot!" she exclaimed. "How can I get it through that little hole I ain't no pigeon!"

MUCH ILL HEALTH DUE TO BAD BLOOD

IF THE BLOOD IS KEPT RICH AND RED YOU WILL ENJOY HEALTH.

More disturbances to health is caused by weak, watery blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are under-nourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have a special action on the blood and as it becomes enriched your health improves. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is proved by the experience of Mr. D. J. McDonald, North River Bridge, N. S., who says: "For some years I suffered severely with headaches, pains in the back and a run-down condition. At times the pain in my back would be so bad that I would sit up in bed all night. From time to time doctors were treating me, but did not give me more than temporary relief. And then one day when I was suffering terribly a neighbor came to see me, and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking two boxes I felt relief. I got five boxes more and before they were all gone I felt as though they were giving me new life, as in every way they built up and improved my health and strength. I am now working as a barker in a pulp mill, ten hours a day and feeling none the worse after my day's work. I say with pleasure that this condition is due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

Last Sunday was the day set by the Protestant Churches of the land to be observed as Mothers' Day. This was appropriately observed at the services in the Orangeville Methodist Church. In the afternoon the Sunday School held an open session and invited all the mothers to be present. A fitting program was arranged, which included an opening prayer by Mrs. K. Fattuke, the reading of the Scripture Lesson by Mr. Graham Kearns, a recitation by Miss Reta Sherman, selections by a quintette of boys and a girls' quartette, and addresses by Mr. C. R. McKeown and Mr. M. N. Armstrong.

At the evening service the Junior Choir sang very sweetly and the pulpit was tastefully decorated with flowers in keeping with the occasion.

The Pastor, Rev. H. L. Partridge, preached a very appropriate sermon.

TABLET DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF PIONEERS IN CHURCH WORK

On Thursday, May 5th, Ascension Day, at the morning service in St. Mark's Church, a tablet was dedicated to the memory of Mr. Seneca Ketchum, who was the first to conduct services in this parish of Mr. Jesse Ketchum, Jr., who contributed the land on which the church was built. The tablet was the gift of Mrs. George B. Bull, a grand-niece of the former and daughter of the latter, who unveiled it. Mr. Seneca Ketchum gave up a life of ease in Toronto to act as missionary to the Anglican people in this district. In 1837 the first church was built on his land.

The tablet is placed on the north wall of the church, near the bronze tablet which was recently dedicated to the memory of the twelve young men from St. Mark's who fell in the war.

For the first time since Joe Warbrick chased a ball with a lacrosse stick, Belton is to have a lacrosse club. The enthusiasm is strongest in the little village on the east side of Peel. While there is no present intention of going into the association, the feeling is that practice will give the boys confidence, and that another year will bring the ambition to a head that will place the team among the honor seekers of the larger burgs. Following is the personel of the officers: President, H. Sheardown; 1st Vice-President, F. N. Leavens; 2nd Vice-President, R. Smith; Secretary-Treasurer, A. Kearney, Manager, Stan Courtney; Coach, Fred Stubbs; Games Committee, E. R. Wilkinson, C. Norton, L. Gould, Wm. Bayes, A. Kennedy, A. Elliott; Mascot, Jack Bayes. Messrs. S. Charters, M. P., W. J. Lowe and Major Tom Kennedy, M. P. P., are honorary members of the club.

Owing to the hold-up of the charter, the Excelsior Lacrosse and Athletic Association has not been able to put stock on the market as soon as expected. However, we understand everything is O. K. now, and it is expected the charter will be issued this week. If so, you may expect a call from Messrs. Smart and Sackrider, who have undertaken the selling of the stock. As soon as sufficient funds are subscribed, the grounds will be levelled up and work commenced on fences, bleachers, etc. It will be a rush job, but the provisional directors are hopeful of getting it in shape quickly and will proceed with the most essential things first. How many shares will you have? Make it as easy for the salesmen as you can. Get in touch with Mr. Sackrider or Mr. Smart and let them know your intentions in the matter. By so doing you will greatly facilitate matters.

A CORRECTION

Alton, May 2nd, 1921.

Editor of The Banner,
Orangeville.

Sir:—In looking through The Banner last week I came across a statement said to have been copied from an Owen Sound paper, which is incorrect. It stated that the first train on the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway ran from Toronto to Alton. This is incorrect, the first passenger train ran out of the Union Station over the Grand Trunk to Weston, thence on to Bolton, on July 1st, 1871, in charge of an old Grand Trunk conductor, and then returned to Toronto in the evening. The road was opened to Orangeville on Sept. 13th, 1871. The road was then laid out and built to Owen Sound before the branch to Owen Sound was commenced. I was connected with the Road from the start until October, 1894. I was agent at Alton East for twenty-three years. I saw the first sod dug in August, 1870, by Prince Alfred, now Duke of Connaught. I think I am the only employee alive who was first employed on the Narrow Gauge when the trains only ran to Bolton. I was stationed at Woodbridge with G. B. Wylie before coming to Alton and I have resided in Alton for the past forty-nine years and six months. If you think this correction worthy to be inserted in your paper do so.

I am, dear sir,
Yours truly,
W. HAWKINS, Sr., J.P.

Now comes Mary Pickford with "Pollyanna," her first "Big Four" offering, and the fourth film to be handled by the United Artists since the organization's birth, which will be shown at the Gem Theatre on Wednesday, May 18th.

Table Appointments

of Gleaming Beauty and Fascinating Design

WHEN you choose "Holmes & Edwards" silverplate you are choosing beauty that will fascinate for years.

More silver is used in "Holmes & Edwards." As a result it is tableware of the most enduring sort. And coupled with the old-time hand-burnishing methods, this exceptional quality of plate gives a rich, gleaming lustre that adds welcome brilliance.

It is the highest quality silverplate made.

Those pieces most often used are protected against wear—in SILVER INLAID by solid blocks of pure silver fused into the back of the handle and bowl; in SUPER-PLATE by a heavy extra deposit of silver at the points where friction causes wear.

The better stores will be glad to show you the charming designs—patterns whose exclusiveness alone would command your interest.

And of the same quality—gleamingly lustrous and the finest of craftsmanship—can be had "Holmes & Edwards" table appointments in silverware such as tea services, comports, bread trays and casseroles.

"Protected Where the Wear Comes"

How Did the Newspaper Press Start?

Few, if any, of us ever stop to ask ourselves the question. We are so accustomed to our newspaper that perhaps we might be pardoned for thinking that it was always so. The origin of the newspaper press is rather obscure; there has been a great deal of controversy as to whether it is the development of a Roman, Venetian, or Chinese idea; it is a useless controversy, for there could be no newspaper in the sense in which we use the word till the invention of printing. The Romans had their Acta Diurna, and these may have contained much of the matter which a modern newspaper contains to-day. Julius Caesar is said to have ordered the acts of the senate and the people to be published in the Acta Diurna, and there is a tradition that the journals were hung up in the galleries of his villa.

The Republic of St. Mark possessed its newspapers and if we did not borrow the idea of a newspaper from the Venetians it is very probable that we borrowed many of the terms which are in familiar use to-day in connection with newspapers. The word "gazette" is clearly of Venetian origin. The Venetian newspapers were, like these of the Romans, in manuscript. They were hung up in the galleries and public places in Venice, and those who wished to read them had to pay a "gazetta;" hence the term gazettes. Lord Burleigh has the credit of having published the first newspaper in England, and the story, if not true, is one that Englishmen may perhaps be pardoned for believing to be true, because it connects the origin of the English newspaper press with one of the most picturesque and romantic incidents in English history—the preparations of the Spaniards for the invasion of England. It was necessary to put all England on the alert for the Armada, and Burleigh is said to have hit upon the idea of doing this by means of a newspaper. If that was the case, the English press owes its origin to the year 1588, and to the first of that race of statesmen by profession who have done so much for English freedom and English greatness.

The very earliest method of spreading news was by means of news letters written by men who were paid for their work by the members of the aristocracy who were anxious, when in the country, to know what was going on at Court.

We owe many things to the Revolution. It substituted an act of Parliament for a period of Divine Right. It placed the rights of the people on a level with those of its rulers. It secured the Protestant religion, gave us the system of income taxation, brought the revenue and expenditure of the state under the control of the House of Commons, and perhaps, without intending it, conferred a privilege which has in the long run produced greater changes in the English constitution than all the principles of the Revolution put together; it established the Freedom of the Press.

The age of Anne was the classic age of English literature. It was the age of Addison, of Swift, of Pope, of Prior; it was the age of the Spectator and of the Tatler. But it possesses another claim upon our notice which is generally overlooked; it produced the first daily newspaper that was published in England, perhaps the first that was published in Europe. This was the Daily Courant which made its appearance on the 11th of March, 1702.

We owe political journalism to Defoe, and Defoe paid the penalty of his courage with his ears. Nearly the whole of Defoe's reputation today rests upon his Adventure of Robinson Crusoe. But Robinson Crusoe is only one of a couple of hundred publications which made Daniel Defoe one of the most conspicuous men in the reign of William and Mary and of Anne.

Every one is familiar with the story of John Wilkes and the North Briton, but few of us realize the great service rendered English liberty and the rights of the press by his fight with Lord Bute and the Commons.

In modern times the newspaper has increased its usefulness to an extent beyond the wildest dreams of the pioneers to whom we owe so much. It is a questionable point though whether the enormous output of papers, periodicals, and magazines is a real benefit. The effect of such a quantity and variety of light reading seems to discourage the reading of books which require deeper thought and longer time to digest.

The history of the press is a subject which ought to be attractive and interesting to everyone, for the history of the press, and especially the English press, is the history, if not of English liberty, of all those popular and political franchises which have given strength and solidity to English institutions. It has made England, and its ancient monarchical institutions with its feudal relics, with its aristocracy, the freest state in the world.

MRS. JOHN BROWN

Mrs. John Brown passed to the great beyond on Tuesday evening after a long and trying illness, in her 64th year. Deceased was a daughter of the late Wm. Gamble, of East Garafraxa, coming from Ireland when a little child. In 1874 she married John Brown, the couple settling at Marsville where Mr. Brown ran a blacksmith shop, and a few years later moved to Hereward following the same trade until 1894 when they came to Grand Valley. Mrs. Brown was a woman in the true sense of the word. Cheerful in disposition, kindly in thought and action and devoted to her home, she exemplified the life she professed. Besides her husband she leaves one son, John W., of Toronto. The funeral service was held in the Methodist church, of which Mrs. Brown was a loyal and consistent member, on Thursday, May 5th, interment taking place in the Union cemetery.—Star & Vidette

HELPING IRELAND

The Associated Press dispatches one day last week told of the Sinn Fein murder of an Irish woman in County Monaghan as a warning to spies and reformers. The bald narrative described the assassinated woman's struggles and pitiful pleadings and the failure of neighbors to remove and decently care for her body because of their fear of Sinn Fein vengeance. Such was the way the "Irish Republic" translated itself to one Ulster woman.

On the same day was published an item saying one thousand Irish emigrants to the United States had embarked at Queenstown. Still another item mentioned the meeting at Chicago of the American Association for the recognition of the Irish Republic.

The steady immigration from Ireland and the continuance of efforts to embroil the United States in Irish troubles suggest several things. One is that many in Sinn Fein counties have not sufficient sympathy with present Sinn Feinism to wish to stay and help it. Another is that Sinn Fein still relies on the U. S. A. to finance its campaign of terror and that the voyagers from Ireland will be asked to revive in safe America an aggressive enthusiasm for an anarchism that they have fled from.

Let us look to ourselves urges the New York Tribune. Without American dollars Sinn Feinism probably long ago would have ceased, many men and women now dead would be walking the earth, millions of damage would not have occurred, and Ireland might now be adjusting herself to the self-government that Canada enjoys or be in a peaceful state of evolution toward that quasi-independence.

Those who encourage Sinn Fein or Ulster extremists to continue the tragedy of a hopeless guerilla revolt assume a serious responsibility. Not only do they disregard the American principle of non-interference with the domestic affairs of another country, but they may ask themselves whether or not they are aiding and abetting murder. Appeals to help Ireland are alluring to many, but the helping carries serious consequences.—Central Canadian.

THE bruised forehead, trapped finger, cut hand, sprained foot, or smarting burn or scald, are quickly and safely healed with Zam-Buk. On the other hand, there isn't another remedy can compare with it for the treatment of eczema, ringworm, or other eruptive skin diseases which children catch from playmates.

Zam-Buk comforts the skin of the tenderest babe, for the balm is just a scientific blending of Nature's purest herbal extracts. There's nothing so mild and soothing as Zam-Buk in pain and irritation, yet it possesses a great antiseptic power. Coarse fatty salves and ointments merely clog up the skin. But Zam-Buk, owing to its extraordinary refinement is readily absorbed into the tiny pores, whence its purifying healing influence is carried into the underlying tissues.

That is why Zam-Buk is so wonderfully effective in dealing with deep-seated ulceration or inflammation.

Mrs. T. D. Ruston, Children's Aid Society, Belleville, Ont., writes:—"We never use anything but Zam-Buk for our children's cuts, burns, bruises and sores. Experience proves it superior to anything else for soothing pain and quick healing. We really could not afford to be without Zam-Buk."

NOVEL METHOD OF MAKING MONEY

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church made $160 last year by the "clock" system, and as this is a somewhat novel one, and a very successful one into the bargain, an explanation of it may be interesting. The "year" pays $2.00. Each of the twelve "months" pays $1.00. A "week' pays 50 cents. A "day" pays 25 cents, and the "hours," who were chiefly the children in the homes of the subscribers, paid a cent each. In this way, each cycle brought in $18. There was a definite understanding as to what each subscriber was to pay. The money was quickly raised, and the interest centred in seeing how many times around the clock the ladies could go.—Brampton Conservator.

MONTREAL WOMAN WAS SURPRISED

Did Not Think Tanlac Could Restore Her Health So Soon, Says Mrs. Clements.

"I just don't believe anything could have helped me more than Tanlac has, for I am enjoying as good health as anyone could wish," said Mrs. Clerilda Clements, of 90 Inspector Street, Montreal, Ont.

"My stomach began to trouble me about two years ago, and grew worse until I could not eat anything without it distressing me. My appetite became extremely poor, the gas on my stomach was awful and I suffered also from terrible cramps. My nerves just seemed to be worn to a frazzle, my sleep was broken and restless and every morning I just felt that I didn't have the strength to last through the day. I could not attend to my housework and felt that I was growing weaker and weaker each day.

"I decided to try Tanlac and I was really surprised at the way I began to improve. I continued to take it until now I don't believe I was ever in better health. My digestion is splendid and I can eat just anything I like and it doesn't seem to disagree with me in the least. My nerves are as steady as I could want them and I can lie down at night and sleep like a baby. I feel much stronger and can now attend to my housework. I owe so much to Tanlac that I will never get through praising it."
